Early in the spring Mr. Pope took a severe cold which completely prostrated him, but after a short time he recovered. In his anxiety, however, to see that the street work was progressing, he ventured out too early after his severe illness, and took a chill, which brought on a relapse, from which he never recovered. Some few weeks ago his condition was much improved, and in the belief that the change and surroundings would still further aid his recovery, he moved with his family to his cottage at Stony Lake from where he returned last week much weaker than when he went and since his return he gradually sank until death came.

Deceased came to Canada from England in 1856, and entered the employment of the G. T. R., and for a number of years he filled the position of roadmaster on the Midland division. More than 8 years ago he accepted the position of street and bridge inspector for the town, and in this capacity he brought to bear his splendid experience, gained while superintending the construction of railway grades. His work as street inspector was of the most satisfactory nature, and in the performance of his duties and the exercise of his excellent judgment, he served the town ably and well.

Deceased was widely and popularly known in Peterborough and this county. Of him it may be truthfully said, he was positively without an enemy, and had a kind word for everyone. He was a member of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A. F. and A. M., and the funeral will take place under the auspices of that order on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. Deceased was in his 60th year and leaves a widow and one son to mourn his death.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individual delights.

If we were continuing in business it would be foolishness to sell stocks at less than wholesale prices.

We're going out of business, and rapididity in closing our stock is more value to us than present profits.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

PALMYRA, Sept. 3.

THE little hamlet of East Palmyra, three miles east of this place, was shocked by the terrible news that one of its wealthiest citizens, Jonathan Post, had been killed and eaten by hogs on his farm. His home is about one mile from the only store and postoffice in the place and four miles southeast of Palmyra. Mr. Post was a man of 73 years or over. He rented his farm, but kept some stock in which he took great pride, among which are a pen of hogs.

He arose this morning at 5 o'clock, his usual hour, and after starting the kitchen fire proceeded to the barn to do his morning chores. At the breakfast hour he had not returned and his wife went to the barn to summon him. Not finding him there as she expected she returned to the house and waited a short time; after a little she became worried and summoned the men who work the farm.

They at once started a search. As Mr. Post had left the house for the barn a thorough search was made for him there. The search was carried on without success. It was thought that perhaps he had gone into the loft, but he was not there. Then it struck some one that perhaps he had simply gone on a call to some of the neighbors. The men separated and each went to a different house in the neighborhood. At none of the houses could he be found. No one had seen him. The neighbors turned out and took up the search, but it progressed without success until about two hours after Mr. Post had left the house for the barn.

Edward Randall, one of the searchers' casually strolled around to the back of the barn after the hunt was all over. He heard the hogs grunting in the pen and fighting over something that they were eating. The fact that they were eating something proved to Mr. Randall that they had been fed, and if they had been fed Mr. Post must have fed them. Randall went and looked over the fence to see what it was that the hogs were eating. He looked at the trough, but there was nothing in it. Whatever the hogs were eating was covered with straw and the filth of the pen. It looked very much like the carcass of a calf at the first glance and Randall half turned away before he happened to remember that such a thing as a calf carcass in the pen would be quite unlikely.

It was at that moment that the full horror of the situation broke upon him. The object that the hogs were devouring was the body of the man for whom he and the others had been searching. The sight sickened him so that he almost fainted. He grabbed the side of the pen and made two or three attempts to yell before he could make an articulate sound. When he did yell there was a note of horror in his tones which brought the entire searching party to the spot in a minute.

The men grabbed up stones and clubs and jumped over into the pen where the hogs were gorging themselves on the remains of the unfortunate man. The hogs were filled with fury, caused by the fresh blood and flesh they had been eating, and attacked the men who came to the rescue of Mr. Post. It was with the greatest difficulty that the swine were driven back and the remains of Mr. Post removed from the pen.

The body was so mutilated that it was hard to recognize. Part of the legs had been torn away by the teeth of the hogs. His cheeks and ears were eaten off, and his feet were almost separated from the body. The flesh on the hands and arms was also torn off. Pieces of the flesh were gathered up from the filth of the pen and carried to the house with the body, where they were viewed by Coroner Barnes of Fairville.

It was first suggested that Mr. Post had entered the pen to clean out the trough before feeding the hogs, and had been strickened by epilepsy. This theory was dispelled later. Mr. Post was not subject to such attacks, and a physician from Fairville, who was called, found nothing to lead to this belief. Mr. Post was an old man, and it would have taken little to throw him off his feet. It is thought that he entered the pen, and that one of the large hogs ran against him, knocking him down. In his fall he must have hurt himself, and then the hogs began to gorge themselves upon him, causing his death.

He leaves a widow, who is almost heartbroken over the sad affair, they have enjoyed married life together for nearly 50 years, and the shock seemed more than she could bear. She has the sympathy of the entire community in her grief. Mr. Post was one of the oldest members of the East Palmyra Presbyterian Church, and was very prominent in farm affairs. He leaves a very large estate. He is survived by a widow and one son. The son Spencer is a traveling man, and is now in Portland, Me. The funeral occurred on Tuesday afternoon at the house, the Rev. Mr. Henry of the Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial in the East Palmyra Cemetery.

While Hunting for Wild Cats.

BUDA PEST, Sept. 3.—Archduke Ladislas met with an accident yesterday while shooting. The Archduke, who is 20 years old, was out hunting wild cats when his gun was prematurely discharged, its contents lodging in one of his feet, inflicting a severe wound.

Met Death on the Rail.

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—A young switchman at Montreal Junction named Robert Nicholls, a native of Orangeville, Ont. was killed by a New York Central engine on Sunday while riding a velocipede along the track from Montreal. The coroner held an inquest, and a verdict of accidental death, due to his own imprudence, was returned. Nicholls had only been three months married.

WELCOME WORKERS.

Opening Session of The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Through a misunderstanding Mayor Little was not at hand to welcome the delegates to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress when they assembled this morning. After an hour and a half when his Worship put in an appearance, and after being introduced by Walter Toll, president of London Trades and Labor Council, bid them welcome to the Forest City. He said that he had seen larger conventions in London, but in his opinion none were of such importance as the one he was addressing. Much applause was evoked by this remark: "Any employer with any common sense who does not value his employe equally with himself is bound to come to grief. This is the result of my observation and experience. I have been an employe and an employer and know whereof I speak." Ald. Powell re-echoed the sentiments of the Mayor and spoke of the many places of interest in London.

LONDON'S PROGRESS IN ORGANIZATION.

P. J. Jobin, of Quebec, president of the Congress, responded on behalf of the members, and thanked the Mayor for his kind words of welcome. He referred to the rapid progress London had made in the past eight years, and expressed the hope that it would continue to improve.

John Tweed of Toronto, Joseph T. Marks of London and H. Laforce Langevin of Quebec were appointed a committee on credentials, and the meeting adjourned for luncheon.

This afternoon the members of the Congress were the guests of Mayor Little at his pretty summer residence on the banks of the Thames, opposite Springbank. The members of the Board of Trade were also invited guests, and the party soon formed itself into a mutual admiration society. An inspection was also made of the waterworks system.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

OPENING OF THE GREAT EXPOSITION YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick Touches the Electric Button and Starts Thousands of Wheels Going—Barrett's Death to be Investigated.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—At two o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Kirkpatrick pressed her index finger on an electric button and set all the machinery of Toronto's great fair in motion. The fountains spurted, the bands played, horses neighed and even the bantam roosters in the poultry house cackled congratulations. Lieutenant-Governor George Airy Kirkpatrick had previously delivered one of those neat little salutatory speeches for which he is famous. It was inaudible, except to the directors and their guests, who were near the speaker, but it was none the less effective.

The usual distinguished company was present at the opening, including the directors of the fair and the gentlemen who had been their guests at luncheon. These were Acting Mayor Shaw and the City Council, Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, Hon. Dr. Montague, Sir James Grant, M. P., and Hon. Edward Blake M.P.

THE SPECIAL FEATURES.

The opening ceremonies were followed by the special features in the large horse ring, including the musical ride and lance drill of the Royal Dragoons.

The first week of the Industrial Fair will be the best for seeing the exhibits easily and comfortably. The management advises those who go to see the Fair rather than the crowds, not to wait until the great influx from outside comes. All exhibits, with the exception of the live stock and fruit, and all special features will there be complete. The great military and pyrotechnic spectacle "The Relief of Lucknow" and the water fetes will be given first on Wednesday and from that day until the close, commencing each evening promptly at seven.

The bench show promises to be an unusual attraction this year. There are already 633 entries and the lists are not yet closed. In the department of St. Bernards there are fifty two entries. The greatest number of entries in any class is 79 in Cocker Spaniels.

FITZSIMMONS IN TORONTO.

The middle-weight champion prize-fighter of the world, Bob Fitzsimmons, appeared at Hanlan's Point on Monday afternoon and evening and gave an exhibition of punching the ball and sparring four rounds with his partner, Mike O'Leary. The combination did not arrive until after 5 o clock, and they were billed for 4 p.m. Many went away, but still the four hundred who remained made a good crowd for that class of attraction. Twenty-five and fifty cents were the prices of admission, and those who settled felt that they had paid dearly for the privilege of looking at the thumper for a few minutes. The whole performance was tame with the exception of the Australian's ball punching, which was exceedingly clever. The amusement caterers who arranged the show, no doubt realizing that the attraction was not worth the price of admission, put Joe. Pop, sr., the Point constable and young Stemner, a local puncher, up for four rounds before the big fellow came, and after Fitzsimmons and O'Leary had finished young Joe. Popp and Chandler got a chance to show their skill. If "Billy" Bittle's name had been on the card the program would have been perfect from an Adelaide street boxing academy standpoint. In the evening it was made quite evident that this sort of attraction will not draw a Hanlan's Point crowd, as the attendance was considerably smaller than in the afternoon.

CHARGED WITH BARRETT'S DEATH.

Two arrests have been made in connection with the drowning of James Barrett in Buck Lake, McMurrich township, Parry Sound district, on Thursday, August 15. Morris Moles, 35 years of age, and Charles Molson, 24 years of age, who were with Barrett at the time of his death, are the men in limbo.

They protested their innocence when arrested, and declared that Barrett was drowned. They were taken before Geo. Savage, J.P., at Novar, on Saturday morning, and remanded for trial. They are confined in Bracebridge jail. There does not appear to have been any sufficient reason for the commission of such a crime, but the circumstantial evidence against the prisoners is said to be very strong.

THE FLAG OF REBELLION.

ITALIAN ANARCHISTS DISPLAY THE EMBLEM IN DEFIANCE OF LAW.

Riotous Day in Philadelphia—Two of the Bold Leading Law-breakers Taken to Jail—Exciting Time—Railway Accident—Forty Persons Injured.

Special to The Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—The waving of the red flag of anarchy during the formal Labor Day parade of Italians today led to a wild scene and the arrest of two men who attempted to incite a mob to riot. The police were informed that an organization of Italian Socialists were preparing for a celebration today and they had floated a red bag from the window of that place; the display of the flag was a violation of the law and that it would have to be taken down. The officers of the association at once removed the emblem but when the parade was formed at Witis Calvo, one of the Italians, carried a red flag at the head of the line and frantically waved it amid the cheers of the throng of 1,000 persons. The flag bearer was arrested and the police were forced to struggle with their prisoner through the surging mob and to use their clubs freely. After Calvo's arrest another Italian, Angelo Picozzi, who is said to be the president of the association, pulled a red flag from his pocket and waved it in the face of the police. His action pleased the crowd and cheers for the man and for anarchy rent the air followed by hooting of the police. Picozzi was soon surrounded by policemen and the flag was torn from his hands. He was dragged to the police station followed by a howling mob. The prisoners were arraigned this evening before Judge Jermon and were held on $1,500 bail each for a hearing tomorrow.

CRIME IN BUFFALO.

BUFFALO, Sept. 3.—Leonardo Rocco, of Detroit, Mich., jealous of the attentions which Wm. Keit had paid to Mrs. Rocco, yesterday attempted to murder Keit in a saloon. Keit was badly cut and Rocco is under arrest.

R. T. Allen, of Omaha, Feb., a musician, attempted suicide by shooting himself on a West Shore train on Friday, but did not succeed in inflicting a mortal wound before being disarmed. He was taken to the hospital here, and last night by some means obtained a bottle of carbolic acid. A large dose of this effected what the pistol failed to accomplish.

FORTY INJURED.

CONEY ISLAND, Sept. 3.—A wild cat engine on the New York Seabeach Railroad ran away from the Bay Ridge depot shortly after three o'clock this afternoon and crashed into the rear car of the 3.10 p. m. train to Coney Island, which was standing at Woodlawn Park. The car was badly smashed and more than forty persons were injured.

COMPROMISE THE PLAN.

A Compromise With Manitoba is the Government's Intention Regarding the Manitoba School Question.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—A minister who was asked if there was any truth in the story that ex-Lieut.-Governor Schultz would enter the Cabinet, expressed the opinion that there is no possibility of it for the west is fully represented in the Ministry. One who professes to cast the political horoscope with some degree of accuracy states that more impotent work to the Conservative party than that of administering a department awaits Sir John Schultz. He is regarded here as the man who can arrange with Mr. Greenway a settlement of the school question, and hence the step that has been taken in relieving him of official responsibility at this juncture, for the Premier of Manitoba was not very favorably impressed by the interference of Lord Aberdeen, and would be equally adverse to negotiating with his deputy.

But as a leading Manitoban Sir John Schultz possesses an influence not only with the Government but with the people which he could hardly exert while occupying the gubernatorial chair.

WHAT MANITOBA WILL BE ASKED TO DO.

If my information is correct, Manitoba has been or will be asked to restore to the Roman Catholics their educational privileges pending a full inquiry such as a man of Sir John's capacity and impartiality could conduct. The arbitrators are to be all leading citizens of Manitoba, whose deliverance will have weight with the people. They will be asked to suggest such a remedy as in their judgment is required in the premises. The task of arranging this compromise will be left to Mr. Schultz. Promptness in action will be required since, if Manitoba does not deal with it sooner Parliament must meet in January next to dispose of the question one way or the other. Sir John Schultz is a firm believer in the possibility of adjusting the difficulty. Such a move as is here foreshadowed will not be with a view to delay, because it calls for the immediate restoration of the rights of the Catholics, but with the object of finally settling a question that may otherwise cause a fearful turmoil in Canada.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The Hon. J. C. Patterson was sworn in Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba yesterday morning before Mr. John J. McGee, Deputy Governor and Clerk of the Privy Council. There was present at the ceremony Sir A. P. Caron, Acting Premier; Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Hon. J. A. Ouimet and A. W. Ross, M.P. The Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Patterson left by the 11 a.m. train for Toronto.

Ex Lieutenant Governor Schultz has been appointed administrator until Mr. Patterson shall arrive at Winnipeg to commence his official duties.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 4, 1895

The Vanderbilts are rather wiser, in a financial sense, than the other wealthy American families who have married off their heiresses to titled Europeans; they have selected a man with money and pretention to brains.

The sea serpent stuffed with sawdust that created a furore in Montreal was not exposed till after the editor of the Templar had prounced it genuiue. On the word of such an unimpsachable authority on snakes as Brother Buchanan everybody in these parts had accepted the leather-covered plaster figure as a veritable marine monster, and it is with the utmost chagrin that the public learned that their confidence had been misplaced.

The chances of trade between Canada and China are illustrated by the shipment from Quebec on Tuesday of 80,000 yards of sheeting, manufactured at the Montmorenci cotton mills, for Hong Kong. Canada can manufacture cotton goods as cheaply as any country in the world at the same distance from the source of the raw material. China and India are beginning to manufacture for themselves, but the cheap labor they can command will, for sometime to come, be offset by inexperience, and the necessity of relying upon white superintendents who expect higher pay in such countries than at home.

The fight between North Bay and Mattawa to determine which should become the seat of the district of Nipissing is likely to be, in some manner, duplicated in another corner of Ontario. Sandwich has been the country seat of Essex from time immemorable, but, as new county buildings have become necessary, the question must now be reconsidered. Windsor offers to erect buildings worth $100,000, and for $20,000 to give the county a deed of half the property. Several other places want the distinction It is to be hoped that Ontario will never descend to the level of Kansas and Nebraska, where sometimes a mob seizes the safe containing the county papers and carries it from one town to another.

MANITOBA'S HARVEST.

The Manitoba harvest is without doubt magnificent. All the crops in all sections of the province have done well. Wheat averages in the North-western district 28 bushels to the acre, in the South-Western 24 6, in the North-Central, 25 7, in the South-Central 26 5, and in the Eastern 24 7—making an average yield per acre for the whole province of 25 5. The estimated total yield of wheat is 29,139,815 bushels. The average yield of oats 45 3 bushels to the acre, of barley 25 8, of peas 25, of flax 15, and of rye 22. The crop of oats is estimated at $21,887,416 bushels, of barley 5,507,310 bushels, of flax 1,240,020 bushels, of rye, 62,810 bushels, and of peas 24,250 bushels. This makes the whole grain crop of Manitoba to be 57,861,621 bushels. Hay has turned out well, though the yield per acre is not so large considering the heaviness of the grain crop, as one might expect. The highest yield is two tons to the acre and the lowest one and a third.

Happily the grain has not suffered much from the early frosts. The report put in circulation a few days ago greatly exaggerated the damage done. Harvest commenced about the 10th of August and was expected to be general by the 18th. The crop bulletin from which the above figures were taken, says that as many as 5,700 harvest hands were wanted. This is a heavy demand and is hardly likely to be fully supplied.

A CHOCORUA EPISODE.

By John Albee.

AUTHOR OF "PROSE IDYLS," "POEMS," ETC.

(Copyright 1895.)

New Hampshire has of late gained an unenviable notoriety for its numerous abandoned farms. Like many supposed misfortunes it is turning out a blessing; three of these are already apparent. It has offered surprising bargains to city dwellers in search of summer homes in the most picturesque region of New England; then it has benefited the families who remained on their farms in giving them more opportunities to dispose of their produce and labor with less competition, and lastly, forests are growing up over these abandoned lands to make good the devastations of the lumber companies.

There is nothing that gives one such a feeling of sadness, mingled with romantic interest, as to come upon the sight of one of these abandoned homes. Sometimes the buildings remain, but in ruins; more often they have been removed or torn down, and there is the uncovered cellar, trees growing in it; the remains of the chimney stack, the well, now covered or filled up with stones. But beyond all other signs of dissolution and abandonment, affecting alike to sentiment and memory, are the forsaken flowers once cultivated in the yards and still living on, in spite of neglect and encroaching grass or wild shrubbery. They bloom perennially, and some kinds even increase.

These abandoned farms are usually widely separated; but along the old "North Division road" in Chocorua, directly under the wonderful peak of Mt. Chocorua, there are fourteen farms, not one of which is now occupied. A few buildings are left and the ancient schoolhouse, in which thirty children used to cipher out of Daboll's arithmetic and Webster's speller. Each of these old farms has its rustic history, pathetic, uneventful or amusing. From them sprang a small, local poet, one college valedictorian, and several pulic men with short histories. The would-be statesman is not allowed to become great in New Hampshire. When that is imminent he moves to Boston or Ohio.

The present historian has busied himself for several past summers in recovering some of the incidents connected with these fourteen abandoned farms. Thus far he has succeeded in learning several worthy of relation; one of these he heard with many details here omitted, from a very aged man, himself having acted a certain part in it.

In the little red schoolhouse just spoken of, Lucy Winn, the daughter of a farmer in an adjoining town, taught school for several seasons. She was only eighteen when she began to teach, a comely, country maiden, rather better educated than was common, but excessively shy and modest.

The blush never left her cheeks during the hours of school; and when her day of fatiguing and often harassing labor was over it was succeeded by an extreme pallor. Her pupils were of all ages, from those learning their letters to young men and women of her own age, and two or three men older, for it used to be the custom in country districts for boys and girls to continue in school until almost or quite men and women, especially in the winter term, when there was little else to do.

Lucy loved her small A, B, C pupils, and her older ones were fond of her, and one of them, Sylvanus Waldron, was too fond. His attentions were open and bold, and they often annoyed her to desperation, as she was conscious of the increased flush in her face whenever he asked any question or recited a lesson, and she was aware that the whole school observed it. Besides she had a lover, with whom she was well pleased, although the decisive word had not yet been spoken. He was called Ensign Goff. He was six feet two in his stockings, a stalwart, frank, noble-hearted young man, who carried the flag in the militia company to which he belonged, where he got his title of Ensign, by which he was always called, and of which he was rather proud. It was his habit to spend every Sunday evening with Lucy, and he seldom saw her at any other time. Usually she had recovered her strength and her color by the rest of a Saturday afternoon and the Sabbath. But toward the end of the term this became difficult and infrequent. Her relations with Sylvanus Waldron were more and more distressing to her; he persisted in his attentions in and out of school, walked home with her whenever the chance offered and often joined her on her way to the schoolhouse in the morning. She was afraid to have an open quarrel with him or to demand his dismissal from school, for the trouble it would bring upon herself and the gossip of the neighborhood. She could bring no direct charge against him save a personal one. It was true that he seldom had his lessons and took a cowardly advantage of his belief that she would not dare to reprove or punish him. Lucy comforted herself in the thought that she had only a little while longer to endure her situation and that she would never again teach that school.

The Ensign noticed the change in Lucy toward the end of the term.

"What has become of your color?" he inquired one evening. "Are you ill? Does anything worry you?"

"I can't bear," he said in a soft tone, "to see you so pale."

This brought back a little pink to her face, but she did not answer.

"I think," said the Ensign, after one of those silences in which congenial souls seem to come nearer than through speech, "I think you have taught public schools long enough—long enough, and—well, how would you like a small private one, with just a single pupil, a dull boy, but willing to learn and, faith, he thinks he is already in love with his teacher? Did you know it, Lucy?"

Lucy hung her head and turned her face, now red as a rose, away from the Ensign.

"I don't know," at length she murmured; "I have one such already."

"What!" exclaimed the Ensign, and straightening himself up as if about to strike somebody.

"What is it you say? I thought the way was clear between us. Well, good bye, Lucy. I dare say you have found a better man; strange, though, I didn't know of it before. Good luck to him and you. But I have loved you well and truly, Lucy, and it has done me a world of good. It has made a man of me, and taller by an inch, so my friends say. Now I shall feel small enough. Good bye."

He stepped quickly toward the door; but Lucy interrupted him, took his hands and hid her face on his shoulder.

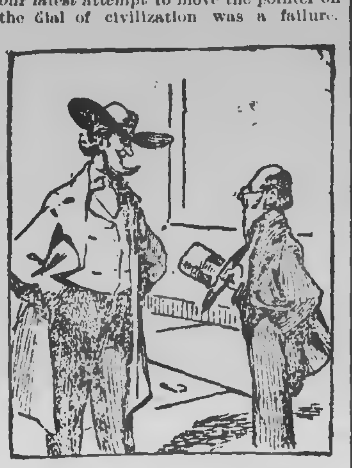
THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Ye Editor Deals Trenchantly With Various Mundane Matters.

Another Failure—Some time since, as our readers will remember, we erected a tower on the Kicker office. It was the first and only tower on a newspaper office in this territory. It wasn't as wide and tall as a New York newspaper office tower, and we didn't have an office up there and require a caller to send his card up through thirteen different information bureaus, but it was a tower which men rode fifty miles to gaze on. Our idea was to put a bell or a clock in the tower, but we kept very quiet on that point, and nothing was done until last Saturday. Then, fondly believing that our innovation would excite no alarm, we got out a bell which had been hidden away for three months and had workmen hoist it up and hang it in place.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all being ready, the joyous notes of our bell sounded forth on the winter air, and we felt that a great victory had been won. Not for long, however. We heard the tramp of feet and the murmuring of voices outside and went out to discover a very solemn looking crowd packing the street in front of the office. Of a sudden every body who had a gun began shooting, and some were so enthusiastic that they used two guns. We did not need to ask for explanations. We had but to look into the faces of those nearest us to know that our latest attempt to move the pointer on the dial of civilization was a failure.



HE HAD A GENTLE DISPOSITION.

Bullets cut the bell rope. Bullets hit the bell. Bullets clipped and splintered the woodwork of the tower. By and by, when almost the last cartridge in the town had been fired, the crowd melted away and left only ruin and desolation behind. The fragments of the bell have been gathered up and laid away for future generations to gaze at, and the last of the tower has been removed from the roof to the wood pile. There will come a day in this town when towers will be as familiar sights as telegraph poles, and when the clang of a dozen bells will provoke no comment, but we must bid our time. When the workmen were hanging that bell, we bent our head to the east and thought we heard the roar of the wave of progress breaking against our iron-bound shores, but it seems we were mistaken. We tender our regrets to the public and drop back into the Nineteenth Century with a sickening thud.

Apologetical—During the two days we were in Prescott last week our horse editor was in charge of our signal service bureau. We know of no particular reason why a horse editor shouldn't make a success of running a weather bureau, but the truth remains that our man made a flat failure of it. For Wednesday he predicted a warm wave and before noon of that day the thermometer was down to the lowest point reached this winter. Thursday morning a committee of indignant citizens started out to wait upon him, but he got word in time and was not to be found. We reached home Friday noon and for several hours were kept busy explaining matters to different delegations and committees. Our horse editor came out of his hiding place about 10 o'clock at night, looking more like a ghost than a man, and it will be a week or more before he will feel easy in his mind. As near as we can figure, he got the weather for the Sandwich Islands mixed up with the weather for Arizona. We are extremely sorry that anything of the sort should have occurred, and our readers can rest assured that it will not happen again. We have labeled the different pigeon holes and shall herafter keep each weather by itself and thus render mistakes impossible.

Newspaperial—In its issue of last week the Pine Hill Recorder gave notice of suspension, and we understand that Bro. Barnaby, its editor and proprietor, has shipped his material East and will hunt for a location in Iowa or Indiana. When he stopped here five months ago on his way to Pine Hill, we were sure that disaster awaited him within a few weeks. He had been running a cheese factory, cider mill, chicken farm and a weekly newspaper in Ohio and was absolutely ignorant of the great West. When we asked him if he could shoot, he looked at us in astonishment. When we mentioned poker, he held up his hands in horror. He had the gentle disposition of the chickens brought to life in his incubators and was as mild as the new cider which poured from his press in the autumn days. How he ever managed to get out twenty issues of the Recorder is a puzzle to us. People sued him for libel until it would have taken $10,000,000 to satisfy claims. People called on him and mopped his sanctum floor with his body until the floor was worn out. He was dragged out of bed and carried around on a rail, and he was led out of the office at high noon and hung up until he couldn't swallow anything but soup for days at a time. He couldn't shoot, and he wouldn't use a club, and the result was what might have been expected. On several occasions we rode over to Pine Hill and cleared his office of a mob and in one instance cut him down as he was hanging and kicking at the end of a rope, but he had no sand and was a plaything for the Pine Hillers. The right kind of an editor could have been Postmaster over there, had a private graveyard and been elected Mayor by a whooping majority, but Bro. Barnaby made a failure of it all round and has finally scraped the mud of the Territory off his feet.

A WORLD'S WONDER.

THE ESCURIAL, BUILT BY PHILIP II. OF SPAIN IN 1563.

A Temple, a Palace, a Treasury, a Tomb and a Museum—Here are Buried the Rulers of Spain and Their Children—The Builder Lived Here Like a Monk.

The Escurial, built by Philip II. of Spain, between 1563 and 1584, was called "the eighth wonder of the world." It was at once a temple, a palace, a treasury, a tomb and a museum. That is to say, all these were included in the huge building which Philip erected on the slope of a spur of the Guadarama range, thirty-two miles northwest of Madrid. The builder's object was to carry out the will of his father, Charles V., by constructing a royal burial place, and also to fulfil a vow he had made during the battle of St. Quentin, when he implored the aid of St. Lorenzo, on whose day (August 10, 1557) the battle was fought. A correspondent of the Boston Herald writes from San Sebastian describing this eighth wonder:

The edifice stands about 3,000 feet above the sea, facing the mountains, with its back toward Madrid. It is a rectangular parallelogram, 740 feet from north to south, and 580 from east to west. On the east side is an advanced portico which breaks the facade. This gave rise to the vulgar impression that Philip's idea was to make the building in the shape of a gridiron, an allusion to the manner of St. Lorenzo's martyrdom, he having been boiled to death on a slow fire in the reign of the Roman Emperor Valentianus, A. D. 261. There seems to be no other ground for the fanciful invention.

The building covers 500,000 square feet of land, or nearly 12 acres. It has 16 court-yards, 86 staircases, 15 cloisters, 88 fountains and 3,000 feet of painted fresco. The church, which occupies less than a sixth of the whole space, is 320 feet long, 230 feet wide and 320 feet high to the top of the cupola. The redeeming qualities of the enormous structure are size, simplicity and situation. It seems to be a part of the mountain on the slope of which it rises. It still looks grand even among mountain buttresses. Otherwise, it disappoints. Its architecture has little in form or color to commend it. It lacks the prestige of antiquity, and it does not express any religious sentiment. It might be a vast manufactory. Its cold granite walls, blue slates, leaden roofs and small windows give it a commonplace appearance.

Of course, it is now little more than a skeleton of what is was. The living monks who swarmed in its courts are here no longer. The revenues on which they lived have been taken away. The French soldiers stole and carried away many of its golden ornaments in 1808. Its best pictuers have been removed to Madrid. The building has suffered from neglect, exposed to hurricanes and winter snows. Better care has been taken of it in later years. It is now used as a seminary, where about 200 youths receive a secular education. The fanatical Philip lived here, half king and half monk, for fourteen years after the building was completed. His last end was miserable, for he was harassed by doubts as to whether his zeal in burning heretics would secure him a passport to heaven.

The family vault under the high altar, as built by Philip, was severely plain, at once impressive and instructive. His successors, Philip III. and Philip IV., built the gorgeous subterranean chamber which has become the Spanish Pantheon. Here repose the remains of kings and queens who have really reigned, and the severe etiquette of the Spanish court does not stop at death. The chamber, to which we descend by some sixty steps, the stairway lined by green and yellow-colored jasper, is an octagon thirty-six feet in diameter and thirty-eight feet high, terminating at the top in a pointed dome. The materials of which the walls are composed are dark polished marbles and gilt bronze. There are twenty-six niches hollowed in seven of the eight sides, the altar occupying one, with black marble sarcophagi, all exactly alike. The reigning sovereigns are on the right of the altar and their consorts on the left. The names of the occupants are written on the urns, beginning with Charles V. Several are empty, awaiting future kings and queens. The last to receive a tenant was that of Alphonso XII., who died in 1886. An empty one awaits his wife, now Queen Regent, and another his son, the present boy king, not yet ten years of age.

Perhaps the most interesting part of this huge pile is the suite of humble apartments where Philip lived the monkish life which he preferred, reserving all luxury for the temple. He was still one of the most powerful monarchs of his age. His armies carried the flag of Spain half over Europe. Rich argosies brought to his ports the treasures of the new world. He lived here a slave to bigotry, and in his reign were sown the seeds of death, from which may be traced the sad decay of one of the great powers of the earth. We are shown in the small, dark cabinet where he carried on the business of "Most Catholic King," the desk at which he wrote on little scraps of paper—for he had his pet economies, the chair in which he sat, another in which he rested his gouty leg when he gave audience to his ministers and foreign ambassadors, and some of the utensils he used. From his dismal sleeping room a door opens into a small chamber which overlooks the high altar of the church. To this he was carried in his last illness and here he died after languishing long with a loathsome disease.

After seeing all worth seeing in the interior and wondering at the mase of chambers, cloisters and courtyards in which a stranger might easily get lost, we went outside on a grand terrace, the whole length of the building which overlooks toward the south formal gardens and fish ponds. The slopes below are well planted, the fine elms having been brought from England. The view extends over the rolling plain, which looks level in the distance, as far as Madrid. We then ascended a neighboring height, one of the spurs of the mountain range, the summits of which are white at this season, to take in the great building at one view. In spite of the defects I have noted above, it is a very impressive pile, being one of the largest of human constructions. The gray-stone village clustered beside it, and climbing by steep streets up the slope above it, contains a population of about 1,500. Pure streams of sparkling water flow impetuously down the ravines which seam the mountains, making the fields below fresh and verdant.

ACCIDENT AT BARRIE.

S. Sewrey and T. Morley Seriously Injured—Lost Fingers.

Special to the Times.

BARRIE, Aug. 31.—At Sewrey's foundry this morning S. Sewrey and T. Morley were raising a large drill when some machinery gave way, allowing it to fall and collide with the workers' hands. Morley lost two fingers on his right hand and one on his left; one of his knees was seriously jammed. Sewrey lost one finger, several others being severely bruised.

Terrible Storm off Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S' Nfld., Aug. 31.—The French fishing vessel Yacinthe has foundered on the grand banks. Her crew of 19 was picked up by the Goulcester schooner, Emma A. Witherall, and safely landed here today. A terrible storm swept the grand banks on Monday night and done much damage to the fishing fleet. There were ten arrivals of American, Canadian and local vessels today to refit. All are considerably damaged. It is feared that many serious disasters will be shown to have resulted when full news is received.

Banditism in Italy.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A Rome dispatch to the Central News says that the reports of the prefects in Southern Sicily and Sardinia show an increase in brigandage, which is ascribable to the poverty of the people. The cereal harvest is bad, the wine crop promises to be worse and the people are threatened with famine during the coming winter. The newspaper ascertains that the Government will reduce taxes in the distressed districts.

Female Cavalry Corps of Salvationists.

DENVER Aug. 31—The Salvation Army of Denver has organized a female cavalry corps of young ladies. The corps enjoys the distinction of being the only mounted Salvation Army fighters in the world. It starts out immediately for a tour of the Mountain towns.

Devastating Fires.

NANAIMO, B. C., Aug. 31.—Bush fires have been raging all the way from Alberne to Queshols Lake, and unless a heavy downpour of rain comes quickly there is no knowing to what extent the damage to property will amount. Between Alberne and Nanoos Bay the fires are appalling, but so far no great loss has been sustained by the settlers.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS
Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.
$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPEOULATION
Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is a so a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

The meeting took place on the French frontier, and both the duelists were wounded.

BULL FIGHTS IN FRANCE.

The Police Stop Two, But one is Allowed to Take Place to Please the People.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—A series of great bull fights was fixed to begin at Bayonne yesterday, and the celebrated Spanish bull-fighter Mazzantini was especially engaged to appear. The police, however, refused to allow the fight to proceed and they caused Mazzantini to be conducted to the Spanish frontier. The people were anxious to see a bull fight and the action of the police was greeted with hoots and cries of derision. A number of senators and members of the Chamber of Deputies and the municipal council intervened with the police to have the performance go on, but all their efforts were useless. When the members of the municipal council found that the police were determined to prevent the fight, and to send Mazzantini out of the country, they held a special meeting and unanimously decided to resign. Five brigades of gendarmes and many mounted police occupied the arena. The young King of Servia was present, but his mother had been assured before hand that the authorities would not allow the fight.

At Arles there was a bull fight in the presence of 5,000 persons. Three bulls and three horses were killed, but, nevertheless the performance was tame and unexciting and the spectators hooted the toreadors.

It was intended to have a fight at Tarascon, but the authorities prohibited it. The inhabitants were made very angry by the intervention of the police, and the members of the town council protested against the fight being stopped. The police were obdurate, however, and the fight did not take place.

A PLOT IN A PRISON.

Holmes' Latest Big Blackmailing Scheme—Wrote a Story of His Life.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—Holmes, it is said, is endeavoring to secure funds for his defence by working a huge blackmailing scheme.

On the margins of books he has written a sketch of his career, and it is said it compromises many people throughout the country of unquestioned respectability, and whose acquaintance with him was innocent of any wrong.

A copy of the book will be mailed to the victim, with a promise that his name will be left out in consideration of purchasing 1,000 copies at a dollar apiece.

One of the men who was to be black mailed was a Boston man, who was lured into intimacies with Minnie Williams, and who was afterward compelled to pay hush money, which found its way in Holmes' pocket.

The authorities will prevent the scheme being worked. They have discovered the firm which was printing the story.

District Attorney Graham is determined to try Holmes in this city.

"REMEMBER SEDAN."

The German Celebrations Said to Menace the Peace of Europe.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—In a leading article published today the Globe expresses the opinion that the German celebrations endangered the peace of Europe. The tone of the Berlin papers, says the Globe, has been offensive, and such as to needlessly wound the feelings of the French people. The Emperor, the Globe further says, has allowed himself on more than one occasion recently to use language which is at least capable of being misunderstood. While the Globe does not believe that the Emperor desires war, his utterances, it is said are assuredly not such as will further peace.

THE GLENCOE MASSACRE.

Macdonalds Are Wrathy Because of a Campbell Proposal.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Sir Archibald Campbell has arrived at Inverary, Scotland, to complete arrangements for the march of his band of pipers through Glencoe. Sir Archibald denies the report that his expedition is for the purpose of celebrating the anniversary of the massacre of the Macdonald clan by the Campbells in 1692, but says that his pipers will merely traverse Glencoe en route from Inverary to a gaelic concert which is to be held at Oban. The Macdonald clansmen are not satisfied with Sir Archibald's explanation, but maintain a turbulent attitude and mutterings of anger are to be heard among the people of the Glen.

KENNY RE-ELECTED.

The Irish Solicitor-General Remains Ahead of the Parnellite Opponent.

Special to the Times.

DUBLIN, Sept. 3.—The Parliamentary election in St. Stephen's Green Division of Dublin, which took place yesterday in consequence of the appointment of the sitting member, Mr. William Kenny, Unionist, to the office of Solicitor General, for Ireland, resulted in the return of Mr. Kenny by a vote of 3,325 to 2 993 cast for Mr. Mahoney, Parnellite. In the election held a few weeks ago Mr. Kenny received 3,661 votes and Count Plunkett, his Parnellite opponent, 3,205.

Peary Going Towards the Pole.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., Sept. 3.—The American schooner, J. E. Mackenzie, which has returned from the Greenland halibut fishery, reports having met the schooner Kite with the Peary relief expedition at Holsteinburg, on July 15. Prof. Dyche, of the expedition, was taken aboard the Kite, which sailed the same evening. The crew of the Mackenzie think the Kite will have no difficulty in reaching Wales Sound, where Peary's headquarters are located.

Hood's Pills the Best.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills and find them excellent medicines. Hood's Pills are the best that I have ever used, and we recommend them to our friends and many of them are now using them." Mrs. McFarland, 129 Bardon street, Toronto, Ont.

HOOD'S PILLS cure billiousness, indigestion.

New Goods

At Clegg's, now arriving every day for the fall trade. Not only fine and expensive furniture, but the cheaper lines as well. Good common chairs at 33c, a good bedstead, all hard wood and well finished, for $2, Mattresses, springs, pillows, etc. Cheap extension tables and sideboards. Cheap Butter.

The Rural New-Yorker has the following hint to butter-makers:

"I wish that you would send me some one to buy that butter," said a commission merchant pointing to about 50 tubs of all kinds and sizes piled up in a corner of his store. "First-class butter never stays in the store over night, but I don't know what to do with that stuff. The use of cottolene has almost destroyed the demand for the cheaper grades of butter. A dealer who buys a good deal of cheap butter was in here, and I offered him the whole lot for 14 cents a pound. He took a number of bills from his pocket, and showed me where he had purchased a number of different lots for 4½ cents per pound. He said that, while some of it was nothing but grease, some was fair butter. What we are to do with that stuff, I don't know; I wish that they wouldn't send it here. There is a lot in five-pound pails. The man who sent it, also sent some in tubs. The latter was good butter, and sold at once, but he had evidently packed the poor stuff in pails thinking that the packages would sell it. But there they are." Why will people make good milk into poor butter, and then expect people to buy the stuff at good butter prices?

Best Way to Sell Wool.

Another wool season is at hand, and one of the problems which no doubt confronts our readers who have wool is where and how to dispose of it to the best advantage possible. Like all farm produce it finds its way to the large markets for distribution, and the fewer hands it passes through before this distribution takes place the more money he realizes for his wool. Such being the case, it is certainly for the best interest of the wool-grower to ship his wool direct to the large markets or points of distribution in order that he may realize the most money possible for it. The necessity for doing this at present is much greater than if wool was bringing as good price, and when the profit to be gained by the grower of wool shipping direct to market is brought to his attention, as is intended by this article, we think he will take advantage of it. There can be but one possible obstacle, that is confidence in securing the right kind of a house to give and sell his wool to the best advantage possible and one which will remit his money promptly. Confidence is the foundation of all business transactions.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. FURSIER, Newmarket, Ontario.

That Springville Case.

The Springville assault case announced in Monday's TIMES took a new turn yesterday when Mrs. Smith had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of Irwin, who was placed under arrest on the charge of pointing a gun at the postmaster's wife. Both parties are out on bail.

It's Your Own Fault

If you buy a loaf of bread and after taking it home you find it is sour and only half baked. If you insist on getting Bates' you will get a good sweet, healthy loaf. Look for a large "B" stamped on top of every loaf. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 654 Stewart street.

Around the Lakes.

The steamer Columbian will make her last trip from Chemong to Lakefield today, Wednesday, Sept. 4, leaving Chemong on arrival of train which leaves Peterborough at 9 a.m. On Thursday she will return to Chemong from Lakefield on arrival of 9 o'clock train from Peterborough. Fare for either trips, $1.

The "Baby" Was Killed.

When Sells Bros.' circus visited North Bay recently, they met with a great loss. The Despatch says the windstorm blew down the menagerie tent, upsetting some of the tents, in one of which was the baby hippopotamus, and that the latter was killed. As it was valued at $50,000, the proprietors will no doubt feel keenly their loss.

A Poor Turnout.

The members of the 57th battalion turned out to drill last night in very small numbers, but, hereafter, the commanding officer is determined that every member shall attend the drill until inspection, orders having been issued to that effect. The men having had their annual outing should make an effort to earn the wherewithal to pay for that trip.

Mr. Pope's Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. Robert Pope took place at three o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence on Stewart street to the Little Lake cemetery, under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which deceased was a member. The funeral cortege was very large, showing the high esteem and respect in which deceased was held by his fellow citizens. The council attended in a body.

Large Casting.

Yesterday there was cast at the Wm. Hamilton Works, a large pulley, the casting is no less than 53 inch face, 8 feet diameter and weighs 9,000 lbs. The casting was under the direction of Mr. Sam Bailey. The chief feature of the pulley, is that it was the widest face of any ever cast in Canada. The casting is part of the Company's large contract for the Sault Ste. Marie Pulp and Paper Company.

A Silver Wedding.

The Methodist parsonage, Ashburnham, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Monday evening, the occasion being the silver wedding of Rev. W. C. Beer and wife. A number of intimate friends of the reverend gentleman and wife were present, together with a few relatives. They were the recipients of a number of beautiful presents, and received the congratulations of all present. A very enjoyable evening was spent, and the wish was generally expressed that Mr. and Mrs. Beer would still have many happy years of wedded life.

There Wasn't a Quorum.

There wasn't a quorum present when Chairman Burnham surveyed the few members of the Board of Education at the board room last night, and after waiting until 8 o'clock, the limit by bylaw, those present adjourned. Inspector Wherry made his first appearance last night at the Board, and suggested the purchase of twenty tables for the Junior departments. The tables will be purchased. Three large bouquets adorned the table around which the members sit. They were composed of [illegible], chrysanthemums and carnations, and were grown by Caretaker Barrett, of the West Ward school in the school yard.

A Big Lunge.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. John Brightman, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Brightman, of Rochester, and Messrs. Harry Brown and John Kincaid, of Peterborough, have been spending a few days at Jubilee Point. On Monday Mr. Kincaid caught a lunge weighing 24 pounds. The beauty was taken on board the City of Peterborough where it was viewed by the excursionists and admired by all. Prof. Mills, of Guelph, and other prominent gentlemen were simply astonished at the size of the fish. Mr. Kincaid has been very fortunate in landing the big monsters. He has the honor of catching the largest lunge taken at Stony Lake this season, and Monday's catch entitles him to the same distinction on the river.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well received. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of its beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west

WAS SEVERELY CLUBBED.

Wanted to See the Fun and Now He Can't See at All.

There was trouble down on Sherbrooke street early on Tuesday morning, in that part of the street known as "Arabia."

A family by the name of Hardeek, of Arabian persuasion, live down there, and after spending Labor Day in various ways, retired to rest about 12 o'clock. But hardly had their various heads touched the pillows, than crash came a rock through the front window, that broke two panes of glass, stopped the cuckoo clock plumb still and finally landed against the wall with a noise and rattle.

The Arabians were out of bed in an instant and armed themselves with clubs. They were four in number and they sallied forth into the street with one purpose and that was to paralyze the man who threw the brick.

At the same time four young men in a rig were driving along Rubidge street. They had seen the man who threw the brick run down past them, and when they got to the corner of Sherbrooke and saw the Arabians armed with clubs, they decided to wait and see the fun, so they pulled up their horses and came to a standstill.

One of the occupants of the rig was Joshua Jackson. Joshua indiscreetly decided to get out of the rig in order to better take in the fun, but having taken too much lemonade during the evening, he ran straight into the arms of the Arabians. They thought he was the man they were after and at once began to club him, which they kept up until he was black and blue and bleeding from numerous wounds.

Jackson managed to get away from his infuriated assailants and yesterday swore out an information against the Hardeeks. Last night the police arrested two of them and placed them in the cells.

LABOR DAY DOINGS.

Excursions Out of Town Were the Prime Attractions.

Labor Day passed off very quietly in town, as a large percentage of the citizens went out of town.

Jubilee Point, where the Patrons of Industry picnic was held, was visited by fully 1,000 people from points on the river and Peterborough. The City of Peterborough carried down about 230 people.

The day at the point was most enjoyably spent. Not the least important feature was the addresses. Mr. Dawson Kennedy presided and introduced Grand President Mallory as the first speaker, and the leader of the Patrons made a rattling speech, explaining the policy of the Patrons. He was followed by Prof. Mills, of the Guelph Agricultural College, and Mr. E. H. Hilborn, President of the Ontario Salt Company, was the last speaker.

An exciting football match between the Gores' Landing team and the Riversides, of Peterborough, resulted in victory for the latter by 1 goal to 0. The Peterborough kickers then played with the Otonabee team for a silver cup, and the sturdy Otonabee's carried off the trophy by 1 goal to 0.

Following are the teams:

RIVERSIDES.		OTONABEE.
J Picard	goal	E Crowley
E Hooey	backs	H Burnham
J Grady		J Gillespie
J Welsh	half backs	A Thompson
P Moher		P Price
P Picard		Geo Gillespie
W Grady	forwards	R Wilson
W Meagher		A Wilson
J Howland		S Fife
C Munro		Al Thompson
J Williams		J Quinn

T McDonald—Referee.

The City of Peterborough left for home with the excursionists at an early hour, and the trip home was thoroughly enjoyed.

In Peterborough the chief attraction was the lacrosse match at the Driving Park between the Athletics and the Markham players. Several hundred people witnessed one of the prettiest lacrosse matches of the season, characterized by clean play and excellent combination work. The result was in favor of the Athletics by two straights.

The Laborer's Union excursion around the lakes was patronized by 200 people and a pleasant day was spent.

SOCIAL AND PRESENTATION.

Prizes Given by the W.C.T.U. Presented Last Night.

There was a pleasant social gathering at the residence of Mrs. W. Wand, Ashburnham, last night, at which the W. C. T. U. prizes were presented, in connection with the following interesting program:

Address	Mrs. Paton, President W.C.T.U.
Address	Rev. Mr. Beer
Duet	Misses Annie and Emma Smith
Speech	Mr. John McWilliams

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

Grace Daintry	$2.50
Lucy Anderson	$2.50
Speech	M. W. Matchett
Instrumental duet	Misses L. Wand and L. Beer.
Address	Mr. J. P. Beer

Concluding remarks by the President.

The brief speeches were along the line of temperance and congratulations to the principal and staff of the Ashburnham public school. The three successful pupils belonged to the class in Mr. M. W. Matchett's room. Mrs. Paton gave some very interesting facts about the grand work being done through the means of the W.C.T.U. for railroad men, lumbermen and many others, wherever an opening shows itself.

A CHARGE OF FRAUD.

A Business College Proprietor on Trial at Lindsay.

Two days ago Mr. E. J. O'Sullivan, proprietor of the National Business College, Lindsay, was arrested at Sherbrooke, Que., where he is conducting a college, charged by W. E. Bolvins, of Woodville, Ont., with defrauding him out of $125. O'Sullivan was brought to Lindsay Thursday morning and his trial commenced Friday before Police Magistrate McIntyre. From the evidence given it appears that Bolvins paid O'Sullivan $125 for a half interest in the Lindsay branch on representations made by him that he had promises of 1?? pupils. About 15 pupils was all that ever panned out and the college closed down in due time and was removed to Barrie, where Bolvins was given half interest. The case was postponed until Tuesday.—News.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The Athletics are talking of going to Markham on Saturday to give the team of that village a return match.

Negotiations are pending for a match between the Orillia lacrosse team and the Athletics to take place in Peterborough at an early date. It will likely be the last game of the season.

At the Belleville Bicycle meet on Monday Marshall Wells won the one-third mile class B race, flying start, in 44 2-5 seconds. The other winners were McKellar, McLeod and McCarthy.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. On Saturday Mr. John McDonald, Queen street, who is employed at the C.P.R. freight sheds, met with a severe accident. Mr. McDonald will be laid up for some time as a result of the accident.

Saturday afternoon, Mr. Armstrong, carter, while driving a lady to the locks, was accompanied by Mr. John McNaughton. When turning Lake to Crescent street the horse took a sharp turn and threw the lady and Mr. McNaughton off. Mr. McNaughton landed against a post, but the lady escaped uninjured. Mr. McNaughton was put on board a car and conveyed to Nicholls Hospital, but beyond a severe shaking up his injuries are not serious. The cart was considerably damaged.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individual delights.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly clense them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

LABOR MEN IN SESSION.

WHAT THEY ARE DOING IN LABOR'S INTEREST.

The Standing Committees Appointed—Doings of the Dominion Congress in Session at London—Problems of Labor.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—President P. J. Jobin occupied the chair at last evening's session of the Trades and Labor Congress, when the attendance was considerably increased by the arrival of the representatives from Ottawa. The chief subject of debate was the admittance of the socialist labor party to membership in the congress.

The credentials of this party were not accepted, upon the ground that the constitution did not provide for their admission. Notice to change the constitution was given by Delegate Darlington, of Montreal, and this will cause a lively debate before the congress closes.

The president's address was referred to a special committee; so also was the report of the Executive Committee, which will deal with the formation of a Canadian Federation of Labor, whose charters will be issued by the congress.

Secretary Dower read a lengthy communication from the Trades Council of British Columbia, which gave a review of the condition of labor in that country. It is not flourishing, owing, in a great measure to the overcrowding of the labor market by Chinese immigration.

A communication was received from the Garment Worker's Union of Toronto, asking the congress to petition the Dominion Government to have a commission appointed to enquire into the sweating system.

The following committees have been appointed:—Ways and Means—C. March, W. Darlington, Joseph Hawthorne; Standing Orders—Walter Toll, Felix Marvis, C. C. Stewart, P. J. Ryan, D. A. Carey and W. L. St. Pierre; on president's address—Frank Plant, George Beales, John Flett, D. J. Marsan and J. W. Patterson; special committee on executive report—C. March, Flexix Marvis, Alex McDonald, C. C. Stewart and W. Darlington; committee on thanks—A. W. Holmes, John Scott, R. H. Hessel, R. G. Hay and M. Powell. Auditors—H. B. Ashplant, John Tweed, H. L. Langevin.

THE DAY'S SESSION.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The second day's proceedings of the Congress opened with a report from the Standing Orders Committee, which recommended that the Dominion Government be asked to appoint a commission to enquire into the sweating system in the cities of Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal, with a view to make a test case for the Dominion, and if the system does exist to the extent which has been reported to the congress, that the Government do take steps to have such laws passed that will stamp it out of existence.

An amendment was offered by Delegate Darlington, of Montreal, who desires to have special enquiry made into how far the farmers' wives came into competition with those employed in making garments in those cities.

This was the signal for a very warm debate, in which every delegate took part. Eventually the amendment was withdrawn on the chairman of the committee explaining that the resolution offered by the committe was intended to cover everyone engaged in all classes of work where the sweating system has been introduced.

The next subject taken up was the immigration policy of the Dominion Government in admitting Chinese into this country, and particularly in British Columbia, and after everyone present had exhausted themselves in expressing their views on the subject, the following resolution was carried:—"That this Congress views with alarm the rapid increase of the Chinese population in the Dominion, and would ask the Federal Government to further restrict the immigration of cheap coolie labor from the Orient by raising the poll tax to $500 in order to save the workers of this country from undue competition with a class of people which are a detriment to any civilized country and should be totally prohibited."

The report of the auditors congratulated the congress on the manner in which the financial affairs of the Congress were conducted. The receipts for the year were $372 94, expenditures $326 87, leaving a balance of $46 07.

It was also decided that in future the printing of the Congress be done in one office and that tenders be called for the doing of the same.

Delegate G. Pierre, of Montreal, introduced the following resolution: "That inasmuch as the present school system is costly and unsatisfactory to the toilers of this land, and, further, that it is a channel from which a large amount of the disagreements among the different nationalities of this country emanate; further that under the present system a working man's child has no chance of obtaining a fit and proper education so necessary to their future life; therefore, be it resolved that this Congress desires to express itself as being unqualifiedly in favor of a free, compulsory and non sectarian school for all classes, and that the different Provincial Governments be petitioned accordingly.

Before adjourning for luncheon, it was decided to allow a member to speak only once on each subject, and then only for five minutes, except the mover, who is allowed to speak twice.

ALEX. WALKER'S END.

Government Detective Murray Concludes That it Was a Case of Suicide.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—For the past fortnight Detective John Murray has been investigating the circumstances of the death of Alexander Walker whose body was found on August 13 floating in Lake Erie. His inquiries have convinced him that Walker committed suicide. The deceased was 37 years old. On August 5 he left Cincinnati for Windsor accompanied by a man named Taylor. On the 12 he pawned his watch for $25 with a Windsor barber. He crossed the lake and was last seen alive sitting outside his hotel about 8 o'clock that evening. Next day some dredgers found his body floating in the lake. An inquest was held and a postmortem having revealed a contusion on the neck and an absence of water in the lungs a verdict of murder was returned. Investigation failed to furnish any grounds for suspecting anyone and the discovery by Taylor of the following letters written by deceased and left by him in his room at the hotel in Detroit practically settled the matter.

To Taylor—"This will tell the tale. Do the best you can for Annie; you know her address. I am tired.—(Signed) Fred."

Another to his mother read: "Dear Mother—You didn't know I was married to Mrs. McIntyre. I hope you will treat her well.—Alex."

Another, dated on the day of his disappearance, read: "My name is Alex. Walker. My parents live in Guelph, Canada. My wife—God bless her!—lives in Cincinnati. Her address is 111 West Seventh street. I am tired.—Fred. Walker."

A fourth, obviously written on the previous Saturday, but posted to his wife the day he disappeared, read: "Dear Annie,—Good-bye. More sorrow for you than anyone else, except mother. Go to mother in Canada.—Fred."

Deceased married a New Orleans widow some years ago, but kept his marriage a secret from his mother who lives in Guelph.

STRANGELY REUNITED.

Long Separated Relatives of Two Families Meet by Chance.

Special to the Times.

ANDERSON, Ind. Sept. 4.—W. H. Connors, of Doncinnati, a travelling man, who registered at the Anderson Hotel today, learned by chance that John B. Connors was stopping at the Doxey. He went over to the hotel, where he came face to face with his father, whom he has not seen for fifteen years. The father lives in Indianapolis.

Half an hour afterward John P. Anderson, of Chicago, came in and registered at the Doxie House, and was followed fifteen minutes later by a travelling man from St. Louis, whose name also was John P. Anderson. Noticing the name just above his own, he exclaimed, "That man is my cousin! We have not met in thirty years. Point him out to me. I would not know him." He was taken into the waiting-room and introduced and the two had a pleasant visit.

A CUBAN REPUBLIC.

Spain Will be Petitioned for Self Government on Canadian Lines.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A Havanna dispatch to the Times says that the meeting of insurgent delegates at Najassa proclaimed a constitution for the Republic on a Federal basis of five States. They also elected the Marquis of Santa Lucia president and appointed various officers, as well as confirming the nominations of Antonia Macco to be general, commanding in Santiago de Cuba, Maximo Gomez, in Puerto Principe, and Releefe in Santa Clare. Najasa was proclaimed as the provisional Federal capital. A resolution was adopted permitting farmers to sell their produce in the towns on the payment of 25 ad valorem duty. A proposal to proclaim Macco dictator of Cuba was discussed for six days, and was finally withdrawn. The autonomists party intend to petition Spain for self government on Canadian lines. It is stated that Maximo Gomez is inclined to accept conditional autonomy, but Antonia Macco declines any compromise.

SENT BACK WITH THE PILOT.

Desperate Expedient of Americans in England Anxious to Get Home.

Special to the Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 4.—Two venturesome Americans, anxious to get home, boarded the steamer St. Louis with handbags resolved to take their chances. They concealed themselves on board the boat until she had left her dock. They were discovered when the ship was off the Needles, and despite their entreaties were sent back to Southampton with the pilot as stowaways.

READY FOR BATTLE.

Forces Organized on each Side in a Kentucky Feud.

Special to The Times.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Sept. 4.—The Helton's, Brookes's and Saylor's, living on Straight Creek, near the Bell and Harlan line, have begun warring over a tract of land. The Heltons and Saylors are ranged against the Brookses.

Several on each side have been killed. Andrew Jackson, of the Brooks faction, when released from jail yesterday, organized a band of 30 adherents. The Heltons have as many and a battle is imminent.

Caught Fish With a Rake.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The biggest catch of fish on record in Central Illinois was made yesterday by John DeVault, a frog catcher. While dozing on the banks of Spinder Creek he was aroused, he says, by a great commotion in the water. The rains had swollen the creek to twice its normal size, and a great school of German carp were swimming up against the current. DeVault ran back to a sand bar near the mouth of the creek a mile away. Along the whole distance was an almost solid mass of carp. The frog catcher dragged logs and rocks on the sand bar and soon built an obstruction that prevented the return of the fish. De Vault found the fish packed almost solid around the dam, about a mile from the mouth of the creek. With a pitchfork and rake he threw about 5,000 pounds of fish on the bank, and the supply was not exhausted. He sold the bulk of the fish for four cents a pound.

Broke His Neck.

WATFORD, Sept. 4.—Henry Learn, of the 10th concession of Brooks, while out chopping this morning cut down a tree which lodged in another one, and while chopping it fell, striking him on the back of the neck, doubling him up and breaking his back. He is quite paralyzed and cannot live long.

AFTER HIDDEN TREASURE

LOOKING FOR JARS OF BURIED SPANISH DOUBLONS.

An Insurance Swindler Jailed—A Crazy Medical Student Now Confined in an Asylum Said to be Jack the Ripper.

Special to the Times.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Sept. 4.—L. Hughes, R. F. Davis, R. L. Mann, and Pete Chrysmann, of Gonzales, and H. N. Moserman and P. Jennings, of Gilroy, today sailed for a lone island in the Pacific Ocean, 800 miles west of Peru, in search of buried treasure. Forty three years ago Mr. Jennings was a sailor in the south seas, and is said to have been one of the six who buried on a lonely island in the Pacific three large jars of Spanish doubloons valued at between $300,000 and $1,000,000. Mr. Jennings is the only man alive that knows the location of the money as the other five died in his presence on the Peruvian coast. He has also a chart of the island and claims it is volcanic and uninhabited. Three weeks will be required to make the trip.

AN INSURANCE SWINDLER.

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 4.—Dr. George W. Fraker, the famous insurance swindler who was found alive after the court had ordered his $20,000 insurance to be paid, arrived here in charge of officers last night and was immediately put in jail. A curious throng met the party at the depot. He expressed himself as thoroughly glad to be near his old home again. To a reporter who met the train in Iowa, the doctor talked freely of his case. His answers to questions, however, were given in an absent minded way. He said he would have returned after his trip to Chicago, but he found himself in disgrace, the story of his disappearance having been published in the newspapers.

JACK THE RIPPER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Dr. Forbes Winslow, of London a well known specialist on suicide and insanity, says that "Jack the Ripper," who by his crimes terrorized London a few years ago, is in a county lunatic asylum in England. The doctor has come to New York to attend the Medico-Legal Congress, which is being held here. He is the chairman of the department of insanity and mental medicine, and has prepared a paper on "Suicide Considered as a Mental Epidemic.

The story told by Dr. Winslow is as follows: "'Jack the Ripper' was a young medical student, of good family. He studied hard, and his mind, being naturally weak, gave way. He became a religious enthusiast and his religious fervor resulted in homicidal mania toward the women of the street, and impelled him to murder them. Suspicion was at first directed toward him by reason of the fact that he returned to his lodgings at unseasonable hours; that he had innumerable coats and hats stained with blood.

"I have in my possession now a pair of Canadian moccasins stained with blood that the 'Ripper' wore while on his murderous expedition. I notified the Scotland Yard authorities. Subsequently the young man was placed in confinement and removed to a lunatic asylum, where he is today. Since his incarceration there has been no repetition of the horrible murders that he perpetrated. These facts are all known to the English authorities, and it is conceded that the man now in the asylum is 'Jack the Ripper.' It was deemed desirable, however, to hush the matter up, the details were too horrible to be made the subject of a public trial, and there was no doubt of the man's hopeless insanity.

And that tempts me to say that there is no such thing as a harmless lunatic. All lunatics are dangerous, and should be kept in confinement. The man who believes that there is such a thing as a harmless lunatic is laboring under a delusion himself."

PRECHER IN A CHAIN GANG

Whipped, Eloped and Convicted of Violating a Liquor Law.

Special to the Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 4.—Henry G. Worley, the famous moonshiner, nearly two years ago turned against his fellows in Murray county and was slain by them. Among those prominent in informing upon the murderers of the moonshiner was Rev. J. S. Hooker. His neighbors, discovering that he was an informer, visited his house one night, took him and his son out and gave them 150 lashes each, with a warning to leave the country forever.

Hooker brought his family to Atlanta. Here his wife, who was a hard working woman, took boarders. Among the boarders was a fair widow with whom the preacher eloped after a few days, and wandered back to the neighborhood whence he came. There he was arrested, charged with violating the State liquor law, for which he was convicted and sentenced to twelve months on the chain gang. This sentence he began to serve out yesterday.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Special to The Times.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 4.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

Japs Murdering Women and Children.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 4.—The Novoe Vremya's correspondent at Valdivostock, writes that the Formosan insurgents are conducting a successful warfare against the Japanese, in which women share equally with the men a spirit of determination. Though the army is decimated by sickness the Japanese will grant no quarter and spare neither women nor children.

PETERBOROUGH. SEPTEMBER 1 1896

LIEUT. GOVERNOR PATTERSON.

The Government could not well send Manitoba a better Governor than Hon. J. C. Patterson. His Honor has made an enviable record in Federal politics. A man of great value to his party, he has shown a good deal of sturdy independence even on the floor of the House. When in Parliment as a private member he was always listened to with attention and respect; and he was one of the few men who could speak after the leaders and yet rise above an echo. He goes to Winnipeg at a time when a good deal of the white light of notoriety will beat about his "throne." It is needless to say, however, that his influence will be for peace, and that his course will be suggestive of cool-headedness and discretion. If a Lieutenant-Governor will be permitted to play any part in removing the dangerous Manitoba school question from Federal politics, Mr. Patterson may be depended upon to play that part well and with conciliatory results.

It is, undoubtedly, quite a sacrifice for the Ontario Conservatives to give Mr. Patterson up at this time. He has been their "field captain" since the withdrawal of Mr. Dalton McCarthy. He fought a hard battle in '91, and led them to victory in the by-elections that followed. More than that, his appointment opens West Huron, a constituency which the Liberals carried by 379 majority in '91, and which Mr. Patterson himself only succeeded in winning by 16 majority during the flood tide of the by-elections, when everything was going Tory. Still, the Government are to be commended for their courage in thus silencing once for all the charge that they were engaged in an unworthy intrigue with Sir John Schultz. We must keep the skirts of our judicial and semi-judicial offices absolutely free from stain at all costs.

A GENERAL MOVEMENT.

As the reports of the attacks on the missionaries in China become more complete, the evidence of a general conspiracy inspired by some central head is greatly strengthened. These have not been spasmodic outbreaks due to local condition. They have extended throughout the empire. They have been most violent in the regions furthest removed from the coast. The great-province of Sze Chuan, the most western in China, has expelled every missionary within its limits. The outbreaks have spread down the Yangate Kiang. They have occurred almost under the walls of Pekin and have been working nearer and nearer to the coast.

It was high time the Government of Europe and the United States interested themselves in this matter if missionary work is not to come to an end in China. The central government of China may have little power in itself, but the official class throughout the country is all-powerful, and whatever steps are taken should be with a view to impressing on this class the seriousness of any attack upon foreigners. So long as the viceroys and the mandarins can hide behind the Pekin Government and escape any other consequences than the necessity of beheading a few subjects, there will be little protection to the missionaries. If convinced that there is somthing besides protests and fines to be feared, there will be a speedy end of disorder. China cannot complain that harsh measures are unjust to her. If the subjects of any European Power had received such treatment in the dominions of another Power as the Americans and Europeans have received in China, war would have resulted with the very briefest formalities.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, But All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position in life, and enclosing your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds pe cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

" On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

Description of This Pernicious Pest and How to Exterminate it.

Where the San Jose scale has found lodgment its extermination should be immediate. This pernicious scale is injurious to a great variety of deciduous trees, and besides causing the death of the trees, has great power of production. Common in California, it now infests Washington, Oregon, New Mexico and the western country. Among the localities of the Atlantic seaboard known to be infested are limited sections in Florida, Georgia, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York. Specimens have also been observed in one or more towns in Ohio and Indiana, the scale probably having been shipped in on nursery stock, or brought on California fruit. The young or newly hatched are almost microscopic creatures of a white or pale yellow color, body of ovoid form, flattened, with six legs and two short feelers. They are active for a brief period only, sometimes but a few hours or even minutes, rarely more than a day or two, and settle upon the bark near where they are born, unless it is already too thickly covered with the parent scales. A long threadlike proboscis is gradually thrust under the skin of the leaf or bark when the insect becomes fixed and a waxy secretion exudes and covers the scale. This increases until the larva underneath molts. The first larval skin becomes part of the secretion or shield, and is known as the larval scale, and the insect under it after this first molt, leaves its legs and feelers. The covering still further increases and a second molt takes place, and a covering known as the medial scale either surrounds or extends from one end of the larval scale, according to the species. The sexes are readily distinguishable by their scales or shields. The male undergoes a third molt, from which results a delicate two-winged fly. The San Jose scale is quite circular in form, very flat and pressed close to the bark. It grows from one-sixteenth to one-eighth inch in diameter in the female and about half this size in the male. It has the general color of the bark, and the larval scale in the centre is a slightly raised point, varying from yellowish to nearly black in color. In the latitude of Washington, D.C., there may be five annual generations, each occupying on an average forty days. Multiplication continues from the beginning of June until late in autumn, or until winter weather fairly sets in.

For the extermination of the San Jose scale, a number of parasites have been found quite effective. But where trees are found to be badly infested, the safest and most economical course is to cut and burn trunk and branch. Where the infection is less marked, insecticide washes and sprays may be used. Before young lice have begun to secrete scales they may be destroyed by spraying with kerosene emulsion. For the older scales the washes may be divided into those which can be used in summer without damage to the trees, and those so strong they can only be applied while the tree is dormant during winter. Among the insecticides that have been proven more or less successful are formulas of whale oil soap, the resin wash, kerosene emulsion, hard laundry soap, concentrated potash lye, fish oil soap, and California lime-sulphur-and-salt wash. The most effective insecticide for the San Jose scale is to dissolve two pounds of whale oil soap in one gallon of water, and make a thorough spraying.

Getting Best Results in the Fruit Garden.

Whoever has picked the most luscious wild raspberries and blackberries and has noted the conditions under which they grew, has seen that a loose soil and abundant moisture are prime essentials to perfection in these berries. It has been found by experience that the greatest aid the gardener has in securing a light, loose and moist soil, even in the heat of summer, is a heavy coating of the ground with mulch. Applied to the soil, not in a thin coat that soon disappears, but in a very thick one, it keeps down seeds, smothering that most troublesome of pests, witch grass, and creates beneath it a surprising condition of the soil. If one will take the trouble to draw aside a thick coat of mulch, he will be surprised to find beneath it as light as though the harrow had just passed through it while even in time of drought the soil will be well filled with moisture, drawn up from the regions below. In using mulch care should be taken to avoid that having weed seed, unless the plot of land is to be kept permanently mulched. Rather than go without such a covering in the raspberry rows, if straw or hay were not at hand, have evergreen brush cut in the woods and pastures and with this mulch the land; but straw or hay is better, for it decays and forms a vegetable humus in the soil.

The Lack of Lime in Grain.

While corn is a food that has its mission in winter, it will do more harm than good when continued steadily on into spring. Wheat may be classed with corn. These grains are good because they are concentrated, and enable the hens to eat enough from which to derive their warmth, but though they contain a proportion of nitrogen they are very deficient in the mineral elements. There is less than a pound of lime in one thousand pounds of wheat, and if a hen is compelled to subsist on grain entirely, how is it possible for her to furnish eggs, which are not only covered with a shell of lime, but also contain within themselves the substances that are changed into bone, blood, flesh and fat.—Farm and Fireside.

Strawberries for Home Use.

No matter how far from market a farmer may be, he can grow a patch of strawberries and be sure of a market at home. It is astonishing how much fruit of all kinds can be eaten by a small family when the supply is unstinted. There are few neighbors where those who begin by growing a supply of strawberries for home use will not find a market springing up around them for neighbors who keep on in the old ruts because they think they haven't time to attend to such small affairs as the culture of berries. they are small in size, but more bushels of strawberries can be grown per acre than of any kind of grain, and the fruit may be sold cheap and yet bring more than grain profits.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

There is a good deal in a name sometimes. Mr. Dabney, who has been singing tenor songs in Daly's company a little while under the name of Daubigney, has now joined the Abbey & Grau opera company to sing tenor parts and will be known as Daubigne, which sounds very French indeed.

"They were indebted to her many years since as the kind donor of the cabmen's shelter outside the Langham Hotel, of which shelters there are forty. Once a year she invited about 200 to a magnificent tea and entertainment. She was a warm supporter of the Cabdrivers' Benevolent Association."

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Sir Archibald Campbell has arrived at Inverary, Scotland, to complete arrangements for the march of his band of pipers through Glencoe. Sir Archibald denies the report that his expedition is for the purpose of celebrating the anniversary of the massacre of the Macdonald clan by the Campbells in 1692, but says that his pipers will merely traverse Glencoe en route from Inverary to a gaelic concert which is to be held at Oban. The Macdonald clansmen are not satisfied with Sir Archibald's explanation, but maintain a turbulent attitude and mutterings of anger are to be heard among the people of the Glen.

The Emperor, the Globe further says, has allowed himself on more than one occasion recently to use language which is at least capable of being misunderstood. While the Globe does not believe that the Emperor desires war, his utterances, it is said are assuredly not such as will further peace.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

REBELS ROUTED.

General Campos' Troops Repel a Determined Rebel Attack.

Special to the Times.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 4.—General Linarz reports from Palmazoriano that on August 31, at Muerto, a large force of rebels, under Rabi, combined with another body of insurgents and attacked his vanguard, intending to capture his convicts. The rebels were repulsed and dispersed. They left seven dead on the field and one prisoner. The fight lasted one hour.

BOMBAY, Sept. 4.—Serious disturbances resulting from the enmity of the Hindoos and Mohammedans are reported at Dulis, a town in the Candeish district, about 180 miles from this city. The trouble began on August 14, when the Mohammedans attacked and routed a Hindoo procession. On Sunday last the Hindoos held another procession, which was headed by a band of music. A mob of Mohammedans obstructed the way, notwithstanding the efforts of the police, who escorted the paraders. Then some one ordered the police to fire, and the command was obeyed. Ten Mohammedans were killed by the volley and 50 wounded.

The respondent is accused of eight personal offences.

FOREST FIRES.

Great Deal of Damage is Reported—Residents Fleeing.

Special to the Times.

CAPE MAY, Sept. 4.—A change of wind to the south gave the forest fire which broke out near Woodbine yesterday a fresh impetus this afternoon and it is burning with awful fury. Its line is said to extend for forty miles and the flames are eating their way with great rapidity toward Egg Harbor. It is the worst forest fire in years. Gangs of men are out fighting with might and main to stop its onward rush by back firing, but they are making but slight headway. Residents are fleeing from their homes, which are endangered.

The Fire Record.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 4.—Mr. Paul Levasseur of Doucet's Landing, opposite here, met with a serious loss in the burning of his stables and barns last night, with a team of fine horses, valued at $200; a new threshing machine, and 4,000 bundles of hay. Insurance, $500; loss, $3,000.

Tree Across The Track.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 2.—The engine and baggage car of a passenger train on the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern road were derailed last night near this city by a tree which had been burned about the roots and fallen across the rails. The train consisted of eight coaches several of which were filled with excursionists. Engineer Gabriel did not see the tree until within two car lengths, but stood at his post and saved the train. As the engine went over, he jumped, sustaining serious injuries.

He was harrowing, and, while stopping to adjust the harness, was kicked full in the face by one of the horses sustaining shocking wounds. In an insensible condition he was conveyed to the village of Dover Centre, where a physician dressed his injuries.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Herr Plund, editor of the Vorwarts has been arrested and two editions of his paper have been confiscated by the Government, upon the ground that the paper continued articles insulting to Emperor William.

A Woman at the Bottom of It.

A woman was in a hurry to board a Wabash avenue cable car. At the same time a one-legged man was in a hurry to leave the car. The woman collided with the man, knocked his crutch from under his arm and he fell upon the pavement. After the woman had made herself secure in the seat of the car she turned and made a profuse apology. The man was in no mood to accept it. He shook his crutch before her and cursed her. The woman's face grew crimson. The conductor enjoyed the occurrence. In doing so he stepped on a man's corn. The man toppled and fell against another man, knocking off the latter's silk hat. In scrambling to catch it he fell off. He raved and swore, and the man who had knocked off the hat, being pugnacious, jumped from the car and there was a fight. The conductor was heard to mutter: "Always a woman."—Chicago Tribune.

The Turtle's Annual Visit.

A land turtle that without fail for twenty-six years has regularly appeared at the home of Michael Mackey, at Parker Ford, Chester County, came to time a few days ago and was being proudly exhibited around Pottstown by Mr. Mackey yesterday. That gentleman asserts that there can be no mistaking his turtle, as the initials of his name are emblazoned on its shell. He says that its training has been so well developed at his home that at the sound of the dinner bell it comes into the dining-room to receive its allotment of food. It stays around the Mackey premises until September, and then goes off to its winter quarters.—

Easy to Guess the Correct Size.

"I want to git a collar fer my husband," said the hardfaced woman, "and I declare I have plumb forgot the size. I giner'ly buy all his collars and ties fer him, too."

"Ah!" said the astute clerk. "Then you probably want about a thirteen and a half or fourteen."

"Yes, that's right but I don't see how you guessed it so easy."

"Oh, I have noticed that a man who lets his wife buy all his haberdashery for him usually has a neck of about that size."—Cincinnati Tribune.

MAY HANG DURRANT.

A Chum Will Swear That the Accused Meant to Dishonor Miss Lamont.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Clarence Wolfe, it is said, will swear that on April 2, one day before Blanche Lamont was murdered, he and Durrant held a conversation, which explains the young student's motives for killing the unfortunate girl. Durrant commented upon the beauty of Blanche and told Wolfe that she was a pure girl and that he intended to rob her of that virtue which she so prized.

The defence and the public have held that the young friend of the accused would take the stand only to speak a good word for the young man whose life was at stake. The source of this evidence is one of the strongest proofs of its reliability. Had some one who enjoyed no more than a simple acquaintance with Durrant come forward with it there might be some doubt, but its sponsor here is one who possessed the student's confidence, shared his pleasures, and took part in much of the daily routine of his life.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. The Arabian Fined.

The Arabians who were arrested for assaulting Joshua Jackson were up in the police court yesterday and one of them was fined $10 and costs. This one, it appears, did all the clubbing, and from the appearance of the plaintiff, the prisoner did his work well. There was still further trouble down at the Arabians' dwelling last night, and the services of an officer were needed to make peace. The Arabians are undesirable citizens.

Stole Watch and Chain.

Mr. Albert Mercier is mourning the loss of his silver watch and vest, and is at loss to know how it disappeared, keeping the loss quiet, awaiting developments. It appears he is in the habit of hanging his vest in the hall of his home on Lake street, and on Friday last he was surprised to find the watch and vest missing. The watch is a silver one and it is supposed the thief had been loitering around until an opportunity presented itself for him to make the theft. Some time ago burglars entered the same house and carried off two ladies' watches, which were never recovered. During the summer months it would be wise for citizens to remove everything of value from their halls and in their stead place a good fierce bull dog on guard.

They Go Into Camp.

According to previous announcement, the Durham Field Battery went into camp in the town park today, and for ten days will engage in mimic warfare with mosquitos, hard tack, night chills, and other enemies of the nation. The officers are: Lieut.-Col. McLean, Captain Snyder, 1st Lieut. Gillies, 2nd Lieut. Coombe, Surgeon Turner and Veterinary Surgeon Fisher. Sergeant Major Dick is expected to arrive this evening. The battery this year is as strong as ever and are well pleased with the comfort of the grounds and the solidity of the grub. Lieut. Coombe, of the Trinity College school has been attached for this drill. Dr. Brereton, owing to his growing practice and steadily increasing aldermanic proportions, has severed his connection with the battery, which has been fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Turner, of Millbrook. Sergeant O commanded the admiration of all the ladies. His personal appearance was very striking as he led the battery up the street. The only hitch was when, just after starting, one of the big teams refused to pull. The cause is ascribed to the shock they received on beholding the external appearance of the town hall.—Port Hope Guide.

AWNINGS TOO LOW.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—After having knocked my hat off several times against awnings on George street, I think it is time to call attention to the fact that nearly all the awnings in front of business houses on George street are too low, and will not admit of the passage of a person of ordinary height beneath them. It is a great annoyance to have to stoop every time you come to an awning. There should be a bylaw regulating such matters.

CITIZEN.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individual delights.

E. Weinig won the professional handicap. H. C. Tyler the two mile, Watson the one mile open, with Pat O'Connor second.

The last meet of the L. A. W. National circuit at Montreal was a tame affair. The class B men would not ride, as they thought the track was not sufficiently banked. The Torontos have struck a winning gait again. On Saturday they played with Scranton and knocked the coal heavers' pitcher out of the box, making 20 runs off his pitching. On Monday Chapman's nine played three games, two of which they captured and lost one. In the morning game the Torontos won by a score of 13 to 6. The first game played after lunch resulted in a victory for the Scranton team. In the third game the visitors went to pieces in the fifth innings and the home team scored six runs much to the joy of the 4,000 spectators. Commencing this afternoon the Torontos will play a series of three games with the Wilkesbarre ball tossers.

BEFORE THE BREEZE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—There are but two days before the first race for the America Cup between Defender and Valkyrie III., and but little of that time will be devoted to sailing. Defender will get a little more practice than the Valkyrie. The British yacht went inside of Sandy Hook yesterday for final sail stretching, and upon the result depends whether she will have another sail. The crew were busy this morning trying sails in the light breeze, and it is thought that all will be in readiness for a tow or sail to the Erie Basin when the yacht will go out about 4 o'clock for final preparations. The new boom seems to work well, and the mainsail is now out to the end of the boom. Defender did not waste any time after she got to New Rochelle yesterday. Her new Ramie cloth sails were bent at once and she made a short trial trip. Mr. Iselin said today that he was satisfied with the yacht. All she needed was overhauling of her sails which she was rapidly getting. There was nothing whatever the matter with Defender, and she was perfectly able to carry her canvas and sticks at any kind of weather. She will remain at New Rochelle until Friday morning, when she will go to the Erie Basin to be measured with Valkyrie, and both will go down to the Horse Shoe the same night. When the first race is settled it is believed that nearly every available steamboat and tug in the harbor will be down to the bay, to say nothing of the big fleet of steam yachts.

The Defender started out at 11 o'clock yesterday morning to again test the new set of Wilson & Silsber sails instead of the Herreshoff sails, which were used in all the trial races. At 11.15 a breeze sprang up from the south-east and the Valkyrie went about and ran over towards Coney Island. The working topsail was taken in and a club topsail sent aloft. The stopsail was also lowered and a jib sent up. At 11.30 Capt. Cranfield jybed the boat and headed for Sandy Hook on a broad reach, the wind freshening all the time, and the cup-hunter bowling along at a merry pace. The sea was smooth, and the wind also about eight knots. The conditions were about right for the British boat to do her best work. Her course at 12 o'clock was toward the Hook, with the wind abeam. The jib topsail was taken in, and the mainsail, jib and club topsail. The black-hulled yacht dashed through the water at a rate which demonstrated that she will be a dangerous competitor in light winds and a smooth sea. There were no other yachts in the vicinity of the Valkyrie, and it was impossible to get a close line on what she was doing, but it was plain she was sailing very fast and had power in reserve.

A dispatch received from London today by the Evening Sun reads as follows: The betting is 3 to 1 on the Defender and very little of it. There is plenty of American money offering, but the Englishmen wants long odds.

The charge of fraud against Mr. E. J. O'Sullivan, formerly of Lindsay, was dismissed by the magistrate.

At the last meeting of the Ashburnham Council no action was taken towards paying the $800 due Peterborough. The town will likely take action now.

The re-opening services of the Park street Baptist Church will take place on Sunday, Sept. 15, when it is expected Rev. Prof. Farmer, of McMaster University, Toronto, will preach.

A meeting of the Creamery Association and Eastern and Western Dairymen's Association will be held in the Farmers' Institute tent at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition some day next week, the date to be fixed.

The new electric machine at Port Hope is a generator of 2,000 volts, double the capacity of the old one, and weighs about two tons and one-half. It is the first of its kind installed in any plant in Canada, and was manufactured by the Canada General Electric Works, Peterborough.

A telegram from the Lick Observatory, California, yesterday stated that the eclipse was photographed by four observers, two working with the great telescope, one with an 18 inch reflector and one with the large portrait lens. Swift's new comet was seen during the total phase.

Robt. Burleigh was catcher for the 'Prentice Boys in a baseball match on Monday with the employees of the Geo. Matthews Company. The 'Prentice Boys came out all right, but their catcher cannot say the same. He was reaching for a foul made in the third innings, when the ball struck the small finger on his right hand and it was broken and sprained. He will be unable to work for a week or so.

THE FAKIRS!

Who Gull Visitors With Bogus Jewelry at Their Old Game.

The farmers have finished their harvest, and those who have come into the city to see the sights have a little solid enjoyment which they justly deserve, and spend a few of the dollars which they have worked so hard to get together during the past year, says the Toronto News. They are always willing to pay a fair price for what they get while in the city, and without their assistance the great Industrial Exhibition would be a failure. But just because they have money and are willing to spend it is no reason why they should be allowed to be taken in by every fakir who rushes into the city looking for dollars during Fair weeks.

THE WARNING REPEATED.

Last year The News warned our visitors from the country to keep clear of the fake jewlery auction rooms, which were opened in many cases to catch them. But farmers as a rule are a stubborn lot, especially when they come to town for a week. They don't deny being a little green in city ways, but they don't want the city people even to hint at such a thing. They paid out a heap of money last year for watches and jewelry that was not worth twenty cents on the dollar, notwithstanding what the News said in endeavoring to protect them. There is no denying the fact that jewelry fakirs will lie and misrepresent their goods to farmers during the Exhibition; they will sell you a brass watch and chain, representing them to be solid 18k gold, for $15 to $25, and once they get your money it's "good-by."

THE CAPPERS GAME.

This year they are at work again and a large quantity of jewellery that is not worth carrying back to the farm has already been sold. From six to a dozen fellows are always in these places pretending to be visitors but they are nothing short of "cappers" for the house who make the first bid on any article put up and then leave the unwary farmer to make the second and purchasing offer. It would be far better for the visitors who have more money than they need to give it to some worthy charitable institution than to throw it into the pockets of these men who live on the proceeds of misrepresentation and falsification.

Visitors, keep away from these fake jewelery auction-rooms, or you will be sorry when you return home at the close of the Fair!

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

INS AND OUTS.

"The evolution of slang is something worth watching," said one of the group of three, who were sitting in the smoking room at the Snowden House last night. "They don't say a man is going to get a 'smile' anymore, now they call it a 'ball.' Instead of 'rushing the can' or the 'growler' it is now proper to say 'take 'Billy' for a walk.'"

"I've noticed it," said the second man, as he shoved a few envelopes into his pocket while the clerk had his back turned. "Several years ago you could hear such expressions as 'Jones' girl has given him the shake.' Now they would say 'Jones' girl has given him the marble heart.'"

"That's true," said the third. "Nowadays instead of saying a man is 'soft,' they say he is 'lush.' If you go to a man to sell him something, or appeal to his sympathies and he remains obdurate, they say he turns the 'frozen face' to you."

"Frozen face; that's a good expression," remarked the first. "I've had that turned to me when I go around to the town offices for information sometimes."

The report that the opera house is being painted with paint found in the actresses' dressing rooms is denied.

B. Sharp—Did you hear why the moon hid her face on Tuesday night?

B. Flat—No!

B. Sharp—Because she wouldn't show it for the world.

Constable Craig, of Ashburnham, believes in union with Peterborough. Yesterday he carted part of Peterborough over to Ashburnham, taken from a cellar which he is excavating on Water street.

"I would be willing to accommodate myself to almost anything for the sake of style," sighed the mermaid.

And she looked despondently down on the lower half of her figure.

"But such a garment as that is one too many for me."

She handed the bloomers back to the salesmen.

⁂

"James," said the good wife, severely, "were you intoxicated when you came home Sunday night?"

"No, I was not, Maria. I had not drank a drop."

"But, James, when you came through the hall you were staggering so you could hardly keep on your feet."

"Maria," replied James, with an injured air, "you should read the newspapers. If you had looked at THE MORNING TIMES you would have seen that just at the hour I came home there was an earthquake. It was that which made me look as if I was staggering. Dont be so hasty in your conclusions another time, please."

THE QUERY COLUMN.

In accepting an invitation to drive, which of these expressions is correct: "I will be glad to go," or "I shall be glad to go?" DOUBTFUL.

"Will" in the first person denotes determination; "shall," simply futurity. It is, therefore, more polite to use the latter expression. It would not be quite complimentary to inform one's entertainer that stern determination was necessary in order to enjoy the drive.

⁂

Is it proper for a young lady to have "Miss" prefixed to her name on visiting cards? C. R.

It would be highly unconventional for her to omit the prefix "Miss" before her name.

⁂

Kindly inform me if it is proper for a young lady to become acquainted with a gentleman without an introduction? She meets him every day on her way to business and is desirous of knowing him, but has not any way of being introduced.

G. M. I.

It is worse than merely unconventional for a young woman to make the acquaintance of a man in any but the accepted method— that of introduction by some common friend. The impropriety of such a course as the one you suggest would expose you to well merited discourtesy. If a young man reciprocates your ardent desire for an introduction you may be sure that he can find legitimate means of obtaining it. If he doesn't care for it, you would do well to overcome your impulse.

⁂

What is the best informal style of writing a card to a young lady visiting in my neighborhood, inviting her to drive? Is it not bad form to hang one foot out of the buggy?

LIGHTFOOT.

To invite a young lady to drive, send her a note—not a card—reading somewhat as follows: "My Dear Miss Blank—Will you allow me to show you some of the beauties of our neighborhood on Tuesday afternoon? There is a noteworthy drive between here and Chemong Park which I hope you will give me the pleasure of showing you. Yours sincerely, Robinson D. Dash." It is bad form to do anything which would indicate a lack of ease and repose.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

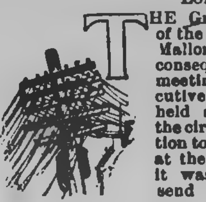
THE BIG LABOR CONGRESS

STANDING OF THE PATRONS DISCUSSED YESTERDAY.

An Effort to Change the Name of the Congress Defeated—Socialists Attempt to Secure Representation for Advanced Socialistic Thinkers.

Special to the Times.



LONDON, Sept. 5.

THE Grand President of the Patrons, C. A. Mallory, wrote that in consequence of no meeting of their Executive having been held after receiving the circular of invitation to be represented at the Congress, that it was impossible to send delegates this year.

CHANGE OF NAME PROPOSED.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to change the name of the organization from "The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress," to the "Canadian Federation of Labor." The constitution was then revised as follows: "Its objects shall be to unite all the labor organizations of the Dominion, so as to secure the repeal of existing laws, the enactment of new laws or amendments to the existing statutes in the interest of wage earners; it shall form organizations in localities where none exist, but in no case shall any body of workingmen belonging to any trade or calling at present having an international or national union be granted a charter; in the event of the formation of an international or national union of the trade or calling of the union so chartered being formed, it will be the duty of the proper officers of the Congress to see that the said union becomes a member of the said international or national union; the fee for the charter shall be $5.

St. Pierre, of Montreal, moved that the Patrons of Industry be excluded from the Congress and that delegates from the Socialist Labor Party and the Industrial Brotherhood be admitted.

Business was suspended without a decision being reached to allow the delegates to accept the invitation of the Reception Committee to drive around the city. The election of officers will take place at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Nobody who has carefully watched the deliberations of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress can deny the statement that it has among its members some sound thinkers and eloquent speakers. They are all practical men, men who have studied the many questions pertaining to the elevation of the workingmen with all thoroughness and sincerity, and who have striven nobly and are still endeavoring to further the cause which they have at heart. They are well acquainted with most matters of public importance, and as a result the discussions are full of vigor and sound logic. Workingmen of Canada ought to be proud of their leaders—they would be a credit to any assemblage.

CANADA A GREAT NATION.

Yesterday afternoon the first subject of discussion was the motion of Delegate St. Pierre, of Ottawa, which desired the Congress to place itself on record as being in favor of a "free, compulsory and non sectarian schools for all classes." The mover asked the delegates to consider the question solely from an educational point of view. There were three advantages to be gained by the adoption of this resolution, First it would build a great nation out of Canada; secondly it would create a better feeling among the different creeds and nationalities of Canada; thirdly it would give workingmen a chance to get their children educated.

MANITOBA'S GOOD PERCENTAGE.

Delegate Wm. Darlington, of Montreal, the seconder, said that in the places where there are sectarian schools the people are the most ignorant. He quoted for example the percentages of literacy in Quebec and Manitoba, In the former it is 47 per cent. and the latter 11 per cent.

Delegate Langevin, of Quebec, did no see the wisdom of considering the question and said so.

Delegate Powell, of London, thought it would be inadvisable to withdraw religion from the schools.

Delegate Carey, of Toronto, could not support the resolution because he did not think it would solve the difficulty. He extolled the present system of education in Canada and said it could not be improved upon.

Delegate Stewart, of Winnipeg, believed in non-sectarian schools and said that they worked advantageously in Manitoba. He believed in one Canada and an Uited Canada.

Delegate John Scott, of Montreal, was of the opinion that the Congress should leave the matter severely alone.

A NATIONAL SYSTEM.

Delegate Marks, of London, said that Canada would never be a nation until she got non-sectarian schools. He believed that a bad feeling was engendered among the young by the religious schools. Delegate Patterson, of Ottawa, said that what he wanted was a national system of education. After the regular school hour at 4 o'clock religious teachers could take the pupils in hand. He added that through the diverse methods of teaching at present a large number of children were being uneducated.

Delegate Ashplant, of London, moved an amendment to the effect that as the matter was foreign to the intention of the constitution it should not be taken up.

NO OPINION EXPRESSED.

The amendment was seconded by Geo. T. Beales and was supported by P. J. Ryan, D. J. Marson, D. J. O'Donoghue, John Flitt, A. R. McDonald, John Tweed and A. W. Holmes, all of whom except Messrs. Tweed and Flitt were in favor of the system of Separate schools as now in vogue. Messrs. Tweed and Flitt spoke generally for the non-sectarian system, but did not favor the question being discussed by the congress. The amendment declining to express an opinion was carried by a vote of 17 to 12.

The congress placed itself unanimously on record in opposition to any grant of land to the Salvation Army for "a so-called colony of reformed criminals, sinners and others."

PICKED UP IN A HURRY.

David A. Carey, of Toronto, is spoken of for vice president.

Patrick J. Jobin, of Quebec, will likely be re-elected president.

It is conceded that Geo. W. Dower, of Toronto, the efficient secretary-treasurer, will be reappointed to office.

Mrs. Talbot Macbeth, wife of one of London's prominent lawyers, has been an interested spectator at all sessions. Gallant D. J. O'Donoghue, of Toronto, secured her admission inside of the charmed circle.

The hours of work of the Congress have been arranged as follows: Morning session, 9 to 12; afternoon session, 2 to 6.

There is a noticeable absence of the use of the French language. At previous sessions nearly half of the delegates spoke in that tongue. As yet only the English language has been used.

H. Laforce Langevin, son of Sir Hector Langevin, is again a delegate to the Congress. He is an ardent worker and represents District Assembly No. 20 of Quebec.

Although one of the old "war horses" this is the first time Jonh Tweed, of Toronto, has been a delegate to Congress. Nobody would think so, however, by his work.

The election of officers will take place on Friday.

A. W. Holmes, of Toronto, is one of the hardest thinkers in the Congress, if his deskmate is to be relied upon. And when Arthur gets up to talk everybody listens for they know he has something good to say.

Hamilton has a lonely delegate in the person of John Flitt. He represents the Trades and Labor Council of that city.

Ex-President George T. Beales, of Toronto who holds the record for fast talking, sits next to William Darlington, the "fire-eater," from Montreal.

A $40,000 FIRE.

Big Warehouse and a Steamer Burned at Port Dalhousie.

Special to the Times.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Sept. 5.—At 11.50 last night the warehouse of A. W. Muir, ship and dry dock owner, was totally destroyed by fire. The steamer St. Magnus, lying in dry dock for repairs, was burned to the water's edge.

Captain Becker, of Cleveland, aged 72, was sleeping on board the boat and narrowly escaped cremation, He had to break through the window of his room and slide down a line from the top deck. He was badly burned about the head, hands, arms, feet and legs. He was taken to the hospital in St. Catharines and will hardly recover.

Muir's building and stock, valued at $40,000, are a total loss. The St. Magnus, owned by R. O. and A. B. MacKay, of Hamilton, is also a total loss. No insurance on either warehouse or boat.

The fire was purely the work of an incendiary.

TRUE BILL AGAINST DEMERS.

Suspected Murderer Found Guilty by the Grand Jury.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—Gauthier, the alleged murderer of his affianced wife, Elina Casigny, was arranged in the Court of Queen's Bench today and pleaded not guilty. His counsel, Mr. G. N. St. Jean, Q. C., applied for a commission to enquire into his sanity, but Judge Wurtele declined to grant it.

A true bill was returned against Napoleon Demers for the murder of his wife at St. Henri.

LEAPED FOR LIFE,

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Sept. 5.—About 4,000 attended the Midland Central fair today and enjoyed the exhibit and the attractions. Prof. Frisble in his balloon ascension found himself under stress, and fearing disaster jumped when he had ascended over 50 feet. Luckily his injuries were not dangerous.

Turkish Outrages.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A gentleman in this city has just received the following advices from Armenia: The other day a girl carrying food to the fields was set upon by three young Turks and foully and brutally treated. A row followed and two or three Christians were wounded. At another village, nine hours from here, a band of thirty horsemen entered the village of Kupri Keuy and first went through the village in a riotous way and greatly terrified the people, demanding the girls and brides. Later they took their rifles and went through the streets of the village. The son of the priest opened the door with the idea of inducing them to leave by giving money. He was shot down like a dog. They kept up this for about three hours. They broke open some doors and fired into the houses. The Government has not yet taken any steps in the matter, though this company of Lazes is well known. The trouble continues a veritable reign of terror.

Cholera in China and Japan.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 5.—The steamship Empress of China, which arrived from the Orient on Tuesday, brings advices to the effect that on August 23, when she sailed, cholera was increasing in Pekin, the deaths exceeding fifteen hundred daily. It is also increasing in Japan. The total number of cholera cases reported throughout Japan on August 19 was 771; deaths, 429. The aggregate number of cases from the 1st instant is 25,000, of which 1,230 occurred on transports, and the deaths are 16,278.

THE WORK OF WHITECAPS

TWO MEN SEVERELY BEAT DR. J. H. BULL, OF HOLLAND CENTRE.

Everything Ready for the Great International Boat Race Tomorrow—Latest Turn in the Holmes Case—To be Tried in Philadelphia.

Special to the Times.

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 5.—Perhaps the most sensational case in the annals of this country was advanced a stage on Tuesday by the investigation before a bench of Magistrates, consisting of George Price, George Spencer and J. B. Wilkinson, J.P.'s for the county of Grey, of a genuine case of whitecapism.

On the night of August 19 last Dr. J. H. Bull, who resides at Holland Centre, in the township of Holland, was decoyed from his home on the pretence of being wanted to visit a sick woman, and taken three miles from home, a rug being thrown over his head and fastened there. He was then tied to a tree and beaten most unmercifully by persons who claimed to be friends of his wife, and who assert that it was done to make a change in his treatment of her, but in the court she displayed the constancy of a true wife to a touching degree, swearing that the doctor had always been good and kind to her and that their only trouble had been caused by her so-called friends.

The result of the proceedings was that James H. Howey and Samuel Lowry, two farmers of Holland township, were committed to stand their trial at the Fall Assizes on the charge of conspiracy, and also on the charge of assault and wounding. The prisoners gave bail for their appearance to the amount of $4,000, themselves in the sum of $1,000 and four sureties, viz., William Norton, William Howey, Jas. Christie and Henry Norton in the sum of $500 each.

HOLMES WILL BE TRIED.

The Philadelphia authorities have sent word to the Toronto department of police that H. H. Holmes will be tried there for the murder of Benjamin Pitezel. If acquitted on this charge he will be tried in Indianapolis on the charge of murdering Howard Pietzel and only in the event of a second failure to convict him will he be delivered to Canada.

Inspector Stark has received a letter from District Attorney Graham asking him to have the St. Vincent street cottage photographed from in front and from the rear. This is being done.

A Chicago dentist who has had considerable to do with Pietzel's teeth will be brought down to Philadelphia to identify the body now exhumed and in the possession of Dr. Sidebotham.

HOW'LL YOU BET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The impression seem to have obtained prevalence in London that the American odds on Defender are 3 to 1. At that odds Englishmen would be willing to lay almost any size wager and would be perfectly justified in so doing. But no such odds are offered even by ultra patriotic Americans, while those who have seen both yachts and are able to judge of their relative qualities estimate that 2 to 1 would be too much to offer against such a promising craft as Valkyrie A few bets have been made at these odds it is true, but as the day of the race approaches the general disposition is to make the odds 3 to 2 or 5 to 4.

Some of the Englishmen who have discreetly offered to lay odds of 1 to 3 against Defender have varied this proposition by offering even money that the visitor wins one race of the series. Many astute Americans would bet the same way as they feel assured that the English single sticker will be fleet as a phantom in a light breeze and will under drifting conditions have an equal if not superior fighting chance with Defender. A light breeze may be looked for in some one of the races if not in the majority of them, so the average New York yachtsman will be satisfied.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Special to The Times.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 4.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great affect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

Double Drowning.

YPSILANTI, Mich., Sept. 5.—Frank Matthews and George Glossar, aged 14 and 8 years respectively, were drowned in the Huron river this morning. They were on the river rowing and the boat capsized.

An Aged Lady Drowned.

BURFORD, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Whitman, an aged lady, living at Mount Vernon, was accidentally drowned in a cistern at her residence this morning, having fallen in while drawing a bucket of water.

Nihilists are Active.

VIENNA, Sept. 5.—It is reported from Cracow that a revolutionary conspiracy has been discovered in several parts of Russia. In Moscow dynamite bombs, arms and Nihilist pamphlets have been seized at the lodgings of several members of the secret leagues.

The Iowa Is a Corker.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The battleship Iowa will keep out the projectiles of the best 12 inch gun afloat. That was the conclusion drawn from one of the most important tests ever made at the Government proving ground at Indian Head.

A Fire Near Forest.

FOREST, Ont., Sept. 5.—The brick residence of D. F. McIntyre, in Bosanquet township, eight miles from here, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Loss $2,000, insured for $1,200 in the London Mutual. The fire started in the summer kitchen.

India's budget announces a smaller deficit than usual.

ENNISMORE.

BEHIND THE TIMES--Rather a singular occurrence, or what we might call a serious mistake happened, to Mr. Cornelius Houran, who is a resident of this place and consequently he is at present the object of a large number of good humored jokes from his neighboros, having read in a paper that there was to be an eclipse of the moon on Tuesday and Wednesday the third and fourth days of September, he at once communicated the fact to his better half, and they both determined to sit up all night and see it. Accordingly, Sept. 4th, they stationed themselves in a secluded place of elevated land in the eastern part of the township. Mid-night arrived yet nothing unusual could be seen on the moon's pale disk, two o'clock came and still those solitary and patient watchers gazed in vain for a sign of what they were expecting to see every moment. At last, at about 10 minutes to four o'clock in the morning, shivering from the effects of the frosty night air, they directed their steps homeward, each vowing that it would be the last time that they would put any faith in newspaper editors or astromers with regard to phenomenas in the heavens.

The United States is taking active steps to prevent the shipment of arms and ammunition to the Cuban insurgents. Arms and ammunition may be very useful to the insurgents, but their best weapon at present is the yellow fever.

Sedan day was generally celebrated throughout Germany. The French have forgiven but not forgotton their foes at Waterloo. But they will neither forget nor forgive those at Sedan as long as the victors continue to celebrate their triumph. And the best way to encourage another war is to keep up the celebration.

The next immigration to Manitoba will be largely composed of hay-fork agents and lightning-rod men. Of the fifteen million dollars gathered from the virgin soil shall the sons of bland manners and innocent-looking promissory notes have not their share? We trow they will.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson must be convinced by this time that the task of reorganizing the Grand Trunk railway upon a paying basis is an easy one. Everybody here knows just how it should be done, and if he gets bothered in working out any of the little details, why' Toronto can supply him with a dozen newspaper men who can settle any difficulty at a moment's notice.

The Buffalo Times says that Canada, as well as the United States, is interested in the Chicago "drainage" canal, as it will lower the water level in Canadian lake ports. That's very true; but we don't exactly see that Canada can do anything to prevent it, except to talk. And talk don't go with the Chicago ditch makers. We are just a little afraid that Canada has no jurisdiction over the state of Illinois.

The sawdust difficulty, which has caused the Ottawa mill owners and Dominion Government a great deal of anxiety, is said to be in a fair way for settlement by the invention of a process for converting the sawdust into a cheap fuel, which will be found especially useful on railways, if (as is reported) it is free from smoke. It is certain that the sawdust in the Ottawa is an unsightly nuisance, as anyone who has made the trip by steamer from Montreal to the Capital can testify; and the inventor of the process (if all the good things said about it are true) may well make his fortune amid universal congratulation, for he will have conferred a substantial benefit upon the community.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, But All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his travelling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position in life, and enclosing your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own class but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

BEWARE OF SKINS.

An Important Caution with Regard to the Eating of Fruit.

Fruit skins carry germs and are no more intended for human sustenance than potato skins, melon rinds or pea pods. The bloom of the peach is a luxuriant growth of microbes, that of grape only less so; and when these skins are taken into the stomach they find most favorable conditions for their lively and rapid development which cause the decay of the fruit before it is possible to digest it. This is the reason many persons think they cannot eat raw fruit. If they would in all cases discard the skin they could derive only good from the fruit itself. Nature provides the skin for the protection of the fruit from the multitude of germs which are ever ready to attack it, as is evidenced when the skin is bruised or broken in any way. The microbes at once begin their work of decay, and the fruit is unfit for food. Children are chief offenders in respect to this rule and should be carefully cautioned. A daintiness as to the condition of fruit should also be cultivated, to prevent its being eaten unripe, or too old, on the verge of decay. Remember that it is sweet and ripe fruit, in prime condition, only that is recommended.—Farmers' Voice.

church on shore. Representatives from churches of all denominations have visited them, interested them and made them welcome in the pews of any churches they prefer. Entertainments are also arranged for the boat people, and the attendance is usually good.

For their own amusement the persons who are huddled together for the winter go visiting at each other's boats and have parties of all descriptions. In the hulls of unloaded boats are great spaces that make excellent dancing halls, the music being furnished either by accordions or organs, which some of the more prosperous persons have on board.

Interiorly the homes differ as much as could be expected where every "building" is almost precisely like its fellows. Some are snug, cosy, clean, inviting; others show signs of want, lack of care and general neglect. Nearly all have something in the way of decoration, if it is only a chromo off a peach can or a wreath left over from the Christmas season.

All are provided with nearly all the provisions necessary for the winter, the occupants buying only the perishable things required from day to day. Above all, each is a home, wandering though it be, and the hearts of those within it warm to the word with a sincerity which is beautiful to see.

TOOTH WORMS.

The Chinese Dentist Looks for Them When the Teeth Ache.

It would seem that in dentistry as well as in ways that are dark "the heathen Chinee is peculiar," and in the Journal of the British Dental Association Mr. C. Robbins has communicated some curious essays on the subject written in English by Chinese students at the Anglo-Chinese College, Foochow. They describe in quaint language the performances of the dentists who are usually itinerants of the Sequah order.

They appear to have three methods of treatment: 1. Extraction, the patient's attention being distracted and his lamentations overpowered by the beating of a loud gong. 2. The application of arsenic to kill an exposed pulp; and, 3. the extraction of "tooth worms." This latter operation, usually performed by women, is very frequently resorted to, and undoubtedly worms are produced from the tooth, as these amateur dentists adopt the same principle as the lithotomist in the story—who used always to provide against finding his diagnosis had been mistaken by taking a pebble of suitable size in his waistcoat pocket—and themselves introduce these worms, which are usually concealed under their long finger nails. A Chinese student describes the operation thus (we give his own words):

"Now let me advert to the practice of arresting the tooth worms. One of my relatives was once attacked by a severe cold, and after the cold was broken up by restoring activity to his skin he had a neuralgia which gave him such an intense suffering that he could neither eat nor repose, but moaned with a voice so audible and so plaintive that it sent a thrill to the heart of every one in the house. On the second day his suffering increased to a remarkable degree; indeed, it is impossible even at this distant period to reflect without horror on the miseries of his toothache state. Finally, he submitted to the operation of a woman dentist whose agency was to arrest tooth worms. Her general operation is as follows: A chopstick and a silver pin are the only instruments she requires in her normal act. She is willing to exhibit them to any one who conceives an inclination of discerning her trickery. She brings the chopstick in contact with the diseased tooth and cautiously pokes it through with a pin in search of the odious worms; after a while scrapes out a lump of yellow minute worms on the chopstick and immerses it in a cup of water. Each lump consists of from ten to fifteen worms, and sometimes two or three hundred worms are scraped if the patient makes an exact bargain at first that the fee should be defrayed according to the number of worms scraped. The general fee is 400 cash (1s 9d), and only the poor may take advantage of being in penury to pay 200 cash.

Butchers Are Good Riders.

It is a curious fact that all butchers are natural horsemen. It is hard to explain but is perhaps due to their dealing in meat which makes them like horseflesh.—Buffalo Enquirer.

PREACHER IN A CHAIN GANG

Whipped, Eloped and Convicted of Violating a Liquor Law.

Special to the Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 4.—Henry G. Worley, the famous moonshiner, nearly two years ago turned against his fellows in Murray county and was slain by them. Among those prominent in informing upon the murderers of the moonshiner was Rev. J. S. Hooker. His neighbors, discovering that he was an informer, visited his house one night, took him and his son out and gave them 150 lashes each, with a warning to leave the country forever.

Hooker brought his family to Atlanta. Here his wife, who was a hard working woman, took boarders. Among the boarders was a fair widow with whom the preacher eloped after a few days, and wandered back to the neighborhood whence he came. There he was arrested, charged with violating the State liquor law, for which he was convicted and sentenced to twelve months on the chain gang. This sentence he began to serve out yesterday.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

ALEX. WALKER'S END.

Government Detective Murray Concludes That It Was a Case of Suicide.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—For the past fortnight Detective John Murray has been investigating the circumstances of the death of Alexander Walker whose body was found on August 13 floating in Lake Erie. His inquiries have convinced him that Walker committed suicide. The deceased was 37 years old. On August 5 he left Cincinnati for Windsor accompanied by a man named Taylor. On the 12 he pawned his watch for $25 with a Windsor barber. He crossed the lake and was last seen alive sitting outside his hotel about 8 o'clock that evening. Next day some dredgers found his body floating in the lake. An inquest was held and a postmortem having revealed a contusion on the neck and an absence of water in the lungs a verdict of murder was returned. Investigation failed to furnish any grounds for suspecting anyone and the discovery by Taylor of the following letters written by deceased and left by him in his room at the hotel in Detroit practically settled the matter.

To Taylor—"This will tell the tale. Do the best you can for Annie; you know her address. I am tired.—(Signed) Fred."

Another to his mother read: "Dear Mother—You didn't know I was married to Mrs. McIntyre. I hope you will treat her well.—Alex."

Another, dated on the day of his disappearance, read: "My name is Alex. Walker. My parents live in Guelph, Canada. My wife—God bless her!—lives in Cincinnati. Her address is 114 West Seventh street. I am tired.—Fred. Walker."

A fourth, obviously written on the previous Saturday, but posted to his wife the day he disappeared, read: "Dear Annie,—Good-bye. More sorrow for you than anyone else, except mother. Go to mother in Canada.—Fred."

Deceased married a New Orleans widow some years ago, but kept his marriage a secret from his mother who lives in Guelph.

STRANGELY REUNITED.

Long Separated Relatives of Two Families Meet by Chance.

Special to the Times.

ANDERSON, Ind. Sept. 4.—W. H. Connors, of Doncinnati, a travelling man, who registered at the Anderson Hotel today, learned by chance that John B. Connors was stopping at the Doxey. He went over to the hotel, where he came face to face with his father, whom he has not seen for fifteen years. The father lives in Indianapolis.

Half an hour afterward John P. Anderson, of Chicago, came in and registered at the Doxie House, and was followed fifteen minutes later by a travelling man from St. Louis, whose name also was John P. Anderson. Noticing the name just above his own, he exclaimed, "That man is my cousin! We have not met in thirty years. Point him out to me. I would not know him." He was taken into the waiting-room and introduced and the two had a pleasant visit.

A CUBAN REPUBLIC.

Spain Will be Petitioned for Self Government on Canadian Lines.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A Havanna dispatch to the Times says that the meeting of insurgent delegates at Najassa proclaimed a constitution for the Republic on a Federal basis of five States. They also elected the Marquis of Santa Lucia president and appointed various officers, as well as confirming the nominations of Antonia Macco to be general, commanding in Santiago de Cuba, Maximo Gomez, in Puerto Principe, and Relcefe in Santa Clare. Najasa was proclaimed as the provissional Federal capital. A resolution was adopted permitting farmers to sell their produce in the towns on the payment of 25% ad valorem duty. A proposal to proclaim Macco dictator of Cuba was discussed for six days, and was finally withdrawn. The autonomists party intend to petition Spain for self government on Canadian lines. It is stated that Maximo Gomez is inclined to accept conditional autonomy, but Antonia Macco declines any compromise.

SENT BACK WITH THE PILOT.

Desperate Expedient of Americans in England Anxious to Get Home.

Special to the Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 4.—Two venturesome Americans, anxious to get home, boarded the steamer St. Louis with handbags resolved to take their chances. They concealed themselves on board the boat until she had left her dock. They were discovered when the ship was off the Needles, and despite their entreaties were sent back to Southampton with the pilot as stowaways.

Broke His Neck.

WATFORD, Sept. 4.—Henry Learn, of the 10th concession of Brooks, while out chopping this morning cut down a tree which lodged in another one, and while chopping it fell, striking him on the back of the neck, doubling him up and breaking his back. He is quite paralyzed and cannot live long.

Oh, she can write a poem,
  And she can make a stew,
Can play on the piano,
  And also bake and brew.

She reads a little Latin,
  And also studies Greek,
Can rock the baby's cradle,
  And nurse the sick and weak.

Can give her husband counsel,

Deliver an oration,
  Or work a bordered mat.

She entertains right royally,
  Reads law a little, too—
Pshaw! Tell of something, can you,
  A woman cannot do?

AN APRIL FOOL.

"I feel like doing something outrageous, Jack."

"Worse than usual Jill?"

"Very far above and beyond anything I've ever done."

"May the saints preserve me!" and then silence fell between them.

Jill drew the vase of jonquils over to her side of the table, and began tearing the pretty yellow blossoms to pieces.

Jack caught the fair, destructive fingers in his own.

"You are bent on mischief, Jill; I fear we shall both come to grief, as did our namesakes before us, unless you leave off your bad habits"

"When we are sober, married people, Jack, living out at Elmwood, I shall be a model of sedate propriety, but now I'm hungering and thristing for fun."

"Then somebody will suffer. I fear me you are a bloodthirsty little vixen."

"I'm afraid so, Jack. Do you know what I am thinking of now?"

"No, Jill; they say there is honor among thieves. Perhaps if I join you in carrying out your deep and dark plans I may escape the misery that I fear you are hoping to bring upon me."

"And you'll really help me? Jack, you are the joy of my life!" Jill pushed the jonquils away, and turned a bright face up to her sweetheart's. "Uncle Bert is away now," she went on, "and it's the time for our fun. Only two days before April first! Come, Jack, we must settle on something."

It was nearly sundown when Jack went home. He met little Miss Basset on her way from a school. She was a dainty little body, well into the thirties, but fair and pretty still.

"I am so surprised," she said. "I've just had a note asking me to play the wedding march at your uncle's wedding!"

"Then it is true?"

"Why, yes. The note is signed, 'Commitee of arrangements.' That is queer, but then, your uncles queer."

"Very. You will play?"

"To be sure. There! The note is gone."

A whiff of wind snatched it from her hand, and away it went across streets and gardens, to flutter down at the door of the village gossip, and to help very materially in carrying out the plans of Jack and Jill.

Little Miss Basset trudged on. She lived with her sister in the country, and taught music at the academy in the village. She was smiling as she passed Elmwood. It's master was no longer a young man, and his aversion to marriage was well known.

"I would as soon have thought of being asked to play at the wedding of the man in the moon!" Miss Basset said aloud.

"Did you speak to me, ma'am?"

"Mr. Grimes! Why, sir, I thought you were in the city! Oh, I beg your pardon! Can you forgive that thoughtless remark?"

"I don't see how it concerns me, ma'am, if some man is fool enough to marry."

"But you are the man, sir!" honest little Miss Basset exclaimed.

"I!" Uncle Berts' face grew redder.

"Certainly, sir. Have I not just been askd to play the wedding march at your wedding?"

"And when, pray, am I to be married?"

"On Wednesday night, sir."

"I think you are a fool, ma'am."

"I am, indeed, else why do I stop here?" She lifted her little head and started on.

"Pray, don't take offense, where none is intended. Wait and tell me what you know about this matter."

Miss Basset turned back.

"Will you come in and help me to find out who has done this?"

Miss Basset went in. They talked until Mrs. Betsy, the very respectable housekeeper, came in to say that tea was ready. After some pressing Miss Basset went out to tea with them, and, upon its being explained to her that Mrs. Betsy had cut her finger while slicing the tongue, Miss Basset consented to pour out the tea.

Uncle Bert felt unusually happy. It had been long since any woman had taken part in his plans, and Miss Basset had been so interested in trying to help him. It was cozy and pleasant to have her sit there in Mrs. Betsy's place and chat and drink tea. He felt very lonely when she was gone. On the table he found a queer little object. It was made of morocco, and "musique" was stamped on it. He touched it with one finger; then he took it up. A faint, sweet odor arose from it and a cluster of withered violets fell out on the floor. Uncle Bert picked them all up, stooping stiffly, and then puffing like an engine when he straightened again.

It had been long since he had held a flower in his hand. The violets carried him back over a road that he was not used to traveling. He went back to his boyhood, and he thought of the mother who had died before he had learned to know her worth. He remembered that she held violets in her hand the last time he saw her.

Tears came to eyes that were strangers to them, and Uncle Bert put the flowers down to blow his nose. Mrs. Betsy heard the blast, and said to the stable boy that she believed "that pore lone man was settin' out for a right cole."

Uncle Bert had strange dreams that night; very strange dreams for an old man who had never loved a woman even in his youth, and who hated what he called the "whole capoodle" of them now; very strange dreams for a man who meant to die and leave his wealth and his home to his nephew and niece.

When he awoke the sun was shining in his face. After breakfast he saw a trim little figure coming up the walk, and his very strange old heart stirred about in a peculiar way.

"I left my music, or I lost it. Thank you; I'm so glad to get it."

Little Miss Basset almost hugged the roll in her joy.

"I'll find out all I can to-day, and tell you. I think some one has been planning a very big April fool for the whole town. Just think of the girls decorating the church, and the congregation and preacher waiting!" and, in spite of her duty to Uncle Bert, little Miss Basset's brown eyes twinkled, and her cheeks dimpled.

Uncle Bert cleared his throat. "It's a baling joke," he said.

"Yes, and a cruel one."

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individual delights.

An Anecdote About Stead.

In a recent article the irrepressible Mr. Stead boasted of enjoying a private conversion with the late Czar, "as frank and full and unreserved as I ever held with any man." It was during a visit to St. Petersburg. As Stead complimented Alexander in the Pall Mall Gazette at a time when other British papers were reviling him, the Czar was induced to favor the journalist with an interview. It was stipulated, however, that it should not last more than fifteen minutes. At the end of that time the emperor looked at his watch and arose to indicate that the interview should cease. "But, your majesty," protested Mr. Stead, 'you have not said a word." "No," said the Czar; you haven't given me a chance."

REVEALED BY KITE FLYING.

Important Meteorological Data Secured by the Blue Hill Experiment.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—During the kite-flying experiments of Mr. William Eddy, of Bayanne, N. J., at Blue Hill Observatory, some high-level temperatures have been taken, which, it is thought, will be of much service in meteorology. The highest kite altitude this year was recorded on August 23—2,907 feet above the sea level, or 2,266 feet above the hill.

The power to maintain kites and instruments in the air almost daily has been shown, and the maintenance of a small observatory in the air at a hight of from 483 to 1,916 feet has resulted in the collection of data of importance. It has been found that the advance of cooler weather is disclosed by an abnormally cool temperature aloft—a coolness in excess of the usual diminution of one degree for every 250 feet of altitude. It is said that if these high level temperatures can thus be obtained daily, it will be a valuable aid to correct forecasting.

Mr. Ferguson, of the observatory, has drawn the design, and will soon have completed an instrument which, when raised, will record in ink the temperature, barometric pressure, the wind velocity and the humidity.

Dominion Inspector McMichael, of Toronto, has been summond to Ottawa to discharge the duties of the Commissionership pending other arrangements. It is said the position is open to McMichael permanently, but he will not accept it, although his salary in Toronto is only $2,800.

Looking for a Site.

The Peterborough Lock Factory intends locating in some other place. Three of the principal stockholders were in town yesterday prospecting for a site. What they wish is the free use, not ownership, of a building supplied with water power.—Port Hope Guide.

Mr. Blanchard's New Position.

Mr. A. Blanchard, formerly principal of the Peterborough Business College, commenced his new duties on the 3rd inst., as commercial master of the Kingston Business College. He is the only chartered accountant in the limestone city. He will be remembered as the proprietor of the business college on Water street.

The Board of Health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was called for last night to take further evidence in the case of the Whyte's dam. A quorum of the Board failed to make an appearance and no meeting was held. As has been remarked by THE TIMES, it seems that nothing short of an oyster supper will bring the Board of Health together,

A Sad Case.

The condition of the Shannon family in Ashburnham, is indeed deplorable and sad. Mr. Shannon is lying at the point of death in one part of the house, and Mrs. Shannon is dying in another part. There is no hope of either recovering. Four little children will be left alone in the world by their death. The sad case has enlisted the sympathy of the entire village.

Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night and recommended that a hydrant be placed on Weller street, 500 feet from where the present hydrant is placed. The committee also recommended that an electric light be placed on Simcoe street, midway between George and Aylmer street. The latter recommendation will certainly meet with public favor, as there is no place in Peterborough where a light is so badly needed as on this street at this point. Other routine business was transacted and the committee adjourned.

Wedding Bells.

Mr. George Carruthers, head miller in Meldrum & McAllister's flour mills, was united in wedlock to Miss Mary Louise Kindred, eldest daughter of Mr. W. A. Kindred, at the Temperance House, Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. Beer, pastor of Mark Street Methodist church before a large number of relatives and friends. The bride was assisted through the ceremony by her sister Miss Trucie Kindred while Mr. Andrew Carruthers, of Harwood, brother of the groom was groomsman. After partaking of a wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers left on the 4.48 C. P. R. express for a wedding tour of Western Ontario. The presents received by the bride were numerous and costly.

Off For Ireland.

Mr. A. H. R. Sproule and Miss Sproule left by the 11.45 p.m. C. P. R. train last night for Montreal, where they will embark for Ireland. Mr. Sproule came into a very large property by the death of his uncle, A. H. Robinson, M.D., J.P. in 1880 and since that time he has resided in the old country. Shortly after he took up residence there he was appointed one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace, a position which is quite an honor there. He is very highly respected in his native land and looked upon as an excellent landlord and his tenantry and he are on the warmest terms. During his visit here extending over ten months he has spoken at several meetings, and we must say he is a born orator. We are very sorry he is leaving as he was always very courteous and made hosts of friends, who hope Mr. Sproule will soon pay us another visit. We join in wishing him and his daughter a pleasant trip.

DIED BY THE ROADSIDE.

THE STRANGE AND PATHETIC STORY OF MRS. LILLY.

While Tramping to Their Home Near Keene, the Husband Dies—Story of a Quarrel and Its Lamentable Results—The Strange Meeting in Toronto.

A very strange and pathetic story was that told by a middle-aged woman, who came to Peterborough yesterday afternoon.

About the 15th of August the Toronto papers contained an account of a man who applied at police headquarters there for assistance. He had a wooden leg and carried in his arms an 18 months old baby. When questioned he said he came from near Peterborough, and had walked more than half of the way, He was locked up in the cells and the baby was placed in the Salvation Army rescue home. The woman who arrived in town yesterday afternoon was the wife of this man. She carried in her arms the baby. Her story is certainly a most remarkable one, and if true, she is a deserving object of charity.

Mrs. Lilly is the woman's name. For some years, she says, she and her husband lived near Keene. About the 15th of August last she and her husband had a dispute, and in a fit of anger he left her. He took with him an old horse that they owned, and a dilapitated old buggy, and also the baby. He left very mysteriously, and she did not realize that he had really left her until several days had passed, and he did not return. After a week's time had elapsed Mrs. Lilly came to Peterborough and here she learned that her husband had gone to Toronto.

According to the woman's story she appealed to the sympathies of a conductor and was given a free ride to Toronto. She arrived there on the 16th or 17th of August without a cent of money, and when she stepped from the train at the Union Depot she knew not what to do or where to turn. After wandering around the streets for a few hours she applied to a policeman for aid, and he immediately took her to the police headquarters, where she told the story of her desertion and her search for her husband and baby.

She was given shelter in the cells over night and the next morning, when the police court was opened, was taken before the magistrate. She was not placed in the prisoner's pen, but was given a seat near the railing, and then the other prisoners were brought up. She happened to look towards the "pen" after it had been filled with the morning's compliment of prisoners, and what was her surprise to recognize her husband among them. She told the court officer that one of the prisoners was the husband she was looking for, and was lead over to him, when a touching reunion was effected.

The magistrate was made acquainted with the strange couple's story, the remarkable coincidence of their simultaneous appearance in court, and was not satisfied that the woman was telling the truth, thinking that it might merely be a ruse to secure the release of the prisoner. The baby had been placed in a rescue home and an officer was instructed to take the woman to the home and if the child recognized her, to restore it to its mother and let them go.

This was done. The 18 months old baby recognized its mother at once and nestled in her arms, and all doubt was removed from the minds of the officials, who wished the unfortuuate couple and their child God speed back to their home.

Lilly told his wife that the horse died from exhaustion half way between Peterborough and Toronto, and he had walked the rest of the way, carrying the child

The strangest part of the woman's story is yet to be told. She says that after they were released in Toronto, they started to walk to Peterborough, but getting turned around in their bearings, took the Hamilton road instead, although she did not know this at the time. They walked for some days, getting an odd meal now and then at houses along the road and sleeping out in hay fields and fence corners. It was hard work, plodding along rough roads in the broiling sun, sometimes nearly famished for food, but they kept on, until an incident happened which put an end to their weary tramp.

On Monday, September 2nd, unknowingly they were within a mile of Wentworth. They had been walking for some hours, carrying the baby alternately, when Mrs. Lilly says she noticed her husband growing white and pale. She asked him if he was sick, and he replied that he was, so they came to a halt by the roadside. A few minutes afterwards, the man rolled over, became delirious and commenced foaming at the mouth. This so alarmed the woman that she started for some houses in the distance for assistance. On the way she met two men, and told them that her husband was deathly sick on the side of the road. The men directed her to a doctor's, and said they would stay with her husband until she returned.

She reached the doctor's house, but he was not at home. After telling her story to the doctor's wife, the latter consented to return with her, and together they hastened back to the spot, only to find the unfortunate man stretched out dead, and the baby playing around him.

The body was removed to Wentworth, and in the evening was viewed by a doctor, who said that the man had died from sunstroke. The woman's story aroused the sympathies of the people of Wentworth, and they contributed enough money to bury her husband and buy her ticket to Peterborough. Her husband was buried on Tuesday and she left on Wednesday for Peterborough, arriving yesterday. She had $3 in money which had also been given her by people in Wentworth.

She told her story to a lady in town, to whom she had gone when she came from Keene 3 weeks ago in search of her husband. The baby was a beautiful little girl and the lady offered to adopt it, if the mother would give up all claim to it, but the woman refused to assent to this, and said there was a lady living two miles the other side of the locks, who had promised to keep the child if she succeeded in recovering it. She left to go out to this place yesterday afternoon.

The woman's story is a remarkable one, indeed. She told it between broken sobs, and with a sincerity that carried the weight of truthfulness. In appearance she was comely, apparently 38 or 40 years of age, and in speech rather broad. She was not after charity, and offered to pay for the dinner she got at the lady's house.

The Seven Bank Holidays.

A farmer who resides in Burleigh, drove all the way to Peterborough on Monday, to do some business at the Bank, not giving it a thought that it was Labor day, and therefore a bank holiday. It may be as well for those living at a distance to know that in the Province of Ontario there are during the year seven bank holidays, one having been lately added by the appointment of Labor day. Quebec has about double that number. It is not difficult to remember the days, and if it is, cut this item out and paste it in your pocket book or in some place where it can be seen often. They are as follows:—New Year's day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Queen's birthday, Dominion day, Labor day (Sept. 2) and Christmas.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SAW A WILD CAT.

A Real Backwoods Visitor Seen Near Campbellford.

Mr. Jos. Wilkinson is our authority for saying that a wild cat or lynx made its appearance on the railway track south of his residence in the western part of the village, near the late "Burke" dwelling, on Wednesday night of last week, says the Campbellford Herald. At about half past 10 o'clock, when the moon was giving forth good light, Mr. Wilkinson heard a sound resembling that of a child crying, and he went down to the creek with his dog to discover what it was. Just as he reached the track he was surprised to see a wild cat a little way from him, and the creature no doubt frightened at the roar of an approaching train which was just then rounding the curve, ran away and climbed a tree. Mr. Wilkinson did not feel inclined to follow it, and he returned to his house. Mrs. Wilkinson heard the cry, as did two young girls in the next house, and Mr. A. Wilson, whose house is a short distance from the track, heard it also, and thought it proceeded from a child.

Mr. Wilkinson says the animal had a long tail, which goes to prove that it was a wild cat and not a lynx, as the lynx is not fashioned after that manner. Lumbermen and hunters say that they might travel hundreds of miles through the forest and seldom come across a cat, while the lynx is frequently met with and killed. The former is fierce and will sometimes attack a man, while the latter generally takes the shortest course to get out of his way.

A HANDSOME STORE.

Another Clothing Palace Being Fitted up on George Street.

One of the handsomest stores in Peterborough, when completed, will be the store building at the corner of George and Hunter streets, formerly the T. Dolan clothing establishment.

The store rooms have undergone a wonderful change during the past few weeks. Partitions have been torn down, new windows and doors put in on the Hunter street side, a new front put in on George street, and an army of carpenters, painters and decorators, are rapidly transforming this desirable business place, into a handsome, large and airy store.

When completed this store will be occupied by Mr. John Moffatt, formerly of Oak Hall, a large and flourishing clothing business in Windsor. Mr. Moffatt is opening a similar business in Peterborough and he has already evinced those qualities of push, energy and enterprise that are so essential to success, and augurs well for his business career here. The new clothing emporium will at once assume the lead and will be a valuable acquisition to Peterborough's mercantile and business houses. Speaking of Mr. Moffatt's departure, the Windsor Times says:—

"Mr. John Moffat left for Peterborough on Monday, carrying with him the good wishes of his army of friends and a gold headed cane, the gift of the Epworth League. Few young men in this city have made such a good record as Mr. Moffat, and in all of his undertakings he has exhibited that business tact and sagacity that always makes a winner. He put Oak Hall to the front and in his new field he will make all his competitors hustle. He believes in printers' ink, and lots of it, and never tires of telling the public the good qualities of Oak Hall clothing."

HE WAS A FIGHTER.

Murphy, the Counterfeiter Engaged in Several Fistic Battles.

Wellington Murphy, one of the parties now held on trial on the charge of making and uttering counterfeit coin in the township of Manvers, is a sort of John L. Sullivan or Jim. Corbett, being of pugilistic proclivities. He used to boast of his boxing abilities, was a bully amongst the boys at school, and since then has tried his hand on various individuals whenever and wherever occasion offered. On his return trip from Millbrook recently, he had a racket on the train with Conductor John Britton, refusing to pay his fare to Omemee The train was stopped and he was put off before Bethany was reached, but got on at the rear end of the car, having forcibly tried to take the conductor with him, failing in which he viciously hurled a large stone at the official. The missile hit the corner of the car, making quite an indention, and bounding off struck the railing and passed between Mr. Britton and Brakeman James Doan. Had the stone hit either of them it would doubtless have produced serious results. When Murphy re-entered the car he was once more met by Conductor Britton, who found it necessary to dump the Duke twice before he finally settled him down in the seat. Wellington was left at Bethany, having gone over to the hotel to get another drink, and while there pounded a heavy weight citizen of the place. After committal, at the close of the second day's examination, he swore in the police station corridor that he would not be hand cuffed by Detective Shore if he was kept in prison a thousand years, and started to resist. Wellington mistook his man, however, and soon found himself "braceletted." On one occasion several years ago he got into a fight with Mr. George Carr and tried to chew his opponent up, becoming canabalistic, when he found he was getting the worst of it. The bruiser will now probably keep quiet for a time.

Not As Represented.

It has been learned by letter from those who lately went off on the laborers' excursion to the Northwest, that everything is not what it is represented to be, and far from satisfactory. Some complain of not being able to get work, some of being treated to scanty board, and having to work long hours, and the wages are lower than was reported, some in fact, being willing to work for their board alone. Contrary to this, however, in Tuesday's dailies appears a report that all who went to the Northwest have found employment, and that an additional five hundred men will be required to reap the greatest harvest ever known in the west.

The Harvest.

From what we can learn from the farmers hereabouts, we would say the harvest is an average one. Some of the farmers do some crying of "crops no good," but, nevertheless, they get enough for a living and some of them even save money, and the way things are at the present the man who does this is doing extra well. Our best wish to the farming community is, that the golden grain will be safely harvested, and when the yule time arrives the yellow husks will be stripped from the golden ears, followed by the merry "Money Musk" and accompanied by that well known sound of "Down the center, and all hands round."

At the Police Court yesterday morning two little boys, named Smith, who have been playing truant, came up before the magistrate. The youngsters promised to go to school, and the magistrate told the Chief of Police that if the youths were caught playing truant in the future he should use a rawhide on them.

A convict named Doyle was released from the Penitentiary on Saturday, after having served a term of eight years and six months. He was sentenced at Cobourg Penitentiary, to seven years for burglary. After having spent some time in the institution, Doyle, in company with a fellow-convict named Jacobs, escaped, but were caught and punished, by having a year and six months added to the original term of imprisonment.

We have lost considerable daylight since the days commenced growing shorter; the days were about 15 hours long at the beginning of July, they are now but 14. The sun rises after 5 now and each morning remains a minute longer in bed. He also hastens away from us earlier at night at the rate of a little more than a minute each day. At the close of the month it will rise at 5.53 and set at 6.36, and the days will be 13 hours and 13 minutes long. In other words, we lost an hour and 13 minutes daylight during the month of August.

WITH THE SPORTS.

Bobcaygeon beat Fenelon Falls 22 to 14 at Fenelon Falls. Batteries—Ryan and Jacks, McCallum and Thornburn. Ryan struck out 12 of the Falls' batteries.

Toronto tied the score in the third innings of yesterday's game with Wilkesbarre, getting five runs with two men out when the rain came down. Gray and Lake, Betts and Diggins were the batteries, and will take their turn to day at 3.45, when the teams meet again. Providence will be in Toronto tomorrow.

Yesterday's victory of the Canadian team must have been particularly gratifying to Capt. Terry, who, during the past few years has done so much for the advancement of the game in Ontario, not only by his own brilliant play, but also by the force of his example, both by word and deed. Wadsworth's 70 is the best thing which he has done in his two international matches, and Laing's bowling record in the visitors' first venture will be remembered and talked about for many a long day to come. Nor must Jacques' consistently steady batting in both innings be forgotten, for both on that account, as also on account of his good bowling, his efforts are deserving of the highest praise.

Many people have expressed their disappointment at the showing of Canadian wheelmen in the recent circuit. To those who have never followed racing, it looked as if the Americans were too much for the Canadian flyers. This was not the case so much as one would suppose. The riders on this side of the border had not the chances of the Americans, inasmuch as the teams from the other side volunteered to put their tandems in for pacemaking. They were very generous in furnishing pacemakers, but it was all for a purpose, and that purpose was to keep Canadians from winning. The Americans would never let a Canadian get the tandem, and were it impossible for the riders to shake the Canucks, the tandem would slow up and let the field pass them. Tom McCarthy said last Friday that the reason that he did not go to Peterborough or Montreal was that he was afraid that he would be thrown down by some of the American competitors. The Toronto riders claim they were fouled many a time, but knew well that kicking would be of no use.

John S. Johnson was beaten at Rochester on Wednesday by both Sanger and Pat O'Connor.

The Capitals will meet the Vancouvers lacrosse team if they play their first match at Ottawa for the championship of the world. The Capitals think the Vancouvers wouldn't draw well if they went all around the country and were beaten before tackling the champions.

The Oxford and Cambridge cricketers, who secured a victory over the Americans at Staten Island arrived in Toronto yesterday morning. The English players were met by a number of Toronto men, who escorted them to the Queen's Hotel, where they registered. After luncheon the visitors went out to Rosedale, and put in a couple of hours' practice.

The English team is composed of V. T. Hill, H. A. Arkwright, N. F. Druce, W. Mortimer, F. A. Phillips, J. C. Hartley, W. F. Milligan, C. E. Wilson, W. W. Lowe, C. D. Robinson and R. A. Studd. Mr. F. Mitchell is captain. They will commence a match with the Canadian cricketers, who administered a defeat to the American players, on the grounds at Rosedale this morning.

A Metal Breadboard.

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly clense them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives tha. will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

A MASSACRE IN CUBA.

SPANISH TROOPS SLAUGHTER CUBAN MEN AND WOMEN.

A Girl Cruelly Tortured—Slashed by an Officer and Hanged to a Tree—Acts of Barbarism in Cuba.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Press says: Atrocities by Spaniards as revolting as those committed by the Japanese at Port Arthur have just been reported to the Cuban revolutionary party in New York. Enrique Trujillo, editor of El Povenir, has received a letter from Juan Maspons Franco, chief of staff under Gen. Maximo Gomez, the commander in chief of the insurgent army, which sends details of the capture and recapture of the city of Baire, and the massacre of thirty-seven inoffensive Cubans, mostly women and children, by the Spaniards under Commander Garrido.

On Tuesday morning, according to Col. Franco's letter, a company of insurgents under Jose Rabi surprised the Spanish garrison in the fortress commanding the city of Bair, killing more than seventy men and taking fifty six prisoners. They captured a large quantity of arms and persuaded the prisoners to enlist in the insurgent ranks. An hour later three companies of Spanish troops, under command of Garrids came up, and after a short but sharp resistance the Cubans fled, leaving the fortress again in the hands of the invadors. Soon after the fort had been re-garrisoned with Spaniards one of the companies broke loose and began to pillage the city. Commander Garrido himself, Franco states, led the uniformed rioters.

Col. Franco describes graphically the scene of horror that followed. The Spaniards were wild for the spilling of blood. Every woman creature who came in their path was ruthlessly slain. Within five minutes the streets of Baire were deserted by the panic stricken natives, but the Spaniards followed them into their houses and killed them in their own rooms.

"Age, sex and condition were wholly disregarded by these liveried butchers," says Col. Franco. "Old and young women, children, even infants, were slaughtered one after another. Shocking indignities were offered to the unfortunate victims before and after death. The Spanish soldiers stampede on the bodies of those whom they had slain, and ground their heels into the faces of many who were still living.

"Senorita Delores Madera, a beautiful girl of 18, betrothed to one of Captain Rabis' lieutenants, was seized on the street, cruelly beaten, repeatedly stabbed with bayonets and brutally insulted. Commander Garrido was in the neighborhood while this outrage was perpetrated," says Col. Franco. "One of Garrido's captains commanded the girl to renounce her Cuban sweetheart and swear loyalty to the Spanish Government. She scornfully refused, whereupon the captain struck her across the face with his sword inflicting a terrible gash. With blood streaming down her face she taunted the Spaniards with their cowardice. Thereupon the maddened soldiers seized her, bound her hand and foot, threw a nose around her neck and hanged her to a tree. The torture of Senorita Madera was prolonged as much as possible. She was drawn up slowly and allowed to strangle by degrees. While she was still alive, but no longer conscious, her body was riddled with bullets."

SHOCKINGLY BURNED.

A Sailor Escaped From a Burning Steamer But is Fatally Injured.

Special to the Times.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 6.—David Becker, who was seriously burned while trying to make his escape from the burning steamer St. Mognus., at Port Dalhousie, this morning, died from his injuries about 1.30 this afternoon at the hospital here. This morning when he was taken to the hospital the doctors despaired of saving his life as he was burned to the bone in many places, the flesh being burned off his hands, arms, face and many parts of his body. Becker's sufferings were intense and had he recovered he would have been frightfully disfigured. The deceased has relatives in Cleveland, and they have been notified by telegraph of the unfortunate occurrence.

THE SCHOOL GRANT.

Ottawa Separate School Trustees Becoming Anxious.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept., 6.—The Ontario Government is withholding the grant to the Separate schools regarding which there has been trouble. The July check has not yet come to hand. A meeting of the board has been called to consider the matter.

With reference to the above the Minister of Education says that the grant will be paid in the ordinary course of business. The reason for the delay is that certain information on which the grant is based has not yet been supplied by the school authorities in Ottawa. The department has no reason for withholding the grant.

Routed the Troops.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 6.—A cablegram from Key West, Fla., to the Times Union says:—Private letters to this city brings news of a big battle which was fought on the 31st of August, near Santiago de Cuba between the insurgents under Antomb Macco and the Spanish troops commanded by Cannellas, in which the insurgents completely routed the troops, killing six hundred soldiers and eight officers and wounding Cannellas. The Spanish papers report that the battle was fought, but do not give details.

A Snowstorm at Edmonton.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6.—The weather in Manitoba has been favorable for harvesting, but Edmonton district has been visited by a snow storm. On Wednesday nearly 50,000 bushels of new wheat were marketed at various stations along the Canadian Pacific railway and Northern Pacific lines. The price paid for the best qualities is 42 and 43 cents per bushel.

To Be Docked at Halifax.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Charles Cramp, the Philadelphia shipbuilder, informed Secretary Herbert today that he had decided to dock the new battleship Indiana at Halifax, N.S. The United States does not possess a dry dock large enough for a vessel of the Indiana's class. The docking will be done Cramp's men.

BARNARDO'S WAIFS.

A Contingent for Canada—The work the Doctor Has on Hand.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—One hundred and forty five boys and 136 girls from Dr. Barnardo's home for orphans and waifs started this afternoon from Liverpool for Canada where homes have been or will be found for them. Dr. Banardo's homes constitute one of the greatest of English charities. The work was begun in 1866 by Dr. Barnardo, at that time a young medical student attached to the London hospital. His attention was specially attracted to the condition of the homeless children throughout London by the pitiful story of of a young waif in a ragged school. On his own responsibility he opened a small house in Stepney causeway and the pressing need of some such fort was soon evidenced by the number of applications which began to flow in. Year by year the homes have been extended and multiplied and their scope has been correspondingly enlarged. At present the homes, including an adult and evangelistic mission, reaches 51 district institutions, of which 38 are situated in London, one on the Isle of Jersey, nine in English countries and three in Canada.

THE CONGRESS ELECTIONS

NAMES OF THOSE ELECTED BY THE LABOR MEN.

Yesterday's Session of the Dominion Congress at London—The Provincial Assessment Act Attacked.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Labor Congress elected officers this morning as follows: President, Patrick J. Jobin Quebec, re-elected by acclamation; Vice-President, Aleck Macdonald, Ottawa; re-elected by acclamation; Sec.-Treas., George W. Dower, Toronto, re-elected by acclamation. Executive Committee: Quebec—J. P. Ryan, Montreal; H. Laforce Langevin, Quebec; John Scott, Quebec, Ontario—D. A. Carey, Toronto; J. W. Patterson, Ottawa; John Flett, Hamilton; Manitoba—C. C. Stewart, Wm. Small, W. J. Hodgins, Winnipeg; British Columbia—George Bartley, Vancouver; Wm. McKay, Victoria; Thomas Salmon, Nanaimo.

The only fight was over the election of the Ontario delegates. The lucky candidates were: George T. Beales, Toronto; Michael Powell, jr., London; R. Hessell, London; W. S. St. Pierre, Ottawa.

Quebec was selected as the next place of meeting. The other places voted on were Kingston, Brantford and Montreal.

REQUESTS FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

The Dominion Government will be asked to issue all money at a low rate of interest, and to declare at the same time that all banks shall be banks of deposit only. The Provincial Governments will be requested to issue non-interest-bearing bonds as well as a bylaw to enable municipalities to do likewise for the purpose of public expenditure.

The first row between the new unionists, the socialists and the old unionists occurred when the bill, passed at the last Ontario Legislature, which provides that grounds exceeding two acres in cities and towns may be taxed as farm lands, was under consideration. The committee reported that it would be advisable to insist on its repeal.

WILL SEEK TO REPEAL A LAW.

Delegate Ashplant, of London, who was described as the leader of "The Theorists," said that be was not able to vote intelligibly on the subject, as he had not sufficient knowledge of it. This statement called forth a sharp remark from Charles March, of Toronto. He said that it was a lamentable exhibition of ignorance of the work that was going on affecting the working classes, by one who posed as a leader.

Delegates O'Donoghue, March and Darlington spoke in a bitter strain and then Delegate Carey, of Toronto, poured oil on the troubled waters and peace reigned once more. Everybody agreed to do their utmost to obtain the repeal of the law.

WINNIPEG WANTS THE CONGRESS.

Delegate Stewart, of Winnipeg, gave notice of motion with the idea of obtaining the presence of the Congress in that city in 1897.

On motion of J. Hawthorne, of London, it was decided to petition the various Provincial Governments to amend existing laws dealing with the subject of wages, so that all employes shall in future be paid weekly and in the current money of the Dominion.

Just before adjournment for luncheon Vic-President C. O. Currie, of the patrons of industry, put in an appearance and made a short speech. He regretted exceedingly the fact of the representatives of the Patrons had not been present at the different sessions of the Congress. He believed that the amalgamation of the two classes would make a great organization.

DON'T LIKE WILLIAM'S METHODS.

CARDIFF, Sept. 6.—The Trades Union Congress, at its session today, passed a resolution by unanimous vote of the delegates, protesting against Emperor William's interference with the liberty of the press, and expressing sympathy with the workingmen of Germany in their struggle for liberty.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Special to The Times.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 4.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

Rothschild's Would-be Assassin.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The anarchist arrested in connection with the Rothschild outrage is about 25 years old. He refused to give his name, but indulged in the usual anarchist boasts, declaring that others would succeed where he had failed.

THE BIG BOAT RACE.

DEFENDER AND VALKYRIE WILL RACE TO-DAY.

An Interview With the Valkyrie's Owner—He is Non-Committal About the Qualities of the Yacht With Regard to Speed.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.

AN interesting interview, published this morning, with Lord Dunraven, the Earl gives some new ideas about the Valkyrie. He was asked for his experience on the yacht, and replied: "Well, you see, I sailed only three races on the Valkyrie, and she was then a new boat."

"How much wind did you have the day the Valkyrie was knocked out on the Clyde?"

"You know what the Clyde is. The squalls came down heavy and struck us hard. They were hard squalls, which came down from the Clyde Hills. The wind blew very fierce."

"How heavy was the wind?"

Turning to Commodore Glennie, he said: "How heavy should you say the wind was?"

Commodore Glennie then asked the reporter how heavy the wind was in the race where the Defender retired on account of the settling of the mast band.

"Twenty to 25 miles an hours, I should think," was the response.

"On your answer," said Commodore Glennie, "I should say that the wind on the Clyde the day you refer to was more than twice and a half stronger, that is a fair statement. The wind was very heavy, as Lord Dunraven says, and the squalls were fierce."

"How do you account for the Britannia beating you in the race?" was asked Lord Dunraven.

"She sailed faster," he said, smiling. "You know what it is to be on a big ship like ours. She was a new, untried boat, and the rigging kept stretching with us all through the race."

"How does the Valkyrie act in a sea and wind? Reports have come from the other side that she is tender and rolls out?"

"I cannot give a personal opinion on that. For my own information, however, I ask my navigator how she acted coming over. He told me she behaved splendidly."

"From what you saw of the Valkyrie, how do you size her up—that is, in what conditions do you think she shows up the fastest?"

"Well, I have been on her in three races, as I said."

"There is a strong notion here that the Valkyrie is fastest in a light wind and smooth water. Does that opinion agree with your ideas of your ship?"

"Well, hardly."

"Then you do not agree with the general idea that the Valkyrie is most dangerous in light airs? In what conditions do you expect the Valkyrie to show up at her best?"

"As I told you the Valkyrie, to my way of thinking, does not do so well in light winds, comparatively, as she will do in good breezes. Here again I am giving a hypothetical answer. It is only assumption on my part."

"Then, from what you have seen of the Valkyrie, in what condition of wind and weather do you look for her best performances?"

"In a good breeze."

"A good strong club-top-sail breeze?"

"Any kind of a good breeze. You cannot tell much about the result any way."

"How much do you think Vigilant is improved?" Lord Dunraven asked.

"From three to five minutes," was the answer.

"What do you think about the ten months' notice, is it not too short a time in which to prepare the big ships?"

"No, I think not," he replied, and then added, after a pause, "I come to think it over and I don't know but what you are right. You see, it is a loss for us to come over here early and prepare for the match, and I'll tell you why. At home we could get plenty of racing with boats of about our own rating, and this way we could work up our ship and see how she is going. No such opportunity is given us over here. We have to go out sailing alone and this kind of sailing does not help us any. A boat sailing by herself suffers when compared with another ship which is being worked up through a trial boat. We cannot go out and race boats on this side, because courtesy prevents it. It is not the best way to work up a ship to sail her day in and day out by herself. Time here is no use to us, though possibly the crew may be benefited by acclimating."

Lord Dunraven said that he did not like 90 footers. He thought they were too big, not so safe, cost more to build and run, and preferred a 75 footer.

"Why did you build such a wide beamed yacht as the Valkyrie III?"

Lord Dunraven's answer to this question will be a surprise.

"Because it shatters all the notions that Britishers believe beam is against speed."

"In my opinion," said Lord Dunraven, "beam pays in a racing vessel. By this I mean the right proportion of beam—not too much."

One need not talk with Lord Dunraven long before he finds out that he is a keen, sharp, intelligent gentleman, and quick witted.

As the statement has gone the rounds that Lord Dunraven has offered to bet ten thousand dollars to fifteen thousand dollars on the Valkyrie, he was asked if it were true.

"No, its not," he replied emphatically, "I'm not a betting man. Why should I bet when I know so little about my own boat and nothing about the Defender? People are asking me quite frequently what my chances are and what I think of the race. In other words I am asked what are the relative merits of the two boats. That is an absurd question. How can I tell with my present imperfect knowledge of my own ship and my entire lack of knowledge of the Defender?"

"Then the report that you are willing to wager the Valkyrie on the result of the cup races is equally false?"

"It certainly is. As I told you, I am not a betting man. Consequently I have made no offer to wager anything."

"Were the terms governing the cup races satisfactory to you?" he was asked.

"Very," he replied. "I am satisfied with the conditions. They are perfectly fair. All we want is plenty of room to work in—plenty of room, plenty of room."

"How about the two gun start."

"That, of course, I do not like. I do not see any sense in it. I believe in a one gun start."

Over 200 children from Dr. Barnardo's homes have left Liverpool for Canada.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

Close Season for Trout.

Don't lift trout from a pond or brook after 15th of Sept. unless you want to test the validity of the law, as the 15th is the beginning of the close season.

Looking for a Site.

The Peterborough Lock Factory intends locating in some other place. Three of the principal stockholders were in town yesterday prospecting for a site. What they wish is the free use, not ownership, of a building supplied with water power.—Port Hope Guide.

Mr. Blanchard's New Position.

Mr. A. Blanchard, formerly principal of the Peterborough Business College, commenced his new duties on the 3rd inst., as commercial master of the Kingston Business College. He is the only chartered accountant in the limestone city. He will be remembered as the proprietor of the business college on Water street.

The Board of Health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was called for last night to take further evidence in the case of the Whyte's dam. A quorum of the Board failed to make an appearance and no meeting was held. As has been remarked by THE TIMES, it seems that nothing short of an oyster supper will bring the Board of Health together.

The "Baby" Was Killed.

When Sells Bros.' circus visited North Bay recently, they met with a great loss. The Despatch says the windstorm blew down the menagerie tent, upsetting some of the tents, in one of which was the baby hippopotamus, and that the latter was killed. As it was valued at $50,000, the proprietors will no doubt feel keenly their loss.

A Sad Case.

The condition of the Shannon family in Ashburnham, is indeed deplorable and sad. Mr. Shannon is lying at the point of death in one part of the house, and Mrs. Shannon is dying in another part. There is no hope of either recovering. Four little children will be left alone in the world by their death. The sad case has enlisted the sympathy of the entire village.

Mr. Pope's Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. Robert Pope took place at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the residence on Stewart street to the Little Lake cemetery, under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which deceased was a member. The funeral cortege was very large, showing the high esteem and respect in which deceased was held by his fellow citizens. The council attended in a body.

Large Casting.

Tuesday there was cast at the Wm. Hamilton Works, a large pulley, the casting is no less than 53 inch face, 8 feet diameter and weighs 9,000 lbs. The casting was under the direction of Mr. Sam Bailey. The chief feature of the pulley, is that it was the widest face of any ever cast in Canada. The casting is part of the Company's large contract for the Sault Ste. Marie Pulp and Paper Company.

The Arabian Fined.

The Arabians who were arrested for assaulting Joshua Jackson were up in the police court Wednesday and one of them was fined $10 and costs. This one, it appears, did all the clubbing, and from the appearance of the plaintiff, the prisoner did his work well. There was still further trouble down at the Arabians' dwelling last night, and the services of an officer were needed to make peace. The Arabians are undesirable citizens.

Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night and recommended that a hydrant be placed on Weller street, 500 feet from where the present hydrant is placed. The committee also recommended that an electric light be placed on Simcoe street, midway between George and Aylmer street. The latter recommendation will certainly meet with public favor, as there is no place in Peterborough where a light is so badly needed as on this street at this point. Other routine business was transacted and the committee adjourned.

A Silver Wedding.

The Methodist parsonage, Ashburnham, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Monday evening, the occasion being the silver wedding of Rev. W. C. Beer and wife. A number of intimate friends of the reverend gentleman and wife were present, together with a few relatives. They were the recipients of a number of beautiful presents, and received the congratulations of all present. A very enjoyable evening was spent, and the wish was generally expressed that Mr. and Mrs. Beer would still have many happy years of wedded life.

Thieves at Sturgeon Point.

Thieves have been operating at and around Sturgeon Point for some time past. Not long ago some $300 was stolen from a farm house, and one evening last week the tea table at Mr. Graham's was completely cleared of all the edibles, leaving rather a scant fare for the guests, who were present. On Saturday night last, some scamps, probably the same parties, ran off with the steam yacht, Mizpah, and spent Sunday in "doing" the lake. A few days ago a boat belonging to Rev. Mr. Kitts was also taken.

Wedding Bells.

Mr. George Carruthers, head miller in Meldrum & McAllister's flour mills, was united in wedlock to Miss Mary Louise Kindred, eldest daughter of Mr. W. A. Kindred, at the Temperance House, Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. Beer, pastor of Mark Street Methodist church before a large number of relatives and friends. The bride was assisted through the ceremony by her sister Miss Trucie Kindred while Mr. Andrew Carruthers, of Harwood, brother of the groom was groomsman. After partaking of a wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers left on the 4.48 C. P. R. express for a wedding tour of Western Ontario. The presents received by the bride were numerous and costly.

Off For Ireland.

Mr. A. H. R. Sproule and Miss Sproule left by the 11.45 p.m. C. P. R. train last night for Montreal, where they will embark for Ireland. Mr. Sproule came into a very large property by the death of his uncle, A. H. Robinson, M.D., J.P. in 1880 and since that time he has resided in the old country. Shortly after he took up residence there he was appointed one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace, a position which is quite an honor there. He is very highly respected in his native land and looked upon as an excellent landlord and his tenantry and he are on the warmest terms. During his visit here extending over ten months he has spoken at several meetings, and we must say he is a born orator. We are very sorry he is leaving as he was always very courteous and made hosts of friends, who hope Mr. Sproule will soon pay us another vitit. We join in wishing him and his daughter a pleasant trip.

DIED BY THE ROADSIDE.

THE STRANGE AND PATHETIC STORY OF MRS. LILLY.

While Tramping to Their Home Near Keene, the Husband Dies—Story of a Quarrel and its Lamentable Results—The Strange Meeting in Toronto.

A very strange and pathetic story was that told by a middle-aged woman, who came to Peterborough yesterday afternoon.

About the 15th of August the Toronto papers contained an account of a man who applied at police headquarters there for assistance. He had a wooden leg and carried in his arms an 18 months old baby. When questioned he said he came from near Peterborough, and had walked more than half of the way. He was locked up in the cells and the baby was placed in the Salvation Army rescue home. The woman who arrived in town yesterday afternoon was the wife of this man. She carried in her arms the baby. Her story is certainly a most remarkable one, and if true, she is a deserving object of charity.

Mrs. Lilly is the woman's name. For some years, she says, she and her husband lived near Keene. About the 15th of August last she and her husband had a dispute, and in a fit of anger he left her. He took with him an old horse that they owned, and a dilapitated old buggy, and also the baby. He left very mysteriously, and she did not realize that he had really left her until several days had passed, and he did not return. After a week's time had elapsed Mrs. Lilly came to Peterborough and here she learned that her husband had gone to Toronto.

According to the woman's story she appealed to the sympathies of a conductor and was given a free ride to Toronto. She arrived there on the 16th or 17th of August without a cent of money, and when she stepped from the train at the Union Depot she knew not what to do or where to turn. After wandering around the streets for a few hours she applied to a policeman for aid, and he immediately took her to the police headquarters, where she told the story of her desertion and her search for her husband and baby.

She was given shelter in the cells over night and the next morning, when the police court was opened, was taken before the magistrate. She was not placed in the prisoner's pen, but was given a seat near the railing, and then the other prisoners were brought up. She happened to look towards the "pen" after it had been filled with the morning's compliment of prisoners, and what was her surprise to recognize her husband among them. She told the court officer that one of the prisoners was the husband she was looking for, and was lead over to him, when a touching reunion was effected.

The magistrate was made acquainted with the strange couple's story, the reremarkable coincidence of their simultaneous appearance in court, and was not satisfied that the woman was telling the truth, thinking that it might merely be a ruse to secure the release of the prisoner. The baby had been placed in a rescue home and an officer was instructed to take the woman to the home and if the child recognized her, to restore it to its mother and let them go.

This was done. The 18 months old baby recognized its mother at once and nestled in her arms, and all doubt was removed from the minds of the officials, who wished the unfortuuate couple and their child God speed back to their home.

Lilly told his wife that the horse died from exhaustion half way between Peterborough and Toronto, and he had walked the rest of the way, carrying the child.

The strangest part of the woman's story is yet to be told. She says that after they were released in Toronto, they started to walk to Peterborough, but getting turned around in their bearings, took the Hamilton road instead, although she did not know this at the time. They walked for some days, getting an odd meal now and then at houses along the road and sleeping out in hay fields and fence corners. It was hard work, plodding along rough roads in the broiling sun, sometimes nearly famished for food, but they kept on, until an incident happened which put an end to their weary tramp.

On Monday, September 2nd, unknowingly they were within a mile of Wentworth. They had been walking for some hours, carrying the baby alternately, when Mrs. Lilly says she noticed her husband growing white and pale. She asked him if he was sick, and he replied that he was, so they came to a halt by the roadside. A few minutes afterwards, the man rolled over, became delirious and commenced foaming at the mouth. This so alarmed the woman that she started for some houses in the distance for assistance. On the way she met two men, and told them that her husband was deathly sick on the side of the road. The men directed her to a doctor's, and said they would stay with her husband until she returned.

She reached the doctor's house, but he was not at home. After telling her story to the doctor's wife, the latter consented to return with her, and together they hastened back to the spot, only to find the unfortunate man stretched out dead, and the baby playing around him.

The body was removed to Wentworth, and in the evening was viewed by a doctor, who said that the man had died from sunstroke. The woman's story aroused the sympathies of the people of Wentworth, and they contributed enough money to bury her husband and buy her ticket to Peterborough. Her husband was buried on Tuesday and she left on Wednesday for Peterborough, arriving yesterday. She had $3 in money which had also been given her by people in Wentworth.

She told her story to a lady in town, to whom she had gone when she came from Keene 3 weeks ago in search of her husband. The baby was a beautiful little girl and the lady offered to adopt it, if the mother would give up all claim to it, bot the woman refused to assent to this, and said there was a lady living two miles the other side of the locks, who had promised to keep the child if she succeeded in recovering it. She left to go out to this place yesterday afternoon.

The woman's story is a remarkable one, indeed. She told it between broken sobs, and with a sincerity that carried the weight of truthfulness. In appearance she was comely, apparently 38 or 40 years of age, and in speech rather broad. She was not after charity, and offered to pay for the dinner she got at the lady's house.

The Seven Bank Holidays.

A farmer who resides in Burleigh, drove all the way to Peterborough on Monday, to do some business at the Bank, not giving it a thought that it was Labor day, and therefore a bank holiday. It may be as well for those living at a distance to know that in the Province of Ontario there are during the year seven bank holidays, one having been lately added by the appointment of Labor day. Quebec has about double that number. It is not difficult to remember the days, and if it is, cut this item out and paste it in your pocket book or in some place where it can be seen often. They are as follows:—New Year's day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Queen's birthday, Dominion day, Labor day (Sept. 2) and Christmas.

SAW A WILD CAT.

A Real Backwoods Visitor Seen Near Campbellford.

Mr. Jos. Wilkinson is our authority for saying that a wild cat or lynx made its appearance on the railway track south of his residence in the western part of the village, near the late "Burke" dwelling, on Wednesday night of last week, says the Campbellford Herald. At about half past 10 o'clock, when the moon was giving forth good light, Mr. Wilkinson heard a sound resembling that of a child crying, and he went down to the creek with his dog to discover what it was. Just as he reached the track he was surprised to see a wild cat a little way from him, and the creature no doubt frightened at the roar of an approaching train which was just then rounding the curve, ran away and climbed a tree. Mr. Wilkinson did not feel inclined to follow it, and he returned to his house. Mrs. Wilkinson heard the cry, as did two young girls in the next house, and Mr. A. Wilson, whose house is a short distance from the track, heard it also, and thought it proceeded from a child.

Mr. Wilkinson says the animal had a long tail, which goes to prove that it was a wild cat and not a lynx, as the lynx is not fashioned after that manner. Lumbermen and hunters say that they might travel hundreds of miles through the forest and seldom come across a cat, while the lynx is frequently met with and killed. The former is fierce and will sometimes attack a man, while the latter generally takes the shortest course to get out of his way.

A HANDSOME STORE.

Another Clothing Palace Being Fitted up on George Street.

One of the handsomest stores in Peterborough, when completed, will be the store building at the corner of George and Hunter streets, formerly the T. Dolan clothing establishment.

The store rooms have undergone a wonderful change during the past few weeks. Partitions have been torn down, new windows and doors put in on the Hunter street side, a new front put in on George street, and an army of carpenters, painters and decorators, are rapidly transforming this desirable business place, into a handsome, large and airy store.

When completed this store will be occupied by Mr. John Moffatt, formerly of Oak Hall, a large and flourishing clothing business in Windsor. Mr. Moffatt is opening a similar business in Peterborough and he has already evinced those qualities of push, energy and enterprise that are so essential to success, and augurs well for his business career here. The new clothing emporium will at once assume the lead and will be a valuable acquisition to Peterborough's mercantile and business houses. Speaking of Mr. Moffatt's departure, the Windsor Times says:—

"Mr. John Moffat left for Peterborough on Monday, carrying with him the good wishes of his army of friends and a gold headed cane, the gift of the Epworth League. Few youug men in this city have made such a good record as Mr. Moffat, and in all of his undertakings he has exhibited that business tact and sagacity that always makes a winner. He put Oak Hall to the front and in his new field he will make all his competitors hustle. He believes in printers' ink, and lots of it, and never tires of telling the public the good qualities of Oak Hall clothing."

HE WAS A FIGHTER.

Murphy, the Counterfeiter Engaged in Several Fistic Battles.

Wellington Murphy, one of the parties now held on trial on the charge of making and uttering counterfeit coin in the township of Manvers, is a sort of John L. Sullivan or Jim. Corbett, being of pugilistic proclivities. He used to boast of his boxing abilities, was a bully amongst the boys at school, and since then has tried his hand on various individuals whenever and wherever occasion offered. On his return trip from Millbrook recently, he had a racket on the train with Conductor John Britton, refusing to pay his fare to Omemee The train was stopped and he was put off before Bethany was reached, but got on at the rear end of the car, having forcibly tried to take the conductor with him, failing in which he viciously hurled a large stone at the official. The missle hit the corner of the car, making quite an indention, and bounding off struck the railing and passed between Mr. Britton and Brakeman James Doan. Had the stone hit either of them it would doubtless have produced serious results. When Murphy re-entered the car he was once more met by Conductor Britton, who found it necessary to dump the Duke twice before he finally settled him down in the seat. Wellington was left at Bethany, having gone over to the hotel to get another drink, and while there pounded a heavy weight citizen of the place. After committal, at the close of the second day's examination, he swore in the police station corrider that he would not be hand cuffed by Detective Shore if he was kept in prison a thousand years, and started to resist. Wellington mistook this man, however, and soon found himself "braceletted." On one occasion several years ago he got into a fight with Mr. George Carr and tried to chew his opponent up, becoming canaballistic, when he found he was getting the worst of it. The bruiser will now probably keep quiet for a time.

Stole Watch and Chain.

Mr. Albert Mercier is mourning the loss of his silver watch and vest, and is at loss to know how it disappeared, keeping the loss quiet, awaiting developments. It appears he is in the habit of hanging his vest in the hall of his home on Lake street, and on Friday last he was surprised to find the watch and vest missing. The watch is a silver one and it is supposed the thief had been loitering around until an opportunity presented itself for him to make the theft. Some time ago burglars entered the same house and carried off two ladies' watches, which were never recovered. During the summer months it would be wise for citizens to remove everything of value from their halls and in their stead place a good fierce bull dog on guard.

FIGHT AT SPRINGVILLE.

BLOWS AND BRICKBATS IN THE QUIET LITTLE HAMLET.

Postmaster Smith and the Irwins Engage in a Bloody Battle of Fisticuffs—Mrs. Smith Brings up the Rear With Brickbats—Smith Arrested.

A very bloody fight took place at Springville, seven miles southeast of Peterborough, on Saturday night, and the services of County Constable Moore were needed in the dead hour of the night.

Thomas Smith, the postmaster, has been arrested and placed in jail on the charge of assault, at the instance of Mr. Thomas Irwin, a resident of Springville. More arrests may follow.

There has been bad blood between the Irwins and the Smiths for some time. Several times the Irwins have lost property by fire, and it was broadly hinted that there was an effort being made to burn them out of the village. Several fires followed in rapid succession and each bore evidences of having been of incendiary origin.

On Saturday evening, according to young Irwin's story, he went into the post office and asked Smith if there was any mail. Smith is alleged to have said:

"Here's your mail and your the ——— I want."

Then, so Irwin says, Smith invited him out into the road, and the two men pulled off their coats and began a fight that would have been to the death, had not outsiders interfered.

They bit and scratched and pounded until they tore each other's shirts into shreds and both were covered with blood, when Mr. Thomas Irwin, father of young Irwin arrived on the scene and made an attempt to separate the infuriated men. But no sooner had he taken a hand, when Mrs. Smith, it is said, also hove in sight, and began firing brick bats, with such deadly aim that the elder Irwin was laid out very badly injured. The fight continued for some time, the friends of both parties taking a hand, and for some time there was a regular riot in the peaceful hamlet, that would have put a Paris mob outbreak to shame.

Finally, after much blood had been spilled, things quieted down. Young Irwin got a rig and drove his father to Peterborough arriving at 12 o'clock Saturday night. A doctor was seen and dressed the wounds of the elder man. Five stitches were put in gashes under one eye, and bruises under the other eye had to be lanced in three places. Several ribs were also broken, and there were bruises and cuts too numerous to mention.

A warrant for the arrest of Smith was sworn out before Magistrate Edmison and Constable Moore went out to Springville at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning and made the arrest.

Postmaster Smith says that Irwin came into the postoffice and invited him out into the street to fight. He went.

The case will come up tomorrow.

WAS SEVERELY CLUBBED.

Wanted to See the Fun and Now He Can't See at All.

There was trouble down on Sherbrooke street early on Tuesday morning, in that part of the street known as "Arabia."

A family by the name of Hardeek, of Arabian persuasion, live down there, and after spending Labor Day in various ways, retired to rest about 12 o'clock. But hardly had their various heads touched the pillows, than crash came a rock through the front window, that broke two panes of glass, stopped the cuckoo clock plumb still and finally landed against the wall with a noise and rattle.

The Arabians were out of bed in an instant and armed themselves with clubs. They were four in number and they sallied forth into the street with one purpose and that was to paralyze the man who threw the brick.

At the same time four young men in a rig were driving along Rubidge street. They had seen the man who threw the brick run down past them, and when they got to the corner of Sherbrooke and saw the Arabians armed with clubs, they decided to wait and see the fun, so they pulled up their horses and came to a standstill.

One of the occupants of the rig was Joshua Jackson. Joshua indiscreetly decided to get out of the rig in order to better take in the fun, but having taken too much lemonade during the evening, he ran straight into the arms of the Arabians. They thought he was the man they were after and at once began to club him, which they kept up until he was black and blue and bleeding from numerous wounds.

Jackson managed to get away from his infuriated assailants and yesterday swore out an information against the Hardeeks. Last night the police arrested two of them and placed them in the cells.

THE BIG LABOR CONGRESS

STANDING OF THE PATRONS DISCUSSED YESTERDAY.

An Effort to Change the Name of the Congress Defeated—Socialists Attempt to Secure Representation for Advanced Socialistic Thinkers.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 5.

THE Grand President of the Patrons, C. A. Mallory, wrote that in consequence of no meeting of their Executive having been held after receiving the circular of invitation to be represented at the Congress, that it was impossible to send delegates this year.

CHANGE OF NAME PROPOSED.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to change the name of the organization from "The Dominion Trades and Labor Congres." to the "Canadian Federation of Labor." The constitution was then revised as follows: "Its objects shall be to unite all the labor organizations of the Dominion, so as to secure the repeal of existing laws, the enactment of new laws or amendments to the existing statutes in the interest of wage earners; it shall form organizations in localities where none exist, but in no case shall any body of workingmen belonging to any trade or calling at present having an international or national union be granted a charter; in the event of the formation of an international or national union of the trade or calling of the union so chartered being formed, it will be the duty of the proper officers of the Congress to see that the said union becomes a member of the said international or national union; the fee for the charter shall be $5.

St. Pierre, of Montreal, moved that the Patrons of Industry be excluded from the Congress and that delegates from the Socialist Labor Party and the Industrial Brotherhood be admitted.

Business was suspended without a decision being reached to allow the delegates to accept the invitation of the Reception Committee to drive around the city. The election of officers will take place at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Nobody who has carefully watched the deliberations of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress can deny the statement that it has among its members some sound thinkers and eloquent speakers. They are all practical men, men who have studied the many questions pertaining to the elevation of the workingmen with all thoroughness and sincerity, and who have striven nobly and are still endeavoring to further the cause which they have at heart. They are well acquainted with most matters of public importance, and as a result the discussions are full of vigor and sound logic. Workingmen of Canada ought to be proud of their leaders—they would be a credit to any assemblage.

CANADA A GREAT NATION.

Yesterday afternoon the first subject of discussion was the motion of Delegate St. Pierre, of Ottawa, which desired the Congress to place itself on record as being in favor of a "free, compulsory and non sectarian schools for all classes." The mover asked the delegates to consider the question solely from an educational point of view. There were three advantages to be gained by the adoption of this resolution, First it would build a great nation out of Canada; secondly it would create a better feeling among the different creeds and nationalities of Canada: thirdly it would give workingmen a chance to get their children educated.

MANITOBA'S GOOD PERCENTAGE.

Delegate Wm. Darlington, of Montreal, the seconder, said that in the places where there are sectarian schools the people are the most ignorant. He quoted for example the percentages of literacy in Quebec and Manitoba, In the former it is 47 per cent. and the latter 11 per cent.

Delegate Langevin, of Quebec, did no see the wisdom of considering the question and said so.

Delegate Powell, of London, thought it would be inadvisable to withdraw religion from the schools.

Delegate Carey, of Toronto, could not support the resolution because he did not think it would solve the difficulty. He extolled the present system of education in Canada and said it could not be improved upon.

Delegate Stewart, of Winnipeg, believed in non-sectarian schools and said that they worked advantageously in Manitoba. He believed in one Canada and an Uited Canada.

Delegate John Scott, of Montreal, was of the opinion that the Congress should leave the matter severely alone.

A NATIONAL SYSTEM.

Delegate Marks, of London, said that Canada would never be a nation until she got non-sectarian schools. He believed that a bad feeling was engendered among the young by the religious schools. Delegate Patterson, of Ottawa, said that what he wanted was a national system of education. After the regular school hour at 4 o'clock religious teachers could take the pupils in hand. He added that through the diverse methods of teaching at present a large number of children were being uneducated.

Delegate Ashplant, of London, moved an amendment to the effect that as the matter was foreign to the intention of the constitution it should not be taken up.

NO OPINION EXPRESSED.

The amendment was seconded by Geo. T. Beales and was supported by P. J. Ryan, D. J. Marson, D. J. O'Donoghue, John Flitt, A. R. McDonald, John Tweed and A. W. Holmes, all of whom except Messrs. Tweed and Flitt were in favor of the system of Separate schools as now in vogue. Messrs. Tweed and Flitt spoke generally for the non-sectarian system, but did not favor the question being discussed by the congress. The amendment declining to express an opinion was carried by a vote of 17 to 12.

The congress placed itself unanimously on record in opposition to any grant of land to the Salvation Army for "a so called colony of reformed criminals, sinners and others."

PICKED UP IN A HURRY.

David A. Carey, of Toronto, is spoken of for vice president.

Patrick J. Jobin, of Quebec, will likely be re-elected president.

It is conceded that Geo. W. Dower, of Toronto, the efficient secretary-treasurer, will be reappointed to office.

Mrs. Talbot Macbeth, wife of one of London's prominent lawyers, has been an interested spectator at all sessions. Gallant D. J. O'Donoghue, of Toronto, secured her admission inside of the charmed circle.

The hours' work of the Congress have been arranged as follows: Morning session, 9 to 12; afternoon session, 2 to 6.

There is a noticeable absence of the use of the French language. At previous sessions nearly half of the delegates spoke in that tongue. As yet only the English language has been used.

H. Laforce Langevin, son of Sir Hector Langevin, is again a delegate to the Congress. He is an ardent worker and represents District Assembly No. 20 of Quebec.

Although one of the old "war horses" this is the first time Jonh Tweed, of Toronto, has been a delegate to Congress. Nobody would think so, however, by his work.

The election of officers will take place on Friday.

A. W. Holmes, of Toronto, is one of the hardest thinkers in the Congress, if his deskmate is to be relied upon. And when Arthur gets up to talk everybody listens for they know he has something good to say.

Hamilton has a lonely delegate in the person of John Flitt. He represents the Trades and Labor Council of that city.

Ex-President George T. Beales, of Toronto who holds the record for fast talking, sits next to William Darlington, the "fire-eater," from Montreal.

A $40,000 FIRE.

Big Warehouse and a Steamer Burned at Port Dalhousie.

Special to the Times.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Sept. 5.—At 11.50 last night the warehouse of A. W. Muir, ship and dry dock owner, was totally destroyed by fire. The steamer St. Magnus, lying in dry dock for repairs, was burned to the water's edge.

Captain Becker, of Cleveland, aged 72, was sleeping on board the boat and narrowly escaped cremation. He had to break through the window of his room and slide down a line from the top deck. He was badly burned about the head, hands, arms, feet and legs. He was taken to the hospital in St. Catharines and will hardly recover.

Muir's building and stock, valued at $40,000, are a total loss. The St. Magnus, owned by R. O. and A. B. MacKay, of Hamilton, is also a total loss. No insurance on either warehouse or boat.

The fire was purely the work of an incendiary.

Turkish Outrages.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A gentleman in this city has just received the following advices from Armenia: The other day a girl carrying food to the fields was set upon by three young Turks and foully and brutally treated. A row followed and two or three Christians were wounded. At another village, nine hours from here, a band of thirty horsemen entered the village of Kupri Keuy and first went through the village in a riotous way and greatly terrified the people, demanding the girls and brides. Later they took their rifles and went through the streets of the village. The son of the priest opened the door with the idea of inducing them to leave by giving money, He was shot down like a dog. They kept up this for about three hours. They broke open some doors and fired into the houses. The Government has not yet taken any steps in the matter, though this company of Lazes is well known. The trouble continues a veritable reign of terror.

The aggregate number of cases from the 1st instant is 25,000, of which 1,230 occurred on transports, and the deaths are 16,278.

REVEALED BY KITE FLYING.

Important Meteorological Data Secured by the Blue Hill Experiment.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—During the kite-flying experiments of Mr. William Eddy, of Bayanne, N. J., at Blue Hill Observatory, some high-level temperatures have been taken, which, it is thought, will be of much service in meteorology. The highest kite altitude this year was recorded on August 23—2,907 feet above the sea level, or 2,266 feet above the hill.

The power to maintain kites and instruments in the air almost daily has been shown, and the maintenance of a small observatory in the air at a hight of from 483 to 1,916 feet has resulted in the collection of data of importance. It has been found that the advance of cooler weather is disclosed by an abnormally cool temperature aloft—a coolness in excess of the usual diminution of one degree for every 250 feet of altitude. It is said that if these high level temperatures can thus be obtained daily, it will be a valuable aid to correct forecasting.

Mr. Ferguson, of the observatory, has drawn the design, and will soon have completed an instrument which, when raised, will record in ink the temperature, barometric pressure, the wind velocity and the humidity.

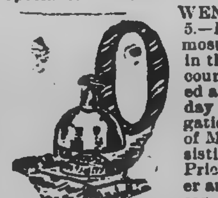
THE WORK OF WHITECAPS

TWO MEN SEVERELY BEAT DR. J H. BULL, OF HOLLAND CENTRE.

Everything Ready for the Great International Boat Race Tomorrow—Latest Turn in the Holmes Case—To be Tried in Philadelphia.

Special to the Times.



OWEN SOUND, Sept. 5.—Perhaps the most sensational case in the annals of this country was advanced a stage on Tuesday by the investigation before a bench of Magistrates, consisting of George Price, George Spencer and J. B. Wilkinson, J.P.'s for the county of Grey, of a genuine case of whitecapism.

On the night of August 19 last Dr. J. H. Bull, who resides at Holland Centre, in the township of Holland, was decoyed from his home on the pretence of being wanted to visit a sick woman, and taken three miles from home, a rug being thrown over his head and fastened there. He was then tied to a tree and beaten most unmercifully by persons who claimed to be friends of his wife, and who assert that it was done to make a change in his treatment of her, but in the court she displayed the constancy of a true wife to a touching degree, swearing that the doctor had always been good and kind to her and that their only trouble had been caused by her so-called friends.

The result of the proceedings was that James H. Howey and Samuel Lowry, two farmers of Holland township, were committed to stand their trial at the Fall Assizes on the charge of conspiracy, and also on the charge of assault and wounding. The prisoners gave bail for their appearance to the amount of $4,000, themselves in the sum of $1,000 and four sureties, viz., William Norton, William Howey, Jas. Christie and Henry Norton in the sum of $500 each.

HOLMES WILL BE TRIED.

The Philadelphia authorities have sent word to the Toronto department of police that H. H. Holmes will be tried there for the murder of Benjamin Pitezel. If acquitted on this charge he will be tried in Indianapolis on the charge of murdering Howard Pietzel and only in the event of a second failure to convict him will he be delivered to Canada.

Inspector Stark has received a letter from District Attorney Graham asking him to have the St. Vincent street cottage photographed from in front and from the rear. This is being done.

A Chicago dentist who has had considerable to do with Pietzel's teeth will be brought down to Philadelphia to identify the body now exhumed and in the possession of Dr. Sidebotham.

HOW'LL YOU BET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The impression seem to have obtained prevalence in London that the American odds on Defender are 3 to 1. At that odds Englishmen would be willing to lay almost any size wager and would be perfectly justified in so doing. But no such odds are offered even by ultra patriotic Americans, while those who have seen both yachts and are able to judge of their relative qualities estimate that 2 to 1 would be too much to offer against such a promising craft as Valkyrie A few bets have been made at these odds it is true, but as the day of the race approaches the general disposition is to make the odds 3 to 2 or 5 to 4.

Some of the Englishmen who have discreetly offered to lay odds of 1 to 3 against Defender have varied this proposition by offering even money that the visitor wins one race of the series. Many astute Americans would bet the same way as they feel assured that the English single sticker will be fleet as a phantom in a light breeze and will under drifting conditions have an equal if not superior fighting chance with Defender. A light breeze may be looked for in some one of the races if not in the majority of them, so the average New York yachtsman will be satisfied.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 6, 1895

The Vanderbilts are rather wiser, in a financial sense, than the other wealthy American families who have married off their heiresses to titled Europeans; they have selected a man with money and pretention to brains.

The United States is taking active steps to prevent the shipment of arms and ammunition to the Cuban insurgents. Arms and ammunition may be very useful to the insurgents, but their best weapon at present is the yellow fever.

Sedan day was generally celebrated throughout Germany. The French have forgiven but not forgotton their foes at Waterloo. But they will neither forget nor forgive those at Sedan as long as the victors continue to celebrate their triumph. And the best way to encourage another war is to keep up the celebration.

The next immigration to Manitoba will be largely composed of hay-fork agents and lightning-rod men. Of the fifteen million dollars gathered from the virgin soil shall the sons of bland manners and innocent-looking promissory notes have not their share? We trow they will.

The Buffalo Times says that Canada, as well as the United States, is interested in the Chicago "drainage" canal, as it will lower the water level in Canadian lake ports. That's very true; but we don't exactly see that Canada can do anything to prevent it, except to talk. And talk don't go with the Chicago ditch makers. We are just a little afraid that Canada has no jurisdiction over the state of Illinois.

The sawdust difficulty, which has caused the Ottawa mill owners and Dominion Government a great deal of anxiety, is said to be in a fair way for settlement by the invention of a process for converting the sawdust into a cheap fuel, which will be found especially useful on railways, if (as is reported) it is free from smoke. It is certain that the sawdust in the Ottawa is an unsightly nuisance, as anyone who has made the trip by steamer from Montreal to the Capital can testify; and the inventor of the process (if all the good things said about it are true) may well make his fortune amid universal congratulation, for he will have conferred a substantial benefit upon the community.

The chances of trade between Canada and China are illustrated by the shipment from Quebec on Tuesday of 80,000 yards of sheeting, manufactured at the Montmorenci cotton mills, for Hong Kong. Canada can manufacture cotton goods as cheaply as any country in the world at the same distance from the source of the raw material. China and India are beginning to manufacture for themselves, but the cheap labor they can command will, for sometime to come, be offset by inexperience, and the necessity of relying upon white superintendents who expect higher pay in such countries than at home.

The fight between North Bay and Mattawa to determine which should become the seat of the district of Nipissing is likely to be, in some manner, duplicated in another corner of Ontario. Sandwich has been the country seat of Essex from time immemorable, but, as new county buildings have become necessary, the question must now be reconsidered. Windsor offers to erect buildings worth $100,000, and for $20,000 to give the county a deed of half the property. Several other places want the distinction. It is to be hoped that Ontario will never descend to the level of Kansas and Nebraska, where sometimes a mob seizes the safe containing the county papers, and carries it from one town to another.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Sept. 6.—Live stock exporters still complain of very dull markets on the other side, while locally a fair business is doing. Late cables report English markets as over supplied and prices weaker. The Point St. Charles cattle market made an exceedingly bad showing today; market slow. The glut is more, however, on account of lack of space for exports than from other causes. It of course throws a quantity of cattle into the butchers' market that would otherwise cross the water. Export cattle ran from 3¼c to 3¾c. Best butchers' stock, 2⅝c to 3¼c. Inferior would hardly sell at any price, but a few lots sold from 2c to 2½c, sheep were slow, selling at 3¼c. Lambs, glutted, selling from 3c to 3½c. Several inferior quality sold at $1 25 each, and the best only brought only $5 75 in the scale. There was a good supply of cattle in the East end market today but the demand was rather dull and prices were about the same as on Monday. Manitoba cattle realized 4c per lb, while butchers' cattle was fetching 3½c. Some good stock sold at 3½c to 3¾c in lots of cows, and younger cattle at from 3½c to 3c. There was a good supply of calves and good lambs were fetching fairly remunerative prices.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASTE SOCIETY.

Large Attendance of Members at the Hall of Wisdom Last Night—The President Makes a Few Pungent Remarks.

When the routine business of the regular Friday night's meeting of the Lime Juice Club had been disposed of, the President arose and said:

"I hold in my hand certain resolutions on the death of Bro. Lightfoot Brown, which sad event took place five days ago. Bro. Brown was an active member of this Club. While he did'nt do much talking, no one could doubt his interest in all the proceedings. To a certain extent he hid his light under a bushel, but whatever work was assigned to him he did it faithfully. These resolutions have been drawn up by a committee. They start off by saying that Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst a fond father, a loving husband and a dearly beloved brother of this Club. While I am aware that such is the custom, I cannot abide such hypocrisy.

"In the first place, Brother Brown was not a fond father. He had seven children in family, he was arrested about twice a month for licking them with a rawhide. I have often heard him wish that these seven children would get blown up on a steamboat.

"In the second place he was not a loving husband. When he was'nt engaged in running away from his wife, she was engaged in running away from him. He lived just back of my house, and it was a cold day he did'nt have a row.

"I wish to state that Providence did'nt remove Bro. Brown. Providence had nothing to do with his removal. He removed himself. He got mad at the old woman because she could'nt wash a blackberry stain out of his white vest, and he went out into the garden and discovered nine large cucumbers in a new state and without peeling. That night he was taken with such pains that he jumped over a fence eleven feet high and died before he could make his will. Such things should not be laid to Providence. Providence might have something to do with a person falling off a barn or getting run over by an electric car, but she draws the line at cucumbers without any salt on them.

"I notice that these resolution go on to say that Bro. Brown was honest and upright in his dealings with his fellow men. It is customary to put that in, but I feel that the truth ought to be stated once in a while. As a matter of fact Bro. Brown was always borrowing money and was never known to pay any back. He owed his grocer and butcher and landlord. If he owed a debt of $10, his creditor was willing to sell the claim for ten per cent. of its full value. He borrowed $5 of me over two years ago, and though I put in 600 days of hard work trying to get it back, the debt has never been paid, and has gone to the grave with him. One night I heard a commotion in my garden. I had fourteen of the nicest, biggest summer squashes you ever saw and I run out with a club to find that Bro. Brown had gobbled up eleven of them and come back for the other three. He was in bed for two weeks after I got through with him, and it was given out around that he had been sunstruck.

"I also notice a resolution to the effect that we extend our heartfelt sympathies to his bereaved family, and point out to them that our loss is Bro. Brown's gain. The family are not bereaved. I was over this afternoon and found the children galloping up and down and taking heaps of comfort, and his wife told me she had all the washing she could do with the best kind of an appetite for meat and potatoes. When I spoke of the late departed, she said she could get a better man inside of four weeks, and she threw out a strong hint that $2 in cash would do her more good than a dozen resolutions of sympathy.

"My friends, I shall lay these resolutions under the table, and unless my decision is appealed from, they will not be heard of again. Bro. Lightfoot Brown is dead. The world is no better or no worse for it. He was not too good—not to bad—just about like the rest of us. He was honest when he had to be, and when he saw an opening to beat his fellow man he took advantage of it. He was a fair sample of millions of men. I am perfectly willing for the Club to vote money to buy him a tombstone, but let it be plain one, and let the epitaph be confined to name and date, and perhaps a line of poetry. We shall hang up the usual emblems of mourning in the Hall of Wisdom, and we shall set aside the customary page in our book of proceedings but we shall have no use for resolutions Bro. Brown was born and lived and died. He had his streaks of goodness. He was no better or no worse than the average. While I am sorry he is gone, we at the same time realize that he was'nt of much account while among us. Hypocritical resolutions deceive no one."

THE EPITAPH.

Bro. Paddy Whibbs, of the Slopeville branch, broke his left suspender square in two in his haste to propose that the following lines be placed directly under the name and age of Bro. Brown: He explained that it had been composed by himself and Bro. Anvil McCann in less than two minutes:

"The last remains of Lightfoot Jones
Lie buried underneath these stones,
His name was Brown, the name of Jones,
Is used because it rhymes with stones."

LAWYERS.

After lowering the water pail an inch and raising two windows to admit more oxygen, the Secretary announced the following enquiry:

SLOPEVILLE, Sept. 6, 1895.

DEAR PRESIDENT.—There was a debate at our Club meeting last night regarding lawyers. A majority of our members appear to think that lawyers go to the bad place. Among those who strongly favored this idea was Hustler Towns, Twoforty O'Brien, Binder Twine O'Connor, and Skibereen Tom O'Brien. Does such an idea prevail among the members of the parent club? By answering this question you will greatly oblige.

Your distant friend,
ANVIL McCANN,
Secretary.

"I never heard that this Club entertained any such superstition," said Sir Richard, in reply. "So far as the average lawyer goes this Club has no particular respect for him. The avevage lawyer is'nt a bit better than the average criminal if he keeps out of jail. The thief breaks the law to get money. The lawyer defends the thief for the same purpose, and it most always happens that the thief as completely "broke" when the lawyer gets through with him. But the greatest criminals and the meanest men are generally given time to repent. After the lawyer begins to grow old and the rheumatism catches on, and his wife dies, and his house burns up without insurance, he is forced to reflect on his past life, and that reflection probably brings repentance. I don't suppose Heaven is crowded with lawyers, but I imagine enough of them squeeze in to keep things pretty lively for such angles as distutb the peace or obstruct the sidewalk."

VENTILATION.

Bro. Bob. Fife, Chairman of the Committee of Sanitary matters, reported that they had spent thirteen days in investigating the enquiry: "Do the members of the Lime Juice Club appreciate the benefits of proper ventilation?"

The committee rather thought they did. Out of 200 houses visited, 180 had broken windows, cat holes in the roof and door panels bursted out, and it was pretty plain that the inmates were having all the ventilation any one family could take care of.

There was no need of disinfectants. Dead cats and decayed vegetables were passed from yard to yard until the outskirts were reached, and the presence of dogs in the house effectually crippled the injurious effects of sewer gas.

SACRED RELICS.

The Keeper of the Sacred Relics reported that he had received from Dickson Davidson the sea serpent recently captured in the raging Otonabee, but which afterwards turned out to be a very common snake. Also, from Bro. Holmes, of Burleigh, a relic of the aborigines in the shape of a pipe which he found while digging for fish worms. A new lock was recommended to be purchased for the door, and the chairman asked to be reimbursed for a bottle of ink purchased with private funds, and he was given leave of absence for three days to bury his uncle.

THE JANITOR.

This individual submitted a bill for extras amounting to sixty-four cents, and attempted to make a speech defending the Chinese massacres, but his bill was cut down to seventeen cents, his speech sat on, and he fell over three dogs on his way out.

THE CLOSE

All the public business having been disposed of, the Keeper of the Sacred Relics reported everything clear in the west, with a tendency to skip paying taxes, and the meeting broke up with the Harmony Club sweetly singing the plaintive melody of "Old John Brown.'

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

LATEST FROM LAKEFIELD.

From our own Correspondent.

A large quantity of lumber from Young's Point has been trans-shipped here and drawn down the road for the erection of boarding houses at the Nassau end of this section of the canal. Nothing has been done towards making a start in the village.

LABOR DAY.

The holiday was celebrated principally on the water. The Golden City carried an excursion of young Canadians and their friends to McCracken's landing where a full program of sport was carried out. The voyage up and back was enlivened by music and dancing on the scow Wave Crest. The Mary Ellen and scow had a large crowd from the Edison Works who landed on the opposite side of the lake and kept things lively around Mt. Julian. The crowd on the evening train to Peterborough was increased by the arrival of the Columbian from Chemong with the Trades Union excursion.

THE SHOOTING SEASON.

As usual the opening of the season was ushered in by a tremendous fusilade on Monday morning but the results in the way of game were very meagre. Ducks are reported very scarce and wild both here and in Stony Lake. Our game wardens are not exercising sufficient vigilance, as large numbers of ducks have been killed in the northern waters before the season opened and were being paddled around Peterborough for at least a week previous to the first. Much complaint is being made by our local sportsmen who respect the law, regarding the shooting of partridges around Stony Lake by campers and especially visitors from the States. They feel a very natural disinclination to inform, but think the game wardens could very easily put a stop to this practice of shooting out of season if they wished.

FIRE.

An incipient fire was fortunately checked before doing any great damage on Tuesday afternoon. The alarm was rung and the engine was speedily in readiness but its services were not required as a few pails of water skilfully applied quenched the flames. The fire is supposed to have been started by some children at play in a shed at the rear of Miss Gryll's residence and but for the prompt attention of a few of our citizens would have resulted in a serious blaze there being a smart breeze at the time and a good deal of inflammable material near by.

LINES TO J. M. C. DUNCAN, ESQ'

Oft in the drear and silent night
Dense clouds obscure soft Luna's light;
Sad thoughts oppress each human soul,
Sweet mem'ries fill oblivions roll:
The vital source of light above—
Our dearest friends—entrancing love—
Wife, children, parents—aye, the whole,
Lie around in thoughts beyond control.

Arouse! Awake! There is the dawn,
Gentle as bleat of plaintive fawn,
Creeping through the murky mist,
Effulgent clouds, bright-edged sun-kissed:
And hov'ring o'er, nearer, more near,
The dove descends with message clear,
Message of love and truth and peace,
God's care to man shall never cease.

Away with carking cares, the strife,
Doubts and despair of human life.
Don the cuirass, the helmet bright,
Gird on the sword, haste to the fight;
High courage swells in ardent minds
As seamen laugh at adverse winds;
So let our crest shine bold and fair
In view of all, NEVER DESPAIR.

Hope is a gem—a gift divine—
Resplenent dims e'en chrystal's shrine;
Buoyant floats on the sea of life,
True life-buoy in tempestuous strife.
Seers say, "Hope tells a flatt'ring tale,"
Then, Certes, such omens must prevail.
Faith, Hope, two sisters, shall ne'er sever;
And man shall hope, ifaith, for ever.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

DEATH OF MR. ROBERT POPE.

A Widely Known and Highly Respected Citizen Passes Away.

The death of Mr. Robert Pope, street inspector, occurred yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at his residence on Stewart street. The sad occurrence was not unexpected, as Mr. Pope had been ill for a long time and as the improvements in his condition from time to time were of short duration, it was felt by his friends and relatives that ultimate recovery was hopeless.

Early in the spring Mr. Pope took a severe cold which completely prostrated him, but after a short time he recovered. In his anxiety, however, to see that the street work was progressing, he ventured out too early after his severe illness, and took a chill, which brought on a relapse, from which he never recovered. Some few weeks ago his condition was much improved, and in the belief that the change and surroundings would still further aid his recovery, he moved with his family to his cottage at Stony Lake from where he returned last week much weaker than when he went and since his return he gradually sank until death came.

Deceased came to Canada from England in 1856, and entered the employment of the G. T. R., and for a number of years he filled the position of roadmaster on the Midland division. More than 8 years ago he accepted the position of street and bridge inspector for the town, and in this capacity he brought to bear his splendid experience, gained while superintending the construction of railway grades. His work as street inspector was of the most satisfactory nature, and in the performance of his duties and the exercise of his excellent judgment, he served the town ably and well.

Deceased was widely and popularly known in Peterborough and this county. Of him it may be truthfully said, he was positively without an enemy, and had a kind word for everyone. He was a member of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A. F. and A. M., and the funeral will take place under the auspices of that order on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. Deceased was in his 60th year and leaves a widow and one son to mourn his death.

WITH THE SPORTS.

Bobcaygeon beat Fenelon Falls 22 to 14 at Fenelon Falls. Batteries—Ryan and Jacks, McCallum and Thornburn. Ryan struck out 12 of the Falls' batteries.

Toronto tied the score in the third innings of yesterday's game with Wilkesbarre, getting five runs with two men out when the rain came down. Gray and Lake, Botts and Diggins were the batteries, and will take their turn to day at 3.45, when the teams meet again. Providence will be in Toronto tomorrow.

Yesterday's victory of the Canadian team must have been particularly gratifying to Capt. Terry, who, during the past few years has done so much for the advancement of the game in Ontario, not only by his own brilliant play, but also by the force of his example, both by word and deed. Wadsworth's 70 is the best thing which he has done in his two international matches, and Laing's bowling record in the visitors' first venture will be remembered and talked about for many a long day to come. Nor must Jacques' consistently steady batting in both innings be forgotten, for both on that account, as also on account of his good bowling, his efforts are deserving of the highest praise.

Many people have expressed their disappointment at the showing of Canadian wheelmen in the recent circuit. To those who have never followed racing, it looked as if the Americans were too much for the Canadian flyers. This was not the case so much as one would suppose. The riders on this side of the border had not the chances of the Americans, inasmuch as the teams from the other side volunteered to put their tandems in for pacemaking. They were very generous in furnishing pacemakers, but it was all for a purpose, and that purpose was to keep Canadians from winning. The Americans would never let a Canadian get the tandem, and were it impossible for the riders to shake the Canucks, the tandem would slow up and let the field pass them. Tom McCarthy said last Friday that the reason that he did not go to Peterborough or Montreal was that he was afraid that he would be thrown down by some of the American competitors. The Toronto riders claim they were fouled many a time, but knew well that kicking would be of no use.

John S. Johnson was beaten at Rochester on Wednesday by both Sanger and Pat O'Connor.

The Capitals will meet the Vancouvers lacrosse team if they play their first match at Ottawa for the championship of the world. The Capitals think the Vancouvers wouldn't draw well if they went all around the country and were beaten before tackling the champions.

The Oxford and Cambridge cricketers, who scored a victory over the Americans at Staten Island arrived in Toronto yesterday morning. The English players were met by a number of Toronto men, who escorted them to the Queen's Hotel, where they registered. After luncheon the visitors went out to Rosedale, and put in a couple of hours' practice.

The English team is composed of V. T. Hill, H. A. Arkwright, N. F. Druce, W. Mortimer, F. A. Phillips, J. C. Hartley, W. F. Milligan, C. E. Wilson, W. W. Lowe, C. D. Robinson and R. A. Studd. Mr. F. Mitchell is captain. They will commence a match with the Canadian cricketers, who administered a defeat to the American players, on the grounds at Rosedale this morning.

ALL DIFFERENT.

The Designers Keep on Giving Us New Styles in Waists.

One could describe a new fancy waist every day in the year, and then begin all over again for another year and they would all be different. This may not seem so remarkable, but when one considers the limitations which fashion imposes one must conclude that a great deal of ingenuity is displayed by designers in devising all the varieties which are seen day after day on the streets and at the numerous informal parties which are held now in lieu of something more elaborate.

Time was when fancy waists could only be worn indoors and for some dressy occasion. But now they are considered correct for street wear and often appear in church. A pretty spring waist, worn by a spring shopper, in the jam which fills the stores now, was made of black and blue checked velvet. The check was about a fourth of an inch in diameter, and the blue was a robin's egg shade. The bodice fitted close in the back, with some rosettes as a finish at the bottom. In front was the regulation box plait, and on each side from the bust down the waist were folds of blue chiffon which also formed the collar.

Clothes for the Little Ones.

The warm weather is here, and the children are as sensible of it as the older people, even if they do not make as many complaints.

Don't make the mistake of loading a child with the exaggerated long frocks of the Kate Greenaway style, to make her look picturesque and attractive to your relatives and friends.

Give her a sensible attire, in which the little maid can scamper over the fields or rocks, and plump herself into the sand or dirt without being hampered with clothes.

Make them as light and scanty as a sufficient covering will permit, and let her, like her small brother, glory in the abandon and delight of living as nearly like the children of primitive man as the modern ideas will permit.

Fine feathers make fine-looking birds, but the little maid in a blue denim gymnasium dress, with a free use of all her limbs is often more interesting, even with dishevelled locks and mud-stained fingers, than the picturesque child with the fine clothes, who must take her exercise in as moderate a way as her elders.

The Home Dressmaker.

Very often indeed the amateur dressmaker finds herself face to face with some difficulty which she thinks it impossible to surmount, and becomes discouraged and almost willing to give the whole thing up.

One of these self-confessed difficulties is the adjusting of hooks and eyes so that they will not unfasten and leave an unsightly gap.

This difficulty is obviated by sewing on the hooks and eyes alternately, instead of the hooks all on one side and the eyes on the other. Sewed in this way and placed close together, not more than half an inch apart, the dress will stay hooked. This is the method employed by the best dressmakers.

Upset Him Somewhat.

Tuthick—How did you come to spill that soup?

Waiter—A lady tipped me.—N. Y. Journal.

Aluminum in Billiard Balls.

A new substitute for ivory as the composition of billiard balls has been discovered in a combination of steel and aluminum, and according to the proprietor of a Chestnut street billiard room, this innovation will soon be introduced into several of the billiard establishments of the city. The new composition will, of course, be much cheaper than ivory, and will be absolutely proof against chipping. The ease with which a draw or "english" could be imparted to the new composition is not known, but the general belief is that the balls will respond much quicker than the ivory ones. Old billiard enthusiasts place no confidence in the invention, but curiosity has attained such proportions that the popularity of the new balls would be assured, at least for a short time. —Philadelphia Record.

A Canny Scot's Animal Power.

An ingenious Scotchman has devised a thread spinning apparatus that is operated by two trained mice. In driving the little mill with their paws the animals daily perform work equivalent to traveling a distance of 10¼ miles.

It Breathes With Its Tail.

The Periophthalmus, a native of the Malayan mangrove swamps, is the only fish which breathes with its tail. If the tail be painted over with oil or varnish the fish dies of suffocation.

Switzerland's Advancement.

In Switzerland there is a law by which railway and steamboat companies, factory establishments, etc., are liable to indemnify their employes in case of accidents, or their widows and children in case of their death.

A Gigantic Cedar.

A cedar tree, 407 feet in height, and 70 feet in circumference at the base, was recently felled near Ocosta, Wash. The first limb sprang 60 feet from the base, and this limb was 7 feet in diameter.

The Worst of It.

Sympathizing Friend—Oh, dear, this is dreadful! Even if it has been shown to be a horrible mistake, yet, to think of you being arrested on suspicion of being a shoplifter!

Mrs. Sayles (bitterly) Yes; (boo, hoo)! One of the papers said I was evidently over thirty, too!—Puck.

Memory and Observation.

Little Brother—You mustn't give the dog so much meat. It will make him vicious.

Little Sister—How do you know?

Little Brother—I've heard so; and, besides, I've noticed that the teacher always brings meat for her lunch.—Good News.

Perfectly Simple.

Patron—This vest is too tight around the waist.

Tailor—That's because you throw your shoulders back too much.

And the coat fits too tight around the shoulders.

Tailor—Oh! well, you shouldn't stoop over so.—Chicago Record.

Very Plausible.

Magistrate (severely)—You are charged with kissing this young lady against her will, and on the public highway.

Prisoner—She was in a bicycle costume, and I mistook her for my long lost brother.

Magistrate (briskly)—Discharged! Call th' next case.—N. Y. Weekly.

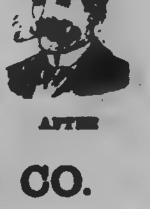
GREAT SAVING B PURCHASING THE LARGER SI



CATTLE HUSBANDRY.

Those Six and a Half Cent Steers From Maine.

In a recent issue of The Mirror and Farmer, attention was called to a pair of oxen sold in the Massachusetts markets that were fed by C. W. Randall of Maine, regarding such sales as beacon lights for the guidance of those who are begging for markets for the poor off stuff that most New England farmers are trying to force on unwilling markets. Mr. Randall was asked to give further information in regard to their breed, method of feeding and any other information that he might have to impart in relation to them. He says:

"Yours at hand. Will say that the oxen that I sold were five years old; breed, Herefords. These oxen were kept in the barn summer and winter, and have done the work of the farm. They had all the good hay they would eat and four quarters of meal and bran apiece daily. Just as good cattle can be duplicated with good care and sense in feeding if they are fine grades. My method of raising steers from calves is to let them have the milk until they are six months old. I give them provender as soon as they will eat it. They have good care all the time. I let them run in the pasture summers, but do not give them provender when out to grass. In the winter they have all they will eat, with some provender. I generally sell mine when they are three years old. I raise Hereford steers altogether, as I think they are more easily raised than Durhams. I have never written for publication, but if you find items that you desire to use, you are free to use the publish them.—C. W. Randall."

Readers will understand that the letter is in answer to specific questions. We invite attention to the reply to the question whether the management of the oxen was under special advantages and involved a degree of skill not easily within reach of those who would apply themselves to the task of raising extra fine steers. His reply is as we expected and to the point, which in effect is breed from good animals and apply good sense in the feeding. Now there was nothing in the feeding that was extravagant, the one point being that they were kept growing. We infer that they were given the milk of the cow western style until six months old. This is unnecessary, as abundant evidence shows. Skim-milk has been found an adequate substitute for new milk in calf growing.

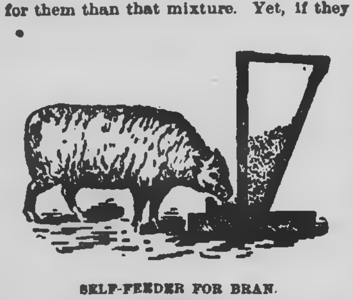
Steers have sold for as low as $40 that weighed 1,500 pounds, and within a year. What a chasm between this sum and $97.50. It is the farmer that sells the former steers that is played out and not the farm. Farming abandons such farmers and not they the business; they are run out by events.—Mirror and Farmer.

CARING FOR LAMBS.

How to Start the Young Creatures in the Way of Quick Growth.

While the lamb is young is the time to start it in the way of quick growth. Its future usefulness as a manufacturer of mutton from hay and corn depends very largely on the start it gets during its first few weeks of existence. If it once gets stunted, no amount of subsequent coaxing can make it do its best. At first you must feed the lamb through its mother. To make her give plenty of milk, she needs, in the winter time, all the clover and hay she will eat. It should be good clover hay—early cut and well cured. She needs plenty of wheat bran. If you do not wish to fatten her for market, I would give her no corn, or very little. If I wanted to fatten her with the lamb, I should give her a ration of this mixture by weight: 100 parts of corn meal, 100 parts of wheat bran, ten parts of linseed meal. I would gradually accustom her to this food, and as she became used to it, I would give her all she would eat, feeding it by preference in a self-feeder.

Now, if lambs are to go to market as fat lambs, I can suggest no better food for them than that mixture. Yet, if they are to eat grass during the summer and be fattened next winter, as by far the greater part must be, I would not give the corn meal, as they would do better during the summer without having had it. Lambs will do exceedingly well on good clover hay and unlimited wheat bran. That is the way I am feeding ours at present.



SELF-FEEDER FOR BRAN.

If the lambs are to be used for breeding stock, I would avoid giving corn meals as a heating or fattening food. Give oats, bran and linseed meal. If the ewe lambs when grass is green in the spring, she ought not to need any other food; yet the lambs pay well for the grain that you give them. It may pay you to continue the wheat bran all summer. I show a diagram of a good self-feeder for bran, which can be eaten from by both ewes and lambs. The cut shows a cross-section. It may hold twenty bushels or more.—J. E. Wing, in Country Gentleman.

Crib Biting.

It is a very bad habit of many horses. It is really, more or less, nothing but swallowing air,—a pressing down forcibly into the stomach great mouthfuls of air, which often causes by its accumulation colic and severe pain. If this bad custom is persevered in, it leads gradually to derangement of the digestive organs and chronic catarrh of the stomach. It is exceedingly difficult to make a horse abandon the vice. Many animals learn this disagreeable habit from a crib-biting companion. Therefore, crib-biters should be isolated from their fellows. Sowharz, in his book "The Horse," ably translated, revised, and edited by Dr. George Fleming, and just issued from the press, says that weariness and hunger are the principal causes of crib biting "therefore, a plentiful supply of food and sufficient work are the best preventives of this unfortunate propensity."—London Live Stock Journal.

Always weigh your butter at home.

They Go Into Camp.

According to previous announcement, the Durham Field Battery went into camp in the town park today, and for ten days will engage in mimic warfare with mosquitos, hard tack, night chills, and other enemies of the nation. The officers are: Lieut.-Col. McLean, Captain Snyder, 1st Lieut. Gillies, 2nd Lieut. Coombe, Surgeon Turner and Veterinary Surgeon Fisher. Sergeant Major Dick is expected to arrive this evening. The battery this year is as strong as ever and are well pleased with the comfort of the grounds and the solidity of the grub. Lieut. Coombe, of the Trinity College school has been attached for this drill. Dr. Brereton, owing to his growing practice and steadily increasing a'dermanic proportions, has severed his connection with the battery, which has been fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Turner, of Millbrook. Sergeant O commanded the admiration of all the ladies. His personal appearance was very striking as he led the battery up the street. The only hitch was when, just after starting, one of the big teams refused to pull. The cause is ascribed to the shock they received on beholding the external appearance of the town hall.—Port Hope Guide.

Not As Represented.

It has been learned by letter from those who lately went off on the laborers' excursion to the Northwest, that everything is not what it is represented to be, and far from satisfactory. Some complain of not being able to get work, some of being treated to scanty board, and having to work long hours, and the wages are lower than was reported, some in fact, being willing to work for their board alone. Contrary to this, however, in Tuesday's dailies appears a report that all who went to the Northwest have found employment, and that an additional five hundred men will be required to reap the greatest harvest ever known in the west.

The Harvest.

From what we can learn from the farmers hereabouts, we would say the harvest is an average one. Some of the farmers do some crying of "crops no good," but, nevertheless, they get enough for a living and some of them even save money, and the way things are at the present the man who does this is doing extra well. Our best wish to the farming community is, that the golden grain will be safely harvested, and when the yule time arrives the yellow husks will be stripped from the golden ears, followed by the merry "Money Musk" and accompanied by that well known sound of "Down the center, and all hands round."

Druggists say that their sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla exceeds those of all others. There is no substitute for Hood's.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Taken by Mistake.

During the progress of the Grundy sale on Wednesday some person walked off with a wash stand belonging to another party. Yesterday two quilts which were hanging on the baluster in the hall of Mr. Grundy's residence were also taken. These articles were evidently taken in mistake, and Chief Roszel, who has obtained the names of the parties who took them, and requests that the articles be returned.

The Derivation of Names.

Omemee means pigeon, The village was so named, at the suggestion of Judge Benson, of Port Hope, because it is on Pigeon River—now shrunken to the dimensions of a creek—which flows into Pigeon lake. In former days, wild pigeons were exceedingly plentiful there, and that fact no doubt accounts for the lake and river being so named. Bobcaygeon is a corruption of Pah-pe-ka-ge-mon. When asked its meaning, our interpreter drew a line to represent a river, which widened out into a lake. Those who have been on Sturgeon and Pigeon lakes will readily recognize how well the word describes those waters. Waubaushene is properly Wah-bah sing, narrowing. Mah-nah-toc-ah-ning—big rock hole, someone inside. The name was given to a large overhanging rock, where if one on the water looked down when the sun was shining, but not directly on the spot, there was the appearance of a door in the depths, which was supposed to be the means of egress and ingress for beings who dwelt there, but whom the Indians had never seen, though they imagined that the sound of the water beating against the rock was noises emanating from the beings, or spirits, within. Shaw-we-na-gah—"old people live there long ago." It would be applied to an old settlement, or lodge, where the old people resided, and the younger generations went to see them, or themselves to settle down. The site of the annual camp meetings at Parry Sound would be so described by an Indian as Shaw-we-nah gah. Pe-nah-wah-wah—"place of meeting," as persons travelling on two rivers meeting at their confluence.

A SAD CHURCH SCANDAL.

TREASURER GRAY OF ST. ANDREWS SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

The Sum of over Two Hundred Dollars, the Shortage, Which Has Since Been Made up From the Proceeds of the Sale of His Household Effects—Story of the Affair.

The members of St. Andrews church have been much exercised in mind and grieved in spirit over the irregular action of one of their number—a young man who held a responsible position not only in the church but on the church Board.

About two years ago Mr. R. M. Gray was appointed treasurer of St. Andrews church. The appointment was considered an excellent one for the church, for Mr. Gray was an exemplary young man, a regular attendant, and during his several years residence in Peterborough, had won the respect and confidence of all citizens. He possessed a fine tenor voice and sang in the choir, proving a valuable acquisition.

For several months after his appointment nothing but satisfaction was expressed at the manner in which the new treasurer was attending to the duties of his position. That is, the members of the congregation were perfectly satisfied, but some of the Board members began to see that Mr. Gray was not really qualified for the important position of treasurer. They did not doubt his integrity or honesty one second, and there was not a member of the Board who would not have staked his reputation on Mr. Gray's unyielding uprightness; they simply thought he was not the man for the position, but as long as the congregation was satisfied, they said nothing, and Mr. Gray continued to direct the finances of the church.

Time went on, and Mr. Gray still remained St. Andrews treasurer. About four or five months ago, it is said, some of the members of the church began to complain of Mr. Gray. They thought he was conducting his duties in a loose manner. This member said that he got no receipt for his dues, and another member said the same thing, and finally it got whispered around that the church was not satisfied with Mr. Gray, and as is usual, when things begin to get whispered around, they become magnified. Numerous members remembered that they had not been given receipts, and finally the matter was presented to the Board for action.

The Board took action and decided to ask Mr. Gray to resign. The treasurer was notified to that effect. What explanation he made for the laxity exercised in conducting his duties, is not known, but it is said he told the Board that it was hardly worth while for him to resign at that time. as he intended to move away from Peterborough in the fall. The Board took the same view of the case, evidently, for Mr. Gray was still allowed to retain the position of treasurer. Even at this time, no one had the slightest suspicion that anything was wrong. The laxity and looseness which characterized Mr. Gray's administration was attributed to his unfitness for the position.

Afterwards came the awakening. During the past two or three months, affairs became worse than ever as regards sending members receipts, and furnishing statements. Finally the president of the Board became suspicious, it is said, and went to Mr. Gray's house. The treasurer was out, and the president went again, with the same result. A month ago, however, the president was successful in finding Mr. Gray at his house, and he demanded the books of the church. These were handed over and when audited, it was found that the treasurer was short in his accounts by over $200.

Here was a pretty-how-de-do for the church. The matter was kept quiet, and outside the members of the church it was not supposed to be known. The loss of the money was nothing to the church, as compared to the loss of confidence in one who they had respected and trusted, and naturally the members and the Board feel deeply grieved.

Mr. Gray has made restitution for every cent of the shortage, and the church looses nothing. How this was brought about, the Board will not state. They will neither affirm or deny that they forced the treasurer to make good the shortage.

Last Wednesday Mr. Gray's household effects were sold by public auction, and it is supposed the money derived from the sale was applied to make up the shortage.

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT.

Mr. S. G. Faulkner Succeeded by Mr. J. W. Garvin—The New Offices.

Owing to the well earned promotion of Mr. S. G. Faulkner to the managership of British Columbia for the North American Life Assurance Co., a promotion which brought him the heartiest congratulations of his many friends, an important position, that of District Manager for the same company for Peterborough and surrounding counties became vacant. As the business of the company in this district had largely increased during the last few years it was decided by the executive to establish permanent, attractive and commodious offices in our midst and to appoint the most competent and available district manager. Their choice of Mr. J. W. Garvin, B. A. and ex Inspector Public Schools was an exceptionally fortunate one as this cultured and courteous gentleman has the highest respect of the community and has manifested marked ability in the insurance business.

THE TIMES visited the offices referred to this afternoon. They are located on the second flat of the new Bank of Commerce block and are reached by two entrance ways, one from Hunter and the other from Water street. Three windows facing Water street and one facing the post office will be handsomely decorated by the company. The rooms are already appropriately and attractively furnished and will be ready for business by tonight. The manager's private office and reception room is carpeted by an expensive Brussels of beautiful design and otherwise furnished to match. Courteous invitations will be sent to the policy holders of the company and to other friends to use it freely—a privilege which will doubtless be accepted by many. The business department is also handsomely fitted up.

This is evidence of prosperity and indeed it can be said with truth that the success of the North American has been almost phenomenal, as in the short period of 15 years it has grown in financial strength to equal the best companies, and in the matter of the ratio of assets to liabilities it is claimed to excel all others.

THE TIMES is pleased to draw attention to the marked success of this well known Canadian company and to predict for it in the near future increased prominence and prosperity.

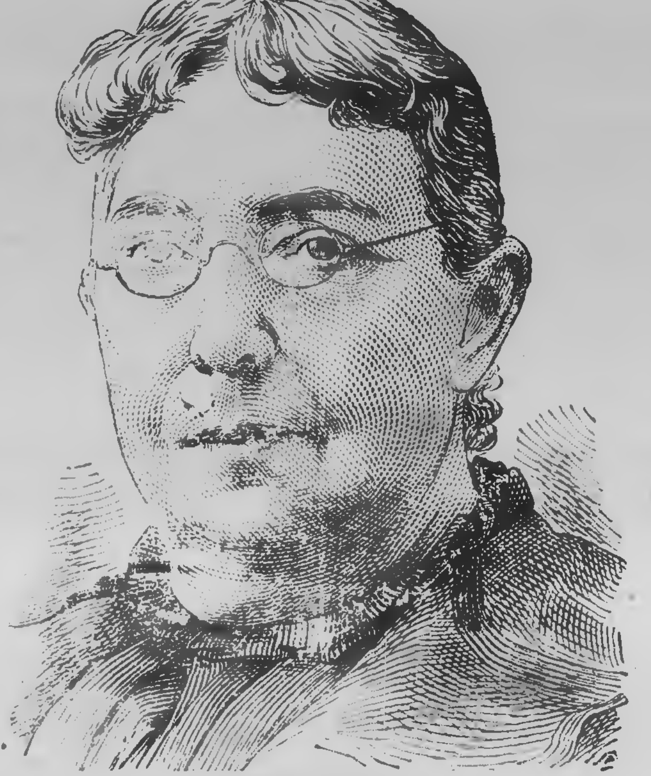
Well And Strong After Half a Century of Suffering!

The Cure is a Wonderful One

Wrought by Paine's Celery Compound
The Great Health and Strength-Giver.



MRS. PARSONS.

The memory of the great discoverer of Paine's Celery Compound will ever be sacred to the thousands who have been wonderfully delivered from disease and suffering. The united efforts of this world's medical men will never equal the work, the mighty life saving results, that have come to sufferers through the virtues of Paine's Celery Compound.

The most difficult, most ditressing, and the seemingly hard and incurable cases, are successfully cured by the great medicine. There is no reason why any man or woman should despair and give up hope. while they can procure the medicine that drives away disease.

Strong and inconvertible proof—testimony from one who suffered for over fifty years—will give hope and inspiration to many of Canada's sufferers who, up to the present. have been successful with physicians and the common advertised medicines of the day.

The marvellous and speedy cure of Mrs. A. R. Parsons, of Sutton, P.Q., has created a wonderful sensation in that special section of the Eastern Townships. Professional men, business men, and farmers, have discussed the subject, and to day Paine's Celery Compound has a reputation and a fame in the district that no other medicine ever possessed.

Mrs. Parson writes very briefly, but to the point; she says:—

"I am delighted to send my testimony regarding your most valuable medicine, Paine's Celery Compound.

"Some time ago I had Grippe, which left me so lame and weak, that for six months I could not get up without help. I told my husband that nothing else but Paine's Celery Compound could help me, after other medicines and doctors had failled.

"After taking several bottles of Paine's Celery Compound, I feel that I am cured; I can now walk and go up and down stairs with ease, and do all my housework. Under the blessing of God and your Paine's Celery Comoound, I am now well."

According to the game laws none of the contrivances for taking or killing the wild fowl known as swans, geese or ducks, which are described or known as batteries, swivel guns or sunken punts, shall be used at any time, and no wild foul known as ducks or other water fowl shall be hunted, taken or killed from sail boats or steam yachts. The wardens in this district will enforce this part of the act most vigorously this year.

WITH THE SPORTS.

At last a game has been arranged with the Orillia lacrosse team by the Athletics. The Orillia twelve, the Peterborough's most formidable opponents, have agreed to play here on September 24th, the second day of the Central Exhibition. Orillia captured the northern district championship this year and in all likelihood will win the intermediate championship. The Athletics and Orillias when they meet will place before the public a brilliant and close exhibition of lacrosse.

There is a likelihood that the Athletics will play in Markham the first week in October.

An endeavor is being made to bring the Ontarios, of Port Hope, and the Athletics together at Campbellford on the 26th. No definite arrangements has yet been made.

CRICKET.

In perfect weather the Oxford and Cambridge versus Canada match started before a fairly good attendance at Rosedale field yesterday morning. Terry won the toss and sent in Saunders and A. E. Martin to face the bowling of Arkwright and Hartley. Saunders drove Arkwright for one and four, while Martin hit him for two twos. Several runs were added, and with the score of 21 Saunders was stumped by Robinson for 13 runs, one wicket for 21.

Goldingham followed and hit each bowler for two. Then he cut Arkwright for 3 and lost Martin, who was caught at the wickets by Robinson off Arkwright for 12 runs. Two wickets for 40.

Terry followed. Goldingham got Arkwright away for 4 to leg, and Terry drove Hartley to the boundary. The captain scored twenty runs very rapidly and was caught by Montimer with the score at 69. Three wickets for 69.

Laing was next in. He drove Arkwright twice for 2 but shortly after lost Goldingham who made 19. Four wickets for 75.

Jaques succeeded and played his usual careful game, while Laing did the run-getting with the score at 82. Lowe relieved Hartley. Laing cut him for one, and Jaques finally broke his duck by making 2, after 20 runs' batting. Arkwright replaced Milligan; Laing cut Lowe for 2; Jaques made one, and ninety appeared.

After Laing had made 2 off Lowe the game was stopped for lunch.

Fall Stocks Complete

Few understand the magnitude of the task of collecting a great stock of foreign Dress Goods' Cloaks and Millinery. It is so exacting that few merchants are willing to truly learn the business. The majority are willing to buy at second hand and take whatever they can get. This explains the general failure to collect proper stocks at right prices.

We collect from everywhere Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna and New York contribute to the showing. We gather stocks to sell and not models to copy. This gives us great power. The choice styles are not concealed. The great volume of purchases puts down prices. The command of all the markets insures immense variety and the very latest novelties. And the economy of it all will surprise you.

The biggest stock we ever had—the best every way—are holding formal receptions these days. We want you to see the

A Metal Breadboard.

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

DEFENDER WON IT.

The American Yacht Beat the Valkyrie in the First Race 7 Minutes.

OUTPOINTED, OUTSAILED.

FIRST OF THE CONTESTS BETWEEN THE BIG SINGLESTICKERS FOR THE AMERICAN'S CUP—THE DEFENDER LED.

(Special to the Times.)

Defender finished 5.21.30.
Valkyrie finished 5.28.30.

NAVESINK HIGHLANDS, Sept. 7.—At 7 o'clock this morning a drizzling rain set in, which lasted about an hour. It was followed by a dense fog that soon shut out the view from here.

At 8.45 it began clearing in the south and east, and at this time (9.15) boats in the lower bay are visible, and it bids fair to clear up. There is a heavy sea, and the wind is from the east and blowing about twelve miles an hour. The crews of the two racers got to work early. The Defender hoisted her new mainsail at 9.15, while the Valkyrie made a start to raise hers at 9.20.

NAVESINK, 9.25 a.m.—Both Defender and Valkyrie have put about the point of the Hook, each boat sailing alone under mainsail, bound out towards the starting point.

9.30 a.m.—Both boats have hoisted jibs.

NAVESINK HIGHLANDS, 10.01 a.m.—The Defender, which is about a mile in advance of Valkyrie, has just passed Scotland lightship, bound for the Sandy Hook vessel. Both boats are still sailing under mainsail and jibs.

On board the United Press tug, via Sandy Hook, N. J., Sept. 7.—Pretty near all New York started oceanwards this morning. Excursion boats and club steamers were obliged to start from 8 to 8.30 in order to reach the scene of today's battle by 11 o'clock. The Sandy Hook lightship is a good 30 miles from the Battery. To stem the incoming tide with overcrowded boats and reach the starting line before the yachts were sent away was no easy problem for the skippers to solve.

The procession down the bay, though somewhat obscured by the haze which hung over the water, was one of the sights of the day.

The newspaper tugs preceeded the fleet down the bay, and were soon followed by the patrol division, consisting of twelve boats, which will endeavor to keep the course clear. Later came the gaily bedecked excursion steamers, with bands playing and laden with a precious army of enthusiastic men and women. The fleet presented a magnificent sight as it passed Sandy Hook. Never in the history of these waters has its like been seen. Every available craft was pressed into use.

The Defender was the first to make the sail this morning. Her mainsail was sent up at 8.50, and at 9 o'clock she started in tow of the tug Wallace B. Flint for the lightship. Her jib and staysail were up in stocks. The Valkyrie sent up her mainsail at 9.05 and started out in tow of the tug Pulver at 9.10 peaking mainsail as she rounded Sandy Hook. At 9.30 both yachts shook out the jibs outside of the Hook, but continued in tow out to the starting line. The patrol division gathered at their rendezvous at the Sandy Hook lightship at 10 o'clock and formed around the starting line, intending to keep all craft half a mile off from the racers. The patrols found they had undertaken a herculean task.

Now and then a craft would stick her nose inside the "dead line," as it were and instantly a patrol would be after her to warn her off the course. The captains of the different boats generally showed an evident disposition to give the big racers plenty of room, but occasionally a boat would unconsciously wander beyond the patrols, looking for the position of vantage.

SCOTLAND LIGHTSHIP, 10.12 a.m.—The wind is from the northeast and blowing about six miles an hour here. Wind hauling to north and decreasing. Both yachts still in tow.

NAVESINK HIGHLANDS, 10.30 a.m.—The committee boat is flying the signal letter "V," which according to the program says the starting point will be shifted out from the light ship. As the start was to have been made from Sandy Hook lightship it means they will make a mark further out.

HIGHLANDS, Sept. 7.—Defender started 12.10.10. Valkyrie about 5 seconds behind. Both boats were on the starboard.

The Valkyrie appears to be sailing considerably faster than the Defender.

The course is east by south. The yachts will sail 15 miles to windward and return. The wind is now from the southeast and appears to be freshening a little. There is quite a swell on out where the boats are.

NAVESINK HIGHLANDS, 12.29 p.m.—The Valkyrie appears to have a lead of a full minute over the Defender.

12.33½ p.m.—The Valkyrie is carrying mainsail, club topsails, staysail, jib and baby jib topsail.

The Defender is carrying the same sails with the exception of the number two jib topsail instead of a baby-jib top sail.

The Defender looks to be pinching up into the wind closer than the English boat and is undoubtedly closing the gap between herself and the Valkyrie.

12.40 p.m.—Both boats have just gone about on the port tack. As they came about it was seen that the Defender had taken full advantage of her better pointing qualities and when they came about the American boat was in the lead. The wind is materially strengthening.

12.53 p.m.—The Defender leads by about 100 yards and has the weather position.

12.57 p.m.—The Defender is sailing very fast and is gradually increasing the lead.

1.13 p.m.—Both yachts have gone about on the starboard tack.

Navesink Highlands, 1.30 p.m.—As observed from here it is evident that the Defender is in the windward work thus far has outpointed as well as outsails the Valkyrie.

Cable Schooner, eight miles out—1.30 p.m.—Defender is fully one-quarter of a mile in the lead now.

Navesink Highlands, 1.48.—The Valkyrie has just gone about on the port tack.

Navesink Highlands, 1.49.—The Valkyrie made a very short board of it, and then stood away on the starboard tack again. Just as she turned the defender went about on the port tack.

Sea bright, 1.53 p.m.—The Valkyrie just crossed the Defender's bow.

1.54 p.m.—The Valkyrie has just stood away on the port tack and was immediately followed by Defender, who came about on the starboard tack.

1.57 p.m.—Both boats have just gone about, the Valkyrie on the starboard tack and the Defender on the port tack. As the two boats approached each other before they changed their courses, it could easily be seen that the Defender was well in the lead.

2 p.m.—The Defender has just gone about on the starboard tack. Both boats are now on the same tack, with the Defender well up to windward.

Navesink Highlands, 2.15 p.m.—It is quite hazy out where the stake boat is, and it is doubtful if the accurate turning time of the boats can be taken at this point. The yachts must now be pretty near the turning point.

Sandy Hook, 2.25. — Wind south-east, nine miles per hour; cloudy.

The official time of start: Valkyrie, 12.20.46; Defender, 12.20.50.

Short Beach, 3.55 p.m.—The Defender turned stake boat at 3 40; the Valkyrie at 3.43.

Navesink Highlands, 4 17 p.m. — The boats can now be just discerned coming out of the haze, but it is impossible as yet to distinguish them, one from the other.

Short Beach, L.I., 4.11 p.m.—The boats have 2 hours and 42 minutes in which to run the 15 miles and be within prescribed time; wind light.

Highlands, 4.36 p.m.—Boats just came in sight, Defender seems to be about a mile ahead.

4.57 p.m.—The rain has ceased, but the wind is bringing in a heavy fog from the south, which has completely shut the boat marking the finishing line from view. It is stated here that the Defender has a lead of between two and a half and three minutes, but any estimate of the time is purely guess work.

Seabright, 5.10 p.m.—The boats are near the finish. It looks from here as though the Defender is leading by a narrow margin.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

A WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN HER KITCHEN.

A Bicyclist Run Down a Woman and Seriously Injures Her—A Mother Deserts Her Baby and Leaves a False Address.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—A woman named Ellen Ward, probably fifty years of age, was found dead this morning in the kitchen at 90 Adelaide street west, a house occupied by Mrs. Sarah Chambers. The deceased was an English woman who has been in Canada for several years. She has been employed as a domestic servant at Hugh Scott's, 16 Sultan street, but five months ago failing health forced her to relinquish her duties. She has since lived with Mrs. Chambers, aiding her in light household duties. This morning about 9 o'clock she was not heard moving about and a lady boarder went down to the kitchen at Mrs. Chambers request to see what was the matter. Miss Ward was on the floor. Dr. Garratt was called but could do nothing. Coroner Aikins will hold an inquest at 8 o'clock Monday evening at the city morgue, where the body now lies.

RUN DOWN BY A CYCLIST.

At one o'clock today Mrs. Margaret McCrimmon, housekeeper for Dr. McDonagh 341 Church street, was standing on the middle of Church street, near Gould, when she was struck by a young man named Frederick Dawson, who was scorching down the thoroughfare. She was felled and her head badly cut on the pavement. P. C. Goll took the bicyclist's name and address and called the ambulance for the injured woman. Dawson's excuse for his speed was that he was hurrying to see a dying aunt.

DESERTED HER BABY.

A well dressed young woman, calling herself Mrs. Armstrong, of Centre avenue, left a six months old infant at the Creche on Hayter street. She promised to return, but she did not, and the matron has since learned that the name and address are both false.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Special to The Times.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 4.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

Royal Hop Pickers.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—A royal fad was started during the past week. It consisted of visits to the hop fields, where the roughest characters of London are in the habit of spending the month of September as hop pickers. On Thursday the Duchess of Albany, accompanied by her children and members of a house party stopping near Aldershot, visited the hop gardens at Crandall. They remained among the hop pickers two hours. All of the party picked hops and talked with the hoppers.

China Wants Russia's Aid.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—A special cablegram from Shanghai says that the rebellion in the Province of Kan Suh is becoming formidable. The insurgents have organized an army, and with it have captured eleven cities. It is reported that the Government at Pekin meditates calling upon Russia for aid in suppressing the rebellion.

Spaniards in Cuba are said to be committing atrocities as revolting as those practised by the Japanese at Port Arthur.

WANT AN ALIEN LAW.

THE DOMINION TRADES AND LABOR UNION FAVOR IT.

Would Not Employ Outsiders—Have No Use for Lieut.-Governors—Union Men to be Asked to Boycott Chinese.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The concluding sessions of the Trades and Labor Congress were replete with spirited debates, and business was gotten through with expedition. The alien labor law of the United States, of which Commissioner De Barry, of Buffalo, is a noted exponent, was discussed fully, when the resolution of Michael Powell, jr., of London, asking for a similar law, was brought up. It read as follows: "Resolved that this Congress petitions the Federal Government to pass an alien labor law whereby all foreign labor would be prohibited from holding positions, thereby depriving other workmen of their work, unless becoming Canadian citizens after residing in the country for at least six months." It was adopted.

NO USE FOR LIEUT GOVERNOR.

There was no opposition to a motion of Delegate Darlington to abolish the office of Lieutenant Governor of the different provinces. The resolution styled the position as being one "created for the purpose of giving a soft berth to party politicians at the expense of the community in general." Another motion of Mr. Darlington's to allow no person a seat at the Congress who receives a salary from either the Federal or Provincial Governments was defeated. All union men will be asked to pledge themselves not to deal in any way with Chinese, whose occupations interfere with organized labor.

MAKING DEBS A HERO.

It was decided to send a letter to Eugene Debs congratulating him on "the manly stand for his defence of the rights of labor." The Government will be requested to place a label on all articles made in prisons, stating the fact that it is prison made so that purchasers can plainly see it. The Congress put itself on record as being directly in favor of the Single Tax.

Thanks were extended to the Mayor and City Council of London, the representatives of the Toronto Evening News and Globe and local papers, the local Trades and Labor Council and others for favors received.

In the discussion on the school question A. W. Holmes of Toronto, was not in favor of the system of Separate schools, but thought that the question should not be considered by the Congress at all.

SAYS THE WOMAN TEMPTED HIM.

The Rev. John R. Wilson Adopts Adam's Excuse for his Wrongdoing.

Special to the Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The Rev. John R. Wilson, the Auburn Seminary theological student who was filling the pulpit of the Brownville Presbyterian church and courting a Brownville girl, and whose wife appeared here yesterday, demanding his arrest for abandonment and non support, was found in hiding in a friends' house in Sackett's Harbour last night and brought to Watertown jail, where he spent the night. The young wife is about 20 years old. They were married in Syracuse on June 1, the girl finding it necessary to demand a ceremony on account of her condition. He admits these facts, but says that he married her under compulsion; that she, by her wills and fascinations, led him into wrongdoing, and that he has since learned that other men are responsible and that he was duped into marrying her. The girl's maiden name was Elizabeth Nagell, and her mother and two brothers live in Rochester. She lived in Auburn with a half sister, and Wilson boarded there. He came from Manitoba and is 25 years old. He has secured counsel, and claims to be able to make a good defence. The couple never lived together.

MARRIED ON BICYCLES.

Bride, Groom, Preacher and Guests Wore Cycling Clothes of Latest Fashion.

Special to the Times.

UNADILLA, N.Y., Sept. 7.—The opposition of a prospective mother in law to bicycles and bloomer costumes resulted in a novel bicycle wedding last night.

Mrs. Frank Moses has persistently opposed her attractive 17 year old daughter Florence ever since she purchased her wheel and bloomers, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Moses sided with the girl. On two occasions the angry mother placed tacks on the walks to puncture the tires of the daughter's wheel, and another time nearly ruined her bloomer costume by besmearing the wheel with fresh paint.

Mrs. Moses, however, regarded Jerome Snow, her daughter's escort, as chiefly instrumental in inducing the girl to adopt the bloomers. When Mr. Snow called last night to invite Miss Moses to join a cycling party Mrs. Moses ordered him to leave and never return.

The daughter just then appeared, dressed for a cycling trip, and hastening from the house, the young couple disappeared down the road. The two journeyed several miles, discussing the unpleasant incident, when the young man suddenly exclaimed:

"Let's have a bicycle wedding tonight and settle this question."

"All right," said Miss Moses. "Where is the minister?"

The young couple were soon joined by the cycling party, one of whom was the Rev. Mr. Mead. The necessary arrangements being completed, the clergyman repeated the marriage ceremony, received the responses and pronounced the couple husband and wife while the wheels were making ten miles an hour.

At midnight the party of cyclists called at the house of Farmer Moses, where all past differences were forgiven and dismissed.

Boston's Masonic Temple on Fire.

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—A fire in Masonic Temple threatens to gut the building. Flames have spread to the upper stories and the prospects are that the building will be entirely destroyed. The block is being deluged by water. The Temple is one of the most magnificently furnished Masonic buildings in the country and the loss may reach $400,000. The building cost about $750,000. Lieut. Madden, of chemical engine No. 2, was thrown from his engine and probably fatally hurt. The roof has fallen in and Fire Chief Egan fell with it three stories. He is badly hurt

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 9, 1895

TORONTO'S CALAMITY.

Toronto is in a bad way. For months the people of that city must use filthy water of Toronto bay for all purposes. In the meantime the city is almost unprotected in case of fire; but protection will be had as soon as possible. It is especially unfortunate that conduit which carried lake water into the city should be broken just at the beginning of the great two weeks fair, during which time the city will be packed with strangers. It is to be hoped that every precaution will be taken to prevent an outbreak of diphtheria such as followed the breaking of the same conduit a few years ago, for while a repetition of that outbreak among the citizens of Toronto would be bad indeed, it would be worse if visitors to the fair were to carry the disease to all parts of the province. Let all who visit the fair be careful to drink little water, and none that has not been boiled.

Some of the nations that are grabbing for bits of broken China may get hurt.

We make this assertion, subject to connection, but believe it to be true: Of all the towns in Ontario with a population of 10,000 or over, Peterborough, has the worst streets this year. There was almost sufficient money wasted on George street toproperly pave it.

Next to our own outfall sewer, Toronto Water Works intake pipe calamity is the worst. There is this difference, however: In the case of the sewer, the entire trouble is attributable to our coporation solicitor, while the cause of the present trouble over the intake pipe is due to incompetent engineers.

The cable brings us the news that the anarchist who was arrested yesterday while attempting to explode a bomb in the Rothschild's bank in Paris "professed a contempt for work." This is a sentiment shared by anarchists in common. Evidently contempt is bred from other causes than familiarity.

A factory in Anniston, Alabama, has received the contract for equipping the city of Tokio, Japan, with water pipes. Factories in England, Germany, Belgium and other European countries competed in the bidding, but the Alabama contracters were successful. The water pipes are shipped to Tokio by way of Liverpool.

It is now said that there was no William Tell, but a magnificent statue of him, in marble, has been unveiled at Altdorf, on the spot where he refused to salute the ducal hat of Austria suspended from a flagstaff. It shows Tell in easy walking position, with his little son, and is placed in relief against the tower which long has marked this place. The monument was unveiled with imposing ceremonies, delegations from all the Swiss cantons being present. The three original cantons appeared in delegations of thousands.

A number of Hebrew tradesmen at Springfield, Massachusetts, are going to petition the city government this month for leave to keep their stores open and sell their goods on Sundays. They will quote in support of their prayer this proviso of a Massachusetts statute of the present year: "Whosoever conscientiously believes that the seventh day of the week ought to be observed as the Sabbath, and actuallay refains from secular business and labor on that day, shall not be liable to the penalties of this section for performing secular business and labor on the Lord's day if he disturbs no other person."

MILES OF FROZEN FISH.

QUEER PHENOMENON ENCOUNTERED IN BEHRING SEA.

Singular Condition in Which a Fishing Crew Found Vast Numbers of the Silver Hake—The Occurrence Without a Parallel—A Wonderful Sight.

The recently returned salmon fishers, whalers and sealers from the Arctic tell of a strange thing—an occurrence without a parallel in the experience of those who sail to the far north, says the San Francisco Chronicle. A sea captain who was a passenger on the salmon schooner Glenn tells the story with much circumstance. The Glenn left this city in March last bound for Behring sea, which was reached on May 4. In the latter month there is usually a little drift ice, but seldom enough to interfere materially with the progress of the many whalers, sealers, and other craft which make for the sea at that time of year.

This season, however, the sea was literally covered with drift ice extending from the Alaskan peninsula clear across northward to the Yukon. The southeast winds usually blow off shore, and, driving the ice further from the land, leave a passage between ice and land. The Glenn intended to make Bristol bay and stood to the eastward, but was unable to reach it on account of the ice, and so had to put back toward the peninsula to await the delayed southeast winds.

It was while the Glenn and four others passed up toward Bristol bay that the phenomenon was encountered. The vessel had just emerged from Ounimak pass, about half way between Amoukhta island and Bristol bay, when a vast quantity of dead fish was encountered. They were in the water as far as the eye could see on each side of the vessel, and for sixty miles the Glenn traveled through the shoals of fish.

On examination they proved to be silver hake, a kind of codfish, but narrower and smaller and having only two dorsal and anal fin. They weighed between four and five pounds and were perfectly fresh, the gills being still red. Some of the sailors were afraid to eat them, thinking perhaps they had been killed by some subterranean upheaval, or, possibly, through the overflow from the volcano of Wenyaminor, which was active last fall. Other sailors less fastidious did not hesitate to cut the fish open, and then a peculiar condition was revealed. Although the fish were fresh and had not stiffened, the gills and intestines were found to be full of ice. This was not the case in one instance, but every fish which was opened, and apparently accounted for their deaths in such large numbers.

The anomalous condition of the fish was the subject of much talk and speculation. That the fish should be comparatively limber and that there should be ice within them seemed to indicate that a shoal of them had been suddenly overtaken and frozen to death, and on the thawing out of the ice the carcasses had been released, but had not risen in temperature sufficiently to thaw out the ice in their bodies. Those of the sailors who cooked the fish said that they tasted as good as ever, and that they were not tainted by sulphur as they might have been in the event of their death being due to a sudden subterranean upheaval.

The gentleman who is authority for the story has been traveling every season to the Arctic since 1888, and never had seen such a shoal of dead fish, nor yet discovered fish with the intestines frozen as these had. He also drew attention to the fact that in the seven years of his traveling, though he had often seen black smoke issuing from the Wenyaminor volcano, near Port Moller, he never saw it or heard of its being in active eruption until 1898, in the fall. Then it belched hot ashes and flames, and the roar was like artillery. This volcano is close to the shore, and the line of fish extended almost as far north as to a point opposite it. The captain does not maintain that there was any connection between the facts of the eruption in the fall and the finding of the fish in the spring, but merely states the facts as they existed, leaving to others to trace any connection or reject any association of the phenomena.

The area of the frozen fish was not less that half a mile wide and sixty miles long. When the Glenn, on its homeward journey, reached Ounimak pass again, on August 29, every sign of the fish had disappeared. Many had doubtless been eaten by the gulls and other birds, and others had sunk in the warm water. As far the captain could state, there was no other fish of any kind except the silver hake in the shoal. The carcasses had been perhaps almost as suddenly released from their bonds of ice as they had been entombed.

A Woman at the Bottom of It.

A woman was in a hurry to board a Wabash avenue cable car. At the same time a one-legged man was in a hurry to leave the car. The woman collided with the man, knocked his crutch from under his arm and he fell upon the pavement. After the woman had made herself secure in the seat of the car she turned and made a profuse apology. The man was in no mood to accept it. He shook his crutch before her and cursed her. The woman's face grew crimson. The conductor enjoyed the occurrence. In doing so he stepped on a man's corn. The man toppled and fell against another man, knocking off the latter's silk hat. In scrambling to catch it he fell off. He raved and swore, and the man who had knocked off the hat, being pugnacious, jumped from the car and there was a fight. The conductor was heard to mutter: "Always a woman." —Chicago Tribune.

The Turtle's Annual Visit.

A land turtle that without fail for twenty-six years has regularly appeared at the home of Michael Mackey, at Parker Ford, Chester County, came to time a few days ago and was being proudly exhibited around Pottstown by Mr. Mackey yesterday. That gentleman asserts that there can be no mistaking his turtle, as the initials of his name are emblazoned on its shell. He says that its training has been so well developed at his home that at the sound of the dinner bell it comes into the dining-room to receive its allotment of food. It stays around the Mackey premises until September, and then goes off to its winter quarters.—

Easy to Guess the Correct Size.

"I want to git a collar for my husband," said the hardfaced woman, "and I declare I have plumb forgot the size. I giner'ly buy all his collars and ties fur him, too."

"Ah!" said the astute clerk. "Then you probably want about a thirteen and a half or fourteen."

"Yes, that's right but I don't see how you guessed it so easy."

"Oh, I have noticed that a man who lets his wife buy all his haberdashery for him usually has a neck of about that size."—Cincinnati Tribune.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds pe cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

TREES THAT DO NOT DIE

THEY SURVIVE HACKING, HEWING, BURNING AND UPROOTING.

The Baobab Tree of South Africa Cannot Be Exterminated—The Nullah Tree Another Example—When Uprooted It Grows More Roots Elsewhere.

There are some trees and plants which it is exceedingly difficult to kill. An example is a tree found in South Africa, called the baobab tree, that is most useful to the natives. No matter what sort of treatment it receives it never seems to be the worse for it.

The natives make a strong cord that lasts for years out of the fibres contained in the pounded bark, and for this purpose the whole of the trunk, as far as they can possibly reach it, is barked, a course of treatment which if applied to any other tree would undoubtedly ruin if not kill it. The only effect, however, upon the extraordinary baobab tree is to make it throw out a new bark, apparently as capable of answering the natives' purposes as the old one.

No external injury, not even fire, appears to be able to injure this tough tree to any extent. If an axe be driven in with a hard blow, it can only with great difficulty be extracted, on account of the soft, spongy wood closing upon it. Neither can any injury be done to the tree from within, and even cutting it down does not exterminate it; it continues to grow after it is lying on the ground.

The nullah tree of the East Indies is also almost impossible to kill. It can be cut and hacked in any shape, and although uprooted and allowed to lie on the sandy plains for months an upright branch or new trunk will grow.

At Umballa, Bengal, India, there is a large tree that has had an experience. It is situated on the camping-ground used for regiments passing through Umballa, or for the infantry regiments which come down from the hill stations in winter for drill on the plains. The canteen tent is pitched near it, and the soldiers derive a great benefit from this curious tree, as the prostrate portion answers the purpose of two long seats and the upright part serves as a shade from the hot sun.

Another strange plant, belonging somewhat to this species, is the devil plant, found near the Lake of Nicaragua. It is of such a deadly nature that it destroys all insects and vegetable life in its vicinity. Nothing seems to be able to kill it, and though it has been burned down several times, it springs up again in vigorous life, without any loss of vitality.

In Jamaica there is to be found the life-plant, also almost impossible to kill. The writer knows it to be a fact that when a leaf is cut off and hung up by a string to dry or wither, it sends out white threadlike roots, gathers moisture from the air, and begins to grow new leaves. And still further, when it is pressed and packed away, in a botanist's herbarium it has really been known to outgrow the leaves of the book in which it was placed. The only way known to kill it is by applying a red-hot iron to it, or by steeping it in boiling water.

These few examples give some idea of the extraordinary creations of the vegetable world, many of which must appear incredible to the unscientific. They do not realize that there is an infinitely greater variety of species in the vegetable world than in that part of the animal world visible to their eyes.

The trees and plants mentioned are among those whose extraordinary qualities are well authenticated. There have been many reports of still more remarkable vegetables, which, while they are not clearly verified by scientific works, cannot be proved to be untrue.

For instance, there is the plant which feeds on meat, and which, while it ordinarily nourishes itself on small birds and mice, shows a fondness for raw beef when it is placed in its way. Another has the power of coating itself with copper extracted from the soil in which it grows. Various persons have reported the discovery of plants similar to the devil plant of Nicaragua already mentioned, but possessing still more deadly powers, even to the endangering of human life.

BEWARE OF SKINS.

An Important Caution with Regard to the Eating of Fruit.

Fruit skins carry germs and are no more intended for human sustenance than potato skins, melon rinds or pea pods. The bloom of the peach is a luxuriant growth of microbes, that of grape only less so; and when these skins are taken into the stomach they find most favorable conditions for their lively and rapid development which cause the decay of the fruit before it is possible to digest it. This is the reason many persons think they cannot eat raw fruit. If they would in all cases discard the skin they could derive only good from the fruit itself. Nature provides the skin for the protection of the fruit from the multitude of germs which are ever ready to attack it, as is evidenced when the skin is bruised or broken in any way. The microbes at once begin their work of decay, and the fruit is unfit for food. Children are chief offenders in respect to this rule and should be carefully cautioned. A daintiness as to the condition of fruit should also be cultivated, to prevent its being eaten unripe, or too old, on the verge of decay. Remember that it is sweet and ripe fruit, in prime condition, only that is recommended.—Farmers' Voice.

TRIO OF CRIMINALS.

The Trial of Albany's Murderers—Spain's Insanity.

Special to The Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 6.—In the extraordinary Oyer and Terminer Court, designated by Governor Morton to try, the three alleged Albany county murderers, Spain, Davitts and Smith, the latter was today found guilty of murder in the first degree. He was accused of causing the death of Philip Richtmer, an aged farm hand, on the night of June 15th last. Smith will be sentenced on Tuesday next. Tomorrow C. H. Davitts will be placed on trial for the murder of little Anna May Shannon, of Cohoes, upon whom he is said to have committed a felonious assault before causing her death. His crime is the most revolting in the annals of Albany county's criminal proceedings. A commission will inquire into the sanity of Spain, who murdered his son on June 15.

A SQUAW MURDERED

By Another in a Drunken Fight in Kent County—Killed Instantly with a Club.

Special to the Times.

WHEATLEY, Kent County, Ont., Sept. 6.—Yesterday some Indians, living about 7 miles east of here, went with baskets to Leamington where they secured liquor and got drunk. After returning home two of the squaws, named Mrs. Jos. Peters and Mrs. Thos. Dodge, got into a fight, which resulted in the former striking the latter on the head with a club killing her instantly.

Fell in a Well.

BURFORD, Ont., Sept. 6.—Mrs Whitman an aged and well known lady, living at Mount Vernon, was drowned in a water cistern at her residence this morning. It is supposed that she went to get water and the pump not working, she attempted to raise the water with the bucket, and losing her balance fell in. When she was found, about 15 minutes after, life was extinct.

Suffering Farmers.

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 6.—Entire crops were destroyed on a number of Kent county farms by the hail-storms a week ago. Some fifty farmers and their families are absolutely penniless and in want of daily food, and fifty other families have lost from one quarter to one half their crops. Public meetings are being held to raise relief, and a general appeal for help will be made. Nearly all the loss was in St. Mary's parish near Buctouche.

A good appetite and refreshing sleep are essential to health of mind and body, and these are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A MASSACRE IN CUBA.

SPANISH TROOPS SLAUGHTER CUBAN MEN AND WOMEN.

A Girl Cruelly Tortured—Slashed by an Officer and Hanged to a Tree—Acts of Barbarism in Cuba.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Press says: Atrocities by Spaniards as revolting as those committed by the Japanese at Port Arthur have just been reported to the Cuban revolutionary party in New York. Enrique Trujillo, editor of El Povenir, has received a letter from Juan Maspons Franco, chief of staff under Gen. Maximo Gomez, the commander in chief of the insurgent army, which sends details of the capture and recapture of the city of Baire, and the massacre of thirty-seven inoffensive Cubans, mostly women and children, by the Spaniards under Commander Garrido.

On Tuesday morning, according to Col. Franco's letter, a company of insurgents under Jose Rabi surprised the Spanish garrison in the fortress commanding the city of Bair, killing more than seventy men and taking fifty six prisoners. They captured a large quantity of arms and persuaded the prisoners to enlist in the insurgent ranks. An hour later three companies of Spanish troops, under command of Garrido came up, and after a short but sharp resistance the Cubans fled, leaving the fortress again in the hands of the invadors. Soon after the fort had been re-garrisoned with Spaniards one of the companies broke loose and began to pillage the city. Commander Garrido himself, Franco states, led the uniformed rioters.

Col. Franco describes graphically the scene of horror that followed. The Spaniards were wild for the spilling of blood. Every woman creature who came in their path was ruthlessly slain. Within five minutes the streets of Baire were deserted by the panic stricken natives, but the Spaniards followed them into their houses and killed them in their own rooms.

"Age, sex and condition were wholly disregarded by these liveried butchers," says Col. Franco. "Old and young women, children, even infants, were slaughtered one after another. Shocking indignities were offered to the unfortunate victims before and after death. The Spanish soldiers stampede on the bodies of those whom they had slain, and ground their heels into the faces of many who were still living.

"Senorita Delores Madera, a beautiful girl of 18, betrothed to one of Captain Rabis' lieutenants, was seized on the street, cruelly beaten, repeatedly stabbed with bayonets and brutally insulted. Commander Garrido was in the neighborhood while this outrage was perpetrated," says Col. Franco. "One of Garrido's captains commanded the girl to renounce her Cuban sweetheart and swear loyalty to the Spanish Government. She scornfully refused, whereupon the captain struck her across the face with his sword inflicting a terrible gash. With blood streaming down her face she taunted the Spaniards with their cowardice. Thereupon the maddened soldiers seized her, bound her hand and foot, threw a nose around her neck and hanged her to a tree. The torture of Senorita Madera was prolonged as much as possible. She was drawn up slowly and allowed to strangle by degrees. While she was still alive, but no longer conscious, her body was riddled with bullets."

Routed the Troops.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 6.—A cablegram from Key West, Fla., to the Times Union says:—Private letters to this city brings news of a big battle which was fought on the 31st of August, near Santiago de Cuba between the insurgents under Antomb Macco and the Spanish troops commanded by Cannellas, in which the insurgents completely routed the troops, killing six hundred soldiers and eight officers and wounding Cannellas. The Spanish papers report that the battle was fought, but do not give details.

A Snowstorm at Edmonton.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6.—The weather in Manitoba has been favorable for harvesting, but Edmonton district has been visited by a snow storm. On Wednesday nearly 50,000 bushels of new wheat were marketed at various stations along the Canadian Pacific railway and Northern Pacific lines. The price paid for the best qualities is 42 and 43 cents per bushel.

To Be Docked at Halifax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Charles Cramp, the Philadelphia shipbuilder, informed Secretary Herbert today that he had decided to dock the new battleship Indiana at Halifax, N.S. The United States does not possess a dry dock large enough for a vessel of the Indiana's class. The docking will be done Cramp's men.

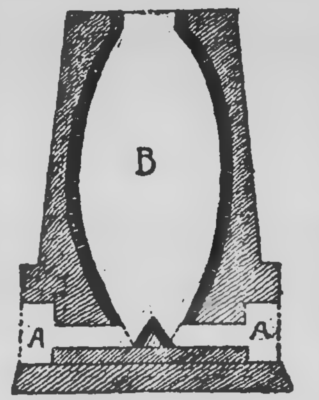
FARM AND GARDEN

CONTINUOUS LIME KILN.

It Does Not Cost Very Much to Build One on the Farm.

Limestone is a carbonate of lime, and lime is the oxide of the metal calcium, which has such an intense avidity for oxygen that it takes fire and burns with intense heat and light when exposed to air that is at all moist. Thus it is a rare metal, and used only for chemical purposes. The great abundance of limestone, which is more or less diffused everywhere in the soil, and in places is very abundant, being found in vast beds of marble and other forms of it, might lead to the supposition that plants might procure all they need without any help. But it is quick lime they need, and not the inert carbonate of it; and thus it is that the stone is burned to drive out of it the carbonic acid, and make it into lime, which is an acrid, caustic substance that exerts a most energetic action on all organic matter; and considerable action on mineral compounds in the soil, dissolving silica and thus setting free such plant foods as potash, magnesia, soda and phosphoric acid from insoluble compounds. Limestone is insoluble in water, but lime is soluble in 700 parts of water. Thus it is that while the roots of plants may possibly decompose to some extent the common carbonate, and get a little lime in this way, it is found very useful, some think indispensable, to apply the actual lime to the soil.

It is not much of a job to make lime. The limestone may be put in a heap with wood or coal, and a wall built up around the heap to confine the heat. The fuel being fired, the stone is made into lime in three or four days. But this is a costly way, and thus where there is a demand for the lime, kilns are used, some temporary ones, but little improved on the heaps, or clamps, as they are called, and some strong structures called permanent kilns of which the cut is an example. This is made of any kind of hard stone, and lined with fire brick. It is egg-shaped, because as the limestone is burned, and the coal or wood used as fuel is consumed, the bulk decreases, and thus what will fill the belly of the kiln, only fills the throat at the bottom. This kiln may have three or four throats or openings for drawing out the lime, but each is made in the way shown. The lime when it reaches the bottom being fully burned, is drawn out into the hearth a, through the opening into the kiln, b. In burning the stone is broken into convenient size for handling, and a way is made to the top of the kiln, which is most often built in a bank. A small sloping track is sometimes made to the top of the kiln, and a platform around it, so that the small cars of lime and fuel may be drawn up and dumped into the kiln. The fire is started in the bottom by filling in dry wood, from the throat, then more fuel, wood or coal (the cheap slack being used), is dumped in at the top, then some lime, and then alternately fuel and limestone until the kiln is full, when it is fired, and goes on day after day as long as lime is required. About the third day, the lime is ready for raking out, which is done with long bars of iron with a right angled hook at the end. It is only necessary to start it, when it fills the hearth, where it is left to cool. When it is taken out, more lime comes down, or if it lodges, the hook is used to loosen it. After the kiln is first charged, the stone sinks down steadily, and as this is always to be kept heaped at the mouth, as soon as it has sunk down to a level, a fresh supply is heaped up. As the fumes from the kiln consist of carbonic acid, which is a deadly gas when breathed, it is necessary for the man in charge of feeding the kiln to keep on the windward side, so that the gas is blown away from him.—Rural New Yorker.



KILN FOR LIME BURNING.

Do Repairing at Home.

On all well-conducted farms where much machinery is used, farmers spend a great deal of time running to and fro from the blacksmith shop. There are so many different tools used that something gives out almost every day. Now a great deal of this expense may be saved by having a small shop on the farm. A portable forge can be had for $15. This will answer every purpose, although it is not advisable to get one too small. Secure a hand anvil weighing about 100 lbs., a good hammer, a ten-pound sledge, a steel punch and a good blacksmith's vise, and you are ready for almost any job but horseshoeing. Of course a beginner cannot expect to do skilled work at first, but with a little practice, time and money can be saved. A farmer should not be without an assortment of good carpenter tools. Many a dollar can be saved by their use. If the farmer does not care to do his own repairing, perhaps the boys (if there be any) will take hold and to them it will soon become more of a pleasure than a task.

Reclaiming Swampy Lands.

No dwelling house ought ever to be built near a swamp. If such a one exists either the house should be removed or the swamp should be drained. There are many places where the deepening of ditches already made is all that is needed to make dry land fit for cultivation of what has been an eyesore to the neighborhood. This making of an outlet is much the most expensive part of the reclamation. It will improve the neighboring upland also, for that equally needs under draining, but cannot get it until a safe reliable outlet has been provided. All swampy lands have been for ages the deposits for vegetable matter from uplands. So soon as the latter is underdrained the water falling on the upland sinks down to the tile and enriches the soil, instead of washing away its fertility.—Rural World.

Railway Speed in Great Britain—America to Go one Better.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, Sept. 7.—The Courier says: Since the recent speed performances between London and Aberdeen, which showed the remarkable feat of covering 540 miles in 538 minutes, the officials of the New York Central have been studying the figures, and it is reported that a movement is on foot to prove that American locomotives can make better time than the English flyers. The best long distance run in the United States was made by the Empire State Express over the New York Central in 1891, when 436½ miles were covered in 439½ minutes, while the actual running time was nearly 15 minutes less. The report is now current in railroad circles that the time of the Empire State express is to be shortened nearly an hour in the very near future.

GATLING GUN HOWARD.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS EXCITED OVER SEIZURES MADE BY HIM.

His Story Not Known—In the Meantime the Release of the Vessels Has Been Ordered by the Canadian Government.

Special to the Times.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 7.—There is no doubt about Captain Howard having seized two Newfoundland fishing vessels and threatening others. He also threatened to seize the mail steamer Virginia Lake. No explanation is offered and great irritation is excited. A prompt explanation is needed as good feeling between the two countries should be preserved.

OTTAWA, September 7.—Several despatches have passed between Ottawa and St. John's, Nfld., regarding the seizures, on the coast of the Canadian Labrador. The information which the Government received from a leading Newfoundland firm confirmed in part the press despatches regarding the seizures. It is asserted that Capt. Howard, who was appointed a preventive customs officer in April last, has seized several Newfoundland fishing vessels because their clearance papers are defective. The incident seems to have caused a good deal of irritation in the Island colony, but in the absence of the precise details it is impossible whether or not the seisure was justified. The opinion in official circles is that if Captain Howard has taken advantage of a mere technicality he has done what is nothing short of a blunder. So far no word has been received from him, only the other side of the case is to hand. Today the owners of the vessels wired the Department of Customs, guaranteeing the payment of any fine that may have been incurred, and they were immediately notified by the Customs department that the release of the vessels had been ordered. It appears that the hero of the Gatling gun has acquired important interests in the locality. He has gone extensively into the lobster fishing and canning business, and consequently some cities see interested motives in the supposed attempt to harrass the other fishermen, but the Newfoundlanders are after cod, whereas Howard is interested in the lobster. It is also stated that this official is an American citizen. This is equally erroneous, for Howard was naturalized some time before his appointment; otherwise he could not have been appointed. It was worthy of mention, however, that he receives no salary, save his share of the seizures which he lawfully makes. Howard is under the supervision of the Customs officer at Quebec, but in the present instance has been ordered to report direct to the department the particulars of the seizures and to release the vessels.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individua' delights.

Why Gold Exists.

Before the Royal Society of New South Wales, a member recently presented a summary of the various reasons which have been put forth to account for the existence of alluvial gold other than the old and accepted one, that it had been set free by processes of disintegration. Details are also given of a large number of experiments made with a view to determine whether a nucleus of gold, immersed in a gold solution and in the presence of such substances as would be likely to occur in nature, will increase in weight, the conclusion being that gold is deposited when the nucleus is in contact not only with metalliferous sulphides and arsenides which form strong galvanic couples, but also with such substances as iron oxides, charcoal, graphite, sandstone, granite, quartz, clay and marble, which form but weak galvanic couples with the gold nucleus. It is doubtful, he thinks, whether the common assertion as to the greater fineness of nugget as compared with coarse vein gold has any foundation in fact; with fine alluvial gold there is such a difference, but this is thought to result from the removal of silver and other impurities by solution, owing to the larger relative surfaces exposed. Furthermore, the author assumes that large nuggets could be artificially produced by methods used in his own experiments, and that gold is probably being so deposited at the present day.

DRUGGISTS' CONVENTION.

They Meet at Denver and Discuss Various Matters.

Special to the Times.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 7.—The National Druggist Association spent today in discussing the proposed plan for the handling and sale of proprietary medicines designed to prevent the cutting of prices. The plan proposed was submitted by N. M. Kline, chairman of the committee on proprietary goods, to the Western Association of Wholesale Druggists at a meeting in Chicago June 5, 1895, and was cordially approved. The question of druggists selling cigars was also discussed. One or two thought it would be more professional to stick strictly to pharmacy, but they were quickly talked down.

Partridge Shooting.

The open season for ducks commenced Sept. 1st; and for partridge the 15th Sept. We understand some party in this town, some weeks ago, killed three partridges, which were hardly able to fly. It is to be regretted that such depredation was not brought within the law and full punishment meted out.

This evening Mr. Harry Lindley's Big Company will open the Opera House, which has been thoroughly renovated and remodeled, in the thrilling sensational drama in five acts entitled "Sunshine and Shadows." Mr. Lindley's impersonation of the "convict tramp, Jerry," is one of his greatest characters. Little Ethel Lindley, the youngest and brightest of stars in the firmament of the theatrical life, will appear in songs and dances up to date. Mildred, the beautiful and accomplished premiere danseuse, in fancy and skirt dancing make the evening's entertainment one to be enjoyed and not forgotten.

HIS LEG CRUSHED.

Painful Accident to Richard Young at the Edison.

Richard Young, an employee at the Edison works met with a painful accident on Saturday morning.

Young was operating a planing machine and in some manner his leg was caught and drawn into the machinery. His cries attracted the attention of other workmen and they rushed to his assistance and succeeded in drawing him out of the wheels.

His leg was badly crushed, and caused him much pain. He was driven home and a doctor was summoned and dressed the injured limb. Fortunately amputation will not be necessary.

CAMP NOTES.

Durham Field Battery at Port Hope Enjoying Themselves.

The Batteries at Port Hope attended divine worship yesterday at St. John's. Our correspondent writes as follows:

The Battery was inspected on Saturday morning by Major Drury, of Kingston.

Lieut. Gillies arrived in camp yesterday, and his trace-mate, Kirk, has now abandoned the idea of returning home.

The Brigade Major's arrival on Tuesday night was almost attended with dire disaster to that worthy. Sergeant Crowe forgot to supply bits for the horses, and one of them roamed on the sidewalk. Between it and the Major so much noise was made that the night watchman was awakened. Being aroused made him so irritable that he was going to run the unfortunate artilleryman in. The eclipse being on at that time he escaped in the darkness, the eyes of the vigilant constable being so unused to the night, he could not discern the Major.

Cook Kirke, notwitstanding his ability, has a very difficult time in bringing the present surgeon up to the degree of rotundity, which was his boast in the former holder of the office.

Sergeant O had his hair cut, when down street the other night. The news was noised abroad and his tent was crowed with sight seers to view the transformation.

The Infantry Officer has been told off to ascertain the riding qualities of the horses in camp. He is in the hands of surgeon every evening.

The Bombadiers positively refuse to go into camp another year, unless orderlies are detailed for their accomodation.

The latest conundrum is, "What is the difference between boomer and bloomer?"

Elizabethville's representative in the battery is engaged nearly the whole time in seeing that no entomological specimens repose on the person of the Quarter Master Sergeant.

The Pinkerton Detective Agency are issuing circulars offering a reward of $100 for information as to the whereabouts of Abraham Bailey, who is missing from Duluth. Bailey is described as 49 years of age, 5 ft. 5½ in. tall and weighs 148 lbs.; is very erect and has dark complexion.

A carrier pigeon was mistaken for a wild one yesterday by a well-known gentleman of this city and shot. To his surprise and regret a ring was found on the bird's leg with this inscription: E. H. C.—153, '85. The bird was flying east and likely belongs to one of the large lofts in Toronto.—Belleville Intelligencer.

Farmers report that the ground was never in better condition for fall work than this season. The dry weather of the earlier summer months left the earth very loose and the recent rains have put it in fine working condition. The fields are also much cleaner than usual, the hot dry weather not being favorable to the growth of weeds. The early close of the harvest gives a long season for fall work and the prospects are that a great deal of fall plowing and seeding will be done.

The attention of our readers is called to the business card of Fraulein Hofmann, in this issue of THE TIMES. This talented lady holds a high place in educational circles in the province as a teacher of languages. At present she is prepared to take a limited number of young ladies who wish to study German at her residence, No. 65 Homewood avenue. Students taking a musical, art or university course, will find this an advantageous opportunity of becoming familiar with German, which is the language of the "Pension." Fraulein Hofmann holds the highest references.

BROKE A PANE.

After Smashing a Window He Smashed the Clerk.

A young man named Mortimer Fuller went out on a "toot" on Saturday afternoon and loaded himself with distilled lightning.

On Saturday evening while going along Simcoe street, he broke a large plate glass window in the front of Harry Dundas' harness shop. Whether Fuller broke the glass intentionally or fell against it while passing, is not known, at any rate there was a loud crash, and when the clerk rushed out to the street, he found Fuller there, gazing at the broken window.

"Why did you break that window?" asked the clerk.

"I don't," responded Fuller, "I denies the allegashun——."

"You did break it," said the clerk, "and you'll pay for it."

Fuller didn't say a word to this. His veracity had been questioned and that was enough. The moment had arrived when mere words would not assuage his ire. He sidled up to the clerk, and before that individual knew what was coming, Fuller let his right hand fly out and it landed on the clerk's face.

Just about this time an officer arrived on the scene. He gathered Fuller in and locked him up in the cells. Fuller will be tried on Tuesday morning.

SATURDAY'S SPORTS.

The Big Cricket Match—Eastern League Score—Lacrosse Games.

It was a peculiar game over the Don on Saturday. Rain came down the first of the fourth, and it looked as if there would be no contest. After half an hour and when Lake and Casey had left the grounds it was agreed to play it out. So Dixon of Providence caught for Toronto and was of material aid to the champions. The play was farcial and the spectators hissed both teams as they deserved. Score:—

THE ENGLISH LEAD.

The Englishmen only added one run to their score in the cricket match at Toronto on Saturday, when Hartley was run out and the innings closed for 189, a lead of 52 over Canada.

Martin and Saunders commenced the batting for Canada to the bowling of Hartley and Milligan. With the score at 7 Martin was bowled by Hartley for 1 run. Terry went in. Saunders cut Milligan for 3 and Terry cut him for 4 and then Saunders was caught by Arkwright off Hartley for six. Two wickets for 14.

Goldingham replaced him, hit Hartley for 3 and Mulligan for 2, while Terry made 2 singles and a 4 off Hartley. Five overs went down for 5 runs; then Goldingham made 2 and Terry 3, and four byes were added. Forty runs were scored. Lowe of Cambridge relieved Milligan and Terry ran himself out. Three for 42; Terry 15. Laing went in. Goldingham made 2 singles and was caught by Bruce off Milligan for 11. Four wickets for 45.

Jaques was next in and drew Lowe for 5 and was cleaned bowled by him. Five wickets for 49, and things looked blue for Canada.

Wadsworth joined Laing who hit Hartley for 2 twice bringing the score up to that of the Englishmen who were fielding grandly. A stand was made but the bowling and fielding were too good, and only 55 runs were scored, when Wadsworth was caught off Lowe by Robinson for 2 runs.

Boyd followed and made 2 off Hartley. Laing cut Lowe for 2 and Hartley for 1. Sixty appeared, Boyd was missed in the slips, cut Hartley for 2 and 1, drew Lowe for 2, and was bowled by him for 7. Seven wickets for 67. Wilson joined Laing, who got 2 off Lowe, while Wilson made 2 doubles. The game was stopped with the score at 70 and every probability of a win for the visitors. Canada only being 18 runs ahead and seven men out.

INS AND OUTS.

Two well known young men, fellowclerks in the same establishment, left this morning for that greatest of American cities—New York. It is their first visit visit to this modern Babylon, and naturally, their friends felt that it was their duty to warn them of the dangers that would beset them. The friends called on the young men last night and presented them with a leather covered flask to carry ice-water in, and the following list of instructions:

Don't blow out the gas.

If you hear anyone whistle on the street, don't turn around. They are likely whistling for a dog. In a crowd keep your hand on your jack knife.

Don't get round-shouldered eating promenade dinners.

Don't tell everybody you're from a country town. They are likely to know it.

Buy no gold bricks, or green goods. There is lots of sawdust in the Otonabee, right here at home.

Don't waste your money by dining at Delmonico's. Remember that plain pork and beans will sustain life in New York city as well as in Peterborough.

Don't buy everything you see, for it takes a long time to get money from home, in case you run short.

The cable cars are not run by a telegraph company.

It pays to put up at a first-class hotel. That is, it pays the proprietor. Be satisfied with a $1 a day house.

Don't expect to get a reserved seat at the theatre for 50 cents. The opera glasses are chained to the seats, so don't put them in your pockets.

Whisky is invariably 15 cents a glass, so don't ask the bartender if he hasn't made a mistake in the change.

Here are some of the representative American beverages, with the prices in American money:

SHOT DRINKS.

Flash of Lightning	18 cents
Corpse reviver	24 cents
Bosom caresser	18 cents
Stars and Stripes	24 cents
Gin twist	18 cents
Appetizer	18 cents
Alabazam	18 cents
Prairie oyster	12 cents

LONG DRINKS.

Stone fence	18 cents
Goat's milk	18 cents
John Collins	18 cents
Fisherman's prayer	18 cents

When you walk down Broadway and realize how insignificant you are, you will doubtless wonder how you ever felt so big in Peterborough. Don't be alarmed at this feeling.

Don't go to sleep on benches in the parks. You will be taken for emigrants.

If you should happen to visit any of the newspaper offices, just mention that you are a friend of THE TIMES man, and you will be treated with every courtesy.

When you return don't talk about the time you were in New York, for goodness sake.

For the names of the two young men, see personal items.

A Metal Breadboard.
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Evernard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

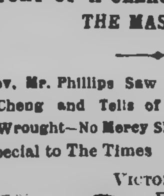
WAS AN EYE WITNESS.

STORY OF A CLERGYMAN WHO SAW THE MASSACRE.

Rev. Mr. Phillips Saw the Massacre at Ku Cheng and Tells of the Bloody Murder Wrought—No Mercy Shown by the Chinese.

Special to The Times

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 9.



PRIVATE letters from Shanghai announce that the commission appointed by the British and American Governments to investigate the Ku Cheng massacre of August 1, reached Ku Cheng on August 17, without a shadow of molestation from the barbarous hordes alleged by the Chinese officials to have established a reign of terror throughout the province. The commission had an escort of but 100 of the viceroy's ill armed and poorly disciplined soldiers, a circumstance which supports but feebly the Chinese contention that the massacre was entirely beyond official prevention, owing to the country being in revolt.

WHAT REV. MR. PHILLIPS SAW.

The commission had, at last advices, received the statements of three witnesses, Dr. Gregory, of the American mission at Foo Chow, Rev. H. E. Phillips and Miss Hartman, of Ku Cheng, the latter two having been eye witnesses of the fearful scenes of August 1. Rev. Mr. Phillips tells how he was awakened at six o'clock in the morning by shouting in the direction of the Steward's house. He at first thought it was children playing, but soon recognizing the voices of excited men, he dressed hastily and went over.

"I was met a few yards from my dwelling," he said, "by a native friend who, while throwing his arms around me to detain me, told me the vegetarians had come. I shook him off and went on and soon came in sight of the house from which forty or fifty bandits were carrying loads of plunder, their leader holding aloft a small red flag. I could see nothing of our Europeans, and as I was in full view of the rioters I crept up hill in the brushwood and concealed myself behind two trees, from 20 to 30 yards from the house. There I could see everything that could be seen. As I could see no foreigners I concluded they had escaped, and as to go down was certain death I thought it best to await where I was.

ALL THE FOREIGNERS KILLED.

"After a minute or two the retreat horn sounded and the vegetarians began to leave, first, however, setting fire to the houses. Ten minutes after this every vegetarian had gone. I came down and looked about the front of the house, but could see nothing of anyone. I feared something dreadful had happened, as I heard the vegetarians as they left say: 'Now all the foreigners are killed.' I just then met one of the servants, who told me the Chinese were in the house in which Miss Hartman of the American mission, was staying. I found Mr. Hartman's daughter, Mildred, with a serious wound in one knee and another severe cut. When I had washed those I turned to Mr. Stewart's son, who was fearfully hacked and cut everywhere. Then Miss Codrington sent me a message that she, too, was in that house. I found her in a fearful condition, but with cold water and rags we managed to staunch the bleeding. She begged me not to wait as she thought Topsy Saunders was still alive.

HER HEAD ALMOST SEVERED.

"I then rushed to the back the house and found the bodies of Miss Saunders, Miss Steward, Miss Gordon and Miss Marshall. The latter was awfully cut, her head being almost severed, but beyond the wounds given in the struggle the body was not mutilated. Later I found Miss Coombes' body at the foot of the hill in the front of the house, where it had been thrown. As then I could see no signs of Mr. and Mrs. Steward, Miss Saunders and Lena, the nurse, we hoped they had escaped, and I returned to the house where the Steward children and Miss Codrington were. Presently Miss Hartman arrived. She had received a cut under one ear but had been saved from death by a native christian. I learned later that the five ladies of the Zenana Mission Society—they live in two houses which form the Ku Cheng sanitarium—made a futile attempt to escape, got out of the back end, but were immediately surrounded. Some of the vegetarians were inclined to spare them, but were ordered by their leader to carry out their orders, "Kill and spare not."

TORTURED BY BURGLARS.

John Bullock Compelled to Tell Where His Money was Hidden.

Special to the Times.

PARKHILL, Ont., Sept. 9.—Last night about 1 o'clock, three men, two of whom were small, and all of them young, went to the house of John Bullock, about four miles from here on the town line, where Mr. Bullock and his aged mother live. They tied Mrs. Bullock, who was sleeping down stairs. She yelled to her son who was upstairs, but two of the burglars went up and bound Mr. Bullock before he was able to defend himself. They then demanded money and took matches and burned the soles of his feet until he told them where what money he had was. The robbers secured about $65 and his watch. Then they went to the stable and took a horse and buggy and left. Mrs. Bullock, after a great deal of difficulty loosened the rope which bound her and went to the house of Mr. Ellis, who is a near neighbor and informed him of what had happened. Mr. Ellis went over and loosened the rope which bound Mr. Bullock and found the burglars had completely ransacked the house.

The burglars were traced for about four miles east, where they were lost track of. There is no trace of either horse or burglars yet.

A Strike of Girl Graduates.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, Sept. 9.—All the girl students at Mount Union College struck against obeying the order which required them to visit the gymnasium every day. They objected to exercising before a male instructor. A committee was appointed to call upon the faculty. After a discussion they decided to accede to the demand, the committee was notified that a female instructor would be employed.

Determined to Die.

THREE RIVERS, Sept. 9.—An old man named Millett attempted to drown himself this morning by jumping into the river while under the influence of liquor. He was put in jail for safe keeping, and while there succeeded in hanging himself from the top of the cell door. He was quite dead when discovered.

MONTREAL MERCHANTS JAILED.

Accused of Having Set Fire to Their Places of Business.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—On Saturday the following business men were arrested on charges of having been concerned in the starting of serious fires in their places of business: William Thomas, of William Thomas & Co., wholesale furriers, 614 St. Paul street; Lewis Lowenthal, merchant tailor, 1811 Notre Dame street; Isaac Davis of I. Davis & Son, wholesale furriers, 503 St. Paul street; George Payeur, foreman of Keller's fur dyeing works, Pt. Dagenais, merchant tailor, 331 St. Paul street.

The warrants were sworn out by Silas H. Carpenter, chief of the Canadian secret service, and Charles D. Harrison, fire insurance adjuster, who say they acted under the instruction of the Attorney-General and Crown Prosecutor Quinn, and that the Crown was working on these cases before the development of the famous Boyd Gillies & Co.'s case, for which Jenkins, Haynes and Clarke are awaiting trial. The fires concerned run over two or three years back, and over a million dollars worth of property is said to have been destroyed by them.

QUARTERS AT BISLEY,

For the Canadian Team—The D.R.A. to Make a Move in the Matter.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—It is learned that the Dominion Rifle Association will take a vigorous hold of the proposal to establish permanent quarters for the Canadian Rifle team at Bisley in accordance with the strong representations by Major Ibbotson. A novel feature in this connection is that the structure will be built in this country of Canadian materials by Canadian workmen. As an advertisement of the Dominion, it cannot fail to increase the good impression made by Canadian volunteers.

The residence will be completed ready to put up, and sent over in charge of those who are familiar with its construction.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

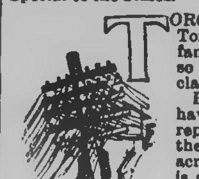
DUBUQUE, Iowa, Sept. 9.—Edward Lebshaw, a sub contractor on the Government work on the Mississippi river, had six hundred pounds of dynamite stored away in the cellar of a house at Specht's Ferry, 12 miles north of here. Today his son, while practising with a revolver, missed the target, the bullet entering the cellar and firing the dynamite. The house was blown to splinters and five persons killed. Two others may die. The dead are terribly mangled. A four year old baby in the party escaped unhurt. The glass in the buildings in the hamlet was all broken, and boats on the opposite side of the river were considerably damaged. A special train from Dubuque took physicians to the scene and brought the wounded to the hospital here.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

CITIZENS WILL GET LAKE WATER IN A FEW DAYS.

Repairs on the Conduit Being Hurriedly Made—The Pipe Will be Sunk Again Today—Puncheons Throughout the City.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, Sept. 9.—Toronto's "pure water famine" is nearly over, so the city officials declare.

Herculean efforts have been put forth to repair the damages to the risen conduit pipe across the bay, and it is confidently expected that by tomorrow or Thursday morning at the latest it will be repaired and a supply of lake water furnished residents of the city. With all rapidity the breaks are being covered with tarred canvas which will withstand the pressure of the water through the pipes and also keep out the water in the bay to at least 95 per cent.

City Engineer Keating went over to the island at 5 o'clock this morning in company with the divers and work was commenced at once on the breaks.

In the meantime all residents north of Wellesley, east of Yonge street and north of College, west of Yonge street, are being supplied with lake water from the reservoir. At the time of the accident there was 20 feet of water in the basin at Rosehill, and this morning there was over 12 feet, so that the supply will last nearly a week longer at the same rate of consumption.

Distribution at different points throughout the city are water barrels bearing the inscription "Drinking Water. Please do not waste." Each containing 140 gallons and is replenished when empty. They are stationed as follows:

Queen and Yonge, the Avenue and Queen, Queen and Spadina, Queen and Bathurst, Queen and Dundas, Queen and Gladstone, Queen and Parliament, King and St. Lawrence, Queen and Broadview, Front and Yonge, King and Jarvis, King and Bathurst, King and Dufferin, College and Yonge, College and Spadina, Bloor and Yonge, Chesnut and Elm, Cumberland and Bellair, Trinity and Eastern, Sumach and Wilton, Ontario and Duchess, Arthur and Palmerston, York and Adelaide, Yonge and Cottingham, Carlton and Parliament.

Visitors to the Exhibition can obtain a supply of good drinking water at the main entrance to the main building and at the western end of the grand stand.

WM. KYLIE ARRESTED.

Accused of Trying to Bribe a Niagara Falls Councillor.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 9.—Chief Thomas Young, on Saturday arrested W. Kyle, of Toronto, the promoter of the International Belt Line Railway Company, of this town who, with John M. Brinker, of Buffalo, Arthur E. Schoelkopf and Hans Neilson of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and others are seeking incorporation from the Ontario Government to construct and operate an electric railway to connect with the American system across the two bridges through this town and village of Drummondsville.

The warrant, which was sworn out by Mayor George Hanan, charged Kyle with attempting to bribe a member of last year's council to have a certain vote carried in favor of Kyle while he was before the Council in the interests of Alex. Manning and Z. A. Lash, of Toronto. Kyle was taken before a magistrate and remanded till next Saturday. Bail being accepted.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Special to The Times.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 4.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

THEY'RE NOT GUILTY.

Moles and Molson did not kill James Barrett at Buck Lake.

AWFUL MINING DISASTER.

Thirty-five Men Entombed in a Burning Copper Mine.

Special to the Times.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Sept. 9.—An awful catastrophe occurred at the Osceola copper mine at noon on Saturday. Timbermen discovered fire in the 37th level, and at once came to the surface and gave the alarm. The blaze is 2,600 feet below the surface, and is gaining rapidly. Thirty-five men were at work when the fire started, and only one boy was rescued, he dying shortly after. There is no chance of their bodies being found until the fire is extinguished, which may not be for a month.

The New Battleship.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The new battleship Majestic started on her trial trip this morning, but ran aground on the sands at Spithead. She was floated at high water but a further trial of the ship has been postponed until her hull can be examined to ascertain whether she has received any injuries or not.

WHERE MISSIONARIES SHOULD GO.

The recent disturbances in China have caused a good deal of comment concerning the work being done by missionaries among the Celestials. We are told that Christiantity there is making absolutely no progress. Buddhism is a religion which, if practiced, has in it nearly all the elements for good which go to make Christianity great. It has the further advantage of antiquity Hence the Chinses regard their religon as vastly superior to any other.

Hundreds of thousands of Chinamen have come to America, mixed with the civilized world, lived under the shadow of the church, and gone back to China unconverted. If they cannot be reached when living in the heart of a Christian nation, how can a few missionaries be expected to succeed among millions, who do not even understand their language? It is but fair, therefore, to regard the reports of their failure as to some extent correct. Mahomet once remarked tha the sword was the key of Heaven and hell. At least he is given credit for that remark. His system is about the only one that would work in China, apparently.

But why should America want to convert a fairly civilized people who do not want to be converted? In Central Africa there are tribes of natives living little better than wild beasts. There are tribes there who make human sacrifices, tribes who eat flesh, tribes who murder, pillage and enslave without regard to right or wrong, tribes who torture; in fact all kinds of tribes. These tribes are open to conversion. Proper missionary work among them in a few generations might raise them to the level of fairly civilized beings. There is the field for the missionary. It might not be as comfortable or accessible as China, but the results to be gained are vastly greater.

Prophet E. Stone Wiggins has predicted violent storms about the time when the equinoctial winds may be expected. Wiggins is no fool; but those who believe in him are foolish.

When it comes to cold-blooded cruelty and brutality, the Spanish soldiery in Cuba can give cards and spades to the Chinese vegetarians and easily beat them, if recent reports from Cuba can be believed. But it is not safe to believe all the reports from Cuba.

The recent crops in Manitoba have shown that it is better for the young men of Canada to go there and sow wheat than to remain in the cities and sow wild oats.

There has been enough money expended on George street to pay the cost of an asphalt pavement. Instead, it is paved with glaring evidences of incompetent and useless expenditure.

AT EVENING TIME.

At evening time let there be light;
  Life's little day draws near its close;
Around me fall the shades of night,
  The night of death, the grave's repose,
  To crown my joys, to end my woes;
At evening time let there be light.

At evening time let there be light;
  Stormy and dark has been my day,
Yet rose the morn divinely bright;
  Dews, birds and blossoms cheered the way.
  Oh, for one sweet, one parting ray!
At evening time let there be light.

At evening time there shall be light!
  For God hath spoken, it must be;
Fear, doubt and anguish take their flight,
  His glory now is risen on me;
  Mine eyes shall His salvation see.
'Tis evening time, and there is light!

A GIRL REPORTER.

I am a lady journalist, and engaged on the staff of the Weekly Ray.

I never was a pudding-and-pie sort of girl; annd I think when I started going to town, and left the household duties to my sister, my people actually felt a sense of relief.

For some time I wrote at random, sending in contributions to all sorts of papers, some of which reached their mark. The majority, however, like carrier pigeons or the Australian boomerang, faithfully returned to me.

At last I attracted the attention of the editor of the Weekly Ray, or at least my work did; and after a few more successes he offered me a post on his paper.

"A lady interviewer, you know, Miss Neville," said he to me, "can frequently attain her object where a man would fail, and I shall be glad to see what success you may have at the business."

Time went on, and I had "fixed" hundreds of notables, when one day, entering the editor's room to submit some copy to him, I perceived by the way he greeted me that he had some special commission in store.

"Good morning, Miss Neville. The very person I wanted to see. Take a seat."

I sat down, while the editor pushed his papers aside, laid down his glasses and commenced.

"You have no doubt heard that the famous Frenchman, M. Jean Coussot, has arrived in London for a stay of a few days, and has taken up his quarters at the Hotel Bristol?"

"What, the 'unapproachable' in London!" said I. "No, I am ashamed to say that I had not heard of it."

"Well, it is nevertheless a fact," continued my chief, adding with a smile: "And very aptly you have christened him, for not only has he never been interviewed, but has declared his decision that he never will be. Now, although Coussot has never done anything so very remarkable, beyond writing some epigrammatic plays and jingling verses, and posing with great success as an art critic, a wit, cynic, and leader of fashion, yet he has 'a vogue,' and whatever opinions and impressions fall from his lips people will greedily devour."

"Therefore," said I, anticipating his coming remark, "what you suggest is that I should endeavor to obtain the same?"

"That's it," said the editor. "Thereby, if you succeed, rendering your paper a great service and covering yourself with glory."

Next morning—I had spent all the previous day and night thinking about my task—I presented myself at the Hotel Bristol.

"Is M. Jean Coussot within?"

"Yes, miss," said the hall porter, much to my delight. "What name?"

I handed him one of my cards, which he in turn passed to a boy in buttons, who disappeared upstairs with it.

A minute later he returned. "Kindly step this way, miss!" Was the great man really going to see me? It would be something even to receive a refusal direct from his own lips.

Up and up we went, till, on the third or fourth landing, a man servant, holding my card in his fingers, confronted me.

"Monsieur has so many callers," he explained, with a bow, eying me curiously all the time. "What might be madame's business?"

Perfectly well aware that I might as well beat a retreat at once as hope for success if I answered his question, "My business is with monsieur," I said calmly. "Kindly hand him my card, and he will see me."

Still hesitating, but evidently impressed by the assurance with which I spoke the man turned and tapped at an adjacent door.

"Enter!" responded a voice from within. The man left the door ajar behind him. Silently I stepped up to it and peeped through the crack, being rewarded for my temerity by the sight of a rather stout figure of medium height, clad in a long frock coat, with a bullet-shaped head, hair cropped tight, a well-formed nose, and a straight mustache of enormous proportions.

"Mees Margaret Neveel!" I heard him say. "No! I do not think I know the lady." Then he added, turning to the servant: "Is mademoiselle young or old?"

"Young, sir," said the man; and in my anxiety I had almost called through the opening of the door "and pretty."

"Did you ask her beesneez?"

"Yessir. She said it was direct with you."

"Vell, I vill see her in one moment," came the welcome words; but, as I stepped back from the door, they were followed by: "But shust make sure her beezness has nosing te do with se noospapers."

A groan almost escaped me. It was no use prevaricating when, in a moment's time, I should be in the great man's presence. I told the servant candidly that I did indeed come from the editor of the Weekly Ray, a paper that had always expressed its greatest admiration of M. Coussot and all his works, to bid him welcome to our shores.

The man's face relaxed as I said this. He returned to the room, and a second after I heard M. Coussot's voice from within:

"Ha! ha! Ha! ha! Ver' goot! ver goot indeed! Tell Mees Neveel I feel se honor greatly, but"—and he he raised his tones—"M. Coussot is nevair interviewed."

"So much for the glory I was to be covered with," said I, as, hurrying from the scene of my defeat, I turned into Regent street.

Next morning, still feeling a bit ashamed of myself, I went into the city to keep an appointment that the editor had made for me.

That over, I was coming down Threadneedle street, intending to walk back to the office, when, passing the entrance to the Bank of England, I saw a sight that made my heart go thump!

Three genial-looking gentlemen, locked arm in arm, were emerging from

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well'

CHOICE EXTRACTS.

By grace alone we are saved, but it is all-sufficient grace.—United Presbyterian.

The happiness of our lives depends upon the character of our thoughts.—Marcus Antoninus.

"Why art thou cast down, O my soul?" God remains the same. His promise is unchanged. His help is still almighty.

It is not enough for the disciple of Christ to do no harm to his fellowmen; he must do them good.—United Presbyterian.

The man who does not honor his mother can not be trusted to honor the mother of his children.—Young Men's Era.

"It is better to do well than to say well," says the epigram: but it is better still both to do and say well.—Standard.

God doesn't tell the unconverted man that he is a sinner, but turns on the light and shows him that he is one.—Ram's Horn.

Assert your own freedom if you will, but assert it modestly and quietly, respecting others as you wish to be respected yourself.—Froude.

The Gospel is more than a call; it is an announcement that God has made peace by the blood of Christ in the atonement. Will you accept it at His hand?—Standard.

The man who is always talking about the great things he has done for the church could be slipped out of this world and a peacock slipped in his place without anybody noticing the difference.—Young Men's Era.

TEMPERANCE TOPICS.

The man who loves whisky always hates Christ.—Ram's Horn.

Dr. Parker calls the saloon the "street-corner god of London."

The annual drink bill of Cleveland, O., is said to be $10,000,000.

The liquor traffic must be ended, because it can not be mended.—Rev. Jos. Cook.

If the road to the pit didn't begin in respectability it couldn't end in ruin.—Ram's Horn.

The influence of alcohol is never to stimulate life-growth, but always to hinder and depress it.—J. J. Ridge, M. D.

What a young man earns in the day time goes into his pocket, but what he spends in the evening goes into his character.—Dr. T. L. Cuyler.

The Brewers' Journal states that English syndicates have $91,000,000 invested in American breweries, the dividend on which, at nine per cent. last year, was $8,190,000, and was paid in gold.

The board of excise of Ithaca, the seat of Cornell university, has refused all applications for renewal of licenses to sell liquor in that town. Licenses were given to the drug stores.

FRITTERING AWAY OUR TIME.

Whatever a Girl Attempts She Should Do Thoroughly.

That women fritter away a deal of time is unquestionable. Born with the gift of patience far greater than that possessed by men, so many seem to lack a sense of system by which many things can be well done, or the sense of application to any one particular thing. Mrs. Lyman Abbott spoke of this in the Ladies' Home Journal.

What she said she said well. It is a pity she did not extend her remarks to girls, who are really notorious offenders in frittering away time. We speak now, of course, of girls who have time to fritter away.

Take the amount of time, for example, which girls really fritter away, yes, really waste, on music. Every girl has a desire to play the piano, and every girl who can makes the attempt to learn the art. But how many succeed in becoming good players? Take any gathering of girls, either in a winter company or at a summer resort, and the case is rare where a girl is found who really plays well. It is more frequently the case where not a girl is found who can play even fairly. They can all drum on the piano and play a few popular melodies. In fact, one is forced to believe that this latter is the sole end of most girls who study piano-playing. The real reason is, however, I think, that girls, for the most part, take up piano-playing simply because they consider that they must know something about it, be it ever so little. And, for the most part, it is over so little. They consider it necessary to be able, at least, to sit down and play a waltz perhaps—and play it badly and out of time as a rule—or one or two of the melodies of the day. But beyond this they do not go. They fritter away their time on acquiring a part of an art, instead of investing their time in acquiring the art itself.

French lessons are taken the same way—the French spoken by some girls being enough to give a Frenchman a creeping chill. China-painting, needlework and all the other accepted "accomplishments" of a girl are treated much in the same way. Either two or three are taken at the same time, or one is dropped in order to take up the other. But not one is learned thoroughly. The result is that the average girl can paint, play and sew—one about as badly as the other, but not one of them can she do well.

Too many girls nowadays have a wrong notion of what it means to be "accomplished." They seem to have the idea that it means to distribute themselves over all the different attainments and graces of society, forgetting that an "accomplishment" is only what the word implies and means: an acquirement, an attainment, something is perfected. The trouble is that we are too apt to speak of a girl having "accomplishments"; if we used the word more in the singular sense we would come closer to our true meaning.

It is presumed that the many girls who read this will think we are severe in saying all this. And perhaps we are. But if one wishes to be candid, and really criticise the girl of the period not for a score of fancied faults which are not hers, but for a fault which is peculiarly hers, it is that she fritters away a deal of time on many things, and does not give enough time to any one thing. One advantage which this fault has is that she can overcome it. And she should. She should learn the art of application. Whatever she starts out to do let her do it well.

If she wants to play let her learn to play, not indifferently, but well. If her taste is for china-painting let her concentrate her mind to that, and learn to paint well. If she is fond of needlework let her train herself to be expert of the needle. If her tendencies lead her to languages let her take up that tongue the study of which attracts her most. But if she takes up French let her content herself with French, and not study French one day and German the other. Nor should she forget that to know the English language well is her first duty. Whatever she attempts to do let her do it thoroughly, not content with learning it half, but all.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

WANT AN ALIEN LAW.

THE DOMINION TRADES AND LABOR UNION FAVOR IT.

Would Not Employ Outsiders--Have No Use for Lieut.-Governors — Union Men to be Asked to Boycott Chinese.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The concluding sessions of the Trades and Labor Congress were replete with spirited debates, and business was gotten through with expedition. The alien labor law of the United States, of which Commissioner De Barry, of Buffalo, is a noted exponent, was discussed fully, when the resolution of Michael Powell, jr., of London, asking for a similar law, was brought up. It read as follows: "Resolved that this Congress petitions the Federal Government to pass an alien labor law whereby all foreign labor would be prohibited from holding positions, thereby depriving other workmen of their work, unless becoming Canadian citizons after residing in the country for at least six months." It was adopted.

NO USE FOR LIEUT GOVERNOR.

There was no opposition to a motion of Delegate Darlington to abolish the office of Lieutenant Governor of the different provinces. The resolution styled the position as being one "created for the purpose of giving a soft berth to party politicians at the expense of the community in general." Another motion of Mr. Darlington's to allow no person a seat at the Congress who receives a salary from either the Federal or Provincial Governments was defeated. All union men will be asked to pledge themselves not to deal in any way withC hinese, whose occupations interfere with organized labor.

MAKING DEBS A HERO.

It was decided to send a letter to Eugene Debs congratulating him on "the manly stand for his defence of the rights of labor." The Government will be requested to place a label on all articles made in prisons, stating the fact that it is prison made so that purchasers can plainly see it, The Congress put itself on record as being directly in favor of the Single Tax.

Thanks were extended to the Mayor and City Council of London, the representatives of the Toronto Evening News and Globe and local papers, the local Trades and Labor Council and others for favors received.

In the discussion on the school question A. W. Holmes of Toronto, was not in favor of the system of Separate schools, but thought that the question should not be considered by the Congress at all.

MARRIED ON BICYCLES.

Bride, Groom, Preacher and Guests Wore Cycling Clothes of Latest Fashion,

Special to the Times.

UNADILLA, N.Y., Sept. 7.—The opposition of a prospective mother in law to bicycles and bloomer costumes resulted in a novel bicycle wedding last night.

Mrs. Frank Moses has persistently opposed her attractive 17 year old daughter Florence ever since she purchased her wheel and bloomers, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Moses sided with the girl. On two occasions the angry mother placed tacks on the walks to puncture the tires of the daughter's wheel, and another time nearly ruined her bloomer costume by besmearing the wheel with fresh paint.

Mrs. Moses, however, regarded Jerome Snow, her daughter's escort, as chiefly instrumental in inducing the girl to adopt the bloomers. When Mr. Snow called last night to invite Miss Moses to join a cycling party Mrs. Moses ordered him to leave and never return.

The daughter just then appeared, dressed for a cycling trip, and hastening from the house, the young couple disappeared down the road. The two journeyed several miles, discussing the unpleasant incident, when the young man suddenly exclaimed:

"Let's have a bicycle wedding tonight and settle this question."

"All right," said Miss Moses. "Where is the minister?"

The young couple were soon joined by the cycling party, one of whom was the Rev. Mr. Mead. The necessary arrangements being completed, the clergyman repeated the marriage ceremony, received the responses and pronounced the couple husband and wife while the wheels were making ten miles an hour.

At midnight the party of cyclists called at the house of Farmer Moses, where all past differences were forgiven and dismissed.

The Squaw is Not Dead.

WHEATLEY, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Tom Dodge, the squaw who was reported to have been murdered by another squaw named Mrs. Joe Peters in a drunken row on Thursday by being struck on the head with a club, is still alive. She may recover, although she is seriously cut about the head and shoulders.

ARMLESS, YET A PAINTER.

This English Artist Uses the Brush Cleverly With the Mouth.

When a man without arms becomes an artist there is considerable evidence that he has a strong and natural inclination for the career. This is the case of Bartram Hiles, a young Enlgishman, whose pictures have been on exhibition in London at No. 175 Piccadilly.

Mr. Hiles is not the only armless artist of merit now living. Charles Felu, of Antwerp, has long been known as an excellent painter.

Mr. Felu wields the brush with his toes, while Mr. Hiles uses his mouth. The Englishman lost his arms at the age of eight, in a street car accident; the Belgian was born armless. The former is only twenty-eight years old, and is principally distinguished as a landscape painter; the latter is sixty-four, and is a figure painter.

Mr. Hiles combines a vast amount of perseverance and cheerfulness with unmistakable artistic ability. Only two years after his accident, he had so far mastered the control of his pencil held in his mouth that he was placed in the first-class division of the second grade of tree-hand drawing of the National School at Bristol, and he was only sixteen when he exhibited a work,—a study of a sycamore leaf—at the local Academy of Pictures.

For the next few years he studied, both in Bristol and in Paris, so assiduously and successfully that in 1890 he carried away a scholarship, open to the competition of the United Kingdom, of a hundred guineas, and tenable for two years, offered by the National Art Department of South Kensington.

Since then further honors have been won by him on equal terms with other competitors. A design for a fan secured a bronze medal, and a design for a fingerplate intended to be executed in repousse work also received a similar distinction. A charming design for a water-jug and ewer, painted in five hours, won him a silver medal last year at South Kensington, where his skill in modelling clay with his lips was rewarded by his being classed in the first division.

Among the collection now being exhibited in Piccadilly several of these prize designs may be seen. An effective sunset at Venice was hung in the gallery of the Royal Society of British Artists, while a frieze was accepted, though crowded out, by the committee of the Royal Academy this year.

Mr. Hiles is a cheery, good-looking and intelligent young man. He seems to suffer but little inconvenience on account of his misfortune. His lips appear to serve him nearly as efficiently as do our hands. At the request of a visitor he took up a pen in his mouth and wrote his signature. When a cigarette was offered him he placed it on the edge of the table, took a match out of a box, and held it to the point of the cigarette, when, ignited, Mr. Hiles proceeded to smoke.

BROAD TIRE WAGONS.

There is No Reason Why they Should Not be Used Everywhere.

While the subject of good roads is being agitated in every part of the country those most interested in the subject are doing their best to make bad roads still worse by using narrow tires on their wagons. Heavy loads are drawn over our mud roads on these narrow-tired wagons and deep ruts out into them, and in wet weather make them almost, and sometimes entirely, impassable. I have a sort of pity for a man who urges his team along a muddy road, all the time grumbling about the badness of it, when he might reduce the labor of his team from one-third to one-half by using wide tires at very little additional cost to himself and to the great saving of team and temper. It is to be hoped that the first legislation looking to the improvement of the roads of the country will be in the way of encouraging the use of wide tires, for one narrow-tired wagon will do more damage than a dozen with wide tires if the roads are at all soft. No one disputes the philosophy of wide tires, and no one seems to have any good reason to offer why they should not be used. Our farmers simply follow precedent and go on using narrow tires because their fathers did before them. Lumbermen and freighters use wide tires almost universally and save money by doing so, but it seems that farmers do not care to economize in this direction. The condition of our roads costs us more than any other single item of waste in this country, and the common use of wide tires would reduce this waste of energy to a large extent.—American Farmer and Farm News.

Potatoes Instead of Cedar.

The low prices of cedar paving timber and railway ties of late years, says the Manitoulin Guide, is leading some of our well-to-do farmers to considering the above subject with a considerable degree of earnestness, and already some of them are beginning to talk and figure on the probable profits on a ten, fifteen, or twenty acre field of potatoes and report says that one of our old timber buyers is talking up the practicability of making contracts for potatoes in large quantities to be delivered at good shipping places, for which at least twenty-five cents could be paid in cash. This is considered a fair price in the fall of the year in most places. The objection is often raised that a few hundred bushels would stock any market in the district, and so it possibly might, but it takes more than a few hundred bushels to stock Chicago or a dozen other large cities and they could be shipped to at a much lower rate of freight than they can from the east. The trouble is not that there are too many grown, but that there is not enough to pay a boat to call for them; all that is needed is the quantity and we would soon have buyers.

he treat all my little kindnesses so cool, and as if he thought I didn't mean them? And he's done so much for me. Seems as if all at once he's got set against me," Satira was thinking, as she went on adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing, the pain in her tender little heart growing heavier and heavier as the slow minutes ticked away, for it was in vain that Gabriel tried to seem his own natural self, and in order to avoid "making a fool of himself," he assumed a coldness of demeanor that was chilling to her, so that it was with the utmost effort that she kept a steady voice as she went on.

At last the effort became too much for her. "Nine and nine are eighteen and seven are twenty-five, with two to carry," she faltered, and just then a big tear splashed down on the page and she could not see what came next.

Gabrial turned and took her face between his two hands, and for the first time in weeks looked squarely in her eyes, but the long lashes drooped, the blood mounted to her face and two more tears rolled slowly down her cheeks.

"What is it, Satira? Is it anything about Lake? Maybe old Gabe can make it right for you, if it's only a lovers' quarrel."

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individua' delights.

MOLES AND MOLSON ACRUITTED

On the Charge of Murdering James Barret at Duck Lake.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—Maurice Moles and Ch r es Molson, who were charged with murdering James Barrett, a former Torontonian, at Buck Lake, were acquitted on Saturday.

Charles Warner testified that deceased had told him that he was troubled with heart disease. Other witnesses examined brought out the fact that the boat was not seaworthy, and that it was unfit to carry three persons safely.

Mr. Tytler addressed the court for his clients, commenting upon the weakness of the Crown's case and the utter failure to show motive or premeditation. There was a possibility of deceased having received the blow by falling on the boat in jumping out.

Judge Savage's address was entirely in the prisoners' favour, concluding by declaring that he did not consider a case had been made out, and that he, therefore, must discharge the accused. This announcement was received with loud cheers by the excited crowd, and many of those present rushed to the platform to shake hands with the men.

Mr. Wallace has given his friends assurances that he will undoubtedly resign if remedial legislation is introduced by the Government, but it is thought now that he may not wait till then.

A Woman at the Bottom of It.

A woman was in a hurry to board a Wabash avenue cable car. At the same time a one-legged man was in a hurry to leave the car. The woman collided with the man, knocked his crutch from under his arm and he fell upon the pavement. After the woman had made herself secure in the seat of the car she turned and made a profuse apology. The man was in no mood to accept it. He shook his crutch before her and cursed her. The woman's face grew crimson. The conductor enjoyed the occurrence. In doing so he stepped on a man's corn. The man toppled and fell against another man, knocking off the latter's silk hat. In scrambling to catch it he fell off. He raved and swore, and the man who had knocked off the hat, being pugnacious, jumped from the car and there was a fight. The conductor was heard to mutter: "Always a woman."—Chicago Tribune.

The Turtle's Annual Visit.

A land turtle that without fail for twenty-six years has regularly appeared at the home of Michael Mackey, at Parker Ford, Chester County, came to time a few days ago and was being proudly exhibited around Pottstown by Mr. Mackey yesterday. That gentleman asserts that there can be no mistaking his turtle, as the initials of his name are emblazoned on its shell. He says that its training has been so well developed at his home that at the sound of the dinner bell it comes into the dining-room to receive its allotment of food. It stays around the Mackey premises until September, and then goes off to its winter quarters.—

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

An Indiana Man Kills Two of His Relatives and Commits Suicide.

Special to the Times.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Sept. 9.—The most horrible murder and suicide in the history of this county were enacted on Thursday night. James Ward killed Aaron Hunter, his father-in-law, and John Hunter, his brother-in-law. Ward cut off the head of the elder Hunter and split wide open the head of the son. Family differences are supposed to have led to the crime. Thursday night at eleven o'clock Ward and Hunter were in town, and had apparently arrived at a satisfactory understanding. Ward insisted, however, upon the old man going to the woods for the purpose of hunting coons. While the hunt was in progress, and Hunter was sitting on the stump, Ward hit him on the neck with an axe. His head was split wide open. When Hunter fell Ward struck the prostrate body again, and cut off the head. The axe sank into the head. The murderer then proceeded to kick the head off the victim about. He then went home, awoke his wife, and told her to call her brother, as he and the old man had treed a coon, and asked him to come and help to fell the tree. The younger Hunter got up, and went out into the yard with only his shirt on, when Ward, with a stroke of the axe, felled him to the ground. Young Hunter died almost immediately with his head split open.

Before many hours the crime was generally known, and a posse, consisting of miners and farmers, started on the hunt for Ward, armed with various weapons. Just as they had located Ward and surrounded the field in which he was hiding, a single shot was heard. The posse closed in ont whence the firing had come, and found Ward on his back on the ground with a revolver in either hand and a bullet wound under the left eye. He was already dead.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 56 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

In Trouble Abroad.

A despatch from Buffalo states that Mr. Thomas H. Darcey, proprietor of the Empire hotel, Exchange street, in that city, is in trouble. He is charged with violating the internal revenue law, which provide that none but citizens of the United States shall sell liquor. On Friday Mr. Darcey was arrested, charged with the above offence, and held in $300 bail. The Federal officers state that Darcey will have to give up selling liquor or his allegiance to the Queen. The despatch further states that Mr. Darcey has an aversion to becoming a citizen of the United States, and has always been a staunch Canadian. Mr. Darcey is well kdown in Peterborough, having conducted a saloon in the premises now occupied by the Hub Restaurant.

Princess This Week.

The attraction at the Princess Theater this week will be Joe Hart in the musical comedy, "A Gay Old Boy." He is now starring in this dramatic production, and has the support of some clever people. Mr. Hart's quaintness, peculiar gift of humor and infectious smile, are well known to theater goers. He has the opportunity to display all of his qualities in this new piece. It is slightly risque, but the opportunity for comicalities appear to be boundless. The company is strong; it includes the clever soubrette, Carrie De Mar; Will H. Sloan; Flora Irwin, one of the Irwin Sisters; and other equally competent performers. The cosy theater is now without doubt the handsomest and most popular playhouse in Canada. The prices for this engagement are 25, 50, 75, and 1.00. Seats can be secured in advance.

Red River Veterans.

Arrangements have been completed for the reunion and dinner of the veterans of the Red River expedition of 1870. It will take place in Toronto on the evening of Thursday, September 12. A number of the members of the force from all parts of the Province have already signified their intention of being present, and as this is the 25th anniversary it seems particularly appropriate that as many of those who served under Lord Wolseley as possible should come together to renew old friendships and recall old events. There were five residents of this town in the expedition, namely, Messrs. Thomas Robinson, David English, Hon. W. N. Kennedy, William Whitelaw and W. H. Anthony. Of these Mr. Anthony and Mr. Robinson are the only ones alive today. The latter now resides in the States. Mr. Anthony will attend the reunion on the 12th.

His Last Years in Jail.

Poor old Dennis Slattery, who has been confined in the gaol for some time past, as a vagrant, and whose term expired Saturday, applied yesterday morning at the police court to be sent up on the hill again. The unfortunate old man is very feeble and had to be assisted up the narrow stairs to the court room. As he stood before the J. P.'s, Messrs. Adam Hall and R. S. Davidson, he presented a sad spectacle indeed. His snowy-white hair is heavily matted on his head, while his wrinkled face plainly shows the result of being left to the mercies of a cruel world. He is, besides, quite deaf, and it is feared this is the last time the unfortunate man will ask for shelter in the county gaol. The old man will be confined in the county gaol for the winter. When asked if he had friends, Dennis replied he had no one to look to but God and himself.

Sunshine and Shadows.

Harry Lindley's company opened the theatrical season in Peterborough last night to a crowded house. Citizens were well pleased with the fresh appearance and new improvements made in the opera house, and highly delighted with the play and the company. Mr. Lindley is evidently out for the season to please, and he pleased, delighted and entertained last night. A strong company of artists support the comedian this year, and the work they do and are capable of doing, as evidenced last night, is of a high order. In the character of the convict tramp "Jerry," Mr. Lindley gave a capital interpretation of his role, and evoked generous applause whenever he appeared. Ethel Lindley, and Mildred were captivating in their parts. The other members of the company showed up well. In fact there is not a weak member in the aggregation. The play was intensely interesting, full of thrilling situations and replete with humorous incidents. Mr. Lindley, is playing a strong repertoire this season.

THE SMITHS FINED.

The Fight at Springville Cost Them Over $50—Irwin Discharged.

The Springville assault case was heard before County Magistrate Edmison yesterday, and the evidence was of an exceedingly interesting nature. The accused were Thomas Smith and his wife and Thomas Irwin. Reuben Irwin, the man who had the fight with Smith told the following story: "He met Smith at the market arcade on Saturday, 31st Aug. Smith came up and called his wife a —— —— ——. He said to witness you are a —— —— ——, and asked him to go over to Cavanagh's stables and settle it. Witness replied that there were other ways to settle it, and with his wife left to see Mr. Dumble. Mrs. Louden followed him up, and asked witness to not do anything for her sake. Saw nothing of Smith until I went to Post Office after six o'clock. Mr. Smith was there and two little girls. I asked Tom if there was any mail. He replied. "I will give you mail, you —— ——; you and your —— (his wife) tried to have me pulled." Mr. Smith came to the door while he was going out, and Mrs. Smith said, "Tom, give it to the—— ——" I told him I wanted no trouble with him, but only my mail. He got off the platform, saying, "I will give you your mail, you—— ——"

I then ran away. He ran after me and caught me below his lower gate on the road. He said, "pull your coat off" He then grabbed me by the collar and struck me and knocked me on my knees, He then struck me twice and then we clinched and wrestled. Then Mrs. Smith came out with a brick and stone in her hands. My father came to the rescue and caught Mr. Smith by the arm, asking him to cease fighting. Smith had his arm around my neck. We were all on our feet. This was in front of Mr. True's gate. My father was next to Mr. Smith. Mrs. Smith struck my father in the face with a brick and then struck me with a stone, which knocked me on my knees. Then Smith kicked me twice through the gate. When I got to my feet both Smith and his wife were pounding my father with a brick and stone, and Smith was also kicking him. Mrs. Smith said "Tom, kill the old—— ——. Kill him—the old—— ——" My wife came across the road and took me by the arm to take me home. I was pretty sore and weak. The shirt was torn off me.

The shirt was clean and sound at the time. Both Smith and the wife tore it off. Before my wife came Smith and wife were pounding my father. Smith at this juncture came over and struck my wife and then jumped on to me. We both clinched and fell to the ground. We both regained our feet and had a slight tussle. Smith said to his wife, "Go into the house Annie." I then got away and went into my yard. She replied, "I will kill that old —— —— ——," and she made a run for my father. My father and I were both at our home. There was nothing more outside of the threats made. Smith said to my father, "I just want two minutes more with you, you old —— —— ——." He kept this up for an hour and a half. My father got a gun and threatened to kill Smith if he came any further. I took the gun from my father. At this juncture the witness stepped down.

Other witnesses were called. The Crown was represented by Messrs. R. E. Wood and R. M. Dennistoun, and Mr. E. B Stone defended the Smiths.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the magistrate imposed a fine of $20 and costs on Smith, and $10 and costs on Mrs. Smith, amounting in all to over $50.

The charge against Irwin was dismissed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From George Brown applying for position of street and bridge inspector. Referred to Committee on Appointments.

From a number of petitioners asking for a hydrant at the corner of Lock and Main streets. Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From the county treasurer regarding calling a meeting of the Joint Committees to take action on the repainting of the Lock's bridge. Joint Committee.

From Engineer Belcher re drains. Street and Bridge Committee.

From H. S. Woodgate calling attention to the insecure condition of the sidewalk leading from George street to the G. T. R. track at the foot of the Barnardo Home grounds. Street and Bridge Committee.

From Dumble and Johnston, acting for the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario, addressed to the Peterborough Carbon and Porcelain Company, formerly called The Brooks Manufacturing Co., of Peterborough, and to the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough, demanding payment of the sum of $10,078.55, and interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the 15th day of August, 1895, due upon a mortgage jointly executed by the Porcelain Company and the Town in February, 1890. This mortgage was registered in April of 1890, for the town for securing the payment of $18,000. Payment is demanded within 10 days of serving of notice. This is simply a notice that the Central Loan Company will foreclose a mortgage on the Porcelain Company, in which the town is interested to the extent of $4,000. Referred to town solicitor.

From Mrs. Thomas Dolan asking for remittance of excess of taxes. Court of Revision.

From John Riddell, Bensfort, Chairman of Commissioners, as follows: "The payments to contractor of the Bensfort street bridge over the Otonabee river are maturing rapidly. Already over $2,000 has been paid and further payments are due in the near future. We would therefore ask your honorable body to arrange the town grant that it may be available for some of these payments. By so doing you would greatly assist the bridge commissioners."

Councillor Cahill moved that a cheque for $500 be paid on the grant. The mayor thought the town should wait until the Government had paid something on their grants. The matter was discussed and it was decided to defer payment of any part of the grant until the bridge was nearer completion.

SEWERAGE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Sewerage Committee beg leave to report that they advertised for tenders, as instructed, for the completion of the outfall sewer to Townsend street. Two different tenders were asked for: One for the sewer to be constructed of brick to Rink street and of 20 inch pipe from Rink to Townsend; and the other for a sewer to be constructed the whole distance of 20 inch pipe. The tenders received for the brick and pipe sewer were as follows:

William Jones } with 1½ inch pipe	$2,974 00
" 2½ " "	3,274 00
Robert Grant	3,275 00
T. Rutherford & Jas. Bogue	3,280 00
W. L. Innis	4,059 50

For the all pipe sewer the tenders were:

Robert Grant	$1,835 00
William Jones } with 1½ inch pipe	2,199 00
" 2½ " "	2,490 00
W. L. Innis	2,359 50
Rutherford & Bogue	3,427 00

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

Councillor Best moved the report be received.

Councillor Dawson moved in amendment that the report be received and the contract awarded to Rutherford and Bogue.

This evoked considerable discussion.

Councillor Cahill said it was never the intention of the council to build the sewer of brick further than Rink street. He seconded Councillor Dawson's amendment. He didn't think it feasible to give Mr. Grant the contract, for although he had nothing but the highest words to say of Mr. Grant's work, yet he thought the contract should be given to the home contractor, in order that all town labor could be employed.

Councillor Stone endorsed Councillor Cahill's words. The point was, if local men could do the work as well as outsiders they should be given the contract. He thought Messrs. Rutherford and Bogue could do the work as well as anybody.

Councillor Denne thought the important point was whether the sewer from the bridge should be of pipe or brick. He favored brick to the bridge, and this he was concurred in by Councillors Mills, Phalen and Mason. The extra cost of brick over pipe would only be $339.

Councillor Best favored Contractor Grant's claim for the balance of the work. He had tendered nearly $7000 lower than local contractors for his present contract and had stood by his contract like a man although beset by difficulties and setbacks.

Councillor Dawson said he hadn't one word against Contractor Grant on his work. But he thought local contractors could do the work just as well.

A sharp passage of words then ensued between the speaker and Councillor Best.

Councillor Cahill said it was not unfair to Contractor Grant to award the balance of the contract to local men. Mr. Grant had no stauncher friends on the council than Mr. Dawson and himself.

The mayor said Mr. Grant had done his work well and acted like a man, and he was sure that it was not the council's intention to treat him unfairly.

Councillor Mason's amendment that the report be referred back to the committee to advertise for tenders for an all brick sewer, was then put to a vote and was lost by 6 votes to 3.

Contractor Bogue, who was present agreed to build all brick to Townsend, pro rata. Contractor Grant said he would do the same.

Councillor Denne and Mason then moved that the report be amended changing tile to brick. It was lost.

Councillor Dawson's and Councillor Cahill's motion that the contract be let to Messrs. Rutherford and Bogue was carried by 6 votes to 0.

Mr. Dawson moved the insertion of the 9 hour a day clause in the contract. Carried.

Councillor Dawson moved the second and third reading of a by-law exempting from taxation the plant of Messrs. Meldrum's and McAllister's oat meal mill. The by-law was carried.

Councillor Best moved that the cheques of the contractors whose tenders had not been accepted, be returned. Carried.

On motion of Councillor Denne, the petition in regard to the Gilmour street drain was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee and the deputation in connection therewith, will be invited to be present.

Market Gardner Saunders complained that people were allowed to peddle around town without a license, while he had been forced to pay a license of $30. He demanded protection. The matter was referred to the License Committee.

THAT $5,000 ITEM.

Councillor Best arose and asked for information. It had been stated by an ex-councillor at the last council meeting that the sum of $5,000 which had been offered the town by the town commissioners, had been paid over to the town. He wanted to know if this was true, and if so, what had become of the $5,000.

Mr. W. H. Moore, one of the commissioners, replied that the money had never been paid over to the town. It had been paid to the commissioners by the G.T.R., and he believed had been exhausted in the municipal road debt.

THE LOAN OF $15,000.

Councillor Cahill made an explanation in regard to the $15,000, which the town had borrowed from the trustees of Mrs. Nicholls' estate. The trustees were anxious to invest this money in town debentures and the town borrowed the sum until such time as debentures matured. In the meanwhile the town paid interest to the trustees instead of to the bank, and the interest on $10,000 of the amount would go to the Mechanics Institute, and the interest on the remaining $5,000 would be used in maintaining and improving the parks.

The Council adjourned at 10.30.

A Metal Breadboard.

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

VALKYRIE VICTOR!

The British Yacht Wins the Second Race by Two Minutes.

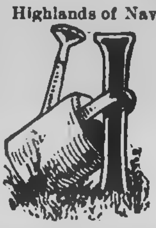
IS WAS A FAST RACE.

VALKYRIE GOT THE LEAD AND KEPT AHEAD OF THE DEFENDER ALL THE WAY—THE RACE FINISHED IN FOUR HOURS.

(Special to the Times.)

3 P.M.—Valkyrie wins by two minutes.

Highlands of Navesink, N.J., Sept. 10.



It was real Valkyrie weather that prevailed off the Hook this morning. A smooth sea and a light air, a few stray yachts, fishermen and small coasting craft were to be seen at anchor inside Sandy Hook, but the contestants for the America's cup, the British challenger, and the American champion, Valkyrie III. and Defender were absent from their usual moorings, having passed the night almost within biscuit-toss of each other, off the Atlantic Yacht Club's anchorage at Bay Ridge. The Britishers, not much discouraged by the defeat which their yacht met with Saturday last, had shifted some of her ballast from aft forward, at the suggestion of George L. Watson, her designer, have had her remeasured, and have given her a good trial spin since the last heat of the battle for the cup. Therefore they confidentally expected her to show up in better form today.

SANDY HOOK, Sept. 10, 11.15 a.m.,—The yachts got away with the Valkyrie in the lead. The boats have been recalled. Valkyrie crossed the line but Defender before crossing carried away her topmast.

Valkyrie crossed the line at 11.13. Defender at 11,15.

Highlands off Navesink,—Both yachts are now on starboard tack. They are carrying mainsails, staysails, jibs and No. 2 jib top sails.

Highlands off Navesink 11.40.—Both yachts are holding in shore on the port tack and Defender has just broken out her large jib top sail. The crew is having it set well and is now being hauled down again.

Highlands off Navesink, 11.49.—Both yachts are now but two miles from this point, directly east and headed about south west. Defender is sailing closer to the wind than Valkyrie.

Highlands off Navesink, 11.55.—Defender seems to have dropped back a little in the last 10 ten minutes but is still continuing to point higher than Valkyrie.

12. noon.—Valkyrie is leading.

Highlands off Navesink, 12.10.—Valkyrie has a lead of about ⅜ miles.

Highlands off Navesink, 12.22.—Valkyrie it seems from here has a lead of ½ a mile on Defender.

Highlands of Navesink, 12.30.—Valkyrie has just come about in the starboard tack and Defender immediately followed directly in her wake. She was walking by Valkyrie just before both boats tacked. Defender is now only a quarter of a mile behind. She is directly in line with Valkyrie and closing up to the gap and going through the water in great style.

Long Branch, 1.07.—The yachts have rounded the stake boat, Valkyrie went around at 12.57; 20 and Defender at 1.00; 30. Highlands of Navesink 10.

According to the times taken here Valkyrie rounded the first mark at 12.56; 15 and Defender at 1.02; 05.

Long Branch, 1.20.—The yachts cannot now be seen from here having disappeared in the smoke and mist.

Highlands off Navesink, 1.35.—As far as can be seen here both are now running down before the wind for the second mark.

The wind hs freshened recently and the American yacht has sailed a beautiful fast race during the last ten minutes.

Highlands off Navesink, 1.44.—The fog which obscured the racers has just shifted a little enabling the watchers here to see the two yachts reaching down to the second mark at a lovely rate and with baloon jib set. It is impossible to distinguish between them at this distance but it is believed that Valkyrie is slightly ahead; a nice wholesale breeze is blowing.

Off Sandy Hook, 2.08.—Both boats are visible, running for the second mark. But they are not plain enough in view to enable the watchers here to identify them.

Highlands off Navesink, 2.16. — The yachts are in sight, one of the yachts has a lead of over a mile, and it looks like Valkyrie.

Highlands off Navesink, 2.20.—The excursion fleet is heading for the lightship which seems to show that the yachts have rounded the second mark.

Farrockaway, 2 22.—From the peak of her main sail just seen above the mist it is believed here that the leading boat is Defender, but it is impossible to decide one from the other.

Highlands off Navesink, 2.30. — Both boats can now be seen from here and there seems to be no doubt that Valkyrie is leading by a short mile.

Highlands off Navesink, 2.34.—The excursion fleet has gathered around the lightship, and Valkyrie is expected to finish a winner before 3 o'clock.

Highlands just off Navesink, 2.35.—Valkyrie does not seem to increase lead over Defender. And the excursion fleet is keeping back so as to give the American yacht a chance.

S S Mackay Bennett, off Sandy Hook, 2.36.—The yachts are very close together, but Valkyrie is ahead. The Luckenbach has taken up her position at the finish line.

S S Mackay Bennett, 2.37.—Defender is pushing Valkyrie hard and it is believed here that the American yacht may win on time allowance.

Highlands off Navesink, 2,48.—It is estimated that the yachts have about two more miles to sail in order to cross the finish line. Although Valkyrie is ahead Defender is lying wheel down on her work and is giving the Britisher a hot race to the finish line.

Highlands off Navesink, 2.35.—Valkyrie does not seem to increase lead over Defender, and the excursion fleet is keeping back so as to give the American yact a chance.

S. S. Mackay-Bennett, off Sandy Hook, 2.36.—The yachts are very close together, but Valkyrie is ahead. The Luckenbach has taken up her position at the finish line.

S. S. Mackay-Bennet, 2.37.—Defender is pushing Valkyrie hard and it is believed here that the American yacht may win on time allowance.

Highlands off Navesink, 2.48.—It is estimated that the yachts have got about two more miles to sail in order to cross the finish line. Although the Valkyrie is ahead Defender is lying wheel down on her work and is giving the Britisher a hot race to the finish line.

Highlands off Navesink.—Valkyrie was given an ovation by the assembled fleet of excursiod boats and yachts when she crossed the line.

Highlands off Navesink.—By careful figuring on basis of official times Valkyrie wins by 40 seconds corrected time.

Steamer Mackay Bennet.—Valkyrie wins under protest.

Valkyrie wins, 2.55-40.
Defender, 2.57-30.

ABOUT THAT PROTEST.

Highlands of Navesink.—Shortly after the start Defender hoisted a protest flag and the protest was allowed, it being believed here that Valkyrie fouled Defender during the luffing matches. The true story of the protest is as follows: When the boats got together a quarter of a mile from the start the Englishmen, in an endeavor to blanket the American boat, bore down upon her and carried away one of her shrouds. This was within a half minute of the line, and the English boat kept on over-cruising ahead of Defender. The latter eased up a bit to see if her topmast was hurt. It was noticeably sprung and the protest flag was hoisted on Defender. The committee boat saw at once and raised the flag, demonstrating that she would recognize it. Defender then went on, following in the wake of the Britisher.

The wind at the time of turning the first stakeboat was increasing in strength and blew at the rate of from 12 to 15 miles an hour, kicking up little white caps between here and the first mark, so that the yachts seemed likely to have a good breeze with which to sail the second leg, over which they should make a good time, and if the wind holds out it appeared as if they would finish before 3 o'clock.

A SCENE OF WILD DESPAIR

WOMEN AND CHILDREN WEEPING OVER A LIVING GRAVE.

Fathers and Husbands Entombed—Further Details of the Osceola Mine Disaster—The Doomed Men.

Special to the Times.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Sept. 10. — Twenty women are widows and fifty children are fatherless by the disaster in the Osceola mine. Most pitiful scenes are being hourly witnessed in the vicinity of the shafts that have not yet been sealed, bereaved women and children clinging to the spot in the desperate hope that some loved one may be brought from the opening, notwithstanding every effort that could be thought of even to the hazard of more lives, was made to save

THE DOOMED MEN.

There were many today who censured Superintendent Parnell, who has general control of the Clark-Bigelow mines, because he ordered No. 3 shaft in which the fire started to be hermetically sealed. Finally he felt compelled to make a statement and he accordingly addressed a large gathering and explained that leaving the shaft open would only give the fire more headway without any way benefiting the imprisoned men. It was thought that the plan of leaving Nos. 1, 3 and 5 shafts closed, with 2 and 4 open would create a draught, towards No. 2 shaft and clear No. 4 of some of it. Orders were given to that effect and every shaft was ordered closed up to remain so for 24 hours. The reason why the lost men paid so little attention when warned of the fire was the fact that so small a quantity of timber was used in the mine and it was thought to be one of the safest in the mining district, M. Johnson lost his life by going down into the mine after Edwards whom he supposed to be in the vicinity of the fire. In fact the fire was discovered by Edward and he went to the surface to get hose to extinguish the flames. The actual damage to the mine cannot be heavy if the fire is smothered before it reaches the other shafts.

THAT'S NOT THE CHEESE.

Mr. Lowe Protests Against the Report that the Article is Adulterated.

Special to The Times

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Deputy Minister of Agriculture Lowe when shown the cable dispatch regarding the alleged adulteration of Canadian cheese with oleomargarine was very indignant at the report which he characterized as the "last resort of the enemy."

He termed the story a falsehood from start to finish.

Today he received a cablegram from the High Commissioner advising immediate action on the part of the Dominion Government as an efficacious plan to discredit the statement.

A Terrible Situation.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 10.—A cablegram from Key West says: Private advices received in this city from Cuba state that the situation in the province of Santa Clara is terrible. Provisions are scarce and the women and children are dying of starvation. Most of the men have joined the insurgents. A band of Cubans, commanded by Bernaue Ferdinandes attacked a company of troops commanded by a sergeant at the sugar station, San Rafael, near Remedios, on Aug. 29, killing the sergt. and nine soldiers, and capturing all their arms and ammunition. A convoy composed of three steamboats commanded by Gen. Cassio that left Manzanillo on Aug. 8 was attacked by the Cubans near El Muerto on the Con River. The rebels killed two engineers, several firemen and an officer, and sunk two schooners. On Aug. 31 the insurgents attacked the town of Campichuela in Santiago de Cuba. After fighting an hour the Cubans commenced to retreat and the troops followed. The insurgents turned on them killing 48. Roloff and his band have been blowing up the railroad bridges near Manaccas between Jaguay and Vegas de Palmas

HER MURDERED BOY.

Mrs. Pietzel at Indianapolis—She Will Examine the Remains of Howard.

Special to the Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—Mrs. C. A. Pietzel has arrived here from Galva, Ill. She will look over all the remains of her boy Howard, and see if there is anything she can identify, and will testify before the coroner's jury. The loss of her husband and three children has told on the woman. She appears to have not long to live. She was in need of medical attention when she arrived.

Grant Cook, a railroad man, yesterday identified the stove in which Howard Pietzel was burned at Irving. He had put it on his train one day last fall at the C. H. and I. platform in the suburbs. He remarked at the time to his associate that it was queer than anyone should want a big stove like that in Irving, where they used natural gas.

Dr. Wright, an East Washington street druggist, was before the grand jury yesterday. Dr. Wright testified that Holmes came into his drug store one day last fall and bought prussic acid and chloroform. With him was the black whiskered man known as Hatch. Dr. Wright identified the picture of Holmes. Holmes will be indicted here.

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—Robert Spilsburg, an iron worker, employed by the St. Lawrence Foundry Company, was sitting on the balcony of a fire escape in process of erection in rear of the R. H. Gray & Co. building, 24 26 Wellington street west, this morning, when the bottom gave way and he and it fell with a crash about thirty feet. He was caught by a similar balcony two stories below and saved thereby from a further fall of twenty feet. The ambulance took him to his home at 514 Front street east, where an examination by medical men showed that in addition to numerous bruises and minor injuries, his left leg and arm had been badly fractured.

The ministers blame the newspapers for printing reports of crime. But here comes Dr. Forbes Winslow, the insanity expert, saying the pulpit references to homicide lead to other murders. Perhaps it is the competition of the sensational newspaper which the sensational preacher fears.

Dr. Eitel, inspector of schools at Hong Kong, says that the best educational theories of Europe, based as they are on observations of Western children, are inapplicable to Chinese children, whose minds and environments are essentially different. In Hong Kong Chinese scholars spend from four to seven years in studying English without learning the language.

Some boys can be relied on to get what they are sent to "the store" to get. Twenty years ago Charles H. Wright, then a boy, was sent by his mother to the village store to Fox Lake, Wisconsin, to buy a clothesline, says the Indianapolis Sentinel. He failed to return until several days ago, when he appeared with the clothesline—also with a wife and four children.

The Buddhists are very devout people. If Christians would only take as much interest in their worship and the welfare of their church as do these poor heathens, what a glorious world this would be. Converting one of these Buddhists to Christianity is like bringing a lost soul back into the house of God. They make even better Christians than those who have had the opportunities and advantages of a Christian training.—The Rev T. J. Stanley, Presbyterian Missionary, Philadelphia, Pa.

Cyrus Teed, who claims to be a second Messiah, and teaches that the earth is flat, is busy developing the plans for the "New Jerusalem" of his sect, which is to be built in Louisiana. In describing this city, he says: "The streets will be 400 feet wide, beautiful streets. We will build the city in stories or tiers. one stier or story will be for pedestrians, one for light traffic, another for railroads, etc. We are going to have a great big city of eight or ten million people, and in it we will gather at least four million Ethiopians of the South.'

Dr. Parkin, the newly-elected Principal of Upper Canada College, and well-known the world over as a writer on Imperial Federation, at a dinner given in his honor the other evening in Toronto, said that to be called back to his own country to "this post of enormous responsibility" was the greatest honor a man could have conferred upon him. Although he had had attractive positions offered to him, he felt thar there was no position to which he could be called which he would regard as a more satisfactory outcome of the life he had led than the call to "this task of building up college, this call to the cure of souls, to the place where our men are manufactured," Great things may be expected of an educationist who approaches his work in this spirit."

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well"

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

STRAWBERRIES ON THE TABLE.

Attractive Ways of Serving This Delicious Fruit.

The strawberry season is hailed with delight by every good housewife—not so much, perhaps, because of the edible properties of the luscious berries themselves as for the artistic results that may be produced in beautifying a table with them, and thus gratifying the sense of sight as well as of appetite.

A cluster of ripe, red strawberries and their leaves, tied together with a tiny bow of green or scarlet ribbon, is an offering that will appeal to the esthetic sense. When served in this way they should be presented to each person on a glass plate or wooden tray, accompanied by a tiny bowl of pulverized sugar.

Another attractive way of serving them is in small bowls of cracked ice, from which they may be taken by the stems and eaten with powdered sugar.

Equally pleasing are they when strung upon straws—the old-time method of offering them for sale, and from which have originated their name, "strawberries."

When served with cream they should be capped and picked over very carefully, then set on ice for at least an hour before serving. Do not sweeten them until after they are sent to the table, as the sugar "cooks" the berries, besides impairing their flavor if allowed to stand on the fruit for any length of time. To be particularly delicious the cream should be thoroughly chilled and whipped until light and frothy.

Red strawberries heaped upon grape leaves laid on white china plates make a very effective color harmony, as do also raspberries when served in the same manner.

A pretty dish of cracked ice filled with luscious crimson strawberries makes a lovely ornament for the table, and also renders the berries deliciously cold and refreshing.

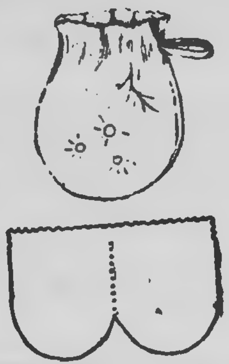
If especially large and fine, the strawberries are often left uncapped and served simply in small glass dishes, one for each guest. Each dish is placed on a table together with two tiny bowls containing sugar and cream and then into the sugar before being eaten.

A low white basket filled with a tempting display of leaves and clusters of ripe red strawberries makes a charming ornament for the centre of a table—one, too, that can be very quickly arranged.

A more elaborate centrepiece for a dinner or luncheon may be made by bordering a table mirror with a conventional band of berries and leaves; the leaves and fruit dooping gracefully over the edges and being reflected in the mirror's surface.

Watch Protector.

Here we have a skecth of a chamois watch protector with a diagram of the pattern by which it is shaped. It is used to protect a patch from scratches and dust when it is not worn, but, if for a woman, it might be utilized as a pocket inside the dress waist, the loop—slipped over a button—holding it in place. It should be just large enough to fit the watch and be gathered up at the top like a bag.



WATCH PROTECTOR.

The chamois is folded at the dotted line, and the curved edges are overhanded together with silk; then the bag is turned. A little loop of silk ribbon elastic is sewed over the edge of the seam, close to the notched opening; it is designed to slip over the gathered up mouth of the bag when the watch is in the pocket.

The decorative design, just a few lines suggestive of daisies with long stems, is in liquid gold applied with a fine-pointed brush, but it might be sketched with pen and ink or with water colors, or the word "Watch" or a name or initials, might be marked upon it.

Thought for the Little Ones.

Tiny toddling children, who need continual care, should have chairs and hassocks provided for them low enough for their feet to rest on the ground while sitting. It is injurious to their health, and very uncomfortable, for children to sit with dangling feet on high school benches. There should also be a low table provided for the little ones on which they can rest their playthings and picture books when they are old enough to take an interest in such matters. Neither a high table or floor is a suitable place for such things. A table, the legs of which may be folded up when not in use, may be purchased as low as $1. In case it should be too high for small children any carpentér of ordinary skill can shorten the legs to the proper height.

Tomato Fritters.

The ripe tomatoes are too expensive for most housekeepers in June, but the canned tomatoes will answer as well for these fritters, which are delicious. Cook together half a can of tomatoes, half a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of pepper and half a teaspoonful of sugar. After cooking ten minutes, stir into it a tablespoonful of flour and one of butter that have been previously blended. Cook three minutes longer and rub through a strainer. Spread on a platter four slices of stale bread, and pour the strained tomato over them. Let this stand for half an hour, then turn the slices. Beat one egg, and dip the toast first in the egg then in bread crumbs. After that put them into the frying-basket and cook in boiling fat two minutes. Drain well and serve hot.

Corn Remedies.

Most soft corns have in the middle a core which resembles a stiff, coarse hair. Soak the foot half an hour in water as hot as you can bear it, adding hot water from time to time as it cools. Then with a penknife having a long slim point, but not too sharp, work around that centre, hair-like core, loosening it down as deep as you can, after which, with a pair of fine tweezers, pull the hair out. Do not cut the corn off, but apply some soft ointment or salve, such as simple cerate, vaseline or mutton tallow, renewing the same every day for four or five days, being careful to relieve all pressure from the corn.

Wear a piece of cotton batting between the toes and wear the boots a half size larger.

TORTURED BY BURGLARS.

John Bullock Compelled to Tell Where His Money was Hidden.

Special to the Times.

PARKHILL, Ont., Sept. 9.—Last night about 1 o'clock, three men, two of whom were small, and all of them young, went to the house of John Bullock, about four miles from here on the town line, where Mr. Bullock and his aged mother live. They tied Mrs. Bullock, who was sleeping down stairs. She yelled to her son who was upstairs, but two of the burglars went up and bound Mr. Bullock before he was able to defend himself. They then demanded money and took matches and burned the soles of his feet until he told them where what money he had was. The robbers secured about $35 and his watch. Then they went to the stable and took a horse and buggy and left. Mrs. Bullock, after a great deal of difficulty loosened the rope which bound her and went to the house of Mr. Ellis, who is a near neighbor and informed him of what had happened. Mr. Ellis went over and loosened the rope which bound Mr. Bullock and found the burglars had completely ransacked the house.

The burglars were traced for about four miles east, where they were lost track of. There is no trace of either horse or burglars yet.

QUARTERS AT BISLEY,

For the Canadian Team—The D.R.A. to Make a Move in the Matter.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—It is learned that the Dominion Rifle Association will take a vigorous hold of the proposal to establish permanent quarters for the Canadian Rifle team at Bisley in accordance with the strong representations by Major Ibbotson. A novel feature in this connection is that the structure will be built in this country of Canadian materials by Canadian workmen. As an advertisement of the Dominion, it cannot fail to increase the good impression made by Canadian volunteers.

The residence will be completed ready to put up, and sent over in charge of those who are familiar with its construction.

Lieut. Col. Mackinnon, secretary of the National Rifle Association is to be written to for particulars as to site, terms, etc., and the whole scheme will be submitted to the general meeting of the association.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

WAS AN EYE WITNESS.

STORY OF A CLERGYMAN WHO SAW THE MASSACRE.

Rev. Mr. Phillips Saw the Massacre at Ku Cheng and Tells of the Bloody Murder Wrought—No Mercy Shown by the Chinese.

Special to The Times

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 9.

PRIVATE letters from Shanghai announce that the commission appointed by the British and American Governments to investigate the Ku Cheng massacre of August 1, reached Ku Chengon August 17, without a shadow of molestation from the barbarous hordes alleged by the Chinese officials to have established a reign of terror throughout the province. The commission had an escort of but 100 of the viceroy's ill armed and poorly disciplined soldiers, a circumstance which supports but feebly the Chinese contention that the massacre was entirely beyond official prevention, owing to the country being in revolt.

WHAT REV. MR. PHILLIPS SAW.

The commission had, at last advices, received the statements of three witnesses, Dr. Gregory, of the American mission at Foo Chow, Rev. H. E. Phillips, and Miss Hartman, of Ku Cheng, the latter two having been eye witnesses of the fearful scenes of August 1. Rev. Mr. Phillips tells how he was awakened at six o'clock in the morning by shouting in the direction of the Steward's house. He at first thought it was children playing, but soon recognizing the voices of excited men, he dressed hastily and went over.

"I was met a few yards from my dwelling," he said, "by a native friend who, while throwing his arms around me to detain me, told me the vegetarians had come. I shook him off and went on and soon came in sight of the house from which forty or fifty bandits were carrying loads of plunder, their leader holding aloft a small red flag. I could see nothing of our Europeans, and as I was in full view of the rioters I crept up hill in the brushwood and concealed myself behid two trees, from 20 to 30 yards from the house. There I could see everything that could be seen. As I could see no foreigners I concluded they had escaped, and as to go down was certain death I thought it best to await where I was.

ALL THE FOREIGNERS KILLED.

"After a minute or two the retreat horn sounded and the vegetarians began to leave, first, however, setting fire to the houses. Ten minutes after this every vegetarian had gone. I came down and looked about the front of the house, but could see nothing of anyone. I feared something dreadful had happened, as I heard the vegetarians as they left say: 'Now all the foreigners are killed.' I just then met one of the servants, who told me the Chinese were in the house in which Miss Hartman of the American mission, was staying. I found Mr. Hartman's daughter, Mildred, with a serious wound in one knee and another severe cut. When I had washed those I turned to Mr. Stewart's son, who was fearfully hacked and cut everywhere. Then Miss Codrington sent me a message that she, too, was in that house. I found her in a fearful condition, but with cold water and rags we managed to staunch the bleeding. She begged me not to wait as she thought Topsy Saunders was still alive.

HER HEAD ALMOST SEVERED.

"I then rushed to the back the house and found the bodies of Miss Saunders, Miss Steward, Miss Gordon and Miss Marshall. The latter was awfully cut, her head being almost severed, but beyond the wounds given in the struggle the body was not mutilated. Later I found Miss Coombes' body at the foot of the hill in the front of the house, where it had been thrown. As then I could see no signs of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Miss Saunders and Lena, the nurse, we hoped they had escaped, and I returned to the house where the Steward children and Miss Codrington were. Presently Miss Hartman arrived. She had received a cut under one ear but had been saved from death by a native christian. I learned later that the five ladies of the Zenana Mission Society—they live in two houses which form the Ku Cheng sanitarium—made a futile attempt to escape, got out of the back end, but were immediately surrounded. Some of the vegetarians were inclined to spare them, but were ordered by their leader to carry out their orders, "Kill and spare not."

THEY'RE NOT GUILTY.

Moles and Molson did not kill James Barrett, at Buck Lake.

Special to the Times.

NOVAR, Ont., Sept. 9.—The case against Maurice Moles and Chas. Molson, charged with murdering James Barrett, at Buck Lake, was concluded before Justice Savage Saturday.

Chas. Warner testified that deceased had told him about a year ago that he was troubled with heart disease. The fact that the boat was not seaworthy, and that it was unfit to carry three persons safely was also strongly brought out.

The magistrate did not consider the evidence strong and the prisoners were discharged.

SUMMER DRAPERIES.

DAINTY AND ARTISTIC MATERIALS FOR WINDOW CURTAINS.

Cheesecloth in Its Finer Qualities Makes a Beautiful Summer Drapery—Madagascar Grasscloth is Very Suitable for Outside.

Dotted Swiss never loses its popularity for window draperies, and there is nothing in the whole range of curtain materials which one can so safely select if in doubt, being suited alike to the cottage and the more pretentious dwelling, and if neatly made and properly hung, is always dainty and artistic. The valance is a form of window drapery especially suited to such soft material, and many handsome houses have all the sash curtains made in this way. Its depth depends upon the height of the window, certain proportions needing to be observed in order to get a good effect.

A new method of draping white curtains is odd and well suited to the windows of a summer parlor, as, being well apart, they admit plenty of light and air. Each curtain is hung so that it covers fully two-thirds of the window—that is, the two cross each other at the top instead of meeting in the centre after the customary fashion. They are then drawn back at the very top of the upper sash, and are secured with bands and bows of satin ribbon or with ruffled bands of the goods as preferred. From the point of draping they hang perfectly straight, and for this reason would look well in a high, double window.

Cheesecloth in its finer qualities is a thoroughly artistic material for summer draperies, especially if edged with ruffles of the same, and these are greatly improved in appearance by being twisted in the hands before being sewed on, to give a soft effect. A pair in pale yellow may be hung in the following novel way: The top of each curtain is turned over to a depth of one yard, and the valance thus formed is gathered up in folds at the outside corner to give a pointed effect. Both the valance and the curtains edge with three inch ruffles of the same material. By inserting a strip of pink or yellow or green cambric between the hems of white cheesecloth curtains a very pleasing effect may be secured. The color is very much toned down, of course, and it should correspond in every case with the other furnishings of the room.

Years ago, when curtain materials were not so beautiful and inexpensive as now, a friend of the writer wished to get something in blue and white for a blue room, and not succeeding, she bought some ordinary white cheesecloth, marked it at wide intervals with a pattern of circles, and worked these with pale blue crewel, using a simple darning stitch which went very rapidly. A deep valance had a border of double circles done in the same way, and the curtains, when hung, were the feature of the room. They bore several washings and are still in existence as sash curtains in an upper bedroom.

The windows of a blue and white room may be charmingly draped with the Japanese crepe known as Chijimi cloth. It is very desirable for the purpose as it launders well and will bear considerable sun without fading appreciably. A simple hem or white ball-and-tassel fringe may trim these at the edges.

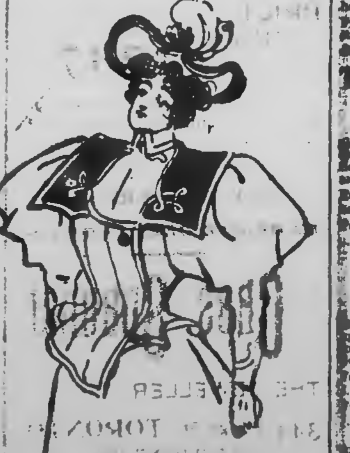
Madagascar grasscloth is a very suitable material for outside window draperies or summer portieres as the dust does not cling to it, and it is also much used for sofa-pillows and chair cushions, imparting a sense of coolness which is most agreeable in summer. Indeed, wherever it is possible the heavy rugs and draperies in use in winter should be replaced by stuffs and furnishings as distinctively summer-like as possible, not only comfort but health itself being often dependent upon such a radical change.

OUTDOOR MATERIALS.

Duck, Linen and Grasscloth the Favorites for Warm Days.

Outdoor gowns are the most important garments in a woman's wardrobe at this season of the year. These are being made up and sold in great numbers at the large stores, to women whose figures are sufficiently near the standard to wear a ready-made dress.

These dresses are of duck, cotton bedford and grasscloth, besides numerous Galateas, linens and percales. The ducks and cotton bedfords are the most common. These are made as they were last year with jackets and skirts and a front of some other material. Less severity is shown in the style than prevailed last season. The white ducks have fronts of [illegible] over [illegible] and many of them [illegible] tions of embroidery on each side of the jacket down the edge.



BROWN GALATEA.

Colored ducks are more numerous than ever, and will be the boon of those who want to dress cool this summer.

Grasscloth is a very fashionable material, but it is also very expensive. I pointed to an innocent-looking, linen-colored gown exhibited at a large store the other day, and asked the price. It was $[illegible], and the material was grasscloth.

The gown shown here is in two shades of Galatea, the darker forming the panel on the skirt and the facing on the collar and [illegible] revers [illegible] waist. The revers and skirt are trimmed with white braid set on in "frog" patterns. The jacket fastens with one large button.

One of the best things Frances Willard ever said was, "If I were asked the mission of the ideal woman I would reply, it is to make the whole world homelike."

Bird Foods Explained . . .

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture, is clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth of food value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

OPPOSED TO BLOOMERS.

Mississippi Valley Doctors Say They Are Outrageous.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 10.—In the closing hours of the Mississippi Valley Doctors' Convention the section in general medicine discussed the mooted question of the effect of bicycling. The exercise was indorsed as a health promoter for both sexes and even recommended for certain ailments, but the wearing of bloomers by feminine bicyclists was put down as something outrageous.

Several physicians talked upon the subject and all agreed that temperate use of the bicycle is beneficial. Leggins and plaited skirts were recommended for women riders, but bloomers were unanimously declared to be an abomination and the cause of lowering their wearers in the eyes of spectators. After some further discussion of technical interests, both sections adjourned sine die.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 10.—An edict recently issued by the Chicago Telephone Company has been a conspicuous bulletin at headquarters, where 200 girls are employed, and bears the official signature of the general manager. It reads: "Operators will not be permitted to report at the building at any hour of the day or night in bicycle costume or to assume them before departure for home."

The edict is due to the fact that seven of the young women have been wearing bloomers while riding to and from their work.

TERRORISM IN ARMENIA.

A Harrowing Picture of the Outrages by the Turks.

Special to The Times.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 10.—Pending negotiations will probably result in a few days in an advance of the rates of the trans Atlantic steamship companies. The companies have, however, arranged nothing definite yet.

A CASE OF VINDICTIVENESS.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The young man arrested in the Rothschilds' bank with a bomb in his possession proves to be a dismissed employee to the North France Ry. Co., of which M. Rothschild is chairman. TROOPS FOR CUBA.

HAVANA, Sept., 10.—The steamers Buenos Ayres, Montevideo and Isla de Luzon arrived this afternoon with 4,700 troops. Five other steamers landed 8,400 troops on Friday and Saturday at Santiago, Cienfuegos and Ceibarine. The soldiers were given an enthusiastic reception at every place.

COLLISION: THE INJURED.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Two railway trains collided to-night in a tunnel near the St. Lazara station and twenty-five persons were injured.

RENEWED OUTRAGES.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Daily News will tomorrow publish a dispatch from Carris stating that fresh outrages have been perpetrated in the Erzinziian district. A band of brigands attacked on August 12th a company of Turkish gendarmes killing a sergeant. Therefore the Turkish authorities without making any enquiries decided that the assailants were the American revolutionaries from Kembeth who intended to release exulted Americans who are still in prison at Carris. A force of 1,000 Turkish troops was sent to Kembeth and five villages pillaged. Five thousand persons were rendered homeless. Men were tortured and women and children were ravished. Four monastries were sacked. It is reported that the Turkish minor officials have formed an anti-Christian society to slaughter Christians if the Porte accepts the scheme of reforms the powers insist upon.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC,

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individua' delights.

Six Were Drowned.

FLUSHING, Holland, Sept. 10.—The Spanish steamer Manila, bound for China, and the Norwegian steamer Xania, bound for Antwerp, collided near Borselia today. The Xania sank soon afterwards and six of those on board were drowned, including the captain. The Manila was badly damaged.

TANGIERS, Sept. 10.—Two cases of cholera have appeared here.

Suffered With Jaundice.

HOOD'S PILLS are especially prepared to be taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west.

The Comforts of Traveling.

Women who travel much have long ago learned the wisdom of burdening themselves with as little as possible, and yet taking all they may require. For wear on the sleeper, a flannel bed-gown and soft, loose slippers are necessary, while for day wear the wise woman chooses a pair of low shoes that have been made comfortable by use. Gloves should be easy-fitting, and a hat should be selected with a view of its coming well on the forehead so that the front hair can be worn plainly. Curling bangs on the train is usually a great deal of trouble, and by this arrangement a ragged, limp-looking bang is never seen. Soft felt hats are liked for traveling wear when one is to be many days on the train.

Arranging one's hair smoothly and having it look neat at all times makes it quite possible for one to remove one's hat and be entirely at ease.

The best advice to give the woman who is traveling is that she must not be in a hurry. Hurrying will tire her out before she starts, will make her face red and upset her nerves. Let her arrange as to time, know exactly how much she has, and study the art of reaching her train punctually, which does not mean a hour too soon or three minutes too late, but just ahead of the hour set. It is her duty to look well, but not to be overdressed. It is her duty to have with her the belongings she may require, but she should not have so many unnecessary things in the way of bundles and bags that the public feel that she is an unpleasant care upon them. It is her duty to preserve her temper, to look for all agreeable things, to ignore the disagreeble ones, and then, indeed, will she find pleasure as she goes abroad "strange countries for to see."

A general meeting of all the ladies of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral will be held at the Murray street school on Thursday the 12th inst. at 7 p.m.

A Light Sentence.

Judge Weller yesterday sentenced James Holbrook to one day in jail. The charge against the prisoner was assault upon his daughter. It was shown that the assault was very much provoked.

Wedding Bells.

An early wedding took place yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mr. James Finn, sectionman on the C.P.R., was united in marriage to Miss Bridget McMahon, daughter of Mr. John McMahon, Lake street. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary McMahon, sister of the bride, whilst the groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Patrick Finn. The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and the happy couple left on the early train for the west.

The Circus Girl.

Harry Lindley's excellent company presented the above named play to a crowded house last night. The audience roared with laughter from the rise to the drop of the curtain, and was thoroughly satisfied with the performance, which was first class. The play afforded the artists an opportunity of showing their abilities and this they did to the satisfaction of all. Especially did the splendid acting of Harry Lindley please the audience. That the show is a good one is the verdict of all who went last night.

Scultborp Jailed.

William J. Scultborp, a well-known young man of Port Hope, went to Rochester on Monday with Sheriff Hannan, of that city, to stand trial for alleged larceny. On the glorious 4th of July Scultborp was a ticket seller for the steamer Charlotte and Genesee, and he is charged with departing with the day's proceeds. The accused says that a second agent was allowed to encroach upon his territory, and in disgust he threw all his tickets on the wharf. His rival would not touch them, but the crowd did, and rode on them free. Scultborp came to Canada, but returned voluntarily.

Want Him Next Year.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church held recently, the following resolutions affecting the popular pastor, Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., were unanimously passed:—

"That the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church, Peterborough, recognizing the value and success of the labors of the Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., in the pastorate of this church, and feeling that it will be greatly to the advantage of the church if his services can be retained for a fourth year, hereby invites Mr. Young to remain as pastor of this church during the year 1896-7;

"And that the Stationing Committee of the Conference be petitioned to give effect to the desire of this Board by stationing Mr. Young at Peterborough for the ensuing year."

A MILK EPISODE.

An Incident in Ashburnham that is Creating Talk.

There was considerable excitement over in Ashburnham the other day, caused by a little row, in which one man was attacked by another and struck several times. It was one of those little affairs which neighbors delight in talking about, and it has been gossiped around pretty freely during the past two days.

A widow lady lives near the Hunter street bridge, and for some time has rented part of her house to a man who works for one of the hotels in town. This gentleman's wife is an invalid, and not able to answer calls at the door, so whenever the butcher, or baker, or grocery boy called with provisions, the widow would receive them and take them into her tenants. This caused all the trouble as the story will show.

The tenants were supplied with milk from a dairyman living some distance from town. They left an order with him to leave one quart of milk twice a day. The widow, as was her want, received the milk, and when it reached her tenants, strange to say, in quantity it had shrunk most lamentably, and as the tenants say, was not more than a cupful at any time. Of course this puzzled them, but they supposed that the milkman had misunderstood the order, and was only leaving a cupful.

So time went on, and finally the milkman left his bill. It was for two quarts of milk daily. The tenant went to the widow, and she feigned total ignorance, and declared that she delivered all the milk that the milkman left. So the tenant told the widow that he was going right out to the milkman's to find out where the mistake was.

The milkman was interviewed. He solemnly swore that he had delivered two quarts per day into the widow's hand, and said that if they didn't receive that quantity, the widow must have taken it. And in that pious way that milkmen have, he convinced the tenant that this was so.

This looked bad for the widow. The tenant started homeward with blood in his eye and a fixed determination to give the woman in weeds a good piece of his mind. He arrived at the house, and at the door was met by a man, who had passed off as the widow's brother. This fellow immediately grabbed the tenant and struck him several blows and then ran off. Two neighbors who had witnessed the assault, followed the man along the track, but he escaped.

The tenant immediately moved out of the widow's domicile, and the invalid wife was safely quartered at a neighbors. The tenant informed the police, and a search was made for the supposed brother, but he could not be found.

On Monday the tenant went around to the widow's house to get his trunk, the widow showed him to the room where it was and after he had entered. She locked the door. He made his escape through a window.

The police are still looking for the man who committed the assault, and if they catch him, the affair will be aired in court.

E. L. CONVENTION.

Splendid Address Last Night - Election of Officers.

At last evening's session of the first annual convention of the Epworth League of the Peterborough district held in the Mark Street Methodist church, Ashburnham, Mr. W. J. Gardiner presided.

Rev. T. S. McKee, of Fraserville delivered an address on "The Possibilities of the League."

Rev. A. C. Crews, Toronto, general secretary of the Epworth Leagues, spoke on "The Aims and Methods of the Epworth Leagues." It was a splendid address of 30 minutes duration, and will doubtless be of great benefit to individual Leagues. He went over the work of each department, and dealt fully with the important features of each.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—W. J. Gardiner, B.A., Millbrook.

Vice-President, Christian Endeavor department—Robert Armstrong, Peterborough.

Missionary department—Miss Thorndyke, Millbrook.

Social department—Mr. H. S. Armstrong, Salem.

Junior department—Miss Kennedy, Peterborough.

Secretary—Mr. J. A. Beer, Peterborough.

Treasurer—Miss Nina Sherin, Lakefield.

Conference representative—Rev. George Mickle, Cavan South.

Executive committee—Miss Finlay, Peterborough; D. D. C. Dawe, Peterborough; Miss Pearl Burnham, Millbrook; S. McGuire, Lifford; J. F. Jory, Lakefield.

THE CHEESE BOARD.

Thirty-Six Factories Board 4,519 Boxes —The Bidding and Sales.

The cheese board met in the council chamber at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, when thirty six factories boarded 4,519 boxes. The buyers present were Messrs. Cook, Wrighton, Hodgson, Fitzgerald, Cluxton and Jones.

When the minutes had been read, Mr. Cook drew the attention of the salesman to the fact that some factories were sending out cheese with scale boards only on the top. Cheese should be scale boarded at top and bottom, and two brands would do no harm.

The president emphasized these remarks of Mr. Cook, saying even if cheese were cheap they must not be put up carelessly.

The following factories were boarded:—Keene, 140; Warminster, 153; Shearer, 173; Central Smith, 112; North Smith, 160; Cherry Grove, 70; Warsaw, 125; Westwood, 250; Oakdale, 100; Missing Link, 112; Norwood, 100; Melrose Abbey, 115; Lakefield, 125; Pine Grove 100; Peterborough 90; Maple Leaf, 160; Lyrtle, 68; Ormond, 300; Young's Point 58; Lang, 210; Frazerville, 98; North Dummer, 90; Bobcaygeon, 153; Lakeview, 70; Trewern, 105; Bensfort, 130; Cedardale, 51; Stony Lake, 51; Ida, 91; Millbrook, 62; Mount Pleasant, 108; Perrytown, 75; Blackstock, 80; Daisy D. 75; Fleetwood, 125; Darlington Union, 250; Geneva, 130; Crown, 150.

Mr. Cluxton started the bidding with an offer of 7c; Mr. Jones made it 7⅛c; Mr. Hodgson raised to 7¼c; Mr. Cook to 7⅜c, and Mr. Jones to 7 7-16c; Mr. Cook then lifted it an eight, and Mr. Jones raised it to 7 9 16c, which was accepted by Central Smith, Trewern, North Smith, Lakeview, Keene, Cherry Grove and Lakefield, and was refused by Fraserville, Peterborough, Bensfort, Bobcaygeon and Pine Grove. Mr. Hodgson then bid 7⅜c for further selections. Mr. Cook made it 7½c, which was refused by Norwood, Melrose Abbey, Ormonde, Warminster, Shearer, Peterborough, Maple Leaf, Lang, Bensfort, Fleetwood, Warsaw, Daisy D. and Perrytown.

No further offers were forthcoming and the Board adjourned for two weeks, when the Board will meet at eleven o'clock, and the last half of August and first half of September cheese will be boarded.

Mr. Cook proposed that the factorymen come to the next meeting prepared to sell the balance of the season. Mr. Hodgson advised against any contracting. He called it a gambling business and the sooner it died out of the cheese business the better.

Mr. Galvin and Mr. Jones opposed Mr. Cook's motion strongly.

The amendment was lost, only two favoring it.

THE GRAY CASE.

The Approaching Trial Will Excite Great Interest.

In two weeks Thomas and Hessie Gray will be placed on trial, charged with the murder of old David Scollie. The trial will be one of the most sensational ever held in the Province, and will attract more than usual interest all over the Province; for seldom is it that a woman has been tried for murder in Ontario. The Grays have been in the county jail for two months, and at present are in good health, their incarceration not having impaired them physically. Their children have thrived in the homes where they were placed by the authorities.

The defence is getting in readiness for the approaching trial, and will make a strong fight for acquital, in case the Grand Jury brings in a true bill against the prisoners. The prosecution will be the most thorough. Mr. B. B. Osler will bring all his great experience in criminal cases to bear in sifting the evidence and forging a strong chain around the accused.

A large number of witnesses will be summoned for the case.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

Ducks are plentiful down the river.

The brewery picnic to Jubilee Point will take place today.

The Rifle Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the drill shed.

Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, and of the Dominion Experimental Farm staff, will likely open the Central Exhibition.

Officer McGinty has returned from his holidays and is again on duty.

The Central Fair will be in full swing two weeks from today.

Mr. T. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, takes his airings in a "rale old Irish jaunting car."—Lindsay Post.

The Children's Aid Society will have a case before the police magistrate on Thursday morning in which a woman will be charged with forcing her children to beg on the street.

A well known young lady in town was lately troubled with a painful gathering on her knee, but feeling rather dubious about consulting the family physician—a staid old veteran, who had prescribed for her from infancy—suggested to her father that he should call in a strange young doctor whom she had noticed passing at regular intervals during the week, carrying a case resembling that which a homeopathic would carry. The father, acting upon her suggestion, called in the stranger at the first opportunity, who, after a critical examination of the limb, advised her to call in a physician, as he was a piano tuner.—Lindsay Post.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The following is an account of a ball game played in Cincinnati Friday:

It is doubtful if such a ball game was ever before played as that witnessed at League Park Friday by 10,000 people. It was a farce game between newspaper men and members of theatrical companies in the city for the benefit of the Rescue Mission. A Grand entree was made to the grounds by the newspaper men, who caricatured the Cincinnati team, which has cut such a sorry figure in the East, the actors in stage costumes, the Bellstedt-Ballenberg full military band, and Mayor Caldwell, accompanied by two companies of police and Battery B.O.N.G., with two Gatling guns, Ex-Governor Campbell occupied a box, and the members of the Chamber of Commerce and city officials all had boxes.

General Bushnell, Republican nominee for Governor, and Senator Brice also purchased boxes. The mayor, as umpire, was escorted to the wire cage, and, armed with a sword and two big pistols, started the game. The ball grazed one of the players. The umpire yelled "murder!" and the two companies of police charged and the two patrol wagons came at full gallop and carried two players away. The umpire was then mobbed and the two Gatling guns were turned on the players and fired like lightning, and the police rescued the mayor umpire, who then fined members of the audience for sweet charity's sake. After two hours of fun and four innings the umpire had all the players arrested and taken away in a patrol wagon, and called the game a draw.

CORBETT IN TORONTO.

Manager Chapman received a despatch last night from Corbett's manager saying that the champion's party would reach Toronto Wednesday morning, and put up at the Rossin House. There will be no increase in the admission at the gate tomorrow to see the champion play ball, as many people think. It will be the same as to all games, 25c. The only extra charge will be the grand stand, which will be 25c all through, first come, first served. There will be a large number of police on hand to preserve order.

GUELPH DEFEATED.

At the baseball grounds yesterday afternoon, the Toronto League team played a game with the Guelph Maple Leafs. Woods who pitched for the visitors, held the Torontos down to 10 hits, and it was owing to his good playing that the score was not larger than it was. Payne pitched three innings for Toronto and Dineen the balance the Leafs not making a single hit off the latter. About 300 people saw the game, which resulted in a victory for the home team by 7 to 2.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

Changes and Failures Throughout al Ontario

The creditors of the Worsted and Braid Company, of Toronto Junction, appointed inspectors at the meeting yesterday afternoon, to negotiate a settlement.

At a meeting of creditors of the estate of Sergeant & Moore, of Iron Bridge, held in the office of Assignee Tew, the stock was sold to Mr. Henry Sergeant who will continue the business.

W. B. Robinson, proprietor of a livery stable at Brockville, has assigned to James Smart, the sheriff.

B. N. Foster, confectioner, of Brantford, has compromised with his creditors at 50c on the dollar.

A Metal Breadboard.

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

ENCOUNTER WITH REBELS

INCENDIARIES ADD TO THE HORRORS OF WAR.

Pleading For J. R. Hooper—A Fatal Collision at Sea—Boycott on Cigarettes—Stole the Poor Boxes.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A special to the Herald from Havana says: The insurgents have burned the village of San Juan de Armaro, in the province of Santa Clara, 24 kilometres from Sagua La Grande, a handsome summer resort, celebrated for its mineral waters, and have destroyed the railway. The insurgent chief, Lazo, intimated to the military commander of the garrison that death awaited him if he did not at once surrender. The answer of the Spaniard was that the civic guard did not know the meaning of the word surrender.

The fighting then began and lasted four hours, incendiaries adding their work to the horror of the scene and soon destroyed the whole village. The Spanish forces were not driven from their position though the insurgents numbered 500, commanded by Laza, Antonio Castro and Julian Lugu. The inhabitants fled from their homes.

Robt. Bermidez's forces destroyed the Manzares estate, owned by Count More, last night. A train bound to that place had to put back in consequence of an attack by a band of insurgents. The fort defending the station of Satamanca is held by armed Havana firemen.

A band of highway robbers at Calnaito, murdered Josefa Vera. J. Dias, the wife of his brother made a heroic defence, using her last cartridge. The highwaymen burned their victims' houses.

PLEADING FOR HOOPER.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—Joseph Hooper, of Port Hope, father of John Reginald Hooper, now undergoing imprisonment at St. Vincent de Paul, for causing his wife's death, is in the city. He says the Mayor and council of Port Hope and all the leading citizens have joined in a petition to the Minister of Justice, praying for a reconsideration of the case.

A FATAL COLLISION.

FLUSHING, Holland, Sept. 11.—The Spanish steamer Manila, bound for China, and the Norwegian steamer Xany, bound for Antwerp, collided near Borsclia, today. The Xany sank soon afterwards and six of those on board were drowned, including the captain. The Manila was badly damaged.

CIGARETTE BOYCOTT.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 11.—The petition of C. A. Whelan & Co., for an action in the name of the people to prohibit the American Tobacco Company from selling cigarettes in this state was slated for a hearing before Attorney-General Hancock this evening. Attorney-General Oakley, of the firm of Odain & Oakely, attorneys for the Trust, asked for postponement of the hearing on the ground that there had been allowed inadequate time to get ready for the argument. In spite of the vigorous protests of Attorney E. N. Wilson for Whelan & Co., the hearing was adjourned to September 23rd.

STOLE THE POOR BOXES.

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—James Duchensey, a deaf mute, who broke into St. Joseph's church, Somerville, and stole five of the poor boxes, was held for the grand jury today. Through an interpreter Duchensey told the court that he was a native of Montreal where at the present time his wife it with two children. He has not been home for years. He says he served three years in a penal institution in Canada and when liberated he was committed to an insane asylum where he remained for a year. He arrived in Boston last week without money. He said he wished to go to Montreal to see his wife and little children, and having no money stole the poor boxes.

FITZ WANTS MORE

Of the Spoils or Else There will be no Fight with Corbett.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The Inter Ocean this morning prints a story in which it is said that Fitzsimmons declared that he will refuse to meet Champion Corbett in Dallas unless he is "let in" on certain commissions on which a large sum of money will be realized. It is said that he accuses Brady, Corbett, Joe Vendig, and Stewart, of Dallas, with gobbling up everything in sight, from the lemonade stand to the eidoloscope, with which it is intended to reproduce the fight throughout the country. It is the latter concession that Bob is especially jealous of, and it is said that he has made a formal demand for a percentage in the profits of it, otherwise he declares there will be no fight.

A SEALER SEIZED.

Skin That Bear Evidence of Fire Arms Having Been Used.

Special to the Times.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 11.—The Victoria sealer Beatrice arrived here under seizure for alleged violations of the Behring Sea regulations. She reports the seizure of the schooner Ainoko. The Beatrice was boarded by the Rush, Aug. 20. A few sealskins marked as if by buckshot, were found on board. Although no guns were found, the vessel was seized on the charge of having used fire arms in the sea, towed to Unalaska and turned over to the British ship Pheasant, by whom she was ordered to report to the naval authorities here. The Ainoko was seized on the charge of going inside the sixty-mile protective zone after seals. The Ainoko left Unalaska before the Beatrice, but it is not yet here. Both cases will be tried in the Admiralty Court. The value, with fittings, is about $9,000 each. The Beatrice reports a light catch of seals. She had only 700.

WELL SATISFIED

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain are Pleased.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—A large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, the head quarters for distributing are never in danger of running out of the medicine for long no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

SIX WERE KILLED.

A Horrible Accident in Louisville, Ky.—The Explosion of a Caisson.

Special to The Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 11.—A horrible accident resulting in the death of six and wounding of several members of the Louisville Legion occurred shortly after 5.30 this morning by the explosion of a caisson. The accident occurred on Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, where the First Kentucky Artillery were stationed for the purpose of firing the morning salute. Eye-witnesses of the accident say that the explosion was caused by dropping the caps on the friction primer of the piece. The gun was mounted directly in the center of the street, pointing towards Fourth avenue. Two of the bodies were blown over the house tops and were horribly mangled. The wounded have been removed to the hospitals. Two horses attached to the cannon were so horribly mangled that they will be killed. All the killed were members of the first Kentucky artillery of Louisville, which has always been considered the finest in the State.

THEY LOVED SPORT.

Little Girl Bicyclist Killed by Colliding with Horses.

Special to the Times.

COOPERSTOWN, Sept. 11.—Theresa Masshke, aged about 12 years, collided with a team of horses while riding a bicycle around a corner this morning and was terribly injured about the head and face. She died tonight.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 11.—Bernard Fay, the 5-year-old son of Thomas Fay of this city, went to Hospital Pond this afternoon to sail his toy boats, which he had named the Defender and Valkyrie. In the excitement attending a race which he was superintending, the boy fell into the water and was drowned.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

A WOMAN'S LIFE SAVED BY A TROLLEY FENDER.

A Stranger to the Fair Beaten and Robbed—A Phonograph and its Operator Arrested—A Man's Body Found in the Bay.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—A fender saved the life of Mrs. Craig, a 70-year-old lady, who is partially demented and who has no fixed place of residence. She was crossing Bloor street west, when she got in the way of a west bound car. She seemed transfixed in the centre of the track and paid no attention to the vigorous clanging of the gong.

The motorman was unable to stop the car, and the front of the fender struck the woman and dumped her into the netting carrying her about fifteen yards. She screamed at the top of her voice, and another lady, who was in the car tried to dismount in a hurry, apparently to ascertain the cause of the disturbance.

Womanlike she attempted to get off backwards, and was thrown violently to the ground, fracturing her wrist.

Mrs. Craig was more frightened than hurt, but after Dr. Musgrove had examined her he advised her removal to the hospital. The other victim of the accident, who declined to give her name, went home.

HE WAS A STRANGER.

David McNeilly, a young farmer, came down from Jarvis, Ontario, to see the sights. An obliging stranger whom he met on King street volunteered to be his guide, philosopher and friend Two other gentlemanly strangers joined them and McNeilly was steered to a quiet place near the new armory and there viciously attacked by the trio. His teeth are broken, his chest badly injured and his face bruised. The brutes made a determined effort to rob him, but secured only his watch chain. Their victim is now in St. Michael's Hospital for repairs.

A PHONOGRAPH ARRESTED.

On a table in the Exhibition police station rests a phonograph. The rubber ear tubes droop quietly and the whole machine has a crestfallen appearance. The phonograph was arrested at noon today for general immorality. Incidentally its owner George Barm, who hails from Buffalo, was likewise incarcerated.

Inspector Hall has a musical ear, and when he noticed a phonograph outside the main building this morning he said to the stalwart policeman who was with him, "Will, just see what all these people with tubes to their ears are laughing about."

The inspector referred to a number of sporty young men, who seemed to be drinking in the utterances of the phonograph too greedily for innocent pleasure.

The inspector and the policeman each took a tube and they heard—no matter what they heard. That is another story. At any rate the inspector who has the finest moral sensibilities heard enough to warrant him in at once apprehending the instrument and the owner. Barm will appear in the police court tomorrow.

FLOATING IN THE BAY.

William Abbs, engineer in McLaughlin's flour mill, discovered this afternoon at the foot of Bay street the dead body of a man in the water beside the wharf.

The man was evidently a painter by trade, as besides a putty knife he had several cards of W. G. Nugent, a painter at 74 Bathurst street. The dead man was a cripple, his right leg being shorter than the left, and he wore a boot with a high heel. He wore a brown suit of clothes and had a dark moustache. The body had been in the water about five days.

SIR VISTO AGAIN.

The Winner of This Year's Derby Carries Off the St. Leger.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The race for the St. Leger stakes at the Doncaster meeting today was won by Sir Visto, owned by Lord Rosebery. Sir Visto was the winner of the Derby this year.

W. G. Singer's Telescope was second, and L. Brassey's Butterfly third. The odds against Sir Visto were 4 to 1.

Sala in Financial Difficulties.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A receiving order has been issued against George Augustus Sala, the well-known newspaper writer and author.

Stranded on Goodwin Sands.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The steamer Lady Wolsely, of Dublin, bound for London with 100 passengers on board, stranded on Goodwin Sands to day. The passengers and crew were all rescued.

THAT DISPUTED RACE.

WHAT LONDON PAPERS HAVE TO SAY ABOUT IT.

Win It Fairly or Not at all Is the Pith of Their Remarks—Not Much Hope of the Valkyrie Regaining the Cup.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—With one exception the London evening papers today exhibit a generous and sportsmanlike spirit in commenting upon the outcome of the second race of the series between Valkyrie III. and Defender for the America's Cup, and all express the wish that the race be not given to Valkyrie III. on a mere technicality or as the result of an accident. The same spirit characterizes the talk among yachtsmen.

Fear is expressed that the excellent showing made by Defender in her crippled condition has practically settled the contest against the British yacht. Much talk is heard today of new yachts to be built to meet the Defender if the American syndicate's boat should come over here and challenge for America's Cup. In addition to the cutter which is to be built for the Prince of Wales, is is reported that Lord Rosebery is likely to build a yacht, and a rich Scotch syndicate is also ready to enter the lists.

The Sun this evening says: "There is so very little true sportsmanlike feeling in America, that yesterday's cheering of the winner is charming."

The Evening News says: "Englishmen cannot stomach victory tainted with unfair conditions, and would rather see Valkyrie return home without a single race than flying a flag unfairly earned."

The Star says: "Neither Lord Dunraven nor any other Englishmen would wish to receive an advantage by a mishap. From yesterday's race it seems clear that we cannot win the cup this year."

The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon says: "If Defender was put at a disadvantage by the accident we shall find little satisfaction if the decisions favors Valkyrie."

The St. James' Gazette in its article observes: "It is a good thing that the race was not sailed here, as it might be difficult to persuade Americans that it was an accident; if Defender was on a port tack, why the invariable rule that port tack vessels gave way was not followed."

JAMES ASHBURY IS DEAD.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—James Ashbury, who took the yachts Cambria and Livonia to America in 1870 and 1871 respectively to compete for the America's cup, is dead.

AS TO THE PROTEST.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—It is announced that there will be no decision by the America's Cup Committee with regard to the fouling of the Defender by the Valkyrie yesterday until four o'clock p.m. or later to-day.

EMPERIOR WILLIAM ANNOYED.

Because Von Waldersee was too Much for Him in a Sham Fight.

Special to the Times.

STETTIN, Sept. 11.—Emperor William, Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, the King of Saxony, and the Bavarian and other Princes started early yesterday for Kolbitzow, where an engagement was opened between the Guards Corps and the second and third army corps. The day's operations ended with the retreat of both corps of the southern army to the line of Woolin, Storokow and Scheningen. The victory of the northern army was due to General Von Waldersee's unexpected forced march early in the morning from the line of Pasewalk and Krugsdorff. This movement surprised the Emperor, and also irritated him greatly. A remarkable feature of the manoeuvres was the fact that one could ride along ten miles of the battlefield without seeing anything beyond a few helmets or a rising cloud of dust, betraying the location of the troops under cover, so well were their operations concealed.

TO BE TESTED IN PERU.

Electric Locomotives Will Be Given a Trial.

Special to The Times

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 11.—A representative from the Baldwin Locomotive Works, with an expert electrician from the Westinghouse company, and with Sir Henry Tyler, ex-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, will depart tomorrow for Peru, where, it is said, a test of the possibility and feasibility of the electric locomotive is to be made upon a railroad 1,500 feet above the sea level. Sir Henry Tyler has been in this city for several days in conference with members of the Baldwin firm. It was decided last night to make the experiment, and tomorrow the party leaves New York for South America.

The name of the company proposing to make the test could not be ascertained. It is said that should the report of the representatives of the Baldwin Westinghouse experts be favorable, it will probably lead to the placing of the first large order for the new locomotives.

The Baldwin company is to be represented by Arthur Church of this city and J. Blunt of Pittsburg will look after the interest of the Westinghouse company.

LADY GUNNING GOES TO JAIL.

She Forged Her Father's Name—Prison For a Year.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Lady Frances Rose Gunning, who was arrested on July 25 on a charge of forgery, pleaded guilty yesterday. Lady Gunning, who is the widow of the Rev. Sir George Henry Gunning, and daughter of the Rev. William Spencer, uncle of the present Baron Churchill was charged with having forged the name of her father to bills of exchange, but it is understood that there were other charges of a similar nature pending. She is connected with the family of Earl Spencer, and also with other noble houses, but since her marriage to Sir George H. Gunning, who was many years her senior, she had been repudiated by her family and shunned by most of her former friends. Her forgeries are the result of her endeavors to live like a noblewoman upon a small income. Lady Gunning was sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

A Plot Against Ferdinand's Life.

ATROCITIES IN CUBA.

When the Japanese committed the massacre at Port Arthur, a cry of protest went through Europe and the United States. It was said that Japan had been guilty of an act which made her unworthy of recognition as a civilized Power. Yet all whom the Japanese killed at Port Arthur were men, and, if many were harmless citizens, many others were soldiers who were trying to escape in citizen disguise. Furthermore, Japanese had the excuse of having been goaded to fury by the horrible treatment of their own prisoners and wounded at the hands of the Chinese.

The Spanish army in Cuba has recently been guilty of atrocities infinitely worse than those committed by the Japanese at Port Arthur and without any excuse save bloodthirsty rage. A woman was obliged to stand by and see her six-year-old daughter butchered, after which she was herself killed. Another poor woman was killed by a bayonet-thrust for protesting against the taking of her little hoard of savings by the soldiers. A young girl was hanged because she was betrothed to a Cuban insurgent officer. Such crimes as these are not war. They place the nation which is responsible for them on a level with the lowest barbarians.

Yet outrages of this kind are nothing new for the Spanish forces in Cuba. During the last war an order was issued by Gen. Count Valmaseda, which, after proclaiming that "he who is not for me is against me," directed:

1st. Every man, from the age of 15 years upward, found away from his habitation, (finca) and who does not prove a justified motive therefor, will be shot.

2d. Every habitation unoccupied will be burned by the troops.

3d. Every habitation from which does not float a white flag, a signal that its occupants desire peace, will be reduced to ashes.

It was the Spanish policy then to overcome the insurrection by terrorizing the country and reducing it, in parts, to a desert, a work which was accomplished only too well. There were 2,927 political prisoners executed during the war and 4,673 more whose fate was never known. There were 13,000 confiscations of estates, 3,000 being owned by women who were non-combatants but sympathized with the Cuban cause.

Apparently the Spanish are beginning the same policy in the present war. Secretary Fish, in behalf of the United States, branded the order of Count Valmaseda as infamous, protesting against it in a letter to the Spanish Minister. The Christian Powers can do no less in regard to the outrages in this present war, if the truth of the reports is established. Spain must be given to understand that unless she fights by civilized methods she cannot be accorded recognition as a civilized Power.

The Irish question has been simplified. It amounts to just this: Is Tim Healy fit to live?

Michigan farmers are feeding peppermint plants to their cows, whose milk, in consequence, will be a very superior article of mint julep.

Tim Healy's man has been beaten in South Kerry. This is a good thing for the McCarthyite cause, which is the most deserving of the three Irish Parliamentary movements.

The Defender's mascot is a yellow dog. If that democratic animal does as well in the mascot business this week, as he did on Saturday, he deserves to share the glory of the baldheaded eagle as Columbia's national pet.

LIFE.

And life, at best,
  Is vague unrest—
A shadow ever moving,
  A little rare,
  A little prayer,
A little hopeless loving.

  A breath of light
  Blown through the night,
Intangible and fleeting;
  The sum of years
  Is in our tears,
Our parting and our meeting.

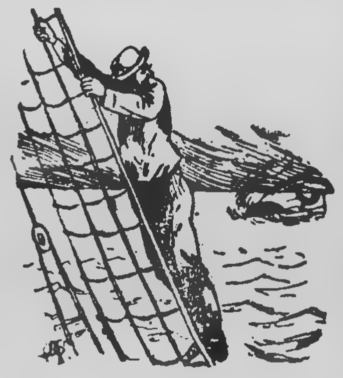
  And some sad day
  We pause and say
We're tired of its keeping,
  A little sigh—
  The world goes by,
And leaves us to our sleeping.

KING OF THE SEA.

By M. Quad.

We had four boats out for the school of whales, which were slowly making their way to windward, and the three or four of us left to mind the ship were beating slowly against the lazy breeze, when the carpenter suddenly uttered a shout of alarm and pointed to the north. The sight we saw made every man hold his breath. A great bull whale, fully ninety feet long and of enormous girth, was breaching. He shot out of the water, until it seemed to us that he rested on his tail alone, and being not over a quarter of a mile away, it was as if a great pillar of stone had been shot up from the bottom of the sea by some mighty power. The huge body held its poise while you could have counted thirty. Then it leaned to the south and toppled over like a giant tree under the blows of the ax, and the crash was like the collapse of a brick building. There was no sea on when he appeared, but directly after his fall three great waves came rushing down upon us, and the ship was tossed and buffeted for the moment as if facing a howling gale.

It was not that the monster had breached so near us that turned every face white with fear as he fell, but it was what we had seen during the half minute his gray-black body was exposed. There were two harpoons sticking into him, with their lines coiled many times about his bulk, and just back of his right eye was a great splinter imbedded in the flesh to prove that he had attacked a boat or ship. That the whale was alone was proof enough that he was in ugly mood, and as he rolled to and fro on the surface and beat the water into foam we realized that he must be in pain as well. No man moved hand nor foot for five minutes, but the creaking of the yards and the slatting of the sails betrayed us. With a single sweep of his flukes the whale slewed himself around until he was head on, and as we stared at him it was like looking upon a great bowlder lying upon the foaming surface of the sea. He seemed to be deliberating for two or three minutes on a plan of attack, and then slowly swam to windward, as if he had decided to attack the boats. At the distance of half a mile, and just as we had began to feel relieved, the monster slewed about and came for the ship under full headway. Every man cried out in terror and sprang into the mizzen shrouds, but before anyone was thirty feet high the whale had passed us astern. The wheel having been deserted, the ship had broached to, and this action had upset the plans of the whale. It was such a close shave, however, that he carried the rudder away as he passed and rolled a sea over her quarter which flooded the decks two feet deep.



"THE BOAT, THE BOAT—HE'LL COME BACK!"

"The boat, the boat—he'll come back!" shouted the carpenter as the ship tossed about like a cork, and we clung to the rigging with iron grip.

There was no time to launch the yawl hanging to the stern davits. Not one of us had set foot on deck when the whale, which had run a mile or more to leeward, turned for another rush. He came with greater speed this time, and he had the ship broadside on and could not miss her. We had him full under our eyes, but were helpless to avoid the danger. We saw the wave in front of him grow larger and larger, the great head loom up higher and higher, and he must have had a speed of thirty miles an hour as he struck us on the port side and fairly amidship. Let a rock weighing three or four tons roll down a hillside for a mile or more and strike a farmhouse, and the crash could not equal that which we felt and heard as the whale struck the vessel. She was a stout-built craft, but the blow shivered plank and rib and timber and opened a cavern, into which the water rushed with such volume that she lurched and staggered and settled away right under our feet. We went overboard as we felt her sinking, and all were drawn into the vortex and cast up again with the wreckage. Each man seized something to support him, and when we could see about us the whale was lying quietly on the surface, and we were rubbing along his side with the run of the sea. With one sweep of his flukes he could have killed us all, but fortune was with us. He made no move until we were all clear of him, and then he settled away into the sea so slowly and quietly that scarcely a ripple was raised over the spot. No one saw him after that. Man had hunted him down and sought his life, and he had revenged himself by sending a noble craft to rest on the bottom of the sea and leave her crew in open boats 2,000 miles from land. Anything less would have been unworthy of a king of the sea.

Electrical Treatment

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

FORMATION OF COAL.

In Some Places the Perfect Form of the Decayed Trees Have Been Found.

The formation of coal, according to Dr. Homer Greene's cosmical theory, was due to the solar orb bringing forth, millions of years ago, when it was larger and hotter than to-day, a wonderfully luxuriant vegetation, including plants of strange kinds, mosses as large as forest trees, and ferns thirty feet in height, growing up richly from the clayey soil and forming dense jungles in the vast marshes, the latter covering great areas of the earth's surface; these ferns, mosses, and the leaves, branches, and trunks of trees in time falling and decaying where they grew, only to render the soil more fertile and the next growth more luxuriant—year after year, century after century, this process of growth and decay going on, until the beds of vegetable matter thus deposited became of great thickness; the earth's body, however, still continued to shrink, in consequence of which her crust at times contracted and fell in, the land then sinking throughout vast areas, the beds of vegetable matter going down and the water sweeping again over the great marshes. Sand and mud and gravel were laid down anew over the deposits, and the clayey soil from which the next rich growth would spring was spread out on the surface, this process being repeated again and again, as often, indeed, as seams of coal in any coal bed.

In this way, according to Dr. Greene, the conditions for the formation of coal were made complete, atmospheric air being entirely excluded while the vegetable beds underwent the processes of decomposition, so that in some beds of coal whole trees have been found, with roots, branches, leaves and seeds complete, and all converted into the same kind of coal as that by which they were surrounded.

LINCOLN'S COUSIN A PAUPER.

Resembles the Martyred President, and Proves His Family Relationship.

The discovery has been made that John Lincoln, eighty-six years old, a cousin of ex-President Abraham Lincoln, is in the almshouse at Reading, Pa. His features much resemble those of the martyred president. His mind has given way, and his answers to questions are very childish. He is a son of Thomas Lincoln, a wealthy farmer and hotel keeper, who died in 1852. John inherited $30,000, and in his time was regarded as a great sport. His money went rapidly, and he was finally compelled, through family estrangements, to go to the county almshouse. His wife, Mrs. Annie Lincoln, died at her home in Exeter a few years ago, and this circumstance recalled the fact that the husband still lived and was a ward of the county. During the war John Lincoln made a trip to Washington and called on the president, and the two cousins had quite a lengthy chat, during which their relationship was fully established.

Two Colossal Children.

The quaint little town of St. Nicholas, in East Flanders, boasts the possession of two children of such extraordinary abnormal growth as to put completely in the shade all similar infant prodigies of the past or present. These Brobdignagian youngsters are boy and girl. The elder, Master Clement Smedst, is fifteen years of age and weighs no less than 420 pounds; the circumference of his body is six feet six inches; he measures thirty-six inches around the leg and twenty-eight inches around the arm. His sister, Bertha, is eight years old, and turns the scale at 224 pounds. In spite of their dimensions their activity is remarkable, for they trip and skip about with all the agility of other children of an equal age. It is an astonishing sight to see these infant mountains of humanity romping about in country lanes with other children of the village. One would imagine them to be the offspring of a race of giants, so high do they tower over the heads of their little playfellows. Their appearance is interesting, both having extremely handsome and regular features. Bertha, like other girls of tender years, delights in nursing a doll, which seems ludicrously out of place and proportion in the arms of the young giantess. The couple are attracting the attention of the country around, and on fine days crowds of people flock into the quiet little town in order to catch a glimpse of these colossal children.

Mexico's Varied Climate.

For variety of climate New Mexico is said to lead the other territories of the Union. This is due in part to her extent from north to south, covering as it does seven degrees of latitude. More still is perhaps due to differences in altitude, which, within her borders, ranges from 4,000 to 16,000 feet. Conditions of aridity and rarefaction and highly electrical conditions of the atmosphere dependent upon altitude increase the diversity beyond the mere question of cold and heat. In establishing an arbor day for the territory the legislature at first selected two days, one for the northern and the other for the southern half of New Mexico, but these proved insufficient to meet the conditions of climate to all localities. So the designation of the day in each county is now left with the county school superintendent, who is supposed to fix it at the best season for tree planting in his locality.

Simple Cure for Lockjaw.

A writer in Clark's Horse Review gives his experience in curing lockjaw, in which he says: "If a nail is picked up get it out, of course, as soon as possible; then get a half pail of hot water—as hot as the horse can possibly stand it—pour in plenty of vinegar and also plenty of salt. This is all, only it must be so hot that at first when you put the horse's foot in it he will pull the foot out of the water; put in again; and hold the foot in steadily. Hold it in an hour or longer and repeat it again after two hours. Do this at least four times or more the first day and repeat the process next day. In nine cases out of ten it will save the horse. It has been tried on man, and I used it myself on my own horse. Some one may say that this remedy is no good, but if I had a valuable horse it is the remedy I would try. Nothing will kill the poison quicker if taken in time."

These are Chinese Maxims.

When the sword is rusty, the plough bright, the prisons empty, the granaries full, the steps of the temples worn down and those of the law courts grass grown, when doctors go afoot, the bakers on horseback, and the men of letters drive in their own carriages, the empire is well governed.—L'Arlequin.

Modern Buildings.

"How was it the building fell down with a crash?"

"One of the bricklayers took a pinch of snuff, contrary to strict orders; he was compelled to sneeze and—the mischief was done!"—Dorfbarbier.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS
Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.
$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.
Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

HER MURDERED BOY.

Mrs. Pietzel at Indianapolis—She Will Examine the Remains of Howard.

Special to the Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—Mrs. C. A. Pietzel has arrived here from Galva, Ill, She will look over all the remains of her boy Howard, and see if there is anything she can identify, and will testify before the coroner's jury. The loss of her husband and three children has told on the woman. She appears to have not long to live. She was in need of medical attention when she arrived.

Grant Cook, a railroad man, yesterday identified the stove in which Howard Pietzel was burned at Irving. He had put it on his train one day last fall at the C. H. and I. platform in the suburbs. He remarked at the time to his associate that it was queer than anyone should want a big stove like that in Irving, where they used natural gas.

Dr. Wright, an East Washington street druggist, was before the grand jury yesterday. Dr. Wright testified that Holmes came into his drug store one day last fall and bought prussic acid and chloroform. With him was the black whiskered man known as Hatch. Dr. Wright identified the picture of Holmes. Holmes will be indicted here.

HENRI ROCHEFORT.

A Famous Writer Whose Caustic Pen Got Him Into Trouble.

A cable correspondent estimates that 200,000 people were at the railroad station in Paris the other day to welcome Henri Rochefort on his return to the French capital after years of exile in England. Rochefort has been called the D'Artagnan of French journalism. Daring to the point of rashness when he handled a pen, Rochefort is timid if called to plead his own cause by word of mouth. If he had been in that Paris court a few months ago when the magistrate sentenced him to three months' imprisonment for "insulting the bench" in one of his blazing leaders in the Intransigeant he would probably have made a poor appearance. But when he took up his pen and began to dissect the limb of the law who had shown his resentment by making "complete amnesty" difficult for him, the advantage was all on his side. With the lightning of his irony he so "scarified" that judge that he made him ridiculous, and in France ridicule kills.

The exile which has just come to an end is not the first to which he has been subjected. For his share in the wild doings of the commune he was condemned to death, but the sentence was commuted to transportation to New Caledonia. The story of his escape from that penal settlement and of his passing through the United States is well known. On his return to Europe, as he, of course, would not go to France, he settled down in Switzerland and lost no time in annoying the French government by his political articles and pamphlets. In 1880 an amnesty bill was passed, which restored all those implicated in the commune to France, and Henri Rochefort at once returned to Paris. He started the Intransigent—the word means one who will never compromise — and the paper rapidly obtained a large circulation. Its attacks on the government and on all public men prominent in its counsels were daily and of the most unrelenting and violent kind These attacks were in the form of a short signed leader printed in large type.

When the Boulangist movement began, Rochefort, although he had not spared General Boulanger when the latter was minister of war, became one of his warmest supporters and made the Intransigeant one of the chief organs of the party. When the government decided to crush the Boulangist, Minister Constans issued an order for the arrest of the general, Count Dillon and Rochefort. All three received timely warning and escaped to Belgium. From Brussels Rochefort continued his attacks, sending his daily article to the Intransigeant, and when the Belgian government, a few weeks later, requested him to leave the country, he went to London. In his absence he was, along with General Boulanger and Count Dillon, tried by the senate, organized as a special tribunal, found guilty of having attempted to overthrow the government, and sentenced to imprisonment. It is from the effects of this sentence that Rochefort is relieved by the amnesty bill passed the other day by the French chamber and senate.

Rochefort has been trying hard to return to France since the advent of Casimir-Perier to power, says the New York Advertiser. But it was latterly intimated to him that the door is not likely to be opened, as he is the guardian of too many dangerous and compromising secrets. It was the anger awakened by this news which prompted the article that caused the government's anger. The government has not forgotten the Boulanger business and the important role which the great journalist played in it. Rochefort may almost be said to have created Boulanger. He acted as keeper to the elephant during the early months of the campaign. But he is too adroit to be left with an elephant on his hands, and he was getting well out of the affair when the crash came. It was not exactly the thing to desert the poor, misguided general when the cardhouse was falling about his ears. But Rochefort claims that he could not do otherwise. He had counted on seeing the general triumphantly parading through Europe on his famous black charger, and it made him furious to find his scheme a failure and to have that failure complicated with enforced absence from Paris.

Besides he found General Boulanger altogether too feeble in presence of adversity. To a man with the iron nerves of Rochefort, who had looked down the muzzle of the pistol of General de Galliffet's aid-de-camp when he was arrested without flinching; who had not murmured during the months in prison; who had refused chances to escape before the trial came on, and who had been able to build up a great newspaper enterprise after touching bottom, socially and financially—the plastic, yielding nature of Boulanger was incomprehensible.

In his quality of gentleman allied to the cause of the people he pleased the masses better than if he had sprung directly from their ranks.

He was poor as poverty, and when he began to write his caustic political chroniques in the Figaro he had not a hundred francs to his name. In eighteen months he had risen to the command of a salary of $400 monthly for contributing three columns per week, and he got a bonus when he had his contract. From that time forward Rochefort has made journalism pay in the sense that painters and actors who are successful make their professions pay.

Rochefort's Lanterne lighted the empire to its tomb, and illuminated the bold writer's way to parliamentary life. But in the arena of debate he does not seem to have been an imposing figure. When it was dangerous merely to utter the word republican in France it was natural that his appearance in the corps legislatif should have given him prominence. People expected too much of him, and they were disappointed. His true role was then, as it is now, in aggressive journalism; in the article which draws blood every time.

For years Rochefort has been rich. When he started the Intansigeant, a journal devoted to the proletariat, he was living in a sumptuously furnished little mansion, and spent more on his breakfast than a workman's whole expense for a week. Luck comes to him when it is needed. It was luck which prompted the banker, Edmond Adam, to send the 25,000 francs which opened the way to Rochefort's escape from the penal colony of Noumea. It was luck which prevented his recapture and ignominious return to Australia. And now luck has brought him amnesty again. He has been amnested so often that he begins to look upon the operation as a periodical necessity. Yet this time he feels the triumph keenly. And he feels that there is still room for him in the militant politics of the third republic.

Bird Foods Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs. Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

EXHUMED THE BODY.

And Held a Post-mortem Examination—Alleged Attempt to Defraud Insurance.

Special to The Times.

PICKERING, Sept. 11.—Acting under instructions from the Attorney General's Department, the body of Mary Ellen Alger, who died last month, was exhumed by Detective John Murray, Doctors Bingham and Ferguson, Toronto, and Crown Attorney Farewell, of Whitby. The department received information which gave rise to the supposition that a conspiracy to defraud the life insurance companies existed.

Deceased, who was a Miss Hubbard, of Belleville, was married 15 years ago to Elisha Alger, the couple living for a time at Frankford, near Belleville, and subsequently moving to this vicinity. For some time before her death she had been suffering from lung trouble, and in December last Alger insured her life in the Equitable for $7,000. Dr. Francie, of Whitevale, passing upon the risk. Early last summer a second policy for $2,000 was secured in another company, and in July, within a month of her death, a third risk, this time for $3,000, was written in the Home Life Insurance Co. These were all passed on by Dr. Francie and approved. The last one, however, was sent to the head office unsigned, and was returned to rectify the omission. An agent named Nicholas Young wrote out the application, and when the omission was pointed out to him he is alleged to have observed that that that was all right, he or his wife would fix that. The application was returned signed, but it is alleged that Mrs. Alger did not sign it, and when the policy reached her she was dead.

When the exhuming party reached the burial ground they were met by Messrs. Macdonald and Fitch, who claimed to represent Mr. Alger. They protested against the Crown's action, and finding threats futile they laid an information for trespass. When the body was brought to the surface the post-mortem was held and the doctors found one lung gone and the other almost gone. There was every symptom present of advanced consumption.

A further examination of the organs will be made. Dr. Beason, of Brougham, Dr. Brodie, of Claremont, and Dr. Robinson, of Markham, represented Alger at the post-mortem.

No arrests have so far been made, but Dr. Francie, whose name has been frequently mentioned in the case, has left the vicinity since last Friday, and the Crown is anxious to hear from him.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It lways was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music whether professionally or for its individual delights.

RECURRENT DREAMS.

Howells Describes Them and His Singular Experience While Abroad.

I have heard people say they have sometimes dreamed of a thing and awakened from their dream and then fallen asleep and dreamed of the same thing, but I believe that this is all one continuous dream; that they did not really waken, but only dreamed that they awakened. I have never had any such dream, but at one time I had a recurrent dream, which was so singular that I thought no one else had ever had a recurrent dream till I proved that it was rather common by starting the inquiry in the contributors' club in the Atlantic Monthly, when I found that great numbers of people have recurrent dreams. My own recurrent dreams began to come during the first year of my Consulate at Venice, where I had hoped to find the same kind of poetic dimness on the phases of American life which I wished to treat in literature as the distance of time would have given. I should not wish any such dimness now, but those were my romantic days, and I was sorely baffled by its absence. The disappointment began to haunt my nights as well as my days, and a dream repeated itself from week to week for a matter of eight or ten months to one effect.

I dreamed that I had gone home to America, and that people met me and said: "Why, you have given up your place!" and I always answered: "Certainly not; I haven't done at all what I mean to do there yet. I am only here on my ten days' leave." I meant the ten days which a Consul might take each quarter without applying to the Department of State; and then I would reflect how impossible it was that I should make the visit in that time. I saw that I should be found out and dismissed from my office and publicly disgraced. Then, suddenly, I was not Consul at Venice, and had not been, but Consul at Delhi, in India; and the distress I felt would all end in a splendid Oriental phantasmagory of elephants and native princes, with their retinues in procession, which I suppose was mostly out of my reading of De Quincey. This dream, with no variation that I can recall, persisted till I broke it up by saying the morning after it had recurred that I had dreamt that dream again, and so it began to fade away, coming less and less frequently, and at last ceasing altogether.—Harper's Magazine.

Tricking a Crab.

In Africa there exists a certain member of the crab genus commonly known as the great tree crab. This peculiar shellfish has an offensive trick of crawling up the cocoanut trees, biting off the cocoanuts, and then creeping down again backwards.

The theory is that the nuts are shattered by the fall, and the great tree crab is thus enabled to enjoy a hearty meal. Now, the natives who inhabit regions infested by this ill-conditioned crab are well aware that the lower portion of the crab's anatomy is soft and sensitive, and they believe that the "bivalve" was thus constructed in order that he might know when he had reached the ground, and when, consequently, he might with safety release his grasp of the trunk. So what they do in order to stop his depredations, which often ruin the cocoanut crops, is this: While the crab is engaged in nipping off the cocoanut they climb half way up the trees and there drive a row of long nails right around the tree, allowing an inch or so of the nails to project. The crab has no knowledge of disaster, nor yet of the fitness of things. As he descends, the sensitive part of his body suddenly touches the nails. Thinking he has reached the ground, he naturally lets go. Instantly he falls backwards, and cracks his own shell on the ground.

"I have suffered with jaundice for over two years, and could get no relief until I began the use of Hood's pills and have never had an attack since. I highly recommend Hood's pills to all who suffer with this trouble." Mrs. H. Forbes, Mount Pleasant, Mohawk, Ont.

HOOD'S PILLS are especially prepared to be taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A POPULAR GOVERNOR.

Enthusiastic Reception to Governor Paterson.

Special to the Times.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 11.—The Tribune, the chief organ of the Manitoba Government, commenting on the arrival of His Honor Lieut. Governor Patterson on Monday, must have dissipated any remote feeling which may have existed in his mind that there was the smallest measure of hostility towards himself, because of his assumption of the office to which he has been appointed. The people of this province have much too good sense to entertain for a moment any such feeling. They were quite outspoken in their view that the office should be given to a home man, but the Dominion Government having appointed Mr. Patterson, the people here, with common sense, immediately recognized the situation and loyally accepted Mr. Patterson, against whom, personally, nobody has a word to say. The warmth of the greeting extended to the new Governor by Liberals and Conservatives alike, on his arrival, was but an earnest of the cordial treatment he is bound to receive on all hands during his incumbency.

396 MILES IN SIX HOURS.

New York Central About to Make an Attempt at the Record.

Special to The Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Late last night it was rumored among railroad officials here that the New York Central Railroad would, either Tuesday and Wednesday morning, send a train out of the Grand Central depot in New York City for Buffalo, a distance of 396 miles, in an attempt to do the distance in six hours. This, it was said, would be done in an attempt to beat the record recently made in England of 519 miles in 538 minutes. If the train starts, it is said Charles Hogan, the engineer who made the famous run on engine 999, will be in charge of the throttle and that the Empire express will be held back until the train starts. It is proposed to make this a great train. Everything will be first class.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

The Tramp was Surprised.

A tramp entered an empty house on Parnell street last night and made preparations to spend the evening there. The police were notified, however, and took Weary Willie by surprise. He spent the night on the oak mattress in the cells.

Open Seasons.

A Large Meeting.

The public meeting in the George street Methodist church last night held under the auspices of the W. M. S. was largely attended, and the audience was greatly interested and benefited by the excellent address delivered by Miss Winnie McDonald, daughter of the late Senator McDonald, of Toronto.

A Warm Day.

The thermometer yesterday registered 90° in the shade and hardly a breath of air relieved the oppressive sultriness. It was the hotest day of the year with one exception, and that was during May. Citizens suffered intensely from the heat. If this weather continues the summer resorts will have another boom.

Have Resigned.

At a recent meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club, Messrs. George Horkins, Alex. Gibson and H. R. Kenner handed in their resignations. It is understood that the reasons given were that the club had not offered sufficient encouragement in the recent "meets." The club has not acted on the resignations, and the hope is expressed that the gentlemen will withdraw them.

The Lights Went Out.

Business houses using incandescent lights were in darkness for the space of half an hour, between seven and eight o'clock last night, owing to the breaking of a belt at the power house. The barber shops suffered the most. Several parties who were getting their whiskers trimmed, preparatory to going to the show, were in an awful state of mental anxiety until the lights again glimmered.

Found Dead in Bed.

The sudden death of Miss Maggie Young, of Kingston, who was on a visit to her brother, Rev. W. R. Young, was a severe shock to her relatives, and a very sad occurence. The deceased was an invalid, but on Tuesday night retired in her usual health and in excellent spirits. In the morning when Mrs. Young went to call her, she was greatly shocked to find her dead, having passed away after midnight, as at that time Mrs. Young had spoken to her. Weakness of the heart was the cause of death. Last night Rev. Mr. Young accompanied the remains to Kingston.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co. WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Mr. Cox to Miss Morgan—Rev. Mr. McWilliams Wedded.

A very pleasing matrimonial event took place last evening at 6 o'clock at the Morgan House, when Mr. E. W. Cox was married to Miss Lottie Morgan, only daughter of Mr. A. P. Morgan, proprietor of the popular Morgan House.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. H. Symonds, rector of St. Lukes. The bridesmaid was Miss Louie Morgan, of Hamilton, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Dickson Davidson in the capacity of best man. The happy event took place in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom, who are well known young people in Peterborough and have hosts of friends. The bride and groom stood beneath a large bell, formed of exquisite flowers, when the solemn words were spoken which bound them as man and wife.

The bride was elegantly gowned in white silk, with pearl ornaments and carried a bouquet of beautiful white roses. The bridesmaid wore yellow silk and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony the party sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper, served in the dining room of the hotel, which was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and presented a magnificent appearance.

Shortly after the ceremony the newly wedded couple were serenaded by the Sons of England band, which rendered several excellent selections in an efficient manner.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a great number of handsome, costly and useful presents, principal among which was a handsome piano and bedroom set from the brides' father, an oak dining room set from the groom's father, and a beautiful breakfast and dinner set, and a large banquet lamp from Mr. George A. Cox, uncle of the groom.

The young couple have begun life's journey under most promising auspices. Mr. Cox, who is a son of Mr. Aaron Cox, is a promising and rising young business man, and junior member of the hardware firm of Micks & Cox. He is well and widely known and has a promising business career. The bride is a well-known Peterborough young lady, and is very popular among the young people of the town. Their many friends will wish them every happiness. They left on the 9 o'clock train last night, and will visit Montreal and the east before returning to Peterborough which will be their future home.

MCWILLIAMS—CARSON.

London had an unusual event Tuesday afternoon—a double wedding—in which two Presbyterian clergymen and two popular young London ladies were the participants. Rev. A. McWilliams, the esteemed pastor of St. Andrew's church, was one of the grooms, and his bride was Miss Effie Carson, daughter of Mrs. M. Carson, of London. The ceremony was performed in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church by the pastor, Rev Robt. Johnstone, B.A., late of Lindsay. The church was crowded with an assemblage of friends of the young ladies, who were prominent workers in the church and favorites in London's society circles. Miss Carson was attired in a rich costume and was assisted by her sister, Miss Violet Carson. Rev. Jas. Cattenach, of Centerville, was Mr. MacWilliam's attendant.

The other clergyman who entered the matrimonial state in company with St. Andrew's pastor was Rev. Wm. Patterson, of Leamington, and his bride was Miss Laura Bilton.

THE ROAD RACE.

It Will Take Place to Lakefield and Return on Sept. 19.

A local road race to Lakefield and return, under the auspices of the Peterborough Bicycle Club, will be run on Thursday, Sept. 19th. It will be a 20 mile handicap, open to local riders.

The race will be interesting and the entries will doubtless be large. It will be the first race held by the club. Several valuable prizes will be offered for competition. Entries close with the secretary of the bicycle club on Tuesday, Sept 17th.

As there is considerable rivalry between the local riders as to which is the fastest on the road, each and every one claiming to hold a record to somewhere and return, this will give them an opportunity of deciding who the best rider really is.

From now until the day of the race, the besweatered members of the club will go into earnest training.

HAVE SRTUCK TENTS.

Durham Field Battery Breaks Camp—A Pleasant Time.

The Battery struck tents this morning and marched to the drill shed, thence homeward, after a pleasant sojourn of eight days in the town park, says the Port Hope Guide.

Last night the boys remained around town and in the camp ground and enjoyed themselves until the wee sma' hours.

Considering the short time in camp the Battery made favorable progress in drill and the officers were complimented by the Inspecting Officer, Major Drury, of A. Battery, Kingston, on the good use they made of their time.]

The inspection was held on Saturday and Monday. In the fuse boring competition Corporal Hector Carveth of Port Hope took first place. In the gun laying competition Bombadier Smith, also of town held a very creditable second place.

Four members of Toronto Field Battery, at present engaged on the College reconstruction, spent last evening in jovial convivality with their soldier comrades in this camp.

The weather throughout has been all that could be desired and altogether the week spent this year in the town park has been one of the pleasantest in the records of the Durham Field Battery.

THE BREWERY PICNIC.

A Day of Pleasure and Sport—A Large Number Attend.

It was a corker! That was the verdict of everyone of the 200 and more who took in the 10th annual brewery picnic yesterday. The North Star left Peterborough at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, loaded from pilot house to stoke's hole with employees of the brewery, their wives, daughters, cousins, and friends. It was a merry party and the trip to beautiful Jubilee Point was thoroughly enjoyed by everybody. The point was reached at 11 o'clock and preparations for dinner were immediately set about. At noon the large party sat down to a sumptuous repast.

There would have been room for several more on board the North Star had it not been for the brewery baseball nine's bat. This colossal ball pounder was made especially for the game that was scheduled to take place with an Indian nine. It took four men to carry the bat on shore, where it was taken in charge by Harry Nell, who easily carried it around in one hand, until the game took place.

The Indians didn't show up, but the brewery nine had set their hearts on a game of ball, and they were bound to have it. It was found that the famous Sunflower baseball team was on the grounds, and they signified their willingness to play. The game started at 1 o'clock, and the spectators witnessed one of the most exciting games of the season, characterized by good play, and a scarcity of errors. The sluggers lined up as follows:

BREWERY.		SUNFLOWERS.
Conners	Pitcher	McCabe
Tighe	Catcher	Howard
Costello	Left Field	Defrain
Paxman	1st Base	Lipsett
Scott	2nd Base	Duncan
G. Calcutt	3rd Base	Watley
Nell	Short Stop	Collins
Mercer	Centre Field	Moore
Drain	Left Field	Holland

Umpire, J. Blaine.

It was a great game. From the start it was plainly seen that it was not to be a one-sided game, although it was admitted that the Brewery nine had the advantage in having on their side, Harry Nell. This was demonstrated when the genial Harry toed the plate with the mammoth bat in his hand, and catching the pig skin fairly on the end of it, lammed it so far into Rice Lake, that he encircled the diamond and scored a home run before the ball was recovered. It was a great play and the crowd cheered him lustily.

Jimmie Blaine was umpire. Before the game commenced he was placed in an iron cage and armed with a bottling mallet, in case of an attack. His decisions were as fair as a June day, and gave intense satisfaction. The game ended in a victory for the Brewery nine by 9 runs to 5.

Then came the sports which were of an exceedingly interesting nature. The different events were run as follows:—

Girls' race.—Emma Payne, 1; Alice Scott, 2.

Mens' race, 100 yards.—George Paxman, 1; D. McCabe, 2.

Fat mens' race.—D. Denney, 1; J. Collins, 2.

Three-legged race.—Denney and Costello, 1; McCabe and Paxman, 2.

Ladies' race.—Miss Castle, 1; Mrs. R. Graham, 2.

Old mens' race.—Mr. R. Castle, 71 years of age, 100 yards in 15 seconds.

Quoit match.—Costello and Lipsett, 21; McCabe and Hartley, 19.

Butcher's orchestra furnished music for the dancing which was indulged in both on the boat and at the pavilion at the Point. Mr. M. Costello acted as floor manager in an efficient manner.

The North Star left Jubilee at 5 o'clock, returning to town at 8.15. Everybody declared they had spent a most pleasant day, and the brewery picnic of 1895 will long be remembered by all who attended.

INS AND OUTS.

Election time is approaching. The signs of the times are unfailing. At last the Council has recognized the rights of the laboring men of Peterborough and given local contractors a chance at the sewer work.

⁂

The young man who was returning from the Toronto fair gazed at the cresent shaped moon and sighed. "I am like that orb," he whispered emotionally.

"How is that," asked his companion.

"Because I am on my last quarter"—and they let the car go by and walked home.

⁂

Some people have found fault with the work of our dramatic editor. They say that he praises up a show when it is really no good and runs down a show when it is really out of sight. We can't help it if the public will get the paid notices mixed up with those that are not paid for. When they do this it makes a heap of difference. Very few people know how to size up a theatrical performance. A show that may be very poor where the price of admission is 50 cents, might be well worth the money at 25 cents. People who pay 25 cents to a theatrical performance, must not kick if they don't see a 50 cent or $1 performance. We write up shows in this paper on that basis. If it charges 50 cents and is only worth 25, we roast it; if it charges 25 cents and is worth that price to see, or is really worth more, it is a good show, and it receives a tickling little notice in these columns, that means at least 4 places. Our dramatic editor knows his business. He has been to the Musee in Toronto several times, and once rode in the same street car with Henry Irving, and ought to know what's what. Let the kickers kick.

SCOURED WHEAT.

Toronto Grain men and Ontario Millers Make Energetic Protest.

The grain section of the Board of Trade met in Toronto Tuesday morning and passed a resolution to the following effect:—

Whereas the grain section has passed a resolution approving the action of the Givernment prohibiting the placing of scoured wheat in the grain of No. 1 hard; and whereas it is reported the Government has rescinded such order; and whereas, such action virtually notifies purchasers under the protection of a Government certificate that the grain is permitted to contain damaged wheat; therefore, this section places on record its strong disapproval of rescinding of the order, and urges its reenactment immediately that it may come into effect before the present Manitoba crop began to move.

Attention was also drawn to the fact that the order-in-council rescinding the prohibition order was passed on August 29, while the letter was received from an official of the department dated August 31, saying the coming into effect of the order had been merely postponed.

The executive committee of the Dominion Millers' Association met in the council chamber of the Board of Trade at noon and prepared a report, which was presented at the annual meeting of the association this afternoon. Among the matters of importance which came up for consideration was the mixing of scoured wheat with No 1 Manitoba hard. The action of Controller Wood in connection with the order prohibiting the mixing and its subsequent withdrawal, was discussed at some length. Several of the millers were of the opinion that parties outside the business had influenced the Controller to suspend the first order through misrepresentation. The feeling of the association was that the matter settled before the standards are established. The most important question that came up was the question of mixing inferior wheat with No. 1 hard at the Fort William elevators, and emphatic opinions have been expressed on the subject. The recent action of the Dominion Government in rescinding the order-in-council prohibiting this mixing was condemned very vigorously, both by speech and resolution. It was claimed that it would mean ruin to Manitoba and to the reputation of Manitoba wheat with the English millers, as well as great injury to the millers and exporters in Ontario. Charges were freely made that the change had been made purely to please certain influential interested parties in reckless disregard to the interests of the country's farmers, millers and exporters. None of the numerous speakers offered any defence of the course taken, and the resolution condemning the course was unanimous. The annual report showed that the past year had been the most successful for several years. The evening meeting was devoted to the reading of papers and the election of officers, the result being:—Alex. Dobson, Beaverton, president; Mr. H. Barrett, the retiring president, having declined election; first vice-president, James Cummings, Lyn, Ont.; second vice-president, S. R. Stuart, Mitchell, Ont.; treasurer, Wm. Galbraith, Toronto; executive committee, Messrs. H. Barrett, Port Hope; M. McLaughlin, Toronto; T. O. Kemp, Seaforth; J. M. Spink, Toronto; J. Noble, Norwood, Ont; W. H. Meldrum, Peterborough, and James Goldie, Guelph.

A Metal Breadboard.

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the wooden bread-board it is much cheaper, [illegible] lighter and easier to handle. THE VALKYRIE DROPS OUT

BLANKETED BY A PILOT BOAT JUST AFTER THE START.

Lord Dunraven Protested Against Interference and Carried Out His Threat—Defender Crossed the Line First, but the Valkyrie Refused to Race.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The greatest disappointment reigns here over the fiasco that attended the third of the series of races for the American's Cup. Valkyrie dropped out of the race shortly after the race began, as Lord Dunraven claims, she was blanketed by a pilot boat in such a way as to interfere with her and prevent her having a fair show. She had barely crossed when she gave up the race and turned back.

DUNRAVEN'S STRONG LETTER.

Lord Dunraven's strong denunciation of the interference of steamers with the racers was looked upon this morning in quite a serious light, as there seems no doubt that he meant what he said when he threatened to withdraw from the race if interfered with today. His letter on the subject, written Tuesday, is as follows:

"Gentlemen,—It is with great reluctance that I write to inform you that I decline to sail Valkyrie any more under the circumstances that have prevailed in the last two races, and for the following reasons:

"First—To attempt to start two such large vessels in such confined space and among moving steamers and tug-boats is, in my opinion, exceedingly dangerous, and I will not further risk the lives of my men or the ship.

SUCH RACING ABSURD.

"Second—At the start of the first race the crowding was so great that we could not see the mark boat and could not tell when we were near the lines, and we were hampered by steamers, especially on the race home. Today on the reach home eight or nine steamers were to the windward of me, and, what was worse, a block of steamers were steaming level with me and close under my lee. I sailed nearly the whole distance in tumbling, broken water, in the heavy wash of these steamers. To race under these conditions is, in my opinion, absurd, and I decline to submit myself to them again.

"I would remind your committee that, foreseeing the trouble that might occur, I urged upon them the desirability of sailing off Marblehead or some locality other than New York Bay, and that they refused to do so. At the same time, I would testify to my full belief that your committee have done everything in their power to prevent over-crowding.

TOO MUCH PUBLICITY.

"The fact is that when a contest between the representatives of two yacht clubs excites so much interest and attracts such crowds of people, if the races are sailed in the immediate neighborhood of a great city and the dates of the races and times of starting are known and advertised, it is impossible to keep a course free from causes of exceptional danger and clear enough to assure the probability that the result of the match will be decided according to the relative merits of the competing vessels.

"I have the honor to be, your obedient servant, "DUNRAVEN."

To the America's Cup Committee.

FIFTEEN MILES TO LEEWARD.

Defender passed Quarantine in tow at 8.20 and Valkyrie five minutes later. As the committee boat passed the English boat the members doffed their caps to Dunraven who waved his hand in answer. At 10.29 the committee boat signalled that the yachts were to sail the straight away course, a run of 15 miles to leeward, towards Long Beach, and a beat back. The wind was about west and blowing about 6 miles an hour.

The preparatory gun was fired at 10.55 and the yachts began manoeuvring for the start. The second gun was heard at 11.09 and at 11.12 Defender lowered her staysail and was standing to westward on port tack. Something had evidently happened to delay the start, as Valkyrie made no movement to hoist her club topsail. At 11.15 Defender had hoisted her staysail again. At 11.16 had gybed like a top and seemed to sail a trifle lower in the water than in her previous races.

DEFENDER CROSSED FIRST.

The third gun was fired at 11.20 and the boats started. Defender crossed at 11.20.24 in the best position and with her spinnaker boom out. Valkyrie crossed at 11.21.59, it looked as if the skipper kept away until the room around the starting point was large enough to suit her.

A few minutes later Valkyrie came around the lightship on the port tack and seemed to be out of the race, having hoisted neither her club topsail nor her spinnaker. She returned towards the starting line while Defender kept on. It was evident that there was trouble about the English boat, which was confirmed when her protest flag was flown. She lowered all her sails and started towards Sandy Hook in tow of her tug, the English yachts and steamers cheering her.

SHE SURRENDERED THE RACE.

Then it was learned that she had dropped out of the race because she had been blanketted by a pilot boat. Half the excursion fleet followed her, while the other half remained undecided or went after the Defender which could be dimly seen spinning along at a great rate in the fog with her spinnaker taken in.

At 12.10 it was learned that when the Valkyrie came down to the line a large schooner pilot boat, No. 19, came directly across and to windward of her. In an instant she was blanketed and as soon as she got a bit of wind she went to port and rounded the lightship. As she did so she sent up to her mast-head the ensign of the New York Yacht Club, signifying that she surrendered the race.

At 12.30 p. m. after Valkyrie had hoisted the ensign of the New York Yacht Club the Dunraven tender ran along side of her and threw her a line. As the English yacht started for home her sails were lowered and as she passed the McKay-Bednett she was heartily cheered by the latter's crew. The Valkyrie returned the cheers, but all on board refused to answer questions. The only explanation of the affair obtainable here at this hour is contained in Lord Dunraven's letter and in the blanketing which she received from the pilot boat just before the start. On the other hand it is claimed that Valkyrie never intended to start today for she had not hoisted her club topsail or got her spinnaker ready to cross the line. Just as she rounded for the start the tender of Lord Dunraven ran along side and spoke her. From the time on she never prepared any further so that possibly the blanketing of the pilot boat was not the cause of her withdrawal.

A PAPER VICTORY.

The Evening News says: 'The whole business savors of sharp practice. No one would quarrel with a decision ordering that the race be resailed, but we cannot stomach a paper victory awarded to Defender.

The Pall Mall Gazette in course of a long article on the subject, dilates upon British patience and good temper, pertinacity and unquenchable love for justice, and continues: "It is not easy to accept the decision but we hope we are taking it as sportsmen. It is hardly equitable, but according to the rules of the game. We accept it and will try again. It turns out that Mr. Iselin is a sportsman with the best of us. We shall have another race."

A BAD DECISION.

CANADIAN OPINION OF THE ACTION OF THE NEW YORK REGATTA COMMITTEE.

Aemilius Jarvis, who witnessed the foul between the two yachts on Monday, gives the following account of the occurrence in today's Mail:

"After considering the evidence today the Regatta Committee allowed the protest, and awarded Defender the race. The decision states that Valkyrie infringed rule 17, sec. 2, of the New York Yacht Club racing rules, the text of which is:

"A yacht free shall keep clear of one close hauled.

"As both yachts were sailing with the wind abeam almost parallel to each other, and both heading for one objective point, namely, the boat marking the weather end of the starting line, Valkyrie to windward about half a length ahead, the case appears to me to be a misapplication of this specific rule. To my mind, it is not appropriate. This is all the more strange in the face of a decision given by the committee on a hypothetical case upon which Mr. Iselin, of Defender, asked their ruling before the race, and which was as follows:

"Two yachts, heading for the starting line on the same tack, their courses converging, the yacht to weather being the overtaking yacht, having established an overlap, has the leeward yacht the right to hold her course and force the weather yacht on the wrong side of the mark? Their ruling was that the leeward boat must give sufficient room and had not the right to crowd the other off the line.

"To my mind this hypothetical case is exactly in accordance with the case in point. Valkyrie was to the windward, a little ahead, and the courses of the yachts were converging. As her boom struck Defender's starboard shroud, Valkyrie had not evidently sufficient room, and which also proves that she was in the lead. The position whence I viewed the start was exactly astern of the yachts, so that their course and the relative position of both boats was clearly defined, but I could not estimate how far they were from the line at the time."

BRITISHERS IRRITATED

OVER THE DECISION OF THE COMMITTEE—YANKEE'S QUEER SPORT.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—While the tone of the best of the English newspapers in commenting upon the decision of the Cup Committee sustaining Defender's claim of a foul in Tuesday's yacht race continues to be moderate, it must be admitted that the committee's decision produced a general feeling of irritation among Englishmen, Adverse comments of individuals are heard on all sides.

The Yachtsman, in an article on the subject, dwells upon the conduct of the excursion steamers attending the race, and says: "The first match could hardly be called a race owing to the shameful interference by excursion steamers. It seems clear that in Tuesday's race Defender lost nothing by the accident, but beaten on merits in the beat to windward. With regard to Defender's protest, it is impossible as yet to form an opinion save that it would not have been lodged by Valkyrie III. had the cases been reversed."

The Sun, which throughout has maintained a tone hostile to America, says: "The Yankees evidently intend to keep the cup. Possession is nine points of the law of sport in America."

THE WORK OF A CYCLONE.

TWO KILLED AND MANY INJURED IN WATERTOWN, N.Y.

A Kingston and a Hamilton Lady in the Smash—Cars Swayed by the Force of the Storm—Several Towns Visited.

Special to The Times

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Sept. 12.—A terrific thunderstorm visited this section last night; wires are down in all directions and communication was cut off for hours except on one telegraphic wire. The storm was of such force as actually to sway the passenger cars on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad near Richland. The wind and lightning were accompanied by a deluge of rain. Several farm houses in the vicinity have been struck by lightning and burned. The roads were washed out in places and fallen trees block the highways in many parts of the country. It was the most severe storm in years, although lasting only one hour.

The cyclone struck the village of Cape Vincent just as a large excursion en route homeward from the Jefferson county fair at Watertown, were about to take the boat for Kingston, Canada. The Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg depot collapsed. George Godfrey and Thomas Arneel, of Cape Vincent, received injuries from which they died within an hour. The following are among the injured:—Miss Maud Walshe, Kingston, Ont., severe scalp wound; Mrs. John Aiken, Hamilton, Ont., fractured limb.

WELL SATISFIED.

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain are Pleased.

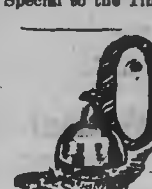
HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—A large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, the head quarters for distributing are never in danger of running out of the medicine for long no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

ANOTHER SEALER SEIZED

THE U. S. CUTTER RUSH CATCHES A CANADIAN.

Tour of the Dairy Commissioner—Cold Storage for Fruits and Dairy Products to be Inaugurated in the Far West—Notes From Ottawa.

Special to the Times.



OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The seizure by the United States cutter Rush of the British Columbia sailing schooner Beatrice has been reported to the authorities here. So far as can be learned, the Beatrice, which hails from Vancouver, was boarded in the North Pacific by the officers of the Rush and seized for irregularities in the keeping of her log. The charge seems to be that her commander failed to record, as required by the Paris award, the number of seals taken and the time and place. The seizure was merely a notification to the commander to proceed at once to a British port and inform the authorities that his vessel had been seized. This report was made yesterday by the captain of the Beatrice at Victoria, B. C. The seizure is the only one made this year in the name of the United States, and is the first since the Paris award for an offence of this kind. It remains, of course, to be seen whether the irregularity is a trifling one or one that is intended to cover up fraud.

The regulations, however, are very plain on this point and the instructions most distinct. They are printed on the back of the license carried by each sealing schooner. Article 5 reads: "The masters of vessels engaged in fur-seal fishing shall enter accurately in their official log-book the date and place of each fur seal fishing operation, and also the number and sex of the seals captured upon each day."

It was for neglect to comply with this regulation that the Beatrice was seized. She was one of the only two vessels which cleared from the port of Vancouver for Behring Sea this year.

OUR TRADE WITH ENGLAND.

Board of Trade returns show that British exports to Canada increased 13 per cent. during August, but show a comparative decline of 8 per cent. for the eight months ending August 31st. Imports from Canada are shown to have decreased slightly for both periods. The increases during the eight months were: In cattle $500,000, sheep $150,000, wheat and flour $500,000, hams $220,000, butter $100,000, eggs $100,000; metals $10,000. There was a falling off in British imports of Canadian cheese amounting to $750,000, fish $500,000 and wool nearly a million dollars.

THE DAIRYING SERVICE.

Prof. Robertson left last evening for Toronto to spend one day at the exhibition on his way to the Northwest and British Columbia. He will arrive at Moose Jaw on Sunday, and hold a meeting there at the Government dairy station at 8 o'clock Monday morning. He will arrive at Victoria, B. C., on Wednesday evening, and address the farmers at the Agricultural Exhibition at Victoria on Friday, September 20th. One of the Dominion traveling dairies will give illustrations of buttermaking at the exhibition during the week.

After spending some days on Vancouver Island with the travelling dairy, Mr. Robertson will return to the mainland and visit different districts, including the Okanaghan Valley.

He will go over the Calgary district to give such directions as may be needed by the managers and patrons of the new creameries of that district and will then return to attend the exhibition of the Royal Industrial Society at New Westminster, B. C.

While in the west the Dairy Commissioner will also endeavor to make arrangements for cold storage service for butter and other perishable food produce at Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. He will stay off at Winnipeg only on his return journey.

NAVIGATION OF THE "SOO."

Lieut. Col. Anderson, Chief Engineer of Marine has returned from the "Soo," where he has spent the past few days conferring with the marine interests about aids to navigation preparatory to the establishment of two range lights for the lower approach and two to indicate the upper channel. Col. Anderson reports that a good 300 foot channel exists at both ends of the lock and that both are well marked by buoys. He was present at the opening of the canal on Monday last and predict that a Canadian lock will be used by the largest class of vessels in the lake service, until the completion of the new lock at the American Soo. The channels leading to the Canadian waterway are well lighted by electricity distributed from the canal power house. The range lights will also be electric. Col. Anderson is confident that the opening of the canal will result in the building of a town of considerable importance on the Canadian side.

BLOOD STAINED HAND.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—At the Demers murder trial but little evidence against the accused was adduced, while the defence claim to have evidence that will knock the bottom out of the Crown's case. Miss Sauve, who was called to prove that it was not Mrs. Demers who was seen in the woodshed at 1 o'clock, proved a setback for the Crown. She stated that she had called at the house and was present when the body was found, but said that she had not been near the woodshed and denied intimacy with Demers. Madame Nantel testified that she saw Demers at home with a cut hand, which accounted for the blood on his clothing.

Rev. Cure Reme Descarreos described what he saw and did. He took hold of the murdered woman's hand and found that it was quite cold and stiff. The blood on the wound was clotted and dry and the woman had been dead a long time. Mrs. Nantel felt the heart and it was cold. Father Descarreos believed that Mrs. Demers had been dead several hours. The appearance of the bed suggested a struggle, and he could not believe that the woman had committed suicide because there was no blood on her hands and it was impossible for her to have inflicted the terrible wound which cut the carotid artery. Miss M. Deguire testified that she saw Demers in her woodshed at 4.20 a.m. on the morning of the murder. The Crown claims that the murder was done early in the morning, between 4.20 and 5.30. The defence are making much of blood stains on the blind, which they claim are the imprint left by the murderer's bloodstained hand, and he raised the window and made his escape.

A NEW DISINFECTANT

A new disinfectant has been discovered. It is called Pictet's gas. It is a mixture of sulphurous and carbonic acid gases. Its power of diffusion is said to be 12,000 times that of hydrogen. The medical authority of the European edition of the New York Herald speaks of its action in the following terms:

In an hour's time every microbe, even the most resistant, is killed, no matter what the obstacles to penetration may be. For instance, active germs of typhoid fever, cholera and anthrax were cultivated on rags, which were placed between the leaves of a book which was surrounded with a cloth, tied up and placed in a box, placed, in turn, between mattresses strapped in a bundle. Under these conditions, after an hour's time, all the germs were destroyed. As regards the spores, which are, as everyone knows, extremely refractory, and on which the greater number of antiseptics have no action, an exposure of about three hours is necessary. This gas appears to have no deleterious effect on the tissues with which it is brought in contact. In rooms in which sulphurous acid had left living microbes the presence of Pictet's gas even for a very short time destroyed them. Experiments which Koch, of Berlin, is said to have made with Pictet's gas are in complete accordance with the results obtained by M. d'Arsonval.

This news is very important to physicians and sanitarians, though full details of experiments with the gas have not yet come to hand. Pictet's gas would seem to be the perfection of disinfectant.

If the women who jumped from Brooklyn bridge thought she was going to elevate her sex by that feat she made a mistake. She lowered herself greatly.

Sir Mackenie Bowell did not hesitate to cross the prairie to Battleford—a journey by wagon 350 miles in length, and occupying seven days. A man who can spend a holiday that way is young enough to re-enter the House of Commons

Toronto is at the mercy of firebugs, a water-main which supplied the city from the lake having burst. But what incentive could a Toronto firebug have to start a fire when there is no water, and, therefore, no chance of seeing the fire-engines run?

Ireland looks for no more dollars from the United States—that is from the Americans of the United States, for T. P. O'Connor's newspaper has had the gall to say of "the greater Ireland over the sea," that "over the claim or Americans to be ranked as sportsmen there hangs a cloud."

The attention of the Buffalo Express is invited to the fact that the new United States battleship Indiana is obliged to come to Canada to be drydocked before her trial trip. Uncle Sam has no drydock big enough for the Indiana: this wretched and despised country has several.

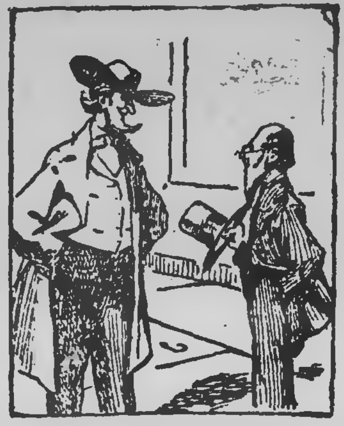
Those wholesale exposures of the tricks and cruel deceptions practiced by the "materialiizng medium" at Lily Dale will probably have little effect upon the faith of confirmed Spiritualists. Practical persons who have not been inoculated with spiritist enthusiasm accept these exposures as proof that the "mediums" are simply vulgar tricksters who make a living by playing upon the credulity of ardent believers in the supposed fact of spirit-communication; but the believers themselves are primed with an explanation which leaves them free to continue their belief. They allege, many of them, that the poor mediums are not to blame, but are the victims of the machinations of bad or mischievous spirits. This explanation indicates the last stage of credulity. When it is reached the victim's condition is hopeless. Fact and argument are wasted upon him.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Ye Editor Deals Trenchantly With Various Mundane Matters.

Another Failure—Some time since, as our readers will remember, we erected a tower on the Kicker office. It was the first and only tower on a newspaper office in this territory. It wasn't as wide and tall as a New York newspaper office tower, and we didn't have an office up there and require a caller to send his card up through thirteen different information bureaus, but it was a tower which men rode fifty miles to gaze on. Our idea was to put a bell or a clock in the tower, but we kept very quiet on that point, and nothing was done until last Saturday. Then, fondly believing that our innovation would excite no alarm, we got out a bell which had been hidden away for three months and had workmen hoist it up and hang it in place..

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all being ready, the joyous notes of our bell sounded forth on the winter air, and we felt that a great victory had been won. Not for long, however. We heard the tramp of feet and the murmuring of voices outside and went out to discover a very solemn looking crowd packing the street in front of the office. Of a sudden every body who had a gun began shooting, and some were so enthusiastic that they used two guns. We did not need to ask for explanations. We had but to look into the faces of those nearest us to know that our latest attempt to move the pointer on the dial of civilization was a failure. Bullets cut the bell rope. Bullets hit the bell. Bullets clipped and splintered the woodwork of the tower. By and by, when almost the last cartridge in the town had been fired, the crowd melted away and left only ruin and desolation behind. The fragments of the bell have been gathered up and laid away for future generations to gaze at, and the last of the tower has been removed from the roof to the wood pile. There will come a day in this town when towers will be as familiar sights as telegraph poles, and when the clang of a dozen bells will provoke no comment, but we must bid our time. When the workmen were hanging that bell, we bent our head to the east and thought we heard the roar of the wave of progress breaking against our iron-bound shores, but it seems we were mistaken. We tender our regrets to the public and drop back into the Nineteenth Century with a sickening thud.



HE HAD A GENTLE DISPOSITION.

Apologetical—During the two days we were in Prescott last week our horse editor was in charge of our signal service bureau. We know of no particular reason why a horse editor shouldn't make a success of running a weather bureau, but the truth remains that our man made a flat failure of it. For Wednesday he predicted a warm wave and before noon of that day the thermometer was down to the lowest point reached this winter. Thursday morning a committee of indignant citizens started out to wait upon him, but he got word in time and was not to be found. We reached home Friday noon and for several hours were kept busy explaining matters to different delegations and committees. Our horse editor came out of his hiding place about 10 o'clock at night, looking more like a ghost than a man, and it will be a week or more before he will feel easy in his mind. As near as we can figure, he got the weather for the Sandwich Islands mixed up with the weather for Arizona. We are extremely sorry that anything of the sort should have occurred, and our readers can rest assured that it will not happen again. We have labeled the different pigeon holes and shall herafter keep each weather by itself and thus render mistakes impossible.

Newspaperial—In its issue of last week the Pine Hill Recorder gave notice of suspension, and we understand that Bro. Barnaby, its editor and proprietor, has shipped his material East and will hunt for a location in Iowa or Indiana. When he stopped here five months ago on his way to Pine Hill, we were sure that disaster awaited him within a few weeks. He had been running a cheese factory, cider mill, chicken farm and a weekly newspaper in Ohio and was absolutely ignorant of the great West. When we asked him if he could shoot, he looked at us in astonishment. When we mentioned poker, he held up his hands in horror. He had the gentle disposition of the chickens brought to life in his incubators and was as mild as the new cider which poured from his press in the autumn days. How he ever managed to get out twenty issues of the Recorder is a puzzle to us. People sued him for libel until it would have taken $10,000,000 to satisfy claims. People called on him and mopped his sanctum floor with his body until the floor was worn out. He was dragged out of bed and carried around on a rail, and he was led out of the office at high noon and hung up until he couldn't swallow anything but soup for days at as time. He couldn't shoot, and he wouldn't use a club, and the result was what might have been expected. On several occasions we rode over to Pine Hill and cleared his office of a mob and in one instance cut him down as he was hanging and kicking at the end of a rope, but he had no sand and was a plaything for the Pine Hillers. The right kind of an editor could have been Postmaster over there, had a private graveyard and been elected Mayor by a whooping majority, but Bro. Barnaby made a failure of it all round and has finally scraped the mud of the Territory off his feet.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

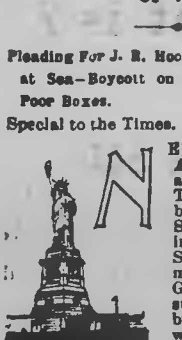
ENCOUNTER WITH REBELS

INCENDIARIES ADD TO THE HORRORS OF WAR.

Pleading For J. R. Hooper—A Fatal Collision at Sea—Boycott on Cigarettes—Stole the Poor Boxes.

Special to the Times.



NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A special to the Herald from Havana says: The insurgents have burned the village of San Juan de Arniaro, in the province of Santa Clara, 21 kilometres from Segua La Grande, a handsome summer resort, celebrated for its mineral waters, and have destroyed the railway. The insurgent chief, Lazo, intimated to the military commander of the garrison that death awaited him if he did not at once surrender. The answer of the Spaniard was that the civic guard did not know the meaning of the word surrender.

The fighting then began and lasted four hours, incendiaries adding their work to the horror of the scene and soon destroyed the whole village. The Spanish forces were not driven from their position though the insurgents numbered 500, commanded by Lazo, Antonio Castro and Julian Lugu. The inhabitants fled from their homes.

Robt. Bermidez's forces destroyed the Manzares estate, owned by Count More, last night. A train bound to that place had to put back in consequence of an attack by a band of insurgents. The fort defending the station of Satamanca is held by armed Havana firemen.

A band of highway robbers at Cainalto, murdered Josefa Vera. J. Dias, the wife of his brother made a heroic defence, using her last cartridge. The highwaymen burned their victims' houses.

PLEADING FOR HOOPER.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—Joseph Hooper, of Port Hope, father of John Reginald Hooper, now undergoing imprisonment at St. Vincent de Paul, for causing his wife's death, is in the city. He says the Mayor and council of Port Hope and all the leading citizens have joined in a petition to the Minister of Justice, praying for a reconsideration of the case.

A FATAL COLLISION.

FLUSHING, Holland, Sept. 11.—The Spanish steamer Manila, bound for China, and the Norwegian steamer Xany, bound for Antwerp, collided near Borsella, today, The Xany sank soon afterwards and six of those on board were drowned, including the captain. The Manila was badly damaged.

CIGARETTE BOYCOTT.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 11.—The petition of C. A. Whelan & Co., for an action in the name of the people to prohibit the American Tobacco Company from selling cigarettes in this state was slated for a hearing before Attorney-General Hancock this evening. Attorney-General Oakley, of the firm of Odain & Oakely, attorneys for the Trust, asked for postponement of the hearing on the ground that there had been allowed inadequate time to get ready for the argument. In spite of the vigorous protests of Attorney E. N. Wilson for Whelan & Co., the hearing was adjourned to September 23rd.

STOLE THE POOR BOXES.

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—James Duchensey, a deaf mute, who broke into St. Joseph's church, Somerville, and stole five of the poor boxes, was held for the grand jury today. Through an interpreter Duchensey told the court that he was a native of Montreal where at the present time his wife [illegible] it with two children. He has not been home for years. He says he served three years in a penal institution in Canada and when liberated he was committed to an insane asylum where he remained for a year. He arrived in Boston last week without money. He said he wished to go to Montreal to see his wife and little children, and having no money stole the poor boxes.

Of the Spoils or Else There will be no Fight with Corbett.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The Inter Ocean this morning prints a story in which it is said that Fitzsimmons declared that he will refuse to meet Champion Corbett in Dallas unless he is "let in" on certain commissions on which a large sum of money will be realized. It is said that he accuses Brady, Corbett, Joe Vendig, and Stewart, of Dallas, with gobbling up everything in sight, from the lemonade stand to the eidoloscope, with which it is intended to reproduce the fight throughout the country. It is the latter concession that Bob is especially jealous of, and it is said that he has made a formal demand for a percentage in the profits of it, otherwise he declares there will be no fight.

THE HOUSEHOLD PLANTS.

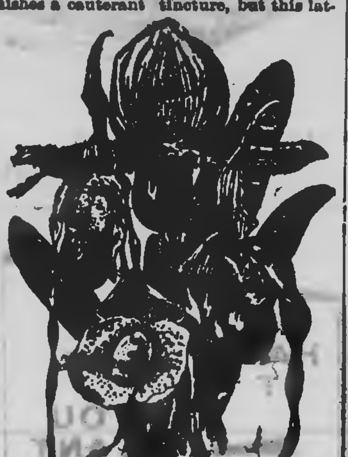
Four Varieties of the Orchid Which Anyone Can Raise Without Difficulty.

Nature is now at her best. The trees are covered with tender leaves, the grass is green in the meadows, the birds are singing their summer canticles and bees and butterflies are seeking honeyed sweets among the flowers. This is the month for flowers, and it is also a month when from the shelter of sunny greenhouses we remove out treasures to the open air, confident that no cutting wind or chilly night will mar their beauty.

Of all household plants the tenderest, perhaps, are orchids. It is only recently that they have become in any degree popular, owing to their great cost, but for a decade past they have been grown by many florists and are now within reach of nearly all. Some very rare ones cost hundreds of dollars, but the price in general varies from one to fifteen dollars, the greater number costing three and five dollars apiece. This sounds extravagant, but it is not in reality, for a careful woman will gather the seed, and thus indefinitely increase her collection.

Orchids are air plants, parasites. They are found in all tropical countries, growing on the old wood of the forest trees, giving them a many-colored glory which alone they could never attain. Nothing is more beautiful than when walking through a tropical forest, with live-oaks, palms and myrtles growing thickly together, to come upon some grand old oak with a rubber tree growing in a cleft of the trunk, and the gnarled branches almost hidden by purple, red, yellow and white orchids; some standing out boldly, a single blossom on a wiry green stem, others following the line of a branch in rows of delicate mauve blooms with a darker purple centre, and nearby a veritable cascade of delicate white flowers, a dozen of more on a single drooping vine-like stem, and, framing all, like a delicate veil, the beautiful Spanish moss (white man's shroud, the Indians called it), stretching from branch to branch and from tree to tree, as far as the eye can reach.

Our illustration shows four varieties of an orchid which any one who can raise a geranium will find no difficulty in growing. The flower affords a curious field of observation. The odd pouch, or labellum, and the variously-colored petals, sometimes invisible, again drooping in long spirals, are arranged for the best accomplishment of a definite object. The foliage, rich green, or beautifully mottled, always presents a pleasing aspect, but the crowning glory of the cypripedium is its period of bloom. If left on the plant the flowers will last in perfect condition from two to three months, and even when cut and put in water they will remain perfect for at least a month. The common name for the cypripedium is Venus' Slipper, from Cypris, one of the names of Venus and pes, pedis, the Latin for a foot. This name, in English, is sometimes applied to the "lady's slipper" which furnishes a cauterant tincture, but this latter is a very different flower, and is more correctly named "the balsam." Our illustration was drawn from a group of four distinct varieties. The leaves were plain green and spotted green. The uppermost flower had a dorsal petal of bluish white heavily veined with green and dark red; the two horizontal petals were green with maroon spots, and were edged with a species of fur. The pouch, which is almost closed, is shaded from a deep brown at the lip to a pale green at the base of the cup. The flower on the right hand is of shaded green throughout, save for the interior of the cup, which is a delicate mauve spotted with maroon and purple and flecked with light yellow. On the left is a flower of a red variety. It is of a high art shade of old rose, streaked with green and a darker tint of the same color, the cup being yellow on the inside, throwing the dark spots into high relief.



FOUR CYPRIPEDIUMS

The fourth flower in the group is almost white, tinted with a greyish green, except at the edges. The lateral petals almost enclose the pouch, which is pale yellow near its opening, and the entire blossom is spotted with a rich purple.

The general treatment for orchids is to give them an abundance of heat and water during the development of the pseudo-bulb; when this is full grown, as little water as possible till the buds appear, then more heat and more moisture, with only a little shade from the heat of the sun. Orchids vary so much that each individual one needs special directions, which can be obtained when they are purchased.

For Semi-Dress Occasions.

Taffetas are very much in vogue for semi-dress occasions. Some are shown in changeable effects with fine stripes and chine figures between the stripes. Some others are of plaid, often a fine line of black on a colored ground covered with chine flowers. Many of the favorite taffetas are small checks, never larger than half an inch; they also come in glace and chenille effects and in a rainbow, chine, Watteau, pointille and Persian patterns. Somewhat akin to these are the Pompadour, Bengalines and foulards with ombre grounds; then there are gros de Londres in brocaded stripes and quite novel three-toned effects, and duchesse silks and satins in every imaginable color. These silks are rivaled by the dainty figured Habutai silks in checks, stripes and plaids, and Shauntungs delicately printed in monochrome and in mixed tints.

Black and white in combination are much liked; but the [illegible] are [illegible] and narrower than during the winter season. One novelty in this particular is the trimming of white muslins with black lace, and this gives an enlivening touch to the dead white which is so unbecoming to the majority of people. It is quite a fad to finish a bodice with a large black velvet [illegible]

A WORLD'S WONDER

THE ESCURIAL, BUILT BY PHILIP II. OF SPAIN IN 1563.

A Temple, a Palace, a Treasury, a Tomb and a Museum—Here are Buried the Rulers of Spain and Their Children—The Builder Lived Here Like a Monk.

The Escurial, built by Philip II. of Spain, between 1563 and 1584, was called "the eighth wonder of the world." It was at once a temple, a palace, a treasury, a tomb and a museum. That is to say, all these were included in the huge building which Philip erected on the slope of a spur of the Guadarama range, thirty-two miles northwest of Madrid. The builder's object was to carry out the will of his father, Charles V., by constructing a royal burial place, and also to fulfil a vow he had made during the battle of St. Quentin, when he implored the aid of St. Lorenzo, on whose day (August 10, 1557) the battle was fought. A correspondent of the Boston Herald writes from San Sebastian describing this eighth wonder:

The edifice stands about 3,000 feet above the sea, facing the mountains, with its back toward Madrid. It is a rectangular parallelogram, 740 feet from north to south, and 580 from east to west. On the east side is an advanced portico which breaks the façade. This gave rise to the vulgar impression that Philip's idea was to make the building in the shape of a gridiron, an allusion to the manner of St. Lorenzo's martyrdom, he having been boiled to death on a slow fire in the reign of the Roman Emperor Valentianus, A. D. 261. There seems to be no other ground for the fanciful invention.

The building covers 500,000 square feet of land, or nearly 12 acres. It has 16 court-yards, 86 staircases, 15 cloisters, 88 fountains and 3,000 feet of painted fresco. The church, which occupies less than a sixth of the whole space, is 320 feet long, 230 feet wide and 320 feet high to the top of the cupola. The redeeming qualities of the enormous structure are size, simplicity and situation. It seems to be a part of the mountain on the slope of which it rises. It still looks grand even among mountain buttresses. Otherwise, it disappoints. Its architecture has little in form or color to commend it. It lacks the prestige of antiquity, and it does not express any religious sentiment. It might be a vast manufactory. Its cold granite walls, blue slates, leaden roofs and small windows give it a commonplace appearance.

Of course, it is now little more than a skeleton of what is was. The living monks who swarmed in its courts are here no longer. The revenues on which they lived have been taken away. The French soldiers stole and carried away many of its golden ornaments in 1808. Its best pictures have been removed to Madrid. The building has suffered from neglect, exposed to hurricanes and winter snows. Better care has been taken of it in later years. It is now used as a seminary, where about 200 youths receive a secular education. The fanatical Philip lived here, half king and half monk, for fourteen years after the building was completed. His last end was miserable, for he was harassed by doubts as to whether his zeal in burning heretics would secure him a passport to heaven.

The family vault under the high altar, as built by Philip, was severely plain, at once impressive and instructive. His successors, Philip III. and Philip IV., built the gorgeous subterranean chamber which has become the Spanish Pantheon. Here repose the remains of kings and queens who have really reigned, and the severe etiquette of the Spanish court does not stop at death. The chamber, to which we descend by some sixty steps, the stairway lined by green and yellow-colored jasper, is an octagon thirty-six feet in diameter and thirty-eight feet high, terminating at the top in a pointed dome. The materials of which the walls are composed are dark polished marbles and gilt bronze. There are twenty-six niches hollowed in seven of the eight sides, the altar occupying one, with black marble sarcophagi, all exactly alike. The reigning sovereigns are on the right of the altar and their consorts on the left. The names of the occupants are written on the urns, beginning with Charles V. Several are empty, awaiting future kings and queens. The last to receive a tenant was that of Alphonso XII., who died in 1886. An empty one awaits his wife, now Queen Regent, and another his son, the present boy king, not yet ten years of age.

Perhaps the most interesting part of this huge pile is the suite of humble apartments where Philip lived the monkish life which he preferred, reserving all luxury for the temple. He was still one of the most powerful monarchs of his age. His armies carried the flag of Spain half over Europe. Rich argosies brought to his ports the treasures of the new world. He lived here a slave to bigotry, and in his reign were sown the seeds of [illegible] from which may be traced the sad decay of one of the great powers of the earth. We are shown in the small, dark cabinet where he carried on the business of "Most Catholic King," the desk at which he wrote on little scraps of paper—for he had his pet economies, the chair in which he sat, another in which he rested his gouty leg when he gave audience to his ministers and foreign ambassadors, and some of the utensils he used. From his dismal sleeping room a door opens into a small chamber which overlooks the high altar of the church. To this he was carried in his last illness and here he died after languishing long with a loathsome disease.

After seeing all worth seeing in the interior and wondering at the maze of chambers, cloisters and courtyards in which a stranger might easily get lost, we went outside on a grand terrace, the whole length of the building which overlooks toward the south formal gardens and fish ponds. The slopes below are well planted, the fine elms having been brought from England. The view extends over the rolling plain, which looks level in the distance, as far as Madrid. We then ascended a neighboring height, one of the spurs of the mountain range, the summits of which are white at this season, to take in the great building at one view. In spite of the defects I have noted above, it is a very impressive pile, being one of the largest of human constructions. The gray-stone village clustered beside it, and climbing by steep streets up the slope above it, contains a population of about 1,500. Pure streams of sparkling water flow impetuously down the ravines which [illegible] the mountains, making the fields below fresh and verdant.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

A WOMAN'S LIFE SAVED BY A TROLLEY FENDER.

A Stranger to the Fair Beaten and Robbed—A Phonograph and its Operator Arrested—A Man's Body Found in the Bay.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—A fender saved the life of Mrs. Craig, a 70-year-old lady, who is partially demented and who has no fixed place of residence. She was crossing Bloor street west, when she got in the way of a west bound car. She seemed transfixed in the centre of the track and paid no attention to the vigorous clanging of the gong.

The motorman was unable to stop the car, and the front of the fender struck the woman and dumped her into the netting carrying her about fifteen yards. She screamed at the top of her voice, and another lady, who was in the car tried to dismount in a hurry, apparently to ascertain the cause of the disturbance.

Womanlike she attempted to get off backwards, and was thrown violently to the ground, fracturing her wrist.

Mrs. Craig was more frightened than hurt, but after Dr. Musgrove had examined her he advised her removal to the hospital. The other victim of the accident, who declined to give her name, went home.

HE WAS A STRANGER.

David McNeilly, a young farmer, came down from Jarvis, Ontario, to see the sights. An obliging stranger whom he met on King street volunteered to be his guide, philosopher and friend. Two other gentlemanly strangers joined them and McNeilly was steered to a quiet place near the new armory and there viciously attacked by the trio. His teeth are broken, his chest badly injured and his face bruised. The brutes made a determined effort to rob him, but secured only his watch chain. Their victim is now in St. Michael's Hospital for repairs.

A PHONOGRAPH ARRESTED.

On a table in the Exhibition police station rests a phonograph. The rubber ear tubes droop quietly and the whole machine has a crestfallen appearance. The phonograph was arrested at noon today for general immorality. Incidentally its owner George Barm, who hails from Buffalo, was likewise incarcerated.

Inspector Hall has a musical ear, and when he noticed a phonograph outside the main building this morning he said to the stalwart policeman who was with him, "Will, just see what all these people with tubes to their ears are laughing about."

The inspector referred to a number of sporty young men, who seemed to be drinking in the utterances of the phonograph too greedily for innocent pleasure.

The inspector and the policeman each took a tube and they heard—no matter what they heard. That is another story. At any rate the inspector who has the finest moral sensibilities heard enough to warrant him in at once apprehending the instrument and the owner. Barm will appear in the police court tomorrow.

FLOATING IN THE BAY.

William Abbs, engineer in McLaughlin's flour mill, discovered this afternoon at the foot of Bay street the dead body of a man in the water beside the wharf.

The man was evidently a painter by trade, as besides a putty knife he had several cards of W. G. Nugent, a painter at 74 Bathurst street. The dead man was a cripple, his right leg being shorter than the left, and he wore a boot with a high heel. He wore a brown suit of clothes and had a dark moustache. The body had been in the water about five days.

TO BE TESTED IN PERU.

Electric Locomotives Will Be Given a Trial.

Special to The Times

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 11.—A representative from the Baldwin Locomotive Works, with an expert electrician from the Westinghouse company, and with Sir Henry Tyler, ex-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, will depart tomorrow for Peru, where, it is said, a test of the possibility and feasibility of the electric locomotive is to be made upon a railroad 1,500 feet above the sea level. Sir Henry Tyler has been in this city for several days in conference with members of the Baldwin firm. It was decided last night to make the experiement, and tomorrow the party leaves New York for South America.

The name of the company proposing to make the test could not be ascertained. It is said that should the report of the representatives of the Baldwin Westinghouse experts be favorable, it will probably lead to the placing of the first large order for the new locomotives.

The Baldwin company is to be represented by Arthur Church of this city and J. Hunt of Pittsburg will look after the interest of the Westinghouse company.

EMPERIOR WILLIAM ANNOYED.

Because Von Waldersee was too Much for Him in a Sham Fight.

Special to the Times.

STETTIN, Sept. 11.—Emperor William, Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, the King of Saxony, and the Bavarian and other Princes started early yesterday for Kolbitzow, where an engagement was opened between the Guards Corps and the second and third army corps. The day's operations ended with the retreat of both corps of the southern army to the line of Woolin, Storckow and Schoeningen. The victory of the northern army was due to General Von Waldersee's unexpected forced march early in the morning from the line of Pasewalk and Krugsdorff. This movement surprised the Emperor, and also irritated him greatly. A remarkable feature of the manoeuvres was the fact that one could ride along ten miles of the battlefield without seeing anything beyond a few helmets or a rising cloud of dust, betraying the location of the troops under cover, so well were their operations concealed.

SIR VISTO AGAIN.

The Winner of This Year's Derby Carries Off the St. Leger.

W. G. Singer's Telescope was second, and L. Brassey's Butterfly third. The odds against Sir Visto were 4 to 1.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS
Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.
$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.
Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

THE TELL-TALE CLOTHING

MRS. PIETZEL IDENTIFIES YOUNG HOWARD'S GARB.

A Train of Cars Derailed—Disastrous Fire at Lancaster—The Missing Chicora—No Surrender—Explosion at Louisville—A Head-end Collision.

Special to the Times.

NDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Pietzel and her daughter Dessa, the only child that escaped from the merderous clutches of Holmes, went before Coroner Carter yesterday. Mrs. Pietzel told of the disappearance of the three children from St. Louis on September 28, 1893, in company with Holmes, and of her travels to Indianapolis, Detroit, Chicago, Toronto, Ogdensburg, New York and Montreal in search of them. Mrs. Pietzel positively identified the tiepin, shoes and buttons as those of little Howard, and when the murdered child's overcoat was produced her hysterical grief was pitiful to witness. She identified the coat absolutely. The trunk was also identified. Dessa, the daughter, likewise identified, every article.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

EVANSVILLE, Wis., Sept. 12.—A wreck occurred on the Chicago and Northwestern railway near here yesterday, causing the death of two men and the demolition of several freight cars. The killed were F. P. Hollinshead, of New Lisbon and E. J. Sullivan, of New Lisbon. The accident was caused by a draw-bar pulling out of one of the centre cars, which dropped down and caught in the ties of the railroad bridge, throwing the cars into the water.

A DISASTROUS FIRE.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 12.—The most disastrous leaf tobacco fire in the history of this city started at 3 o'clock this morning, in the warehouse of John F. Brimmer, on Tobacco avenue, and communicated to the warehouse owned by R. H. Brubaker, both of which were entirely destroyed with their contents. The loss is estimated at $1000,000; insurance not ascertained.

A RELIC OF THE WRECK.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Sept. 12.—The Chicora accident is revived again by the finding of a lounge from her freight cargo and a ship pillow on the beach a few miles north. This is the same spot where, after three previous storms, some part of the steamer had come ashore. The boat cannot be far distant from this place and an effort is being made to start another searching party.

NO SURRENDER.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Times prints a despatch from Madrid denying the statement recently published that Senator Castellanus, Minister of the Colonies has resigned. Gen. Campos of Cuba, the same despatch says, has announced that he will accept no proposals from the rebels, except that of unconditional surrender, after having delivered their arms to the government.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 12.—A caisson exploded this morning at sunrise as the morning gun was fired by Battery A Louisville, Legion. Five members of the battery were killed, two were wounded and one is missing. All the killed and injured men were residents of the city. The victims of the explosion are: Dead—Corporal A L Robinson, Private Bicicnes, Private C. Woods, Private A. McBride, all white; C. Adams, colored, and two others, names unknown, badly burned, taken to the city hospital unconscious. According to the best reports the men were seated on a caisson. One of the privates were smoking a cigarette and a spark is supposed to have entered the powder box, which exploded without a moment's warning.

Suffered With Jaundice.

"I have suffered with jaundice for over two years, and could get no relief until I began the use of Hood's pills and have never had an attack since. I highly recommend Hood's pills to all who suffer with this trouble." Mrs. H. Forbes, Mount Pleasant, Mohawk, Ont.

HOOD'S PILLS are especially prepared to be taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

COWARDLY TRAMPS.

A Syrian Cruelly Beaten and Robbed in Open Daylight.

Special to The Times.

FORMOSA, Sept. 12.—In broad daylight yesterday a young Syrian living in Walkerton, and who had been peddling goods through the country was attacked by four savage tramps. The Syrian was en route to Formosa on the road leading from Mildmay, half a mile from the village where a small bush comes to the road, when two of the tramps came up and asked him to show them a watch. He was in the act of showing it when the tramps knocked him in the head and began to treat him most inhumanly. The other two tramps then came along and they placed a rubber ball in his mouth so that he was unable to call for help. They disfigured his face terribly, tore his clothes, bound him on fence rails, took all his cash, amounting to ten dollars, and the goods and made their escape. It was past one o'clock when the Syrian was found. Immediately upon hearing of the affair, the local constables went after the tramps, but as yet have been unable to secure them.

A WOMAN'S RIDE UNDER A CAR.

Crossing a Southern Desert to California on a Brake Beam.

Special to the Times.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Sept. 12.—A woman passed through the city yesterday who had crossed the desert on a brake beam. She was discovered three days ago near Dagget by the crew of a freight train. She was dressed as a boy, but soon as the trainmen brought her from under the car they were convinced that she was a woman, and she finally admitted that she was. She refused to disclose her identity, but said she and her husband had been living in an eastern city and he had deserted her, taking with him their little girl. She heard that he was in Oregon and had placed the girl in an orphanage. Being without means, she started out to beat her way there.

Brakeman Wheatly Killed.

AMHERSTBURG, Sept. 12.—Fred Wheatly, married, of St. Thomas, who was relieving the regular brakeman on the plug train on the Michigan Central R. R., was thrown from the train while shunting in the yard here today and had both legs cut off. Drs. Hobley and Park started on the train with him for his home, but he died when they reached Comber.

A Great Storm.

PERTH, Sept. 12.—This locality has been visited with one of the greatest rain and hail storms of this season. The lightning and thunder could not be described. Hail fully as large as plums and rain flooded the streets, a downpour for over two hours. We have not heard of any damage done.

FACTS TERSELY PUT.

Under the laws of Alfred the Great nearly all crimes were punished by fines for freemen and by the whipping-post for thralls.

Under Charlemagne's laws an eye was put out for the first theft, the nose was cut off for the second and the entire head for the third.

England is not generally thought of as a gold-producing country, but Knowledge says that there are perhaps few countries in the world in which the metal is more generally distributed. The principal mines in Wales, now abandoned, were worked as long ago as the Roman occupation.

Prof. Geikie writes in Nature that geologists have been on the whole inclined to acquiesce in Lord Kelvin's theory that the earth is about a hundred million years old, but some biologists have reduced the estimate to only ten million years.

IN AND AROUND ENGLAND.

Lord Randolph Churchill, who was supposed to be bankrupt, left an estate valued at $500,000.

England, according to the navy estimates, intends to build next year ten new first-class battle ships, six first-class, thirteen second and third class cruisers, and from forty-five to fifty torpedo boat destroyers.

Oranges are coming to the London market in great abundance. Pines are not at all expensive, and English grapes continue to be cheap.

The attempt of Great Britain to secure the extradition of James Balfour, ex-member of parliament, from Argentina, has thus far cost £40,000.

They say Patti will receive $12,000 for six performances at Covent Garden, $2,000 a night. She is still quoted at the top of the vocal price list.

A Woman at the Bottom of It.

A woman was in a hurry to board a Wabash avenue cable car. At the same time a one-legged man was in a hurry to leave the car. The woman collided with the man, knocked his crutch from under his arm and he fell upon the pavement. After the woman had made herself secure in the seat of the car she turned and made a profuse apology. The man was in no mood to accept it. He shook his crutch before her and cursed her. The woman's face grew crimson. The conductor enjoyed the occurrence. In doing so he stepped on a man's corn. The man toppled and fell against another man, knocking off the latter's silk hat. In scrambling to catch it he fell off. He raved and swore, and the man who had knocked off the hat, being pugnacious, jumped from the car and there was a fight. The conductor was heard to mutter: "Always a woman."—Chicago Tribune.

The Turtle's Annual Visit.

A land turtle that without fail for twenty-six years has regularly appeared at the home of Michael Mackey, at Parker Ford, Chester County, came to time a few days ago and was being proudly exhibited around Pottstown by Mr. Mackey yesterday. That gentleman asserts that there can be no mistaking his turtle, as the initials of his name are emblazoned on its shell. He says that its training has been so well developed at his home that at the sound of the dinner bell it comes into the dining-room to receive its allotment of food. It stays around the Mackey premises until September, and then goes off to its winter quarters.—

Found an Angel.

Husband—Got a new girl, I see.

Wife—Yes, and she's an angel, too.

"How can you tell that? She hasn't been here half a day, yet."

"True; but she tells me that she once lived with your mother, and stood it for three weeks.—N. Y. Weekly.

THOSE SEIZURES.

The Whiteway Scandal Fines May be Imposed.

Special to the Times.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 12.—Smuggling seizures continue. Several successful raids were made today. Nevertheless, the government shows no disposition to move against the parties involved, and the demands made by the press of all shades of politics for the prosecution of the offenders are disregarded. The political bosses are exerting their pull to stop the proceedings, knowing full well that the Whiteway party is certain to be badly smirched with the scandal. It is conceded now that the utmost that will be done in the case discovered will be the imposition of fines.

The schooner Lady Aberdeen of Sydney, Capt McLeod, bound for Barbadoes with fish, which sailed hence on Saturday, became water-logged during Monday night's gale. She was beached at Lanaline yesterday. There is hope of saving her cargo. She lies in a dangerous position, and if a gale arises she is certain to go to pieces.

Fell Over 25 Feet.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—George Sydall, a carpenter who lived at 282 Markham street, was fatally injured this forenoon while laying a new floor on the second storey of Wellington Chambers, 34 yonge street. He stepped on a board placed across the joist, it snapped and he fell to the ground floor, a distance of over twenty-five feet. In his descent he struck a beam midway and his head reached the floor first and was fractured. The police ambulance removed him to St. Michael's Hospital and his sorrowing wife was summond to his bedside.

A McCarthyite Elected.

LIMERICK, Sept. 12.—The election for member of Parliament for the city of Limerick, in place of John Daly, whose election was declared illegal because he is undergoing a sentence of imprisonment as a dynamiter, was held today. F. A. O'Keefe, McCarthyite, received 1,836 votes, and J. Nolan, Parnellite, 1,752.

The Castaways.

A full house greeted Harry Lindley's company last night in the opera house. The piece presented was "The Castaways," a very amusing as well as interesting play. The audience was kept in a continual roar of laughter, and was well pleased with the performance.

A Just Complaint.

Grocerymen and fruit dealers complain of the invasion of the town by fruit and vegetable pedlars. They state parties from a distance come in and unload to the detriment of those who pay rent and taxes, while benefiting no one in particular but themselves. The line should certainly be drawn somewhere.

Destroyed by Lightning.

The barns and house of Mr. John Owens, lot 3, concession 10, Ennismore, were destroyed by lightning on Tuesday night during the storm, which was very heavy in the northern portion of the county. The barns were frame and log and the house was log. Very little of the contents were saved. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $500. There is an insurance of $335.

Meeting of Insurance Men.

Some 55 district managers, inspectors and agents of the North American Life Assurance Company, from various parts of the Dominion, met in the Council chamber of the Board of Trade, Toronto, yesterday morning, under the presidency of Mr Wm. McCabe, managing director, and discussed methods of work. The visitors were entertained to a drive around the city in the afternoon, and in the evening they visited the Exhibition. Mr. J. W. Garvin, manager for this district, attended the meeting.

A Question For Bakers.

A subscriber writes to enquire how it is that with flour at $4 per barrel—one dollar cheaper than it was a month ago—bread still sells at 12 cents a loaf. We give the conundrum up; but probably if every one who buys bakers bread would pay spot cash for it—or even pay at the end of the month—local bakers would be able to sell bread a cent or two cheaper the year round and then have more profit than they are having now. The honest man paying for the deadbeat's bread is what keeps the price up.

Two War Trains.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has just had completed after many months of labor, two special military or war trains, which comprise fourteen cars for the men; two cooking cars, two pullman cars for the officers, two cars for wine and stores, and two dining cars. The officers' cars are fitted up in luxurious style, and contain state rooms, lavatory, smoking rooms, etc. Each train consists of eleven cars and engine, and has ample accommodation for nearly four hundred. With these fast war trains the C. P. R. expects to be able to cover the distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific in five and a half days.

"Ducking Under Difficulties."

Circumstances have not been favorable to a high degree for hunters of ducks in this locality. The birds are said to be high-flyers and make long distance flights, and are thus not easily "winged." Some "shots" returned from the marshy land empty-handy, while others were more fortunate in bagging a few. Another detriment to good shooting this year, is the low water and tall, thick rice beds, through which it is impossible to push a boat, and the only way of securing a bird is by wading, a not altogether pleasant undertaking when one sometimes drops to his neck or overhead in mud and slush.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co. SCULTHORP EXTRADITED.

A Fugitive From Justice Returns For Trial.

After consulting with Crown-Attorney Curry, a friend of the family, William J. Sculthorpe of Port Hope returned voluntarily to Rochester with Sheriff Hannan of that city to answer to the charge of grand larceny, according to the indictment found against him by the grand jury.

THE TIMES some time since announced that Sculthorp's extradition would be asked. His father, a respectible resident of Port Hope, read the article, went to Toronto and consulted Mr. Curry as an old friend and legal adviser of the family and young Sculthrop's voluntary return was the result.

THE ALLEGED OFFENCE.

On July 4, 1893, W. J. Wilcox, who was at that time the owner of the steamboats Charlotte and Genesee, engaged Sculthorp to sell tickets at the pier at Ontario Beach. The boats plied between Rochester and Sea Breeze and owing to the fact that it was a national holiday, carried large crowds all day. At the close of the day's work, according to the charge against him, Sculthorp decamped with the proceeds, amounting to about $1,000.

Sculthorp, however, gives a different version of the charge, altogether, he admits that he received a large number of tickets to sell but another agent was also given tickets to dispose of in his territory. He thereupon threw them on the wharf, telling the other agent he could sell them all. The latter declined to pick them up. The crowd however was less reluctant and helped themselves using them for the trip.

Sculthorp left the place and a warrant was issued for his arrest. It was learned that he had gone to Canada, and he was located a few months ago in Port Hope where his parents live. Mr. Ely, of the sheriff's office went to Washington a couple of week's ago and after conferring with the authorities obtained extradition papers.

HIS MOTHER PROSTRATED.

Sheriff Hannan left Wednesday evening for Cobourg armed with these papers. Sculthorp, as has been stated, consented to return without extradition. The people of Port Hope, where he lived since a boy, are greatly excited over the matter, and the young man's mother was prostrated with grief. His father who is a prominent seedsman of Port Hope, will engage counsel and see that a vigorous defence is made.

WITH THE SPORTS.

Champion Jim Corbett Plays Good Baseball in Toronto.

The last of the home games of the Toronto Eastern League Club was played across the Don on Wednesday afternoon against Buffalo.

There were about 3,000 spectators, in the stands and several hundred more would have been there but for the fact that nearly all of the street cars on King street were Exhibition cars and did not run east of the market. The strong attraction at the game was Jim Corbett, the big, heavy weight champion prize fighter of the world who got 40% of the gross receipts for playing first bag for the home nine. His younger brother Joe held down third base and the pair surprised the crowd by their capital playing. Jim had five put outs, one of which was a grand stand one hand catch of the ball thrown wide. He played without an error.

The champion's stick work was not as good as his fielding however, and he failed to make a base-hit during the game, while Joe lined out two and the brothers participated in a double play. Jud Smith was put on second base, but after making a couple of bad errors he was replaced by Shinnick. Although Toronto made five errors to one by Buffalo they pulled out a victory by 8 runs to 6. Score:

Buffalo ....0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2 2—6

Batteries—Gray and Lake; Lampe and Urquhart, Umpire, Lynden.

BASE HITS.

At Wilkesbarre on Wednesday Providence beat Wilkesbarre 12 to 6, Rochester beat Syracuse 19 to 4, and Springfield beat Scranton 8 to 0.

In a match between Bothwell and Chatham on Wednesday the former won by 13 runs to 6.

Five riders from Peterborough have entered in the R. Q. T. road race, viz. Lord, Walker, King, Lytle and Ewing. It is a pity that a full team of ten riders have not decided to ride as, accustomed as they are to road riding, the members of the club would have stood a good chance of winning some good prizes.

And now the young man in the country and his dog will go a-hunting the coon in the cornfield—sport that never loses its charm for the average youth.

It has been charming weather since the beginning of the month for campers, excursionists, duck hunters, tourists, health seekers and pleasure seekers generally.

The steamer Golden City has discontinued her regular trips from Lakefield, and will for the balance of the season, be employed on a profitable towing contract.

We learn from the bee keepers that the crop of honey this year is very much below the average. In some localities it is reported a complete failure, so much so, that the bees have not stored sufficient for their own consumption.

Between September 21st and September 26th there will be a big time in the Salvation Army barracks. Commandant Booth will visit Kingston and hold an officers' council. All the officers in the province of Ontario are expected to be present, as well as the staff officers of Toronto.

All is bustle and activity in the Canadian Pacific Railway workshops, Montreal. Fifty locomotives have to be turned out by Sept. 15, to be in readiness to move the immense wheat crop of Manitoba and the North-West. The men are working night and day, some of them, with overtime, having made as much as forty days during the present month.

One evening recently, a couple of Newmarket girls dressed themselves as men, and calling at the Mayor's residence feigned sickness and applied for passes. His worship gave them a lecture about boarding on the corporation and finally granted his order, but, of course, it was not presented and the girls hold it as a momento of their evening lark.

It is understood that a number of the members of the Canadian General Electric Company, including the officials, will arrive in Peterborough today for the purpose of visiting and inspecting the works here. The visitors will arrive at 11.25 per the C.P.R., and will dine at the Oriental. In the afternoon they will visit the works, leaving again in the evening.

An exchange tells of a "thunder bolt" that was found imbedded in the ground in its section. A thunder bolt or ball of fire is a reality though not of the character generally imagined. It is not a solid ball of fire, but merely electricity in a spherical form. Sometimes when it plows into the earth, it vitrifies the flint or sand, of which the soil is composed, and this substance being found the ignorant suppose it fell from the clouds.

Don't dodge a bicycle rider, either male or female. Stand still, and the rider will get along all right. Posts, trees, stones, etc., never dodge, and only beginners ever run into them. If you see a "bike" coming straight at you, don't dodge; if you do, you confuse the rider. If you stand still "in the middle of the road," or wherever you may happen to be, the rider will take care to give you plenty of room; but if you go dodging to get out of the way, the chances are there will be a collision, and you will be the worse hurt of the two. Therefore don't dodge.

THE RIGHTS OF BICYCLISTS.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—Allow me a few lines in your valuable paper to express my disapproval of the way bicycle riders are treated. There is a law that no bicycles shall be allowed on the sidewalk, still they allow baby carriages, wheelbarrows and the Salvation Army to go on the sidewalk. A wheel does not take up any more room than the rider when walking, and surely he is entitled to that much. In some towns there is a law allowing bicyclists to ride on the walks on back streets, but not on the main streets. Why cannot this law be here? A rider will sometimes ride on the rough roads seven or eight streets and not meet a person—why cannot he make use of the walks? He pays as much taxes as people who do the kicking. The wheelmen of Peterborough are quite numerous, and their vote is something to be considered. Those kickers who have something to say about the matter, let us hear from them. Thanking you, sir, for space in your valuable paper, I remain yours,

FAIR PLAY.

Has Been here and Gone.

A tramp printer, who said he had worked in every office in Canada, blew into this office on Tuesday, say the Lindsay Watchman. A farmer's grain bag came in at the same time, which he deposited in a corner, and on being asked what it contained he answered with a sardonic grin, "Poetry." At Fenelon Falls he was given permission to set up and print off "a few verses," and while he was at it he thought he might as well fill the bag. This poetry he was trading off among the Patrons enroute for cold handouts and skim milk. The night previous he informed our devil, he had slept on an engine in the round-house. He made the proud boast that he had not done a day's manual labor in three years, and expected to spend the coming winter in Washington, but whether as the guest of President Cleveland or in gaol he did not state. He was "English you know," and dropped his h's in true Cockney style. He took the dirt road for Peterborough, together with his bag of poetry. We expect to chronicle his demise at the hands of some suffering granger next week. Probably in our next issue we may be able to afford space for a verbation report of the interview. It was interesting.

The above mentioned specimen of the tramp printer genius, paid his respects to this office last night, and tried to trade off a poem on "Trilby" for a night's lodging. It didn't work. Our dog took an immediate aversion to the tramp, and groweled so threateningly, that he shouldered his grain bag, and left. After he had gone, Slug Five missed his lunch parcel.

THAT $5,000 BONUS.

In a letter in both of the evening papers, Mr. James Stevenson, M. P., takes up the cause of the Canadian General Electric Company's demand upon the town, for the payment of $5,000, which sum the council of 1894 agreed to pay the Company in the shape of a bonus for the removal of "certain works from Hamilton to Peterborough," and gives it as his unqualified opinion that the town should immediately hand over this sum to the Company. In his interesting letter he quotes facts and figures to show that the Company has not received as much money and land as has been asserted on all sides—that in truth, the Electric Company has only been bonused in the modest sum of $27,604.54, out of the pockets of the ratepayers of this town.

We do not, for one moment, question the correctness of the figures submitted by Mr. Stevenson, but we do not think that the sum the Electric Company received in the past from the town, be it $1,000 or $100,000, has anything to do with the $5,000 which they are now after. We do not think the company has been abused because it has secured a bonus from Peterborough, and had the amount been double or treble, as long as it was given by the consent of the people, evidenced by their votes, no one has the right to abuse the Company for getting it.

We oppose the giving of the $5,000 to the Electric Company, because the whole proceeding was a gross irregularity. The agreement was drawn up and the by-law passed without being submitted to the ratepayers of the town. It was an admitted irregularity, admitted by members of the council of 1895, who were members of the council of 1894. Will anyone deny that neither the town council or the town commissioners can give away, or vote sums of money either in grants or bonuses, without first submitting the matter to a vote of the ratepayers?

Aside from the admitted irregularity of the agreement of 1894, there is another consideration to be looked at. If we are rightly informed, the giving of this $5,000 to the Company, was conditional upon the town receiving that sum from the town commissioners. The corporation has never received the $5,000. It is not likely to receive it. The money was exhausted long ago by the town commissioners in the municipal road fund, and there it is. The Council of 1894 promised money that it expected to receive from the town commissioners, when it had no right to do so. The town has not received this money, because the contemplated gift has been applied to other purposes. Where is the $5,000 to come from? If the honor of the corporation is at stake, there is still time to submit a by-law to the people and raise the money to wipe out this awful dishonor (?) but there are very few people who will take this view of it, and among them, we believe, is the Council of 1895.

Farmers' Institutes.

The annual report of the Farmers' Institute of the province for 1894 was given out Wednesday afternoon. It contains many interesting papers delivered at the annual meeting of the Central Institute, and, in addition, the first report of the Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, containing an interesting account of the life of President Mills, of the Guelph Agricultural College. The report is of great interest to all who are interested in agricultural matters.

A Narrow Escape.

Little Irene Lawrence, granddaughter of Mr. R. White, proprietor of the White house, Charlotte street, had a narrow escape from death this morning. The little girl had been purchasing some grapes at Waller's grocery store across the street from the White house. She was returning and in passing over the street railway track she was struck by a street car and was thrown to the side of the track. Fortunately she escaped with a few bruises, but her escape was a narrow one.

A Metal Breadboard,

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

VALKYRIE GOING HOME.

MAKING READY FOR HER TRIP ACROSS THE OCEAN.

Defender Leaves New York Harbor for New Rochelle—Aftermath of the Race—Some English Opinions.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

THE yacht Valkyrie III. left her anchorage at Bay Ridge this morning and reached the Erie Basin about 9.30. On arrival at the Basin she was hauled into position between two steamers, just outside the dry dock, where she had several times been dried out for cleaning and repairing purposes. The crew in command of Captains Cranfield and Sycamore were immediately set to strip the yacht and prepare her for the voyage across the ocean home. The sailors worked with their usual alacrity and effectiveness, and before 11 o'clock had lowered the top mast and removed the bowsprit gear. The yacht will doubtless be ketch rigged for the ocean voyage as she was when she sailed from England to America.

THE DEFENDER'S MOVEMENTS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The yacht Defender, gaily decorated with flags, in tow of the tug, Wallace B. Flint, left Bay Ridge about 11.30 this morning, presumably bound for New Rochelle. No move was made by the American boat until long after the work of dismantling the Valkyrie had been commenced.

PLAIN SPOKEN BRITONS.

WHAT LONDON PAPERS SAY OF UNCLE SAM'S UNSPORTSMANLIKE SPORT.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The impotent conclusion of the International yacht races for the America's Cup furnishes the text for articles in all the London afternoon newspapers. In general the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without a guarantee that it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader the Pall Mall Gazette says that the result is unfortunate and that it will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America as by the same class in England. The article puts the whole blame of the fiasco upon hindering steamers and concludes; "But no one is to blame worth the blaming. We can now hope that arrangements for future contests of this character will be under more satisfactory conditions."

In its yachting columns the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While in our opinion Defender, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten Valkyrie in at least three out of the five races, we cannot but regret that Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say that Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous."

WANTS A RACE OFF MARBLE HEAD.

Further on, in the same article, the Pall Mall Gazette says: "We hope that the Earl of Dunraven will consent to sail for the proposed cup off Marble Head, as all are anxious to see the comparative merits of the yachts tested, and may the best boat win. Should Valkyrie win, which we think improbable, neither Lord Dunraven nor anyone else would bother to challenge again for the America's cup, which the new trophy would replace. Should Valkyrie lose, we know that Lord Dunraven would take his beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would be brought to a pleasant conclusion and a further challenge for the new cup would be only a matter of a few years. If Valkyrie III. returns without a race, it means that her owner is convinced that he did not have fair treatment at the hands of the committee and that no contest for the cup is ever likely to occur, even though the committee had decided that future races should be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair course."

NEED NOT LOOK FOR FAIR PLAY.

The Sun, which throughout has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says that the feeling has grown up here that fair competition need not be looked for in the contest for the cup, but adds that it does not sympathize with that view.

The Evening News says that the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says:—Of course we all love our American friends very much, but our newspapers beg to assure them that we all cordially support Lord Dunraven's retiring in disgust from a contest involving so much rowdyism and unfairness.

SHADY YACHTING, ROWING AND HORSE RACING.

The St. James' Gazette says:—"Once again a great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended muddily in a fiasco and quarrel, not an unusual experience." The article then alludes to the Cornell controversy at the Henley regatta and to the course of Mr. M. F. Dwyer with his horses in England, and continues: "In the present case the result is more regrettable, as no blame attaches to any of the parties immediately concerned."

In its article on the cup race controversy, the Globe says: "Wherever the English tongue is spoken there will be annoyance and regret at this unfortunate failure."

NO CREDIT ON THE NEW YORK YACHT CLUB.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 13.—The Sun says this morning: "The America's cup will remain on this side of the Atlantic, thanks to the New York Yacht Club and Lord Dunraven. The Defender got the three races. On Saturday she clearly outsailed the Valkyrie and won; Tuesday the New York Yacht Club won the race for her, and yesterday Lord Dunraven presented the Defender with the third race. The New York Yacht Club, the American people and the few Defender's sympathisers in this city must all feel that a victory has been won that reflects little credit on the New York Yacht Club."

An Advance of Two Per Cent.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—The wages of over 50,000 workers in the union mills of the country for September and October have been fixed by representatives of the Merchants Bar Iron Association and the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers. The settlement gives all the employees in the finishing department an advance of two per cent.

Fatality in Scotland.

IT STRUCK KINGSTON.

Wednesday Night's Cyclone Did Great Damage at the Limestone City.

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 13.—Wrecked houses, uprooted trees and prostrate telegraph poles are to be seen everywhere in this city, which was devastated Wednesday night by a cyclone. The greatest casuality was the unroofing of the cotton mill. The wind blew in the top storey wall of the mill for about 50 feet, lifted the roof up clean off the wall and doubled it back over the rest of the roof. The portion thus treated weighed 60 or 70 tons. When the roof fell in it smashed six spinning mules, burst the water service, which flooded the whole building. The roof was blown off the tower and carried through the air for several hundred feet. The damage amounts to fully $80,000, a total loss.

The erecting shop of the Kingston & Pembroke car works is a complete wreck. It was blown down on top of the cars and locomotives inside, which prevented it from being laid flat. The shop was 330 feet long.

The residence of Thos. Clyde, Jenkins street, of Mr. Veale, Alfred street, and of Ira David were wrecked.

The Kingston Field Battery, which was encamped on Barriefield common, had a lively experience. The tents and harness were blown everywhere, while two timbers were blown clean across the common to the fort.

A DRUNKEN ACTOR.

Shoots His Wife and Narrowly Misses the Officers Who Arrest Him.

Special to The Times.

GRAND LEDGE, Mich., Sept. 13.—During the present week the Forbes and Ward Dramatic Company have been playing a week's engagement here. Last night "Rip Van Winkle" was to have been the attraction. However, Frank Forbes, the leading man, became intoxicated and going to his wife's room at the Middleton House began a quarrel which finally ended in his drawing a revolver and shooting the women. The bullet penetrated the body just above the right hips passing through the abdomen and came out at the left hip. At the time of the shooting the husband and wife were alone and the cause of the quarrel is unknown, but the man is believed to have been jealous. He was still so intoxicated that after the shooting when Deputy Sheriff Halliday attempted to place him under arrest he fired two shots at the officer both of which grazed his person, but caused no injury. With the assistance of the City Marshal Forbes was finally landed in the lockup. Forbes is said to have resided at Coldwater, Mich., where he is well known. His wife has relatives in Omaha, Neb.

FIRE AT LONDON FAIR.

The Carriage, Poulty and Other Buildings are Destroyed.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 13.—Ten thousand people saw the destruction by fire of the carriage and poultry buildings at the Western Fair grounds last evening. The fire originated about 7.20 in the poultry shed, and before the firemen arrived it was a mass of flames. Fortunately it was empty, the exhibits being due to arrive on Monday. The fire quickly communicated to the carriage building adjoining, which was stocked with fine vehicles in readiness for the opening of the Exhibition today. These were all removed without injury. The buildings were reduced to ashes. They were of frame, and valued at $3,000 each. The loss is covered by insurance. A meeting of the fair directors was held on the grounds directly after the fire, and other quarters for the carriage and poultry exhibits were immediately provided, so that exhibitors will suffer little inconvenience. The Toronto Fair Board will be asked for the loan of chicken coops. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is generally ascribed to the electric light wires.

HORRORS OF EARTHQUAKE.

Three Hundred People Said to Have Perished—Terrible Destruction.

Special to The Times.

TEGUCIA, Honduras, Sept. 13.—A courier arrived here from Yetapan, and announced the most terrible earthquake ever known in this section. The loss of life and property is enormous. Three hundred people are said to have perished. On Sunday the shocks commenced. By Monday the city contained 3,500 people from the mountains and outlying villages. During the night sheets of flame appeared at different points to the north west, rising to immense heights. Many were killed by falling rocks. Smoke from the mountains to the north west rose to an enormous height, followed shortly after by the bursting of flames from the mountain sides and the throwing out of rocks and lava.

FOUND TWENTY-FIVE BODIES

In the Mine at Houghton, Mich.—Four Still Missing.

Special to the Times.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Sept. 13.—Preparations for exploring No. 4 shaft in search of the bodies of the miners which were entombed last Saturday in the Osceola copper mine have been commenced. As a result of the efforts of several searching parties 25 bodies were rescued. There are still four missing—William Bryant, William McDonough, Fred O. Pearson and Joseph Siotta. The bodies showed no signs that the men had suffered any before death. No doubt death to most of them was painless. A coroner's jury has been empanelled and will investigate the cause of death of the unfortunate men. The funerals will mostly occur on Saturday.

A REFUGEE BURNED ALIVE.

Saturated With Coal Oil and Roasted by San Salvadoreans.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A local paper prints a sensational story stating that Florencio Bustament, the San Salvadorean refugee, who was surrendered to the authorities at La Libertad by the captain of the city at Sydney, was saturated with coal oil and roasted alive. The statement is made in the same paper that Bustament was surrendered upon the order of American consular agent at La Libertad.

Raid on Chinatown.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Today there began a systematic raid on Chinatown by Federal authorities. Every Chinese laborer who cannot produce a satisfactory certificate, accompanied by a photograph, will be arrested and held to answer the deportation law, commonly known as "The Geary Act." The decision of the port as to the right of the Chinese to remain here will be final. The United States Attorney General authorised Marshall Baldwin to begin the raid on Chinatown.

THE ST. HENRI MURDER.

MISS DEGUISE TESTIFIES SHE HEARD THREATS FROM DEMERS.

Evidence Pointing to Durant's Guilt—Had Both Legs Cut Off—Anti-Toxine for Typhus.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—In the Demers murder case this morning the cross-examination of Mlle Meloidie Deguise was continued by Mr. Desmarais. The witness said she had seen Demers in his shed at half past four o'clock on the morning of the murder. She had never seen him chopping wood at such an early hour. She was then dressing to go to five o'clock mass. On the eve of the murder about ten she heard Mrs. Demers working at her sewing machine and then she heard her walk to her bedroom and, hearing no more noise, concluded that she had gone to bed. She heard nobody going into or leaving Demers' house on that morning. No person entered Demers' house from 8.30 till 11.30 in the morning because she was sitting in the store near the front door. During that time the carpenters were working on the annex at the rear of the house. At noon she was twenty minutes away, having gone to her sister's with a dress. She had heard some loud talk between Demers and his wife especially on a certain Sunday in May.

In rebuttal the witness said she had heard threatening words by Deemers to his wife which she at first considered were not serious. She once heard Mrs. Deemers say, "Oh, you hurt me."

She did not attach any importance to the words then, but now she had changed her mind. She heard more threats on other occasions early in May. Deemers and his wife were upstairs, and she was down stairs. The accused always spoke loudly to his wife. His words were distinctly heard downstairs. Witness could not identify the blue and white dress produced, but Madam Deemers generally wore a blue dress in the house. Witness could not describe the dress worn by Miss Sauve on the day of the murder, but it was blue and resembled that of Madam Deemers'. One dress could have easily been mistaken for the other. She generally saw Demers' milkman, but that morning she did not see him. Demers' milkman arrived generally before her own. Her own milkman arrived always before six o'clock.

The application of Mr. St. Jean to have the two Ladouceur girls, charged with infanticide, admitted to bail was rejected this morning, the Crown refused to consent. The court promised that their trial would follow that of Gauthier, and if the trial of the latter was postponed it would come after the case of Demere.

Charles E. Gagnon, against whom three counts of false pretences are laid, pleaded not guilty, and was admitted to bail.

WERE KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

COLON, Columbia, Sept. 13.—During a thunder storm at Matachin yesterday two men were killed by lightning.

BOTH LEGS CUT OFF.

BERTHIERVILLE, Sept. 13.—Mr. Champagne, a butcher, of St. Thomas, nine miles from here, was killed on the railroad track near Berthier Junction last night. He had left his horse on the road and entered the Junction Hotel, and on coming out found the horse gone. Leaving in quest of the beast, he was not seen till 11.30 p.m., when his body, with the limbs severed, was found in a culvert. One limb was severed above the knee the other below. One leg was not found till this morning.

ANTITOXINE FOR TYPHUS.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—Eminent physicians and scientists here have proposed to the Superior Board of Health that typhus fever be treated by employing serum from the blood of typhus patients. This proposition has aroused great interest among physicians.

Typhus now prevails at Tuluca. The disease has been known on the Mexican tablelands from the time of the Aztecs.

THE BELFRY MURDERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The eighth day of the Durant trial was begun today. The first witness was E. F. Sompe, a special policeman. He was one of those who aided in recovering Blanche Lamont's garments from the various nooks and crannies in which the murderer had hidden them. His testimony was merely confirmatory of what had already been presented.

Patrolman E. B. Herve followed Sompe on the stand. He was the one who found the murdered girl's school books, and so testified. Then followed J. J. McGreevy, Policeman G. H. Graham and Attorney John T. Dare, who also assisted in the search and had found various articles of the girl's wear.

The chief witness of the day was Mrs. C. G. Noble, aunt of the murdered girl, and by her evidence the prosecution first indicated the connection of Durant with the case.

Mrs. Noble told of the coming of Blanche Lamont from Montana in September, 1894, in search of health; of her connection with the Emmanuel Baptist Church, and of the acquaintance therefrom with the accused. All the articles of clothing in evidence were identified, one by one, by Mrs. Noble as having been worn by Blanche on the last morning she was alive.

"On that day, April 3, did you see Theodore Durant?" suddenly asked District Attorney Barnes.

"Yes."

"When and where?"

"In the Sunday-school room of Emmanuel Church, about 7.30 in the evening."

"Why did you go there?"

"I was alarmed at the absence of Blanche."

"What did Durant say to you?"

"He said he had ridden down town with Blanche that morning, and had promised to lend me 'The Newcomes,' He offered to bring it around on Sunday."

"Did you have any other conversation concerning the disappearance of Blanche Lamont with the defendant?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"He called with Dr. Vogel. He offered to go up with Dr. Vogel and Clarence Wolf to look for Blanche."

"Where did he say they would go?"

"He said Clarence Wolf knew lots of places the police knew nothing about, and they would go there."

"Who said that?"

"He did. The defendant over there," replied the witness, with a nod of her head.

Held up a Train but got Nothing.

WOODWARD, Sept. 13.—At Curtis station 25 miles from here, the east bound passenger train on the Santa Fe was held up by four men, who piled ties on the track and compelled the section men to flag the train. The two went through the express car, but they got nothing. They were in quest of Government money expected to pay the Tenth Infantry now stationed here.

A WORLD'S WONDER

THE ESCURIAL, BUILT BY PHILIP II. OF SPAIN IN 1563.

A Temple, a Palace, a Treasury, a Tomb and a Museum—Here are Buried the Rulers of Spain and Their Children—The Builder Lived Here Like a Monk.

The Escurial, built by Philip II. of Spain, between 1563 and 1584, was called "the eighth wonder of the world." It was at once a temple, a palace, a treasury, a tomb and a museum. That is to say, all those were included in the huge building which Philip erected on the slope of a spur of the Guadarama range, thirty-two miles northwest of Madrid. The builder's object was to carry out the will of his father, Charles V., by constructing a royal burial place, and also to fulfil a vow he had made during the battle of St. Quentin, when he implored the aid of St. Lorenzo, on whose day (August 10, 1557) the battle was fought. A correspondent of the Boston Herald writes from San Sebastian describing this eighth wonder:

The edifice stands about 3,000 feet above the sea, facing the mountains, with its back toward Madrid. It is a rectangular parallelogram, 740 feet from north to south, and 580 from east to west. On the east side is an advanced portico which breaks the facade. This gave rise to the vulgar impression that Philip's idea was to make the building in the shape of a gridiron, an allusion to the manner of St. Lorenzo's martyrdom, he having been boiled to death on a slow fire in the reign of the Roman Emperor Valentianus, A. D. 261. There seems to be no other ground for the fanciful invention.

The building covers 500,000 square feet of land, or nearly 12 acres. It has 16 court-yards, 86 staircases, 15 cloisters, 88 fountains and 8,000 feet of painted fresco. The church, which occupies less than a sixth of the whole space, is 320 feet long, 230 feet wide and 320 feet high to the top of the cupola. The redeeming qualities of the enormous structure are size, simplicity and situation. It seems to be a part of the mountain on the slope of which it rises. It still looks grand even among mountain buttresses. Otherwise, it disappoints. Its architecture has little in form or color to commend it. It lacks the prestige of antiquity, and it does not express any religious sentiment. It might be a vast manufactory. Its cold granite walls, blue slates, leaden roofs and small windows give it a commonplace appearance.

Of course, it is now little more than a skeleton of what is was. The living monks who swarmed in its courts are here no longer. The revenues on which they lived have been taken away. The French soldiers stole and carried away many of its golden ornaments in 1808. Its best pictures have been removed to Madrid. The building has suffered from neglect, exposed to hurricanes and winter snows. Better care has been taken of it in later years. It is now used as a seminary, where about 200 youths receive a secular education. The fanatical Philip lived here, half king and half monk, for fourteen years after the building was completed. His last end was miserable, for he was harassed by doubts as to whether his zeal in burning heretics would secure him a passport to heaven.

The family vault under the high altar, as built by Philip, was severely plain, at once impressive and instructive. His successors, Philip III. and Philip IV., built the gorgeous subterranean chamber which has become the Spanish Pantheon. Here repose the remains of kings and queens who have really reigned, and the severe etiquette of the Spanish court does not stop at death. The chamber, to which we descend by some sixty steps, the stairway lined by green and yellow-colored jasper, is an octagon thirty-six feet in diameter and thirty-eight feet high, terminating at the top in a pointed dome. The materials of which the walls are composed are dark polished marbles and gilt bronze. There are twenty-six niches hollowed in seven of the eight sides, the altar occupying one, with black marble sarcophagi, all exactly alike. The reigning sovereigns are on the right of the altar and their consorts on the left. The names of the occupants are written on the urns, beginning with Charles V. Several are empty, awaiting future kings and queens. The last to receive a tenant was that of Alphonso XII., who died in 1886. An empty one awaits his wife, now Queen Regent, and another his son, the present boy king, not yet ten years of age.

Perhaps the most interesting part of this huge pile is the suite of humble apartments where Philip lived the monkish life which he preferred, reserving all luxury for the temple. He was still one of the most powerful monarchs of his age. His armies carried the flag of Spain half over Europe. Rich argosies brought to his ports the treasures of the new world. He lived here a slave to bigotry, and in his reign were sown the seeds of death, from which may be traced the sad decay of one of the great powers of the earth. We are shown in the small, dark cabinet where he carried on the business of "Most Catholic King," the desk at which he wrote on little scraps of paper—for he had his pet economies, the chair in which he sat, another in which he rested his gouty leg when he gave audience to his ministers and foreign ambassadors, and some of the utensils he used. From his dismal sleeping room a door opens into a small chamber which overlooks the high altar of the church. To this he was carried in his last illness and here he died after languishing long with a loathsome disease.

After seeing all worth seeing in the interior and wondering at the maze of chambers, cloisters and courtyards in which a stranger might easily get lost, we went outside on a grand terrace, the whole length of the building which overlooks toward the south formal gardens and fish ponds. The slopes below are well planted, the fine elms having been brought from England. The view extends over the rolling plain, which looks level in the distance, as far as Madrid. We then ascended a neighboring height, one of the spurs of the mountain range, the summits of which are white at this season, to take in the great building at one view. In spite of the defects I have noted above, it is a very impressive pile, being one of the largest of human constructions. The gray-stone village clustered beside it, and climbing by steep streets up the slope above it, contains a population of about 1,500. Pure streams of sparkling water flow impetuously down the ravines which seam the mountains, making the fields below fresh and verdant.

SCOURED WHEAT.

Toronto Grain men and Ontario Millers Make Energetic Protest.

The grain section of the Board of Trade met in Toronto Tuesday morning and passed a resolution to the following effect:—

Whereas the grain section has passed a resolution approving the action of the Government prohibiting the placing of scoured wheat in the grain of No. 1 hard; and whereas it is reported the Government has rescinded such order; and whereas, such action virtually notifies purchasers under the protection of a Government certificate that the grain is permitted to contain damaged wheat; therefore, this section places on record its strong disapproval of rescinding of the order, and urges its reenactment immediately that it may come into effect before the present Manitoba crop began to move.

Attention was also drawn to the fact that the order-in-council rescinding the prohibition order was passed on August 29, while the letter was received from an official of the department dated August 31, saying the coming into effect of the order had been merely postponed.

The executive committee of the Dominion Millers' Association met in the council chamber of the Board of Trade at noon and prepared a report, which was presented at the annual meeting of the association this afternoon. Among the matters of importance which came up for consideration was the mixing of scoured wheat with No. 1 Manitoba hard. The action of Controller Wood in connection with the order prohibiting the mixing and its subsequent withdrawal, was discussed at some length. Several of the millers were of the opinion that parties outside the business had influenced the Controller to suspend the first order through misrepresentation. The feeling of the association was that the matter settled before the standards are established. The most important question that came up was the question of mixing inferior wheat with No. 1 hard at the Fort William elevators, and emphatic opinions have been expressed on the subject. The recent action of the Dominion Government in rescinding the order-in-council prohibiting this mixing was condemned very vigorously, both by speech and resolution. It was claimed that it would mean ruin to Manitoba and to the reputation of Manitoba wheat with the English millers, as well as great injury to the millers and exporters in Ontario. Charges were freely made that the change had been made purely to please certain influential interested parties in reckless disregard to the interests of the country's farmers, millers and exporters. None of the numerous speakers offered any defence of the course taken, and the resolution condemning the course was unanimous. The annual report showed that the past year had been the most successful for several years. The evening meeting was devoted to the reading of papers and the election of officers, the result being:—Alex. Dobson, Beaverton, president; Mr. H. Barrett, the retiring president, having declined election; first vice-president, James Cummings, Lyn, Ont.; second vice-president, S. R. Stuart, Mitchell, Ont.; treasurer, Wm. Galbraith, Toronto; executive committee, Messrs. H. Barrett, Port Hope; M. McLaughlin, Toronto; T. O. Kemp, Seaforth; J. M. Spink, Toronto; J. Noble, Norwood, Ont; W. H. Meldrum, Peterborough, and James Goldie, Guelph.

THE SMITH FINED.

The Fight at Springville Cost Them Over $50—Irwin Discharged.

The Springville assault case was heard before County Magistrate Edmison Monday, and the evidence was of an exceedingly interesting nature. The accused were Thomas Smith and his wife and Thomas Irwin. Reuben Irwin, the man who had the fight with Smith told the following story: "He met Smith at the market arcade on Saturday, 31st Aug. Smith came up and called his wife a — — — —. He said to witness you are a — — —, and asked him to go over to Cavanagh's stables and settle it. Witness replied that there were other ways to settle it, and with his wife left to see Mr. Dumble. Mrs. Louden followed him up, and asked witness to not do anything for her sake. Saw nothing of Smith until I went to Post Office after six o'clock. Mr. Smith was there and two little girls. I asked Tom if there was any mail. He replied, "I will give you mail, you — — —; you and your — — (his wife) tried to have me pulled." Mr. Smith came to the door while he was going out, and Mrs. Smith said, "Tom, give it to the— —" I told him I wanted no trouble with him, but only my mail. He got off the platform, saying, "I will give you your mail, you — —"

I then ran away. He ran after me and caught me below his lower gate on the road. He said, "pull your coat off" He then grabbed me by the collar and struck me and knocked me on my knees, He then struck me twice and then we clinched and wrestled. Then Mrs. Smith came out with a brick and stone in her hands. My father came to the rescue and caught Mr. Smith by the arm, asking him to cease fighting. Smith had his arm around my neck. We were all on our feet. This was in front of Mr. True's gate. My father was next to Mr. Smith. Mrs. Smith struck my father in the face with a brick and then struck me with a stone, which knocked me on my knees. Then Smith kicked me twice through the gate. When I got to my feet both Smith and his wife were pounding my father with a brick and stone, and Smith was also kicking him. Mrs. Smith said "Tom, kill the old — —. Kill him—the old — —" My wife came across the road and took me by the arm to take me home. I was pretty sore and weak. The shirt was torn off me.

The shirt was clean and sound at the time. Both Smith and the wife tore it off. Before my wife came Smith and wife were pounding my father. Smith at this juncture came over and struck my wife and then jumped on to me. We both clinched and fell to the ground. We both regained our feet and had a slight tussle. Smith said to his wife, "Go into the house Annie." I then got away and went into my yard. She replied, "I will kill that old — — —," and she made a run for my father. My father and I were both at our home. There was nothing more outside of the threats made. Smith said to my father, "I just want two minutes more with you, you old — — —." He kept this up for an hour and a half. My father got a gun and threatened to kill Smith if he came any further. I took the gun from my father. At this juncture the witness stepped down.

Other witnesses were called. The Crown was represented by Messrs. R. E. Wood and R. M. Dennistoun, and Mr. E. B Stone defended the Smiths.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the magistrate imposed a fine of $20 and costs on Smith, and $10 and costs on Mrs. Smith, amounting in all to over $50.

The charge against Irwin was dismissed.

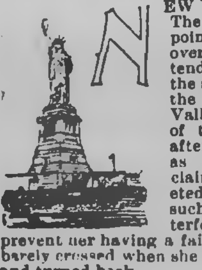
THE VALKYRIE DROPS OUT

BLANKETED BY A PILOT BOAT JUST AFTER THE START.

Lord Dunraven Protested Against Interference and Carried Out His Threat—Defender Crossed the Line First, but the Valkyrie Refused to Race.

Special to the Times.



NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The greatest disappointment reigns here over the fiasco that attended the third of the series of races for the American's Cup. Valkyrie dropped out of the race shortly after the race began, as Lord Dunraven claims, she was blanketed by a pilot boat in such a way as to interfere with her and prevent her having a fair show. She had barely crossed when she gave up the race and turned back.

DUNRAVEN'S STRONG LETTER.

Lord Dunraven's strong denunciation of the interference of steamers with the racers was looked upon this morning in quite a serious light, as there seems no doubt that he meant what he said when he threatened to withdraw from the race if interfered with today. His letter on the subject, written Tuesday, is as follows:

"Gentlemen,—It is with great reluctance that I write to inform you that I decline to sail Valkyrie any more under the circumstances that have prevailed in the last two races, and for the following reasons:

"First—To attempt to start two such large vessels in such confined space and among moving steamers and tug boats is, in my opinion, exceedingly dangerous, and I will not further risk the lives of my men or the ship.

SUCH RACING ABSURD.

"Second—At the start of the first race the crowding was so great that we could not see the mark boat and could not tell when we were near the lines, and we were hampered by steamers, especially on the race home. Today on the reach home eight or nine steamers were to the windward of me, and, what was worse, a block of steamers were steaming level with me and close under my lee. I sailed nearly the whole distance in tumbling, broken water, in the heavy wash of these steamers. To race under these conditions is, in my opinion, absurd, and I decline to submit myself to them again.

"I would remind your committee that, foreseeing the trouble that might occur, I urged upon them the desirability of sailing off Marblehead or some locality other than New York Bay, and that they refused to do so. At the same time, I would testify to my full belief that your committee have done everything in their power to prevent over-crowding.

TOO MUCH PUBLICITY.

"The fact is that when a contest between the representatives of two yacht clubs excites so much interest and attracts such crowds of people, if the races are sailed in the immediate neighborhood of a great city and the dates of the races and times of starting are known and advertised, it is impossible to keep a course free from causes of exceptional danger and clear enough to assure the probability that the result of the match will be decided according to the relative merits of the competing vessels.

"I have the honor to be, your obedient servant, "DUNRAVEN."

To the America's Cup Committee.

FIFTEEN MILES TO LEEWARD.

Defender passed Quarantine in tow at 8 20 and Valkyrie five minutes later. As the committee boat passed the English boat the members doffed their caps to Dunraven who waved his hand in answer. At 10.20 the committee boat signalled that the yachts were to sail the straight away course, a run of 15 miles to leeward, towards Long Beach, and a beat back. The wind was about west and blowing about 6 miles an hour.

The preparatory gun was fired at 10.55 and the yachts began manoeuvring for the start. The second gun was heard at 11.00 and at 11.12 Defender lowered her staysail and was standing to westward on port tack. Something had evidently happened to delay the start, as Valkyrie made no movement to hoist her club topsail. At 11.15 Defender had hoisted her staysail again. At 11.16 had gybed like a top and seemed to sail a trifle lower in the water than in her previous races.

DEFENDER CROSSED FIRST.

The third gun was fired and at 11.20 the boats started. Defender crossed at 11.20.24 in the best position and with her spinnaker boom out. Valkyrie crossed at 11 21.50, it looked as if the latter kept away until the room around the starting point was large enough to suit her.

A few minutes later Valkyrie came around the lightship on the port tack and seemed to be out of the race, having hoisted neither her club topsail nor her spinnaker. She returned towards the starting line while Defender kept on. It was evident that there was trouble about the English boat, which was confirmed when her protest flag was flown. She lowered all her sails and started towards Sandy Hook in tow of her tug, the English yachts and steamers cheering her.

SHE SURRENDERED THE RACE.

Then it was learned that she had dropped out of the race because she had been blanketted by a pilot boat. Half the excursion fleet followed her, while the other half remained undecided or went after the Defender which could be dimly seen spinning along at a great rate in the fog with her spinnaker taken in.

At 12.10 it was learned that when the Valkyrie came down to the line a large schooner pilot boat, No. 19, came directly across and to windward of her. In an instant she was blanketed and as soon as she got a bit of wind she went to port and rounded the lightship. As she did so she sent up to her mast-head the ensign of the New York Yacht Club, signifying that she surrendered the race.

At 12.30 p. m. after Valkyrie had hoisted the ensign of the New York Yacht Club the Dunraven tender ran along side of her and threw her a line. As the English yacht started for home her sails were lowered and as she passed the McKay-Bednett she was heartily cheered by the latter's crew. The Valkyrie returned the cheers, but all on board refused to answer questions. The only explanation of the affair obtainable here at this hour is contained in Lord Dunraven's letter and in the blanketing which she received from the pilot boat just before the start. On the other hand it is claimed that Valkyrie never intended to start today for she had not hoisted her club topsail or got her spinnaker ready to cross the line. Just as she rounded for the start the tender of Lord Dunraven ran along side and spoke her. From the time on she never prepared any further so that possibly the blanketing of the pilot boat was not the cause of her withdrawal.

A PAPER VICTORY.

The Evening News says: 'The whole business savors of sharp practice. No one would quarrel with a decision ordering that the race be recalled, but we cannot stomach a paper victory awarded to Defender.

The Pall Mall Gazette in course of a long article on the subject, dilates upon British patience and good temper, pertinacity and unquenchable love for justice, and continues: "It is not easy to accept the decision but we hope we are taking it as sportsmen. It is hardly equitable, but according to the rules of the game. We accept it and will try again. It turns out that Mr. Iselin is a sportsman with the best of us. We shall have another race."

A BAD DECISION.

CANADIAN OPINION OF THE ACTION OF THE NEW YORK REGATTA COMMITTEE.

Aemilius Jarvis, who witnessed the foul between the two yachts on Monday, gives the following account of the occurrence in today's Mail:

"After considering the evidence today the Regatta Committee allowed the protest, and awarded Defender the race. The decision states that Valkyrie infringed rule 17, sec. 2, of the New York Yacht Club racing rules, the text of which is:

"A yacht tree shall keep clear of one close hauled.

"As both yachts were sailing with the wind abeam almost parallel to each other, and both heading for one objective point, namely, the boat marking the weather end of the starting line, Valkyrie to windward about half a length ahead, the case appears to me to be a misapplication of this specific rule. To my mind, it is not appropriate. This is all the more strange in the face of a decision given by the committee on a hypothetical case upon which Mr. Iselin, of Defender, asked their ruling before the race, and which was as follows:

"Two yachts, heading for the starting line on the same tack, their courses converging, the yacht to weather being the overtaking yacht, having established an overlap, has the leeward yacht the right to hold her course and force the weather yacht on the wrong side of the mark? Their ruling was that the leeward boat must give sufficient room and had not the right to crowd the other off the line.

"To my mind this hypothetical case is exactly in accordance with the case in point. Valkyrie was to the windward, a little ahead, and the courses of the yachts were converging. As her boom struck Defender's starboard shroud, Valkyrie had not evidently sufficient room, and which also proves that she was in the lead. The position whence I viewed the start was exactly astern of the yachts, so that their course and the relative position of both boats was clearly defined, but I could not estimate how far they were from the line at the time."

BRITISHERS IRRITATED

OVER THE DECISION OF THE COMMITTEE—YANKEE'S QUEER SPORT.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—While the tone of the best of the English newspapers in commenting upon the decision of the Cup Committee sustaining Defender's claim of a foul in Tuesday's yacht race continues to be moderate, it must be admitted that the committee's decision produced a general feeling of irritation among Englishmen. Adverse comments of individuals are heard on all sides.

The Yachtsman, in an article on the subject, dwells upon the conduct of the excursion steamers attending the race, and says: "The first match could hardly be called a race owing to the shameful interference by excursion steamers. It seems clear that in Tuesday's race Defender lost nothing by the accident, but beaten on merits in the beat to windward. With regard to Defender's protest, it is impossible as yet to form an opinion save that it would not have been lodged by Valkyrie III. had the cases been reversed."

The Sun, which throughout has maintained a tone hostile to America, says: "The Yankees evidently intend to keep the cup. Possession is nine points of the law of sport in America."

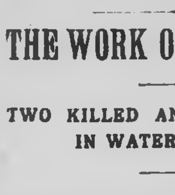
THE WORK OF A CYCLONE.

TWO KILLED AND MANY INJURED IN WATERTOWN, N.Y.

A Kingston and a Hamilton Lady in the Smash—Cars Swayed by the Force of the Storm—Several Towns Visited.

Special to The Times



WATERTOWN, N.Y., Sept. 12.—A terrific thunderstorm visited this section last night; wires are down in all directions and communication was cut off for hours except on one telegraphic wire. The storm was of such force as actually to sway the passenger cars on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad near Richland. The wind and lightning were accompanied by a deluge of rain. Several farm houses in the vicinity have been struck by lightning and burned. The roads were washed out in places and fallen trees block the highways in many parts of the country. It was the most severe storm in years, although lasting only one hour.

The cyclone struck the village of Cape Vincent just as a large excursion en route homeward from the Jefferson county fair at Watertown, were about to take the boat for Kingston, Canada. The Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg depot collapsed, George Godfrey and Thomas Arneel, of Cape Vincent, received injuries from which they died within an hour. The following are among the injured:—Miss Maud Walshe, Kingston, Ont., severe scalp wound; Mrs. John Aiken, Hamilton, Ont., fractured limb.

BLOOD STAINED HAND.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—At the Demers murder trial but little evidence against the accused was adduced, while the defence claim to have evidence that will knock the bottom out of the Crown's case. Miss Sauve, who was called to prove that it was not Mrs. Demers who was seen in the woodshed at 1 o'clock, proved a setback for the Crown. She stated that she had called at the house and was present when the body was found, but said that she had not been near the woodshed and denied intimacy with Demers. Madame Nantel testified that she saw Demers at home with a cut hand, which accounted for the blood on his clothing.

Rev. Cure Reme Descarroes described what he saw and did. He took hold of the murdered woman's hand and found that it was quite cold and stiff. The blood on the wound was clotted and dry and the woman had been dead a long time. Mrs. Nante felt the heart and it was cold. Father Descarroes believed that Mrs. Demers had been dead several hours. The appearance of the bed suggested a struggle, and he could not believe that the woman had committed suicide because there was no blood on her hands and it was impossible for her to have inflicted the terrible wound which cut the carotid artery. Miss M. Deguix testified that she saw Demers in her woodshed at 4.30 a.m. on the morning of the murder. The Crown claims that the murder was done early in the morning, between 4.30 and 5.30. The defence are making much of blood stains on the blind, which they claim are the imprint left by the murderer's bloodstained hand, and he raised the window and made his escape.

ANOTHER SEALER SEIZED

THE U. S. CUTTER RUSH CATCHES A CANADIAN.

Tour of the Dairy Commissioner—Cold Storage for Fruits and Dairy Products to be Innugurated in the Far West—Notes From Ottawa.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The seizure by the United States cutter Rush of the British Columbia sailing schooner Beatrice has been reported to the authorities here. So far as can be learned, the Beatrice, which hails from Vancouver, was boarded in the North Pacific by the officers of the Rush and seized for irregularities in the keeping of her log. The charge seems to be that her commander failed to record, as required by the Paris award, the number of seals taken and the time and place. The seizure was merely a notification to the commander to proceed at once to a British port and inform the authorities that his vessel had been seized. This report was made yesterday by the captain of the Beatrice at Victoria, B. C. The seizure is the only one made this year in the name of the United States, and is the first since the Paris award for an offence of this kind. It remains, of course, to be seen whether the irregularity is a trifling one or one that is intended to cover up fraud.

The regulations, however, are very plain on this point and the instructions most distinct. They are printed on the back of the license carried by each sealing schooner. Article 5 reads: "The masters of vessels engaged in fur-seal fishing shall enter accurately in their official log-book the date and place of each fur seal fishing operation, and also the number and sex of the seals captured upon each day."

It was for neglect to comply with this regulation that the Beatrice was seized. She was one of the only two vessels which cleared from the port of Vancouver for Behring Sea this year.

OUR TRADE WITH ENGLAND.

Board of Trade returns show that British exports to Canada increased 13 per cent. during August, but show a comparative decline of 8 per cent. for the eight months ending August 31st. Imports from Canada are shown to have decreased slightly for both periods. The increases during the eight months were: In cattle $500,000, sheep $150,000, wheat and flour $500,000, hams $220,000, butter $100,000, eggs $100,000; metals $10,000. There was a falling off in British imports of Canadian cheese amounting to $750,000, fish $500,000 and wool nearly a million dollars.

THE DAIRYING SERVICE.

Prof. Robertson left last evening for Toronto to spend one day at the exhibition on his way to the Northwest and British Columbia. He will arrive at Moose Jaw on Sunday, and hold a meeting there at the Government dairy station at 8 o clock Monday morning. He will arrive at Victoria, B. C., on Wednesday evening, and address the farmers at the Agricultural Exhibition at Victoria on Friday, September 20th. One of the Dominion traveling dairies will give illustrations of butter-making at the exhibition during the week.

After spending some days on Vancouver Island with the travelling dairy, Mr. Robertson will return to the mainland and visit different districts, including the Okanaghan Valley.

He will go over the Calgary district to give such directions as may be needed by the managers and patrons of the new creameries of that district and will then return to attend the exhibition of the Royal Industrial Society at New Westminster, B. C.

While in the west the Dairy Commissioner will also endeavor to make arrangements for cold storage service for butter and other perishable food produce at Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. He will stay off at Winnipeg only on his return journey.

NAVIGATION OF THE "SOO."

Lieut. Col. Anderson, Chief Engineer of Marine has returned from the "Soo," where he has spent the past few days conferring with the marine interests about aids to navigation preparatory to the establishment of two range lights for the lower approach and two to indicate the upper channel. Col. Anderson reports that a good 300 foot channel exists at both ends of the lock and that both are well marked by buoys. He was present at the opening of the canal on Monday last and predict that a Canadian lock will be used by the largest class of vessels in the lake service, until the completion of the new lock at the American Soo. The channels leading to the Canadian waterway are well lighted by electricity distributed from the canal power house. The range lights will also be electric. Col. Anderson is confident that the opening of the canal will result in the building of a town of considable importance on the Canadian side.

COWARDLY TRAMPS.

A Syrian Cruelly Beaten and Robbed in Open Daylight.

Special to The Times.

FORMOSA, Sept. 12.—In broad daylight yesterday a young Syrian living in Walkerton, and who had been peddling goods through the country was attacked by four savage tramps. The Syrian was en route to Formosa on the road leading from Mildmay, half a mile from the village where a small bush comes to the road, when two of the tramps came up and asked him to show them a watch. He was in the act of showing it when the tramps knocked him in the head and began to treat him most inhumanly. The other two tramps then came along and they placed a rubber ball in his mouth so that he was unable to call for help. They disfigured his face terribly, tore his clothes, bound him on fence rails, took all his cash, amounting to ten dollars, and the goods and made their escape. It was past one o'clock when the Syrian was found. Immediately upon hearing of the affair, the local constables went after the tramps, but as yet have been unable to secure them.

A WOMAN'S RIDE UNDER A CAR.

Crossing a Southern Desert to California on a Brake Beam.

Special to the Times.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Sept. 12.—A woman passed through the city yesterday who had crossed the desert on a brake beam. She was discovered three days ago near Dagget by the crew of a freight train. She was dressed as a boy, but soon as she trainmen brought her from under the car they were convinced that she was a woman, and she finally admitted that she was. She refused to disclose her identity, but said she and her husband had been living in an eastern city and he had deserted her, taking with him their little girl. She heard that he was in Oregon and had placed the girl in an orphanage. Being without means, she started out to beat her way there.

MRS. PIETZEL IDENTIFIES YOUNG HOWARD'S GARB.

A Train of Cars Derailed—Disastrous Fire at Lancaster—The Missing Chicora—No Surrender—Explosion at Louisville—A Head-end Collision.

Special to the Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Pietzel and her daughter Dessa, the only child that escaped from the murderous clutches of Holmes, went before Coroner Carter yesterday. Mrs. Pietzel told of the disappearance of the three children from St. Louis on September 28, 1893, in company with Holmes, and of her travels to Indianapolis, Detroit, Chicago, Toronto, Ogdensburg, New York and Montreal in search of them. Mrs. Pietzel positively identified the tiepin, shoes and buttons as those of little Howard, and when the murdered child's overcoat was produced her hysterical grief was pitiful to witness. She identified the coat absolutely. The trunk was also identified. Dessa, the daughter, likewise identified, every article.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

EVANSVILLE, Wis., Sept. 12.—A wreck occurred on the Chicago and Northwestern railway near here yesterday, causing the death of two men and the demolition of several freight cars. The killed were F. P. Hollinshead, of New Lisbon and E. J. Sullivan, of New Lisbon. The accident was caused by a draw-bar pulling out of one of the centre cars, which dropped down and caught in the ties of the railroad bridge, throwing the cars into the water.

A DISASTROUS FIRE.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 12.—The most disastrous leaf tobacco fire in the history of this city started at 3 o'clock this morning, in the warehouse of John F. Brimmer, on Tobacco avenue, and communicated to the warehouse owned by R. H. Brubaker, both of which were entirely destroyed with their contents. The loss is estimated at $1000,000; insurance not ascertained.

A RELIC OF THE WRECK.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Sept. 12.—The Chicora accident is revived again by the finding of a lounge from her freight cargo and a ship pillow on the beach a few miles north. This is the same spot where, after three previous storms, some part of the steamer had come ashore. The boat cannot be far distant from this place and an effort is being made to start another searching party.

NO SURRENDER.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Times prints a despatch from Madrid denying the statement recently published that Senator Castellanus, Minister of the Colonies has resigned. Gen. Campos of Cuba, the same despatch says, has announced that he will accept no proposals from the rebels, except that of unconditional surrender, after having delivered their arms to the government.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 12.—A classon exploded this morning at sunrise as the morning gun was fired by Battery A Louisville, Legion. Five members of the battery were killed, two were wounded and one is missing. All the killed and injured men were residents of the city. The victims of the explosion are: Dead—Corporal A L Robinson, Private Bicicnes, Private C. Woods, Private A. McBride, all white; C. Adams, colored, and two others, names unknown, badly burned, taken to the city hospital unconscious. According to the best reports the men were seated on a caission. One of the privates were smoking a cigarette and a spark is supposed to have entered the powder box, which exploded without a moment's warning.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Sept. 13,—The tone of the local live stock market is not materially changed from Thursday last, and from all accounts there has been little or no alteration on the other side. Ocean freight, owing to the fact that most of this month's space has been picked up, are very firm. At Point St. Charles there was a fair quantity of stock offered, which sold at about the the same price as on Thursday. There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 120 calves and 1,200 sheep and lambs offered for sale on the East End Abattoir today. The butchers were present in large numbers, but trade was dull and the prices were even lower than the very low prices of Thursday. It required a very good animal to bring more than 3½c per lb, and none of the sales here today reached 3½c per lb, while the general price of pretty good animals was about 3c per lb. It is difficult to say how much, or rather how little, the leaner beasts would bring, as there were very few of them sold during the early part of the day. Good calves met with a fair demand and prices were from $6 to $11 50 each. Mr. Levesque bought a superior calf for $11 50, another for $9 and two more at $7 50 each. Shippers are paying from 3¼c to 3¾c per lb for good large sheep. Good lambs bring about the same rate, and common lambs sell at about 3½c per lb. Mr. J. Houll, of Glengarry, sold a car load of superior shipping sheep to Mr. A. MacIntosh 3¾c per lb, live weight. Fat hogs are more plentiful, and sell at a little under 4¾c per lb.

Michigan farmers are feeding peppermint plants to their cows, whose milk, in consequence, will be a very superior article of mint julep.

The Buddhists are very devout people. If Christians would only take as much interest in their worship and the welfare of their church as do these poor heathens, what a glorious world this would be. Converting one of these Buddhists to Christianity is like bringing a lost soul back into the house of God. They make even better Christians than those who have had the opportunities and advantages of a Christian training.—The Rev T. J. Stanley, Presbyterian Missionary, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASTE SOCIETY.

A Thrilling Lecture by Prof. Razor Reynolds—An Immense Amount of Business Transacted—A Contribution Refused—Prize for Poetry—An Imposter.

The interest in the meeting of this famous Club is increasing as the weather increases in coolness. Last night there was a bigger rush than ever, and to accommodate the crowd with seats was out of the question. The soothing influences of the sacred atmosphere of the Hall of Wisdom caused Bro. Croft to fall dead asleep even before the triangle sounded calling the meeting to order. Previous to the arrival of the President, and while a group of members were discussing probable effects of the completion of the outfall sewer on the price of microbe killer, Anvil McCan, a member from Slopeville, suddenly called Boneyard Tom Walker, of Port Hope, a liar, and struck at him. Bro. Boneyard, though dazed at the sudden turn of affairs, was about to toe the scratch and give an account of himself, when the brothers interfered and the billigerents were separated.

A LITERARY FEAST.

The Committee on Reception now donned their white kids and wide collars and proceeded to the ante-room to return as the escort of Hon. Threeply Bennett, better known as the "Greased Lightning Orator of Port Hope." After being formally introduced and indulging in a few preliminary remarks, he began one of the best speeches ever delivered under the sacred shingles of the Hall of Wisdom. The subject was handled between drinks of water with a flow of logic like the current of some mighty river sweeping to the sea, and every hit was received with terrific applause. After the President handed the speaker a piece of slippery elm to keep his throat moist during his oratary, he bowed and began :

"My dear friends, where is the past ? Look for it under the bed, down cellar, up stairs, in the wood-box, or where you will, and you cannot find it ? It has slipped away like a streak of greased lightning running across the kitchen floor, and it will never, never return. (Sighs from all over the hall.) Do you meet Pontius Pilate as you go up street ? Do you find Sir Isaac Brock waiting in front of Oak Hall for a new suit of clothes ? Do you find Lucretia Borgia hanging around Turnbull's or Kell's dry goods emporium to order a new spring bonnet ? Not any ! They belong to the past and gone ! They sleep in the dimness of other centures. (Sobs from Bro. Big Bass Wilmot.) Where are the glories of the Roman Empire ? Where is Ceaser and Brutus and Cassius ? Let the dust of the past answer. (Sensation.)

"My friends, the past is not the future, any more the day after to-morrow is the day before yesterday. As time fades so does glory fade. To-day we may march at the head of the procession, your hat on your ear and a red sash around your body hard looks at Bro. Sawers, to-morrow you may be in jail for borrowing somebody's wood pile to keep your feet warm. (Suspicious nods and winks all over the hall.) Do not prize the present too highly—do not forget the warnings of the past. We cannot recall the past, but we can look back and see where the grocer gave us short weight on codfish, and he took advantage of a cloudy day to pass a twenty-cent piece off for a quarter. (Cheers.)

"My hearers, we should not live for the past, but for the future. (Much blowing of noses.) What is it to us as we rise up in the morning whether Nero met his mother-in-law at the depot or forbid her the house ? What is it to us as we retire to hour humble couches for the night whether the orators of Athens greased their boots with lard or went barefooted ? (Wild cheer by mistake from Bro. Cautious Miller.) As we sit on a box in the alley to consume our noon-day lunch, we care not whether Brutus dyed his goatee or was clean-shaved. (Cries of "No! No!") But the future is big with events. To-day we may be full of sorrow. If so we hope the morrow will bring clam chowder. (Great smacking of lips.) If the present is full of boils and chilblains and heartaches, the future may be as bright as a cat's eye shining out of a barrel on a dark night. Never look back on the past. It is as much gone as Bro. Ostrom was when on his recent trip to Whitby. (Wild applause, which knocked down 11 links of stove pipe and woke Bro. Croft out of his third nap.) Never dispair of the future. When the heart is heaviest, the fire lowest and work is the scarcest you may find a lost wallet or strike some butcher willing to give credit. (Wild cheer from Bro. Mervin, who was promptly fined $300 and costs.)

"My friends, I am done. (Whoops of applause.) Thanking you severely for you inflectious distraction, I rambulate to my seat with oderiferous feelings of concentration towards each and every one of you."

During the excitment which followed the close of this masterly effect, Bro. Sweet Cider Brown of Port Hope, and C. LeBrun fell upon the hot stove (which had been fired up for the first time to drive out the dampness) in an enthusiastic embrace, and seven windows had to be lowered to let out odor of overdone veal.

AN APPEAL.

Bro. Shoepack Deal asked the Club to foward a contributation to aid a religious sect of which he was connected within placing a spire 150 high on their church edifice, but Sir Richard shook his head and observed :

"The time has arrived when the religion in a persons heart is going to be judged by his words and deeds, and not by the steeple on his church. Folks who can't praise the Lord in a building without any spire on the top are not the sort of people to praise Him at all."

BAD MONEY.

"Gentlemen," said the President as he held out an alleged two-shilling piece on the palm of his hand, "at the last weekly collection some one dropped this so called quarter in the hat. It is only a base counterfeit to begin with but it has these holes bored through it. Now the idea of hoisting such money off on this Club is a little too dizy. Should this occur again, I shalldeliver a speech of indignation lasting an hour-and-a-half. One word more : The member of this Club who is totting such stuff around in his pockets had better look out."

Bro. Long Tennis Phalen arose for the purpose of saying that the bogus quarter might have dropped from the ceiling as the hat went round, but just as he got his mouth puckered up he was told that there was no question before the meeting, and therefore fell back on the bench in a dead faint."

PRIZE AWARDED.

The time for receiving poetry for the special prize offered last spring by Bro. Billy Gould, having expired, that gentleman announced that he had received thirty-two different specimens, of which seven were poems, six idyls, twelve sonnets and the remainder were odes of spring, fall, winter, dead folks, rolling oceans, green meadows, spotted cows, handsome women and codfish balls. He had read and re-read, and had come to the conclusoin that the poem entitled "The Tears that Blind my Eyes," by Gingerale Adams, of Port Hope, was entitled to the prize of $3 in cash and a fire shovel eleven feet long. The following is the first verse of the poem :

I am looking down the lane where the children used to play
And the shadows of the old and stately trees
Were thrown across the roof of the dear old home of mine
Where my poor old mother watched the hours for me.

On motion of Bro. Wm. Snowden, the Secretary was instructed to forward the thanks of the Club, together with a letter introducing the poet into the best society in the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

AN IMPOSTER.

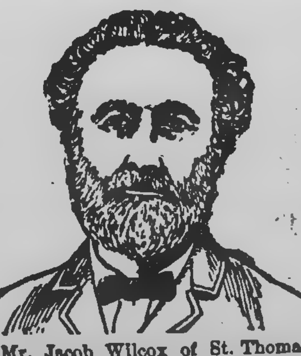
After the Harmony Club had finished singing "Who Loves this Dog of Mine ?" the Secretary read a communicatton from Two-forty Bennet, of Port Hope, stating that a one-eyed lemon coloured man, giving his name as Tiedup Garley, had been in the vicinity for two weeks collecting money for the erection of a Jews harp tactory in Labrador, in order to inculcate the theory of music into the minds of the Esquimaux. He had credentials but hesitated and exhibited guilt when asked how many of the bald-headed members of the Club wore buckskin plaster on the top of the head in fly time.

The Secretary was instructed to reply that the real Tiedup had not been outside of Peterborough for a number of years, and to ask the people of Port Hope to receive the base imposter the way he deserves.

THE CLOSE.

The Keeper of the Relics reported that the bear traps and other articles of reverence were in good order, the Janitor was ordered to give the stove pipes two coats of paint during the week, and the meeting softly adjourned.

Cyrus Teed, who claims to be a second Messiah, and teaches that the earth is flat, is busy developing the plans for the "New Jerusalem" of his sect, which is to be built in Louisiana. In describing this city, he says : "The streets will be 400 feet wide, beautiful streets. We will build the city in stories or tiers. one stier or story will be for pedestrians, one for light traffic, another for railroads, etc. We are going to have a great big city of eight or ten million people, and in it we will gather at least four million Ethiopians of the South.'



Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

A Light Sentence.

Judge Weller Tuesday sentenced James Holbrook to one day in jail. The charge against the prisoner was assault upon his daughter. It was shown that the assault was very much provoked.

A Just Complaint.

Grocerymen and fruit dealers complain of the invasion of the town by fruit and vegetable pedlars. They state parties from a distance come in and unload to the detriment of those who pay rent and taxes, while benefiting no one in particular but themselves. The line should certainly be drawn somewhere.

Destroyed by Lightning.

The barns and house of Mr. John Owens, lot 3, concession 10, Ennismore, were destroyed by lightning on Tuesday night during the storm, which was very heavy in the northern portion of the county. The barns were frame and log and the house was log. Very little of the contents were saved. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $500. There is an insurance of [illegible].

Have Resigned.

At a recent meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club, Messrs. George Horkins, Alex. Gibson and H. R. Kenner handed in their resignations. It is understood that the reasons given were that the club had not offered sufficient encouragement in the recent "meets." The club has not acted on the resignations, and the hope is expressed that the gentlemen will withdraw them.

Farmers' Insttiutes.

The annual report of the Farmers' Institute of the province for 1894 was given out Wednesday afternoon. It contains many interesting papers delivered at the annual meeting of the Central Institute, and, in addition, the first report of the Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, containing an interesting account of the life of President Mills, of the Guelph Agricultural College. The report is of great interest to all who are interested in agricultural matters.

Meeting of Insurance Men.

Some 55 district managers, inspectors and agents of the North American Life Assurance Company, from various parts of the Dominion, met in the Council chamber of the Board of Trade, Toronto, yesterday morning, under the presidency of Mr Wm. McCabe, managing director, and discussed methods of work. The visitors were entertained to a drive around the city in the afternoon, and in the evening they visited the Exhibition. Mr. J. W. Garvin, manager for this district, attended the meeting.

Wedding Bells.

An early wedding took place Tuesday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mr. James Finn, sectionman on the C.P.R., was united in marriage to Miss Bridget McMahon, daughter of Mr. John McMahon, Lake street. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary McMahon, sister of the bride, whilst the groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Patrick Finn. The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and the happy couple left on the early train for the west.

A Question For Bakers.

A subscriber writes to enquire how it is that with flour at $4 per barrel—one dollar cheaper than it was a month ago—bread still sells at 12 cents a loaf. We give the conundrum up; but probably if every one who buys bakers bread would pay spot cash for it—or even pay at the end of the month—local bakers would be able to sell bread a cent or two cheaper the year round and then have more profit than they are having now. The honest man paying for the deadbeat's bread is what keeps the price up.

Found Dead in Bed.

The sudden death of Miss Maggie Young, of Kingston, who was on a visit to her brother, Rev. W. R. Young, was a severe shock to her relatives, and a very sad occurrence. The deceased was an invalid, but on Tuesday night retired in her usual health and in excellent spirits. In the morning when Mrs. Young went to call her, she was greatly shocked to find her dead, having passed away after midnight, as at that time Mrs. Young had spoken to her. Weakness of the heart was the cause of death. Last night Rev. Mr. Young accompanied the remains to Kingston.

Two War Trains.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has just had completed after many months of labor, two special military or war trains, which comprise fourteen cars for the men; two cooking cars, two pullman cars for the officers, two cars for wine and stores, and two dining cars. The officers' cars are fitted up in luxurious style, and contain state rooms, lavatory, smoking rooms, etc. Each train consists of eleven cars and engine, and has ample accommodation for nearly four hundred. With these fast war trains the C. P. R. expects to be able to cover the distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific in five and a half days.

"Ducking Under Difficulties."

Circumstances have not been favorable to a high degree for hunters of ducks in this locality. The birds are said to be high-flyers and make long distance flights, and are thus not easily "winged." Some "shots" returned from the marshy land empty-handy, while others were more fortunate in bagging a few. Another detriment to good shooting this year, is the low water and tall, thick rice beds, through which it is impossible to push a boat, and the only way of securing a bird is by wading, a not altogether pleasant undertaking when one sometimes drops to his neck or overhead in mud and slush.

Want Him Next Year.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church held recently, the following resolutions affecting the popular pastor, Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., were unanimously passed:—

"That the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church, Peterborough, recognizing the value and success of the labors of the Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., in the pastorate of this church, and feeling that it will be greatly to the advantage of the church if his services can be retained for a fourth year, hereby invites Mr. Young to remain as pastor of this church during the year 1896-7;

"And that the Stationing Committee of the Conference be petitioned to give effect to the desire of this Board by stationing Mr. Young at Peterborough for the ensuing year."

His Last Years in Jail.

Poor old Dennis Slattery, who has been confined in the gaol for some time past, as a vagrant, and whose term expired Saturday, applied yesterday morning at the police court to be sent up on the hill again. The unfortunate old man is very feeble and had to be assisted up the narrow stairs to the court room. As he stood before the J. P.'s, Messrs. Adam Hall and R. S. Davidson, he presented a sad spectacle indeed. His snowy-white hair is heavily matted on his head, while his wrinkled face plainly shows the result of being left to the mercies of a cruel world. He is, besides, quite deaf, and it is feared this is the last time the unfortunate man will ask for shelter in the county gaol. The old man will be confined in the county gaol for the winter. When asked if he had friends, Dennis replied he had no one to look to but God and himself.

SCULTHORP EXTRADITED.

A Fugitive From Justice Returns For Trial.

After consulting with Crown Attorney Curry, a friend of the family, William J. Sculthorpe of Port Hope returned voluntarily to Rochester with Sheriff Hannan of that city to answer to the charge of grand arceny, according to the indictment found against him by the grand jury.

THE TIMES some time since announced that Sculthorp's extradition would be asked. His father, a respectible resident of Port Hope, read the article, went to Toronto and consulted Mr. Curry as an old friend and legal adviser of the family and young Sculthrop's voluntary return was the result.

THE ALLEGED OFFENCE.

On July 4, 1893, W. J. Wilcox, who was at that time the owner of the steamboats Charlotte and Genesee, engaged Sculthorp to sell tickets at the pier at Ontario Beach. The boats plied between Rochester and Sea Breeze and owing to the fact that it was a national holiday, carried large crowds all day. At the close of the day's work, according to the charge against him, Sculthorp decamped with the proceeds, amounting to about $1,000.

Sculthorp, however, gives a different version of the charge, altogether, he admits that he received a large number of tickets to sell but another agent was also given tickets to dispose of in his territory. He thereupon threw them on the wharf, telling the other agent he could sell them all. The latter declined to pick them up. The crowd however was less reluctant and helped themselves using them for the trip.

Sculthorp left the place and a warrant was issued for his arrest. It was learned that he had gone to Canada, and he was located a few months ago in Port Hope where his parents live. Mr. Ely, of the sheriff's office went to Washington a couple of week's ago and after conferring with the authorities obtained extradition papers.

HIS MOTHER PROSTRATED.

Sheriff Hannan left Wednesday evening for Cobourg armed with these papers. Sculthorp, as has been stated, consented to return without extradition. The people of Port Hope, where he lived since a boy, are greatly excited over the matter, and the young man's mother was prostrated with grief. His father who is a prominent seedsman of Port Hope, will engage counsel and see that a vigorous defence is made.

A MILK EPISODE.

An Incident in Ashburnham that is Creating Talk.

There was considerable excitement over in Ashburnham the other day, caused by a little row, in which one man was attacked by another and struck several times. It was one of those little affairs which neighbors delight in talking about, and it has been gossiped around pretty freely during the past two days.

A widow lady lives near the Hunter street bridge, and for some time has rented part of her house to a man who works for one of the hotels in town. This gentleman's wife is an invalid, and not able to answer calls at the door, so whenever the butcher, or baker, or grocery boy called with provisions, the widow would receive them and take them into her tenants. This caused all the trouble as the story will show.

The tenants were supplied with milk from a dairyman living some distance from town. They left an order with him to leave one quart of milk twice a day. The widow, as was her want, received the milk, and when it reached her tenants, strange to say, in quantity it had shrunk most lamentably, and as the tenants say, was not more than a cupful at any time. Of course this puzzled them, but they supposed that the milkman had misunderstood the order, and was only leaving a cupful.

So time went on, and finally the milkman left his bill. It was for two quarts of milk daily. The tenant went to the widow, and she feigned total ignorance, and declared that she delivered all the milk that the milkman left. So the tenant told the widow that he was going right out to the milkman's to find out where the mistake was.

The milkman was interviewed. He solemnly swore that he had delivered two quarts per day into the widow's hand, and said that if they didn't receive that quantity, the widow must have taken it. And in that pious way that milkmen have, he convinced the tenant that this was so.

This looked bad for the widow. The tenant started homeward with blood in his eye and a fixed determination to give the woman in weeds a good piece of his mind. He arrived at the house, and at the door was met by a man, who had passed off as the widow's brother. This fellow immediately grabbed the tenant and struck him several blows and then ran off. Two neighbors who had witnessed the assault, followed the man along the track, but he escaped.

The tenant immediately moved out of the widow's domicile, and the invalid wife was safely quartered at a neighbors. The tenant informed the police, and a search was made for the supposed brother, but he could not be found.

On Monday the tenant went around to the widow's house to get his trunk, the widow showed him to the room where it was and after he had entered. She locked the door. He made his escape through a window.

The police are still looking for the man who committed the assault, and if they catch him, the affair will be aired in court.

WITH THE SPORTS.

Champion Jim Corbett Plays Good Baseball in Toronto.

The last of the home games of the Toronto Eastern League Club was played across the Don on Wednesday afternoon against Buffalo.

There were about 3,000 spectators in the stands and several hundred more would have been there but for the fact that nearly all of the street cars on King street were Exhibition cars and did not run east of the market. The strong attraction at the game was Jim Corbett, the big, heavy weight champion prize fighter of the world who got 40% of the gross receipts for playing first bag for the home nine. His younger brother Joe held down third base and the pair surprised the crowd by their capital playing. Jim had five put outs, one of which was a grand stand one hand catch of the ball thrown wide. He played without an error.

The champion's stick work was not as good as his fielding however, and he failed to make a base-hit during the game, while Joe lined out two and the brothers participated in a double play. Jud Smith was put on second base, but after making a couple of bad errors he was replaced by Shinnick. Although Toronto made five errors to one by Buffalo they pulled out a victory by 8 runs to 6. Score:

Buffalo................0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2 2—6

BASE HITS.

At Wilkesbarre on Wednesday Providence beat Wilkesbarre 12 to 6, Rochester beat Syracuse 19 to 4, and Springfield beat Scranton 8 to 0.

In a match between Bothwell and Chatham on Wednesday the former won by 13 runs to 6.

Five riders from Peterborough have entered in the R. & T. road race, viz. Lord, Walker, King, Lytle and Ewing. It is a pity that a full team of ten riders have not decided to ride as, accustomed as they are to road riding, the members of the club would have stood a good chance of winning some good prizes.

All is bustle and activity in the Canadian Pacific Railway workshops, Montreal. Fifty locomotives have to be turned out by Sept. 15, to be in readiness to move the immense wheat crop of Manitoba and the North-West. The men are working night and day, some of them, with overtime, having made as much as forty days during the present month.

One evening recently, a couple of Newmarket girls dressed themselves as men, and calling at the Mayor's residence feigned sickness and applied for passes. His worship gave them a lecture about boarding on the corporation and finally granted his order, but, of course, it was not presented and the girls hold it as a momento of their evening lark.

It is understood that a number of the members of the Canadian General Electric Company, including the officials, will arrive in Peterborough today for the purpose of visiting and inspecting the works here. The visitors will arrive at 11.25 per the C.P.R., and will dine at the Oriental. In the afternoon they will visit the works, leaving again in the evening.

An exchange tells of a "thunder bolt" that was found imbedded in the ground in its section. A thunder bolt or ball of fire is a reality though not of the character generally imagined. It is not a solid ball of fire, but merely electricity in a spherical form. Sometimes when it plows into the earth, it vitrifies the flint or sand, of which the soil is composed, and this substance being found the ignorant suppose it fell from the clouds.

Don't dodge a bicycle rider, either male or female. Stand still, and the rider will get along all right. Posts, trees, stones, etc., never dodge, and only beginners ever run into them. If you see a "bike" coming straight at you, don't dodge; if you do, you confuse the rider. If you stand still "in the middle of the road," or wherever you may happen to be, the rider will take care to give you plenty of room; but if you go dodging to get out of the way, the chances are there will be a collision, and you will be the worse hurt of the two. Therefore don't dodge.

THE RIGHTS OF BICYCLISTS.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—Allow me a few lines in your valuable paper to express my disapproval of the way bicycle riders are treated. There is a law that no bicycles shall be allowed on the sidewalk, still they allow baby carriages, wheelbarrows and the Salvation Army to go on the sidewalk. A wheel does not take up any more room than the rider when walking, and surely he is entitled to that much. In some towns there is a law allowing bicyclists to ride on the walks on back streets, but not on the main streets. Why cannot this law be here? A rider will sometimes ride on the rough roads seven or eight streets and not meet a person—why cannot he make use of the walks? He pays as much taxes as people who do the kicking. The wheelmen of Peterborough are quite numerous, and their vote is something to be considered. Those kickers who have something to say about the matter, let us hear from them. Thanking you, sir, for space in your valuable paper, I remain yours,

FAIR PLAY.

Has Been here and Gone.

A tramp printer, who said he had worked in every office in Canada, blew into this office on Tuesday, say the Lindsay Watchman. A farmer's grain bag came in at the same time, which he deposited in a corner, and on being asked what it contained he answered with a sardonic grin, "Poetry." At Fenelon Falls he was given permission to set up and print off "a few verses," and while he was at it he thought he might as well fill the bag. This poetry he was trading off among the Patrons enroute for cold handouts and skim milk. The night previous he informed our devil, he had slept on an engine in the round-house. He made the proud boast that he had not done a day's manual labor in three years, and expected to spend the coming winter in Washington, but whether as the guest of President Cleveland or in gaol he did not state. He was "English you know," and dropped his h's in true Cockney style. He took the dirt road for Peterborough, together with his bag of poetry. We expect to chronicle his demise at the hands of some suffering granger next week. Probably in our next issue we may be able to afford space for a verbatim report of the interview. It was interesting.

The above mentioned specimen of the tramp printer genius, paid his respects to this office last night, and tried to trade off a poem on "Trilby" for a night's lodging. It didn't work. Our dog took an immediate aversion to the tramp, and growled so threateningly, that he shouldered his grain bag, and left. After he had gone, Slug Five missed his lunch parcel.

WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Mr. Cox to Miss Morgan—Rev. Mr. McWilliams Wedded.

A very pleasing matrimonial event took place Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the Morgan House, when Mr. E. W. Cox was married to Miss Lottie Morgan, only daughter of Mr. A. P. Morgan, proprietor of the popular Morgan House.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. H. Symonds, rector of St. Lukes. The bridesmaid was Miss Louie Morgan, of Hamilton, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Dickson Davidson in the capacity of best man. The happy event took place in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom, who are well known young people in Peterborough and have hosts of friends. The bride and groom stood beneath a large bell, formed of exquisite flowers, when the solemn words were spoken which bound them as man and wife.

The bride was elegantly gowned in white silk, with pearl ornaments and carried a bouquet of beautiful white roses. The bridesmaid wore yellow silk and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony the party sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper, served in the dining room of the hotel, which was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and presented a magnificent appearance.

Shortly after the ceremony the newly wedded couple were serenaded by the Sons of England band, which rendered several excellent selections in an efficient manner.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a great number of handsome, costly and useful presents, principal among which was a handsome piano and bedroom set from the brides' father, an oak dining room set from the groom's father, and a beautiful breakfast and dinner set, and a large banquet lamp from Mr. George A. Cox, uncle of the groom.

The young couple have begun life's journey under most promising auspices. Mr. Cox, who is a son of Mr. Aaron Cox, is a promising and rising young business man, and junior member of the hardware firm of Micks & Cox. He is well and widely known and has a promising business career. The bride is a well-known Peterborough young lady, and is very popular among the young people of the town. Their many friends will wish them every happiness. They left on the 9 o'clock train last night, and will visit Montreal and the east before returning to Peterborough which will be their future home.

MCWILLIAMS—CARSON.

London had an unusual event Tuesday afternoon—a double wedding—in which two Presbyterian clergymen and two popular young London ladies were the participants. Rev. A. McWilliams, the esteemed pastor of St. Andrew's church, was one of the grooms, and his bride was Miss Effie Carson, daughter of Mrs. M. Carson, of London. The ceremony was performed in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church by the pastor, Rev Robt. Johnstone, B.A., late of Lindsay. The church was crowded with an assemblage of friends of the young ladies, who were prominent workers in the church and favorites in London's society circles. Miss Carson was attired in a rich costume and was assisted by her sister, Miss Violet Carson. Rev. Jas. Cattenach, of Centerville, was Mr. MacWilliam's attendant.

The other clergyman who entered the matrimonial state in company with St. Andrew's pastor was Rev. Wm. Patterson, of Leamington, and his bride was Miss Laura Bilton.

THAT $5 000 BONUS.

In a letter in both of the evening papers, Mr. James Stevenson, M. P., takes up the cause of the Canadian General Electric Company's demand upon the town, for the payment of $5,000, which sum the council of 1894 agreed to pay the Company in the shape of a bonus for the removal of "certain works from Hamilton to Peterborough," and gives it as his unqualified opinion that the town should immediately hand over this sum to the Company. In his interesting letter he quotes facts and figures to show that the Company has not received as much money and land as has been asserted on all sides—that in truth, the Electric Company has only been bonused in the modest sum of $27,604.54, out of the pockets of the ratepayers of this town.

We do not, for one moment, question the correctness of the figures submitted by Mr. Stevenson, but we do not think that the sum the Electric Company received in the past from the town, be it $1,000 or $100,000, has anything to do with the $5,000 which they are now after. We do not think the company has been abused because it has secured a bonus from Peterborough, and had the amount been double or treble, as long as it was given by the consent of the people, evidenced by their votes, no one has the right to abuse the Company for getting it.

We oppose the giving of the $5,000 to the Electric Company, because the whole proceeding was a gross irregularity. The agreement was drawn up and the by-law passed without being submitted to the ratepayers of the town. It was an admitted irregularity, admitted by members of the council of 1895, who were members of the council of 1894. Will anyone deny that neither the town council or the town commissioners can give away, or vote sums of money either in grants or bonuses, without first submitting the matter to a vote of the ratepayers?

Aside from the admitted irregularity of the agreement of 1894, there is another consideration to be looked at. If we are rightly informed, the giving of this $5,000 to the Company, was conditional upon the town receiving that sum from the town commissioners. The corporation has never received the $5,000. It is not likely to receive it. The money was exhausted long ago by the town commissioners in the municipal road fund, and there it is. The Council of 1894 promised money that it expected to receive from the town commissioners, when it had no right to do so. The town has not received this money, because the contemplated gift has been applied to other purposes. Where is the $5,000 to come from? If the honor of the corporation is at stake, there is still time to submit a by-law to the people and raise the money to wipe out this awful dishonor (?) but there are very few people who will take this view of it, and among them, we believe, is the Council of 1895.

A Narrow Escape.

Little Irene Lawrence, granddaughter of Mr. R. White, proprietor of the White house, Charlotte street, had a narrow escape from death this morning. The little girl had been purchasing some grapes at Waller's grocery store across the street from the White house. She was returning and in passing over the street railway track she was struck by a street car and was thrown to the side of the track. Fortunately she escaped with a few bruises, but her escape was a narrow one.

Electrical Treatment

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well"

THE CHEESE BOARD.

Thirty-Six Factories Board 4,519 Boxes —The Bidding and Sales.

The cheese board met in the council chamber at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon when thirty six factories boarded 4,519 boxes The buyers present were Messrs. Cook, Wrighton, Hodgson, Fitzgerald, Cluxton and Jones.

When the minutes had been read, Mr. Cook drew the attention of the salesman to the fact that some factories were sending out cheese with scale boards only on the top. Cheese should be scale boarded at top and bottom, and two brands would do no harm.

The president emphasized these remarks of Mr. Cook, saying even if cheese were cheap they must not be put up carelessly.

The following factories were boarded:—Keene, 140; Warminster, 133; Shearer; 173; Central Smith, 112; North Smith, 160, Cherry Grove, 70: Warsaw, 125; Westwood, 250; Oakdale, 100; Missing Link, 112; Norwood, 100; Melrose Abbey, 115; Lakefield, 125; Pine Grove 100: Peterborough 90; Maple Leaf, 160; Lyrtie, [illegible]; Ormond, 300; Young's Point 58; Lang, 210; Frazerville, 98; North Dummer, 90; Bobcaygeon, 153; Lakeview, 70; Trewern, 105; Bensfort, 130; Cedardale, 54; Stony Lake, 51; Ida, 91; Millbrook, 62; Mount Pleasant, 108; Perrytown, 75; Blackstock, 80; Daisy D, 75; Fleetwood, 125; Darlington Union, 250; Geneva, 150; Crown, 150.

Mr. Cluxton started the bidding with an offer of 7c; Mr. Jones made it 7⅛c; Mr. Hodgson raised to 7¼c; Mr. Cook to 7⅜c. and Mr. Jones to 7 7-6c; Mr. Cook then lifted it an eight, and Mr. Jones raised it to 7 9-16c, which was accepted by Central Smith, Trewern, North Smith, Lakeview, Keene, Cherry Grove and Lakefield, and was refused by Fraserville, Peterborough, Bensfort, Bobcaygeon and Pine Grove. Mr. Hodgson then bid 7⅜c for further selections. Mr. Cook made it 7½c, which was refused by Norwood, Melrose Abbey, Ormonde, Warminster, Shearer, Peterborough, Maple Leaf, Lang, Bensfort, Fleetwood, Warsaw, Daisy D. and Perrytown.

No further offers were forthcoming and the Board adjourned for two weeks, when the Board will meet at eleven o'clock, and the last half of August and first half of September cheese will be boarded.

Mr. Cook proposed that the factorymen come to the next meeting prepared to sell the balance of the season. Mr. Hodgson advised against any contracting. He called it a gambling business and the sooner it died out of the cheese business the better.

Mr. Galvin and Mr. Jones opposed Mr. Cook's motion strongly.

The amendment was lost, only two favoring it.

WELL SATISFIED.

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain are Pleased.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—A large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, the head quarters for distributing are never in danger of running out of the medicine for long no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

Red River Veterans.

Arrangements have been completed for the reunion and dinner of the veterans of the Red River expedition of 1870. It will take place in Toronto on the evening of Thursday, September 12. A number of the members of the force from all parts of the Province have already signified their intention of being present, and as this is the 25th anniversary it seems particularly appropriate that as many of those who served under Lord Wolseley as possible should come together to renew old friendships and recall old events. There were five residents of this town in the expedition, namely, Messrs. Thomas Robinson, David English, Hon. W. N. Kennedy, William Whitelaw and W. H. Anthony. Of these Mr. Anthony and Mr. Robinson are the only ones alive today. The latter now resides in the States. Mr. Anthony will attend the reunion on the 12th.

Brakeman Wheatly Killed.

AMHERSTBURG, Sept. 12.—Fred Wheatly, married, of St. Thomas, who was relieving the regular brakeman on the plug train on the Michigan Central R. R., was thrown from the train while shunting in the yard here today and had both legs cut off. Drs. Hobley and Park started on the train with him for his home, but he died when they reached Comber.

A Great Storm.

PERTH, Sept. 12.—This locality has been visited with one of the greatest rain and hail storms of this season. The lightning and thunder could not be described. Hail fully as large as plums and rain flooded the streets, a downpour for over two hours. We have not heard of any damage done.

Impure blood is the cause of boils, pimples and other eruption. Hood's sarsaprilla purifies the blood, and the cures these troubles.

THE HOUSEHOLD PLANTS.

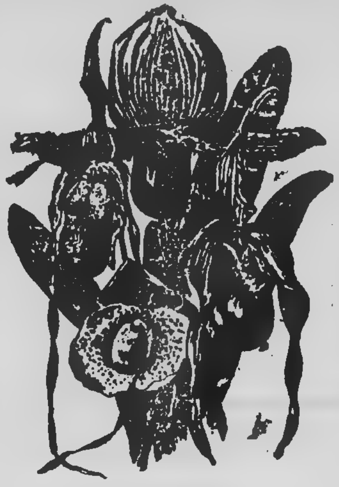
Four Varieties of the Orchid Which Anyone Can Raise Without Difficulty.

Nature is now at her best. The trees are covered with tender leaves, the grass is green in the meadows, the birds are singing their summer canticles and bees and butterflies are seeking honeyed sweets among the flowers. This is the month for flowers, and it is also a month when from the shelter of sunny greenhouses we remove out treasures to the open air, confident that no cutting wind or chilly night will mar their beauty.

Of all household plants the tenderest, perhaps, are orchids. It is only recently that they have become in any degree popular, owing to their great cost, but for a decade past they have been grown by many florists and are now within reach of nearly all. Some very rare ones cost hundreds of dollars, but the price in general varies from one to fifteen dollars, the greater number costing three and five dollars apiece. This sounds extravagant, but it is not in reality, for a careful woman will gather the seed, and thus indefinitely increase her collection.

Orchids are air plants, parasites. They are found in all tropical countries, growing on the old wood of the forest trees, giving them a many-colored glory which alone they could never attain. Nothing is more beautiful than when walking through a tropical forest, with live-oaks, palms and myrtles growing thickly together, to come upon some grand old oak with a rubber tree growing in a cleft of the trunk, and the gnarled branches almost hidden by purple, red, yellow and white orchids; some standing out boldly, a single blossom on a wiry green stem, others following the line of a branch in rows of delicate mauve blooms with a darker purple centre, and nearby a veritable cascade of delicate white flowers, a dozen or more on a single drooping vine-like stem, and, framing all, like a delicate veil, the beautiful Spanish moss (white man's shroud, the Indians called it), stretching from branch to branch and from tree to tree, as far as the eye can reach.

Our illustration shows four varieties of an orchid which any one who can raise a geranium will find no difficulty in growing. The flower affords a curious field of observation. The odd pouch, or labellum, and the variously-colored petals, sometimes invisible, again drooping in long spirals, are arranged for the best accomplishment of a definite object. The foliage, rich green, or beautifully mottled, always presents a pleasing aspect, but the crowning glory of the cypripedium is its period of bloom. If left on the plant the flowers will last in perfect condition from two to three months, and even when cut and put in water they will remain perfect for at least a month. The common name for the cypripedium is Venus' Slipper, from Cypris, one of the names of Venus and pes, pedis, the Latin for a foot. This name, in English, is sometimes applied to the "lady's slipper" which furnishes a cauterant tincture, but this latter is a very different flower, and is more correctly named "the balsam." Our illustration was drawn from a group of four distinct varieties. The leaves were plain green and spotted green. The uppermost flower had a dorsal petal of bluish white heavily veined with green and dark red; the two horizontal petals were green with maroon spots, and were edged with a species of furze. The pouch, which is almost closed, is shaded from a deep brown at the lip to a pale green at the base of the cup. The flower on the right hand is of shaded green throughout, save for the interior of the cup, which is a delicate mauve spotted with maroon and purple and flecked with light yellow. On the left is a flower of a red variety. It is of a high art shade of old rose, streaked with green and a darker tint of the same color, the cup being yellow on the inside, throwing the dark spots into high relief.



FOUR CYPRIPEDIUMS

The fourth flower in the group is almost white, tinted with a greyish green, except at the edges. The lateral petals almost enclose the pouch, which is pale yellow near its opening, and the entire blossom is spotted with a rich purple.

The general treatment for orchids is to give them an abundance of heat and water during the development of the pseudo-bulb; when this is full grown, as little water as possible till the buds appear, then more heat and more moisture, with only a little shade from the heat of the sun. Orchids vary so much that each individual one needs special directions, which can be obtained when they are purchased.

For Semi-Dress Occasions.

Taffetas are very much in vogue for semi-dress occasions. Some are shown in changeable effects with fine stripes and chine figures between the stripes. Some others are of plaid, often a fine line of black on a colored ground covered with chine flowers. Many of the favorite taffetas are small checks, never larger than half an inch; they also come in glace and chenille effects and in a rainbow, chine, Watteau, pointille and Persian patterns. Somewhat akin to them are the Pompadour, Bengalines and foulards with ombre grounds; then there are gros de Londres in brocaded stripes and quite novel three-toned effects, and duchesse silks and satins in every imaginable color. These silks are rivaled by the dainty figured Habutai silks in checks, stripes and plaids, and Shauntungs delicately printed in monochrome and in mixed tints.

Black and white in combination are much seen; but the stripes are closer and narrower than during the winter season. One novelty in this particular is the trimming of white muslins with black lace, and this gives an enlivening touch to the dead white which is so unbecoming to the majority of people. It is quite a fad to finish a bodice with a large black velvet bow placed where the yoke and arm's eye join.

Visit Of Electricians.

The Canadian agents of the Canadian General Electric Company, to the number of nearly twenty, accompanied by Mr. W. R. Brock, president of the company, and Mr. Frederick Nicholls, General Manager of the company, were in town yesterday inspecting the works of the company. They arrived in town on the C. P. R. noon express, and at the station a private electric car was in waiting for the gentlemen and they were brought to the Oriental hotel where they dined privately. About half past one they boarded a car and proceeded to the works, where they spent the afternoon inspecting the buildings and machinery. They left town last night.

Sent to the Asylum.

For some time past Mrs. Joseph Hutchinson, aged about 40, wife of a farmer living in East Ops, has shown signs of mental aberation, to the great disquietude of relatives and friends. Of late she has been violent and difficult to manage, and her husband reluctantly came to the conclusion that the only chance for her recovery lay in sending her to the asylum at Toronto. Thursday she was brought to town for the necessary medical examination, and yesterday morning she was taken to Toronto under the impression that she was going to the hospital for a time. Much sympathy is expressed by the neighbors for the husband and grown up family.

An Interesting Industry.

While in Toronto this week, a representative of this paper, visited the large establishment of Elliott & Son, 92-96 Bay street, and was courteously shown through the several different departments and show rooms. Elliott & Son deal in ornamental parquetry, floors, borders, tapestry, and decorations of the most elaborate and beautiful designs, and a tour through their suites of decorated rooms, and an inspection of their stock of beautiful woods, borders, floor and wall fittings, wall papers and tapestrys, is like a visit to an abode of oriental splendor. One of their decorated rooms is a fac simile of the boudoir of Marie Antoinette at Versailles. The firm had the paper tapestry specially made for this beautiful room in Paris, France, and the department is exquisitely elaborate, and well worth going a long distance to see. Elliott & Son cordially invite an inspection of their establishment, and extend a special invitation to the citizens of Peterborough to visit them when in Toronto. Those contemplating house decorations or improvements, would certainly do well to pay this reliable firm a visit.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. man, Sons & Co. TOOK A FIT.

Mr. Geo. McIlmoyl, the Well-known Auctioneer, Takes an Apoplectic Fit.

On Thursday afternoon while Mr. Geo. McIlmoyl was engaged in plastering at the residence of Mr. John Millage, says the Lakefield News, he was taken with an apoplectic fit. It appears he had just carried two heavy pails of plaster upstairs, and commenced to feel faint, when he asked for a glass of water, and immediately fell over in a fit. Dr. Bell was immediately called, and had the unfortunate man conveyed to his home, where he was attended to and everything done to relieve him, but all in vain as the unfortunate man passed away a short time afterwards. Mr. McIlmoyl is well known all over the country, being the village auctioneer, and his many friends will be pained to learn of his sudden death.

A SAD HOME COMING.

A Wife Hears of Her Husband's Death While Coming on a Visit.

Mrs. Charles Strong, a sister of Mr. Robert Fanning, of Downie street, and Mr. John Fanning, of Water street, arrived in Peterborough on Thursday night on a visit to her relatives and friends here. Mrs. Strong's home is in Cripple Creek, Colorado, and she left there about six weeks ago to visit a sister in St. Louis, leaving her husband in Colorado in the best of health. A few days before leaving St. Louis for Peterborough Mrs. Strong had a letter from her husband stating that he was in excellent health, so she came on to Peterborough without any anxiety on the score of his health and totally unprepared for the terrible news that awaited her arrival.

Some hours before Mrs. Strong reached here, a telegram came from St. Louis, stating that friends in Colorado had wired to St. Louis the sudden death of Mr. Strong. This sad intelligence was broken to Mrs. Strong upon her arrival, and although almost prostrated by the great shock, she began the journey to Colorado yesterday morning to bury her husband.

It is, indeed, a very sad affair, and much sympathy will go out to the heart-broken widow in her sudden and sad affliction.

TO-DAY'S ROAD RACE.

There are 302 Entries — Handicappers Finish their Work.

Everything is now in readiness for the big national handicap road race this afternoon under the auspices of Queen City and Tourist bicycle clubs on the Kingston road. From Quebec and Ontario wheelmen are flocking into Toronto. Already many out-of-town cyclists have paid a visit to the Fair, and incidentally to have a ride over the national road race course. A. F. Little and J. W. Shillinglaw, Sarnia's two cracks, arrived in the city yesterday in order to become acquainted with the course. Five men will start from scratch. They are Angus McLeod, W. M. Carman, Marshall Wells, T. B. McCarthy and F. F. Radway, of London. Many green riders who expected the limit will be disappointed, for only twelve of the 302 starters have received the full fifteen minutes. The race will start precisely at 4 p.m.

The official handicappers of the R. Q. T. finished their arduous task of placing the 302 entrants on the various marks at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The men commenced at 8 o'clock, and it was shortly before 7 o'clock this morning when the work was concluded. King, Lord, Evans, Walker and Ewing are the entries from Peterborough.

THE WHEEL.

Yesterday was the closing day of the great Springfield Bicycle Tournament, and over 5,000 people were present. A number of records were broken through the day, J. W. Gardiner broke the Class A record for the paced standing five times, his time being 11.03 2-5. F. J. Titus, rode 27 miles 185 yards in an hour, breaking the American record of 26 miles 1,489 yards. J. F. Starback lowered the professional record of 10.18 for the five miles paced, standing start, his time being 10.11 1 5. Fred Loughead reduced the Class A unpaced two miles, standing start, from 4 55 3 4 to 4.50. Below are the winners in the different events:—Half mile open, Class B—E. C. Bald. Mile open, professional—W. C. Sanger. Mile handicap, Class A—H. P. Mosher Mile record—Class B—E. C. Bald. Half mile, open, Class A—Fred Loughead. Two mile handicap, professional — W. C. Sanger. Mile winners race, Class A—C. R. Newton. Mile handicap, Class B—Harley Davidson.

A Narrow Escape.

Further details regarding the narrow escape of Mr. J. W. Williamson's little boy from drowning in a tub the other day show that Celia Rathmell, the servant, is a sensible, clear-headed young woman, and to her alone is due the credit of saving the life so precious to the parents. It appears that when the mother ran out and pulled the child out of the tub she screamed and fainted, believing from the black and bloated appearance of the little body that her son was dead. Miss Rathmell, hearing the cry, ran out, and divining the facts at a glance, she left Mrs. Williamson lying on the ground in the fainting fit and carried the boy inside, where she employed every method to induce respiration, and was finally rewarded by hearing him gasp for breath. Then she went to Mrs. Williamson's aid and carried her inside, after which she ran down town—a distance of fully a mile—for a doctor, met one, told him the facts, and then continued her race to Mr. Williamson's shop. Few girls would have been so collected under the circumstances, and Mr. and Mrs. Williamson feel they have a treasure and are full of gratitude toward her.

On Friday evening severalyoung people wended their way to Mr. Chas. Hawley's to spend a social evening. The gathering was very large and a very pleasant evening was passed.

Nimrod shouldered his gun on Saturday morning and resolved to make war on the peaceable residents of the woods. But the large animals were swift of foot and smaller game too wary for unlucky Nimrod and he might have been seen later in the day wending his toilsome march homeward with a dejected, forlorn and forsaken countenance.

POINTER'S TO ADVERTISERS.

THE TIMES has the largest circulation of any paper published between Montreal and Toronto, without exception.

THE WEEKLY TIMES goes into 75 per cent. of the good homes in Douro, Otonabee, Smith, the two Monaghans, and Dummer.

We employ eleven carrier boys in town to distribute the morning paper; each boy delivers from 136 to 210 papers.

When crops are good the country pocket book is seldom empty. Seventy-five per cent. of the good farmers read THE TIMES.

THE SATURDAY TIMES is read by at least 40,000 persons. Affidavits of actual circulation will appear from time to time.

It is the best informed people who read THE TIMES—people who have the money to spend.

There is no better or cheaper way to reach the families of the neighboring villages and townships than through THE TIMES.

You can create a demand for any good article of domestic use by advertising in THE TIMES.

"We are very much pleased with the results from our advertisement in THE TIMES, and will be glad to renew our contract next year."—MCCLAREY MFG. CO., London, Ont.

"We are getting splendid results from your medium."—KINGSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE CO., (per J. B. McKay, President.)

"You ask me what results I had from the small advertisement I placed in THE TIMES under head "Anything Like it." I must have had 50 or 60 replies the first two or three days after the advertisement appeared. It is a dangerous thing to advertise in THE TIMES, for one is liable to get a surplus of what he advertises for." —W. H. ANTHONY, Manufacturer of Boots and Shoes, Peterborough.

Send your advertisement at once to the Great Business Puller. Of one thing be convinced: If advertising will pay at all, it will do so in THE TIMES—it pays to use the best medium.

Remember—we want no advertising that does not pay the advertiser handsomely. Our Motto is: "RESULTS TO THE ADVERTISER."

A Busy Store.

One of the busiest establishments in the Queen City during Fair week and, in fact, at any time of the year, is W. & D. Dineen, the furriers and hatters. This enterprising firm has been located on the corner of King and Yonge streets, the busiest portion of the city, for many years, and they have ever kept abreast with the progress and rush of trade. Dineen is undoubtedly the leading furrier in Toronto, because his prices are so much lower than others and his furs are better in quality and value. Those desiring anything in this line will more than make the price of the trip by buying direct from Dineen. We take pleasure in directing the attention of our readers to the firm's advertisement in this issue, containing some specially good bargains in furs.

Who By Disease Around Us Fall.

Paine's Celery Compound, the Only Medicine that "Makes Sick People Well."

In the vast majority of cases, when sickness and disease lay hold of men and women, their first thoughts are connected with Paine's Celery Compound. This statement unvarnished and true is supported by thousands of letters from clergymen, medical men, business men, and our plain every-day people.

We are quite within the bonds of truth when we assert, that in times of danger—when nervousness, insomnia, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, liver and kidney troubles or blood diseases threaten health and life—people think more of Paine's Celery Compound that shows its honor roll of marvellous cures, than they do of all the doctors around them.

A gentleman, who travels constantly in every part of the Dominion, says:—

"Everywhere I go, I hear people talk about Paine's Celery Compound and singing its merits. Very rarely have I heard any other medicine spoken of."

This statement means that Paine's Celery Compound has been weighed, tested and tried by our Canadian people, and has accomplished more than was promised for it.

Paine's Celery Compound truly and honestly "makes sick people well." It is therefore to the life-interests of all sick people that they insist upon getting the only medicine that cures, when they ask for it. Some dealers are inclined to recommend something else for the sake of profit to themselves. This reprehensible practice of recommending something else will not save your life; yor are only certain of health and new life when you use Paine's Celery Compound. No straightforward, honest dealer will offer you a substitute.

A Splendid Exhibit.

Visitors to the Toronto Industrial Fair were greatly attracted by the splendid exhibit made by the McClary Manufacturing Company, of their famous enamelled iron ware. In fact this company really had two exhibits, one of "The Famous" enamelled ware, and the other of their excellent stoves which are in use every where. The "Famous" enamelled ware is a new industry, and it speaks well for the enterprise of the McClary Manufacturing Company to be the first in the field in this department and make it a success. For many years all the enamelled ware used in this country was brought from the United States. Now, since the McClary Manufacturing Company has begun the industry, there is a great change. Enamelled iron ware is the favorite material now for cooking utensils, and the success that has been achieved in its manufacture will lead to its further use. In the Main building, near the east door, is located the exhibit of iron ware. It comprises the "Famous," the "Imperial," and white ware. These three lines are represented by utensils of every kind for kitchen and household use. The material, which is coated with the enamel, is stamped sheet steel, and for durability the goods cannot be excelled by the best foreign work. In fact, dealers pronounce the "Famous" the best, because the enamel will not crack or scale. Another line that is carried on by this firm is the manufacture of enamelled signs. These signs are very pretty and durable. The McClary Company are believers in printers' ink and especially in the efficacy of the advertising columns of THE TIMES, having received splendid results from their advertisment in this paper.

A Metal Breadboard.

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers [illegible] y street Toronto, for one of these boards.

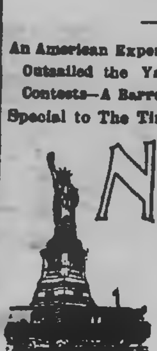
DEFENDER IS BLAMED

FOR THE SO-CALLED FOUL AT THE LAST RACE.

An American Expert's Opinion—Valkyrie III. Outsailed the Yankee Yacht—Cost of the Contests—A Barren Triumph.

Special to The Times.



NEW YORK, Sept. 14. The New York Mercury is a daily paper that pays closer attention to sporting matters than any of the other New York dailies; here is its story of the so called foul in the race between the Valkyrie and Defender last Tuesday; evidently written by an expert yachtman:

"The greatest fight that was ever made in this country over a start was seen at the commencement of yesterday's yacht race. Both boat crews were determined to come out first, and the wrongful interference of the Defender with the Valkyrie not only showed an ignorance of the rules, but also an evidence of jealousy that was evidently prepared to stop at nothing less than violence.

"It is not necessary to speak of the courtesies that are due to a foreign yacht, because we are dealing with the Defender, who has shown by her treatment of the friendly Vigilant that she does not know the meaning of the term.

"The fact is that the Defender people know almost nothing of smart handling on quick starts, and this slow arrangement of two minute send offs is nothing but a special provision for the crew's incompetency on this point.

"Yesterday they were outwitted during the first part of the manoeuvring, and afterward fouled Valkyrie in such an uncalled for end illegal way that one can only suppose bad temper ruled them completely.

"When the ten minute limit gun was fired the yachts had to employ this amount of time in some way before the starting gun told them to go. So they both sailed off in the direction of a large excursion steamer, whose passengers were waiting to see the start."

VALKYRIE'S LITTLE TRICK.

"Both yachts bore away when they had passed beyond her, and the Valkyrie moved as though she were going to gybe round under her stern, The Defender, which was sticking to the Valkyrie, and following her every movement, thought she was going to do this. So she did it herself.

"It is an old game, old as the hills in England, but it caught the Defender. The Valkyrie did not go astern of the long steamer, but gybed, and with a quick turn shot out ahead of her, leaving the Defender away down to leeward coming around the stern of the steamer.

"Cranfield played the old game very smartly, holding his windward berth easily. No doubt it galled the Defender people, and they sailed their yacht up close to the Valkyrie again, remaining, of course to leeward.

"The yachts were now in a position in which they were both too soon for the gun fire. They both slacked away their sheets, and tried to deaden their way. But this was not enough. They both saw that they were too soon, and they both payed off and ran down the wind inside the starting line.

"At this time they both had the wind about over the quarter, and being both off the wind, the question of right of way did not come up, except in this way, that the Valkyrie had a right to demand room to turn.

DEFENDER OUT MANOEUVRED.

"But the Defender helmsman was evidently resolved to crowd her over the crossing line before the gun fired. The Defender, instead of bearing away, as compelled by the rules, edged up on the Valkyrie so as to give her no room for her stern to swing as she turned.

"But the Valkyrie knew her rights too well for this. She spun around once more, head to wind, while still remaining inside the crossing line, and then head reached slowly toward the flagship with her sails all flapping.

"Now it was in that last turn that the Defender fouled the Valkyrie by not giving her room to make the twist. Almost the same case was decided by the Regatta Committe of the New York Yacht Club in the Gracie Volunteer protest, in which case it was held that one yacht cannot be allowed to crowd another on a mark or stakeboat in such ways as this, but must allow her room to go clear. There is no racing rule that allows one yacht to compel another to cross the line before the proper time, and we have no doubt that when the Defender people and the Regatta Committee put their heads together and learn what the rules are the affair will be nuggermuggered in the usual way and the Defender will magnimonously withdraw the protest.

"The fact is, the Regatta Committee and the Defender, especially the latter, have something more to deal with now than the obsequious Vigilant. They have got to deal with the rights of the case before the world."

ANOTHER HONEST OPINION.

The Rochester Herald in an editorial remarks: "A yachting race or contest of any kind won on a mere technicality is a barren triumph. The American public will take no pride in a victory so accomplished. It would have been better for the committee to have strained a point in favor of the English yacht. As it is, if the owners of the Defender take advantage of yesterday's decision, popular interest in the race on both sides of the water will be unquestionably deminished and American enthusiasm over the ultimate victory of the Defender, if victory it is, will not have the right ring."

COSTLY SPORT THIS.

The contract for the Defender was $75,000 at least. Her sails cost $20,000 and her crew of 40 men were engaged last May at an average of $45 per month and boarded and drilled on a school ship till the Defender was launched. This amounted to $12,000. Towing costs about $75 per day for the yacht, which, with incidentals, came to $25,000. Total at least $112,000.

Mr. George Gould purchased the swift Vigilant and took her to England and sailed her against the crack yachts there to get a comparison of their capacity. This cost at least $75,000.

The New York Yacht Club laid out $43,000 on the races in 1893. This year it is more. Tugs, steamers, etc., make up the amount. From the time of the Countess of Dufferin to the races of the Puritan it may have averaged $27,000 a year to each racing year to keep the cup. The Puritan cost $30,000 and the Priscilla $35,000. Incidentals from '51 to '71 averaged $50,000. The Volunteer cost $37,000, the Pilgrim $30,000, and the Jubilee $34,000—direct expense.

The English challengers must expend more in crossing the ocean, etc. The expense from 1851-1871 was approximately $50,000. The Galatea's trip must have cost $28,000, the Genesta's $25,000, the Thistle's $30,000, and the last Valkyrie at least $38,000.

"HOGGISHNESS AND SELFISHNESS."

Chicago Tribune: One thing is pretty certain. The race for America's Cup will never be sailed again at New York, and it never should be. In every one of the three races the excursion steamers crowded upon the course so as to interfere with the movements of the yachts, and that notwithstanding the protests of all concerned. There is very little in the contest which anyone can regard with any degree of gratification. It would have been infinitely better if Mr. Iselin had abandoned all protest and had let Valkyrie have the second race. Human nature is human nature, and Lord Dunraven is not to be blamed overmuch for at last losing his temper over such a display of hoggishness and selfishness as has occurred in connection with these races upon the part of outsiders.

Under the terms of agreement between the yachts Defender has saved the cup, but the New York Yacht Club and the Regatta Committee cannot afford to let Lord Dunraven go back to England under such circumstances. It is not too late to arrange for new races, and in some locality where there is no liklihood of interference and where there can be a fair race. If, on the other hand, the races are ended the contest of 1895 will be likely to be regarded as no race

PLAIN WORDS

From Prominent Winnipeg Conservatives to Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

Special to The Times

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—Local Conservatives took advantage of the presence in the city of Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. T. M. Daly to present a memorial setting forth the grievances of the party. The memorial premised that the leaders could not have wrecked the Conservative party in Manitoba more successfully if they had deliberately set out so to do. It was doubtful if there were more than ten Conservatives left who would vote straight for the party.

The drastic remedial order and the failure to build the Hudson Bay railroad as promised came in for severe animadversion. The railroad project had caused a number of Conservatives to support a newspaper venture that had never paid. The Government was also severely criticised for its appointment of an Ontario man as Lieutenant-Governor. The Premier was told that Manitoba wanted a Manitoban for Governor.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said that, as honest men, if facts were as stated, he failed to see how they could refuse to vote Grit at the next election. This heroic treatment caused the faces of the old guard to grow long, and then Sir Mackenzie pleaded eloquently for them to keep in line. The meeting, however, broke up with a decidedly unsatisfactory feeling all round.

Sir Mackenzie heard the views of a delegation who asked the Dominion Government to improve the Red river at St. Andrew's rapids so that navigation from Winnipeg to the lake could be conducted with safety. The Premier refused to make any definite promise, saying that he would not promise anything he was not absolutely sure be could fulfill.

The Premier stated to an interviewer that he had no intention of interviewing Premier Greenway on the school question.

LETTER FROM LORD DUNRAVEN.

To the American's Cup Committee—Its Contents Not Yet Made Public.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Lord Dunraven has written a letter to the America' Cup Committee, fully explaining his position in regard to the cup races.

H. Maitland Kersey said this morning that he and Lord Dunraven had worked from yesterday morning until late last night in preparing this letter, and that it was delivered at the club house at 7.40 this morning.

Mr. Kersey refused this morning to make the letter public, but said he would do so if the Cup Committee did not.

"I think it likely," he said, "that the Cup Committee will make public its letter of the 12th to Lord Dunraven, and this letter of Lord Dunraven's at the same time."

AFTER THE SMUGGLERS.

Whiteway Said to be Shirking his Duty—The Board of Revenue will Resign.

Special to The Times.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Sept. 14.—It is said that the board of revenue will resign tomorrow unless the Government gives assurances that a vigorous prosecution will be undertaken at once against the smugglers. This is nowise likely because Attorney-General Whiteway left the city for a fortnight sporting tour which is thought to be a scheme to shirk the whole affair. Government members now freely admit the complicity of a number of their superiors in the contraband practices.

AND ONLY TWENTY-TWO.

A Fair but Vicious Thief, Said to be From Welland, Captured in Buffalo.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Detectives arrested a clever shop-lifter from Welland Ont., late yesterday afternoon. She gave her name as Ada Ramey, her age at twenty two years and said her father is a bailiff in Welland. She did a clever piece of work and came here with a regular shoplifting outfit. When she was taken into custody, silks and laces were found in her possession.

ELOPING SISTERS FOUND.

One Fled With a Man Who Left Wife and Children.

Special to The Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Farmer Nichols, of Rochester, N. H., went to Dorchester, today and there found his two daughters, Mary and Georgiana, aged 15 and 17 years, who eloped with two men, one married and the other single, from Rochester, August 16. Both men were arrested. The man with the elder daughter was Frank C. Davis, 45 years old. He is married, and left his wife and two children for the girl. One of his daughters is older than the girl with whom he eloped. The other man is William F. Jacobs, single, 22 years of age

The Worth of the Money.

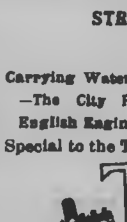
OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—At the Assize Court today Justice McMahon sentenced Charles O'Connor and Arthur Ouillette to four and six years respectively for highway robbery. They relieved a man of $2.50. The grand jury in their presentment recommended the birch rod for juvenile offenders.

WATER FOR THE THIRSTY

ALL DAY SUNDAY DID TORONTO'S STREET CARS RUN.

Carrying Water to the Thirsty in Huge Tanks —The City Receives an Offer From an English Engineer.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, Sept. 14.—Street cars will run on Sunday, but not in violation of the Lord's Day Act, for they will not carry passengers, but pure water to slake the thirst of Torontonians.

Besides the watering carts laden with the same article will go over their several routes just as if it was any ordinary day, for people must drink or they cannot live. Hamilton's watering carts have been added to those already in use and every portion of the city is visited by them, so that none need go thirsty.

Water coming through the mains now comes direct from Blockhouse bay and is considerably better than has been provided for the past fortnight. It is thought advisable, however, to still boil it and thus avoid all risk. Citizens should also use it sparingly as no one can tell, according to the City Engineer, when another accident will happen.

The cost of constructing the connections between the city mains and those of the Junction has been roughly estimated at $7,000. Work will likely commence as soon as the pipe can be obtained and the plans laid out.

At the woodyard of McGuire Bros., Dupont street, head of St. George street, is a large spring of pure water and Messrs. McGuire announce that their premises will be open all day tomorrow to those who want to get water.

ONLY $500 A DAY.

ENGINEER MANSERGH'T MODEST OFFER TO THE CITY OF TORONTO.

This cablegram was received from Treasurer Coady, who is in England, by Acting Mayor Shaw: "Mansergh's fees £2,500 for reporting on tunnel scheme alone or £3,000 reporting on improving present system and a comparison with gravitation scheme; time one month: has important engagements; will decide after Council accepts terms; answer quick."

The gentleman mentioned in the cable is James Mansergh, of Victoria street, London, admitted to be the best hydraulic engineer in the world. He is at present engaged in constructing a works at Birmingham. The supply of water is obtained in Wales. Some time ago Mr. Mansergh was paid £5,000 by the city of Sydney, New South Wales, for reporting on their waterworks system. He was also one of the commission which investigated the pollution of the river Thames for the city of London, Eng.

At first sight the offer nearly staggered a number of the aldermen, who don't usually make so much a month themselves, even when business is brisk, and they considered that $15,000 for 30 days' work was a little high. When they talked it over however, they concluded that considering the eminence of the man and the fact that his knowledge was based on practical experience it was not such a large sum after all.

They will thresh the matter out on Tuesday in Council, a special meeting having been called.

STEAMSHIP OVERDUE.

An American Liner Seventeen Hours Behind Her Usual Time.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The American line steamer Paris, Capt. Watkins, had not been sighted up to 11.30 this morning. The Paris sailed from Southampton on Saturday last, September 7, passing the Needles at 1.35 in the afternoon, and to have equalled her own record of 6 days, 9 hours and 37 minutes she was due at Sandy Hook Lightship at 12 minutes past six yesterday afternoon. She is therefor about 17 hours behind her record.

SIGHTED ON SUNDAY.

The Cunard line steamer Etruria, which sailed from Queenstown on Sunday last, the day after the Paris left Southampton, arrived this morning and reported that on September 11, at 2.30 a. m., in latitude 48.44, longitude 39.03, she passed an American line steamer bound west, which was supposed to be the Paris. The Etruria had a very rough passage, encountering strong southwest and northwest gales throughout the voyage, and the Paris is no doubt having the same experience which would account for the delay. No anxiety is felt regarding her safety, as she is, as is well known, a staunch vessel and Captain Watkins a cautious navigator.

WELL SATISFIED.

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain are Pleased.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—A large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, the head quarters for distributing are never in danger of running out of the medicine for long no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

COVERED WITH BURNING OIL.

Serious Accident to a St. Thomas Boy—Others Injured.

Special to the Times.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 14.—While Richard Mill, the 13 year old son of A. M. Mill, was shifting the position of a petroleum torch on a patent medicine vender's cart Thursday night, the light toppled over and exploded. The boy was covered by burning oil and was badly burned about the face, neck, left arm and left side. The boy will recover. T. Dake, of the Dake House, had one of his hands badly burned in extinguishing the fire. Two other boys—Ed. McCarthy and Abraham Perry—were painfully burned but not seriously.

Women in the Conference.

ANN ARBOR, Sept. 14.—The Detroit conference of the M. E. church, which embraces eastern and northern Michigan has adopted a resolution instructing its delegates to the general conference to vote for the admission of women as members of the conference. Only a few voted against it.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 9, 1895

UNCLE SAM'S SHAME.

The action of Mr. Iselin, the owner of the Defender, in grasping the decision or the Racing Committee, which disqualified the Valkyrie, contrasts most disgracefully for him and for Americans, whom he represents, with that taken by Sir Richard Sutton, owner of the Genesta, in 1885.

The Puritan fouled the Genesta so badly that the Racing Board offered to give the race to Sutton. He refused to accept the race, or to go over the course in a hippodrome fashion, as was proposed. He afterwards went out and was beaten.

This is true, gentlemanly sport, and the man who acted like that is a credit to himself and to the country he represents. No comment was made on his action in England, and he would have been condemned if he had acted differently. But Americans are of different stamp, and though they have shown any amount of enthusiasm in every sporting enterprise, yet it seems that they are quite ignorant of the kind of curtesy which elevates true amateur and gentlemanly sport above that where every advantage is taken, and not even honesty is respected.

The Americans display a dishonesty in their big football matches, and it is known that frequently good players are seriously injured in order that the opponents may win the game. An American audience applauds some jockey trick in baseball which Englishmen would most severely condemn in any game. The action of the Cornell team aroused some of the more public-minded of American journals. The action of Iselin, and the unenviable reputation which Americans have gained by these acts should induce their public men and journals to condemn most severely the unsportsmanlike methods which are disgracing the nation.

THE OCTOBER NUMBER OF THE DELINEATOR

is called THE AUTUMN NUMBER and contains a choice and varied selection of timely articles. It gives an authoritative exposition of Autumn Styles, illustrating a variety of novel, artistic and beautiful garments. Especially complete and valuable in its discussion of Mourning, Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's paper on Etiquette or Grief's outward showing being supplemented by an instructive article giving patterns and designs for Mourning Attire. Every mother with the responsibilites of a household should study what is said about Fitting Out a Family, the season's costume needs of herself and her little oner being fully treated. The progress of education in Great Britain is further explained by Amy Rayson. Bookbinding as an occupation for women is entertainingly described by Evelyn Hunter Nordhoff, Lucia M. Robbins describes a new and amusing form of Entertainment. The reopening of the Schools is remembered in an account of things suitable for the children's luncheon basket, while A. B. Longstreet contributes a practical exposition of How to Carve. The return of cooler weather makes timely the admirably illustrated article on Draperies. The papers on the Kindergarten by Sara Miller Kirby, on Floral Work for October by A. M. Stuart and the designs for Burn Work by Harriet Keith Fobes fully sustain in the interest felt in these topics. Around the tea table has its usual admirabme variety, and the newest books are sympathically reviewed. Further contributions are given in knitting, netting, etc.

Address communications to the Delineator Publishing Co. of Toronto, Ltd., 33 Richmond St. West, Toronto, Ont. Subscription price of the Delineator $1.00 per year, or 15c per single copy.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier propose to make a tour of Eastern Ontario shortly. He will have to once again revise that famous speech in which he declared that he would support Conservative legislation as long as it was favorable to the the minority in Manitoba.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, But All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blitholy to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position in life, and enclosing your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

Electrical Treatment

310 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receivd ninety-three and one-third per cent. ot the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds pe cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

IT STRUCK KINGSTON.

Wednesday Night's Cyclone Did Great Damage at the Limestone City.

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 13.—Wrecked houses, uprooted trees and prostrate telegraph poles are to be seen everywhere in this city, which was devastated Wednesday night by a cyclone. The greatest casuality was the unroofing of the cotton mill. The wind blew in the top storey wall of the mill for about 50 feet, lifted the roof up clean off the wall and doubled it back over the rest of the roof. The portion thus treated weighed 60 or 70 tons. When the roof fell in it smashed six spinning mules, burst the water service, which flooded the whole building. The roof was blown off the tower and carried through the air for several hundred feet. The damage amounts to fully $80,000, a total loss.

The erecting shop of the Kingston & Pembroke car works is a complete wreck. It was blown down on top of the cars and locomotives inside, which prevented it from being laid flat. The shop was 330 feet long.

The residence of Thos. Clyde, Jenkins street, of Mr. Veale, Alfred street, and of Ira David were wrecked.

The Kingston Field Battery, which was encamped on Barriefield common, had a lively experience. The tents and harness were blown everywhere, while two timbers were blown clean across the common to the fort.

A DRUNKEN ACTOR.

Shoots His Wife and Narrowly Misses the Officers Who Arrest Him

Special to The Times.

GRAND LEDGE, Mich., Sept. 13.—During the present week the Forbes and Ward Dramatic Company have been playing a week's engagement here. Last night "Rip Van Winkle" was to have been the attraction. However, Frank Forbes, the leading man, became intoxicated and going to his wife's room at the Middleton House began a quarrel which finally ended in his drawing a revolver and shooting the women. The bullet penetrated the body just above the right hips passing through the abdomen and came out at the left hip. At the time of the shooting the husband and wife were alone and the cause of the quarrel is unknown, but the man is believed to have been jealous. He was still so intoxicated that after the shooting when Deputy Sheriff Halliday attempted to place him under arrest he fired two shots at the officer both of which grazed his person, but caused no injury. With the assistance of the City Marshal Forbes was finally landed in the lockup. Forbes is said to have resided at Coldwater, Mich., where he is well known. His wife has relatives in Omaha, Neb.

FOUND TWENTY-FIVE BODIES

In the Mine at Houghton, Mich.—Four Still Missing.

Special to the Times.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Sept. 13.—Preparations for exploring No. 4 shaft in search of the bodies of the miners which were entombed last Saturday in the Osceola copper mine have been commenced. As a result of the efforts of several searching parties 25 bodies were rescued. There are still four missing—William Bryant, William McDonough, Fred O. Pearson and Joseph Slotta. The bodies showed no signs that the men had suffered any before death. No doubt death to most of them was painless. A coroner's jury has been empanelled and will investigate the cause of death of the unfortunate men. The funerals will mostly occur on Saturday.

HORRORS OF EARTHQUAKE.

Three Hundred People Said to Have Perished —Terrible Destruction.

Special to The Times.

TEGUCIA, Honduras, Sept. 13.—A courier arrived here from Yetapan, and announced the most terrible earthquake ever known in this section. The loss of life and property is enormous. Three hundred people are said to have perished. On Sunday the shocks commenced. By Monday the city contained 3,500 people from the mountains and outlying villages. During the night sheets of flame appeared at different points to the north west, rising to immense heights. Many were killed by falling rocks. Smoke from the mountains to the north west rose to an enormous height, followed shortly after by the bursting of flames from the mountain sides and the throwing out of rocks and lava.

A REFUGEE BURNED ALIVE.

Saturated With Coal Oil and Roasted by San Salvadoreans.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A local paper prints a sensational story stating that Florencio Bustamente, the San Salvadorean refugee, who was surrendered to the authorities at La Libertad by the captain of city at Sydney, was saturated with coal oil and roasted alive. The statement is made in the same paper that Bustamente was surrendered upon the order of American consular agent at La Libertad.

There is a good deal in a name sometimes. Mr. Dabney, who has been singing tenor songs in Daly's company a little while under the name of Daubigney, has now joined the Abbey & Grau opera company to sing tenor parts and will be known as Daubigne, which sounds very French indeed.

"They were indebted to her many years since as the kind donor of the cabmen's shelter outside the Langham Hotel, of which shelters there are forty. A good meal for six persons. Joint roasted, and vegetables and pudding cooked for less than 1 cent.

All put in same time and taken out same time, giving a severe letting alone requiring no attention; can be absent for 2½ hours; on your return you will find a nice cooked dinner, and no odor.

So many small dishes can be cooked over it while you enjoy the light, such as oysters, ham and eggs, porridge, water boiled, tea and coffee made, steak broiled, etc., make the lamp very desirable and without an equal for the sick room or for warming the baby's food, and when not used for cooking, a beautiful lamp for the drawing room. Great step saver making the cooking a pleasure.

Bird Foods
Explained...

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

GREAT SAVING B PURCHASING

THE MODERN WOMAN.

Oh, she can write a poem,
  And she can make a stew,
Can play on the piano,
  And also bake and brew.

She reads a little Latin,
  And also studies Greek,
Can rock the baby's cradle,
  And nurse the sick and weak.

Can give her husband counsel,
  Put trimmings on a hat,
Deliver an oration,
  Or work a bordered mat.

She entertains right royally,
  Reads law a little, too—
Pshaw! Tell of something, can you,
  A woman cannot do?

AN APRIL FOOL.

I feel like doing something outrageous, Jack."

"Worse than usual Jill?"

"Very far above and beyond anything I've ever done."

"May the saints preserve me!" and then silence fell between them.

Jill drew the vase of jonquils over to her side of the table, and began tearing the pretty yellow blossoms to pieces.

Jack caught the fair, destructive fingers in his own.

"You are bent on mischief, Jill; I fear we shall both come to grief, as did our namesakes before us, unless you leave off your bad habits"

"When we are sober, married people, Jack, living out at Elmwood, I shall be a model of sedate propriety, but now I'm hungering and thristing for fun."

"Then somebody will suffer. I fear me you are a bloodthirsty little vixen."

"I'm afraid so, Jack. Do you know what I am thinking of now?"

"No, Jill; they say there is honor among thieves. Perhaps if I join you in carrying out your deep and dark plans I may escape the misery that I fear you are hoping to bring upon me."

"And you'll really help me? Jack, you are the joy of my life!" Jill pushed the jonquils away, and turned a bright face up to her sweetheart's. "Uncle Bert is away now," she went on, "and it's the time for our fun. Only two days before April first! Come, Jack, we must settle on something."

It was nearly sundown when Jack went home. He met little Miss Basset on her way from a school. She was a dainty little body, well into the thirties, but fair and pretty still.

"I am so surprised," she said. "I've just had a note asking me to play the wedding march at your uncle's wedding!"

"Then it is true?"

"Why, yes. The note is signed, 'Commitee of arrangements.' That is queer, but then, your uncles queer."

"Very. You will play?"

"To be sure. There! The note is gone."

A whiff of wind snatched it from her hand, and away it went across streets and gardens, to flutter down at the door of the village gossip, and to help very materially in carrying out the plans of Jack and Jill.

Little Miss Basset trudged on. She lived with her sister in the country, and taught music at the academy in thevillage. She was smiling as she passed Elmwood. It's master was no longer a young man, and his aversion to marriage was well known.

"I would as soon have thought of being asked to play at the wedding of the man in the moon!" Miss Basset said aloud.

"Did you speak to me, ma'am?"

"Mr. Grimes! Why, sir, I thought you were in the city! Oh, I beg your pardon! Can you forgive that thoughtless remark?"

"I don't see how it concerns me, ma'am, if some man is fool enough to marry."

"But you are the man, sir!" honest little Miss Basset exclaimed.

"I!" Uncle Berts' face grew redder.

"Certainly, sir. Have I not just been askd to play the wedding march at your wedding?"

"And when, pray, am I to be married?"

"On Wednesday night, sir."

"I think you are a fool, ma'am."

"I am, indeed, else why do I stop here?" She lifted her little head and started on.

"Pray, don't take offense, where none is intended. Wait and tell me what you know about this matter."

Miss Basset turned back.

"Will you come in and help me to find out who has done this?"

Miss Basset went in. They talked until Mrs. Betsy, the very respectable housekeeper, came in to say that tea was ready. After some pressing Miss Basset went out to tea with them, and, upon its being explained to her that Mrs. Betsy had cut her finger while slicing the tongue, Miss Basset consented to pour out the tea.

Uncle Bert felt unusually happy. It had been long since any woman had taken part in his plans, and Miss Basset had been so interested in trying to help him. It was cozy and pleasant to have her sit there in Mrs. Betsy's place and chat and drink tea. He felt very lonely when she was gone. On the table he found a queer little object. It was made of morocco, and "musique" was stamped on it. He touched it with one finger; then he took it up. A faint, sweet odor arose from it and a cluster of withered violets fell out on the floor. Uncle Bert picked them all up, stooping stiffly, and then puffing like an engine when he straightened again.

It had been long since he had held a flower in his hand. The violets carried him back over a road that he was not used to traveling. He went back to his boyhood, and he thought of the mother who had died before he had learned to know her worth. He remembered that she held violets in her hand the last time he saw her.

Tears came to eyes that were strangers to them, and Uncle Bert put the flowers down to blow his nose. Mrs. Betsy heard the blast, and said to the stable boy that she believed "that pore lone man was settin' out for a right cole."

Uncle Bert had strange dreams that night; very strange dreams for an old man who had never loved a woman even in his youth, and who hated what he called the "whole capoodle" of them now; very strange dreams for a man who meant to die and leave his wealth and his home to his nephew and niece.

When he awoke the sun was shining in his face. After breakfast he saw a trim little figure coming up the walk, and his very strange old heart stirred about in a peculiar way.

"I left my music, or I lost it. Thank you; I'm so glad to get it."

Little Miss Basset almost hugged the roll in her joy.

"I'll find out all I can to-day, and tell you. I think some one has been planning a very big April fool for the whole town. Just think of the girls decorating the church, and the congregation and preacher waiting!" and, in spite of her duty to Uncle Bert, little Miss Basset's brown eyes twinkled, and her cheeks dimpled.

Uncle Bert cleared his throat. "It's a galling joke," he said.

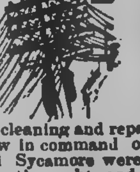
"Yes, and a cruel one

VALKYRIE GOING HOME.

MAKING READY FOR HER TRIP ACROSS THE OCEAN.

Defender Leaves New York Harbor for New Rochelle — Aftermath of the Race—Some English Opinions.

Special to the Times.



NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

THE yacht Valkyrie III. left her anchorage at Ray Ridge this morning and reached the Erie Basin about 9.30. On arrival at the Basin she was hauled into position between two steamers, just outside the dry dock, where she had several times been dried out for cleaning and repairing purposes. The crew in command of Captains Cranfield and Sycamore were immediately set to strip the yacht and prepare her for the voyage across the ocean home. The sailors worked with their usual alacrity and effectiveness, and before 11 o'clock had lowered the top mast and removed the bowsprit gear. The yacht will doubtless be ketch rigged for the ocean voyage as she was when she sailed from England to America.

THE DEFENDER'S MOVEMENTS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The yacht Defender, gaily decorated with flags, in tow of the tug, Wallace B. Flint, left Bay Ridge about 11.30 this morning, presumably bound for New Rochelle, No move was made by the American boat until long after the work of dismantling the Valkyrie had been commenced.

PLAIN SPOKEN BRITONS.

WHAT LONDON PAPERS SAY OF UNCLE SAM'S UNSPORTSMANLIKE SPORT.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The impotent conclusion of the International yacht races for the America's Cup furnishes the text for articles in all the London afternoon newspapers. In general the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without a guarantee that it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader the Pall Mall Gazette says that the result is unfortunate and that it will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America as by the same class in England. The article puts the whole blame of the fiasco upon hindering steamers and concludes; "But no one is to blame worth the blaming. We can now hope that arrangements for future contests of this character will be under more satisfactory conditions."

In its yachting columns the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While in our opinion Defender, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten Valkyrie in at least three out of the five races, we cannot but regret that Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say that Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous."

WANTS A RACE OFF MARBLE HEAD.

Further on, in the same article, the Pall Mall Gazette says: "We hope that the Earl of Dunraven will consent to sail for the proposed cup off Marble Head, as all are anxious to see the comparative merits of the yachts tested, and may the best boat win. Should Valkyrie win, which we think improbable, neither Lord Dunraven nor anyone else would bother to challenge again for the America's cup, which the new trophy would replace. Should Valkyrie lose, we know that Lord Dunraven would take his beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would be brought to a pleasant conclusion and a further challenge for the new cup would be only a matter of a few years. If Valkyrie III. returns without a race, it means that her owner is convinced that he did not have fair treatment at the hands of the committee and that no contest for the cup is ever likely to occur, even though the committee had decided that future races should be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair course."

NEED NOT LOOK FOR FAIR PLAY.

The Sun, which throughout has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says that the feeling has grown up here that fair competition need not be looked for in the contest for the cup, but adds that it does not sympathize with that view.

The Evening News says that the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says:—Of course we all love our American friends very much, but our newspapers beg to assure them that we all cordially support Lord Dunraven's retiring in disgust from a contest involving so much rowdyism and unfairness.

SHADY YACHTING, ROWING AND HORSE RACING.

The St. James' Gazette says:—"Once again a great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended muddily in a fiasco and quarrel, not an unusual experience." The article then alludes to the Cornell controversy at the Henley regatta and to the course of Mr. M. F. Dwyer with his horses in England, and continues: "In the present case the result is more regrettable, as no blame attaches to any of the parties immediately concerned."

In its article on the cup race controversy the Globe says: "Wherever the English tongue is spoken there will be annoyance and regret at this unfortunate failure."

NO CREDIT ON THE NEW YORK YACHT CLUB.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 13.—The Sun says this morning: "The America's cup will remain on this side of the Atlantic, thanks to the New York Yacht Club and Lord Dunraven. The Defender got the three races. On Saturday she clearly outsailed the Valkyrie and won; Tuesday the New York Yacht Club won the race for her, and yesterday Lord Dunraven presented the Defender with the third race. The New York Yacht Club, the American people and the few Defender's sympathizers in this city must all feel that a victory has been won that reflects little credit on the New York Yacht Club."

Held up a Train but got Nothing.

WOODWARD, Sept. 13.—At Curtis station 35 miles from here, the east bound passenger train on the Santa Fe was held up by four men, who piled ties on the track and compelled the section men to flag the train. The two went through the express car, but they got nothing. They were in quest of Government money expected to pay the Tenth Infantry now stationed here.

An Advance of Two Per Cent.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—The wages of over 80,000 workers in the union mills of the country for September and October have been fixed by representatives of the Merchants Bar Iron Association and the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers. The settlement gives all the employees in the finishing department an advance of two per cent.

Fatility in Scotland.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Miss Eleanor Chitty, daughter of Sir Joseph Chitty, a justice in the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, was drowned at Inverlochy, County Inverness, Scotland, today, while fishing in Loch Eil.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

MRS. FORBES DEAD.

The Actor Who Shot His Wife is Now Sober and Heart-Broken.

Special to the Times.

GRAND LODGE, Mich., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Forbes, who was shot by her husband, Frank Forbes, manager of the Forbes & Ward Dramatic Company, while in a drunken frenzy, died last night. Forbes has been bound over for trial. The prisoner refuses to make a statement, but now that he is sober he is heart-broken over the terrible deed. Efforts are being made to discover where he secured his bottle of whisky. Eaton being a prohibition county it will go hard with the man who sold it if he can be discovered. A friend of Forbes says that about one year ago he met the prisoner at Elkhart, where he was disturbing the peace, and on being searched ten thousand dollars in cash was found in his pockets. He then ran a saloon for a while, but it was a losing venture.

DEVOURED BY A BEAR.

Heroic but Futile Fight of an Indian Mother to Save Her Child.

Special to the Times.

DALLE, Ore., Sept. 14.—A bear ate an Indian child a few days ago near Bear Lake, about thirty miles from this city. It had been left in the bush asleep while the mother was picking berries. The poor woman heard the cries of her infant, and picked up a butcher knife and rushed to its rescue. She found a bear gnawing the little thing. Without a moments hesitation she attacked it. The bear was too powerful for her, and although she fought bravely she was clawed and mangled in a fearful manner, and would have been killed had not other Indians, who heard her shouts for help, come to her aid and killed the bear. Almost every particle of flesh on the baby's body had been devoured.

AGED 11. AND A MOTHER.

An Indiana Child Gives Birth to a Babe Weighing Eight and a Half Pounds.

Special to The Times.

ANDERSON, Ind., Sept. 14.—Lulu Sudall, aged eleven, daughter of Mrs. Isaac Sudall, of South Fletcher, is the mother of a perfect baby boy. The case, so far as Anderson physicians can remember, is the record breaker of this part of the globe. Many remember mothers of twelve and thirteen years old, but they are rare cases. None remember ever hearing of an eleven year old mother, except in the southern nations and countries where men and women mature much earlier. The child weighed eight and one third pounds, and was perfect. Dr. Hotter Williams will report the matter to the medical journals at once. The father is 21 years old.

He said to several prominent yachtsmen: 'I will not race Lord Dunraven, but I will race boat against boat. Any yacht course on the Atlantic coast will suit me. The distance and number of races are immaterial. I will race for $5,000 a side as many times as the owners of the Valkyrie wish to race. The course and the distance of the races I leave them to select.'"

TO BUILD A MONTE CARLO.

Niagara Falls to be Made a Centre of Continental Amusement

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y. 14.—About Buffalo there are flying rumours which have assumed definite shape sufficient to occupy space in some of their newspapers. It is said that Daly and Mitchell are among a syndicate worth $100,000,000, which proposes to make Niagara Falls the great convention city of the future and the Monte Carlo of America. A $500,000 club house is proposed, and the railways are backing up a scheme for a big convention hall.

Horse races with betting adjuncts will likely be held on the Canadian side, as long as the Grey law prevails, and the scheme if carried out will have great effect on Hamilton and Toronto. Regattas which have been held at Saratoga would likely be held at some near course, as the new Monte Carlo, it is thought, will relegate the glory of the "Spa" to the past.

Lost her Golden Tresses.

ANDERSON, Sept. 14.—John Howe, of Elwood, was arrested today, charged with breaking into the home of Joseph Pence, north of this city, early this morning, chloroforming all the sleepers, and cutting the long golden tresses off of Mary Pence, The girl was not aware of her loss until she awoke at the usual hour. Then she found a note on the table saying that the person who had taken her hair could get $60 for it.

Bloodhounds were put on the trail and they finally ran Howe down in Alexandria They would have torn him to pieces had they not been restrained. The dogs had followed the trail fifteen miles, through pastures woods, up railways and through Alexandria to the Lake Erie depot, where Howe was waiting for a train. The hair could not be found.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. Will Give a Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band intends adding a flute to its list of instruments and a pair of German silver cimbals. In order to raise the funds a concert will be given in the market building sometime in the near future.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health has been called to meet on Wednesday night to hear evidence on behalf of the defence in the Whyte's dam matter. It is to be hoped there will be a quorum of the Board, for if anything is to be done this year there is no time to lose.

Road Race to Lakefield.

Local riders are training for the road race to Lakefield, which will be run on Thursday night. There will probably be 30 or 40 entries and the race will do much to demonstrate the relative merits of our local flyers. Prizes of sufficient value to be worth contesting for will be given.

Examining the Locks.

Mr. Wm. Junkin, government diver, is registered at the Windsor. He is here regarding the lock dam and will spend a day or two overlooking the locks. The lowering of the water in the Little Lake for the purpose of allowing the locks to be examined has made it dangerous for the steam yachts.

A Big Storm Predicted.

Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, Ottawa's weather prophet, who recently predicted that the great lakes would dry up, has evidently no intention of doing likewise. Instead he reminds the public of a prediction he made 13 years ago of a great storm which he asserts will take place between the 17th and 21st of this month and will reach a climax on the latter date. Prof. Wiggins made his world wide fame by foretelling the terrible storm in the fall of 1882, in which so many vessels were lost, and so many lives. This month's storm was part of the same prophecy. Keep your eye on the date.

Out for a Time.

On Saturday evening while the police were on the hunt for the tramps, they espied the glimmer of a camp fire on the bank of the river below the locks. Thinking that some of the tramps were camped out there, they crept up on the camp fire. Like the man who was fishing for fish and caught a turtle, they were surprised when they peered through the bushes and gazed on the campers, who were two young men well-known in town, and two companions of the gentler sex, laying around a cheerful log fire. If the police were surprised, the campers were doubly so, and one of the young men and one of the young women immediately took to their heels. The other couple stood their ground, and pleaded with the police not to arrest them. They, ordinarily agreed to pack up their provisions, scatter the fire and go home, and they were allowed to do so.

STR. COLUMBIAN BURNED

THE SPLENDID LAKE STEAMER DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Burned to the Waters Edge Early on Sunday Morning—A Complete Destruction—Government Dredge Only Saved After Hard Fire Fighting.

Citizens who have had the pleasure of riding on the steamer Columbian, owned by Dr. McCamus, of Bobcaygeon, will never have that pleasure again for early on Sunday morning the staunch little steamer was burned to the waters edge, and nothing is left but the blackened hull and the twisted machinery.

The Columbian was moored at the upper dock in Bobcaygeon. At 5.30 yesterday morning smoke was observed issuing from the hold in huge volumes, and a few minutes later the deck was a roaring mass of flames. The Bobcaygeon fire department was quickly summoned and on the scene a few minutes after the fire was discovered, but the flames burned the lines and the steamer drifted out, swaying from one side to the other, while huge fire brands were caught by the wind and deposited on buildings for hundreds of yards around.

The cottage of Mr. Hunt, an American tourist, near the wharf, took fire from the intense heat and was burned to the ground with contents. The occupant had a narrow escape.

Near the Columbian was the government dredge and it was feared that this would burn also. In fact, it caught on fire several times, and was only saved by being cut loose and towed out of the area of falling embers.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. There was no one on board the Columbian at the time and, we understand, there was no fire under her boilers. How it happened nobody seems to know.

The Columbian was the largest and most commodious of all the steamers on the back lakes. It is now a total wreck, as there is nothing left of it but the hull, and the machinery, which is badly damaged.

We understand the boat was insured for $12,000.

OAK HALL'S OPENING.

It Was a Huge Success—Crowds Visit the Store.

Oak Hall, the new clothing store at the corner of Hunter and George streets, was thrown open to the public on Saturday, and the unique manner in which Manager Moffatt affected the opening stamps him as a gentleman of great energy, enterprise and business ability. It is doubtful if there was one man or woman in Peterborough on Saturday who did not know it was the opening day of Oak Hall; the fact was put before them and kept before them all day, and in consequence the bright, new store was crowded and thronged, filled and re-filled, from early morning until late at night, with a continuous stream of people, who inspected the mammoth stock of goods and bought and bought until the small army of salesmen must surely have been "nigh tuckered out," from shewing goods, selling goods, wrapping up goods and waiting on the eager purchasers.

A "lady" some ten feet in height, carrying a large valise on which were words telling the public to "see Oak Hall's clothing," appeared on the street in the morning, and created a great deal of amusement. It was a capital advertising scheme, and one the public was quick to appreciate.

In the evening the Fire Brigade Band played in front of Oak Hall which was brilliantly lighted. Thousands of people crowded the street and sidewalks and listened to the band and waited their chance to elbow their way into the crowded store.

Oak Hall has certainly begun business under most favorable auspices, and the appreciation shown by the public on Saturday augurs well for the future of the firm.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

There was a heavy frost Sunday morning.

The water in the Little Lake is very low as repairs are being made to the dam at the locks.

The repairs to the bridge across White's pond on Park street are completed.

The Park street Baptist church was reopened yesterday.

A member of a firm, which spends nearly $50 a day for advertising, said a week ago: "There is no money that our firm pays out with more satisfaction. We owe our success almost wholly to newspaper advertising, and there is hardly a day passes but what we get some practical evidence of the benefits. I believe that no house can do business successfully without it."

A western editor breaks into the following lament over the dearth of events:—"News, News, News. It's enough to give the man the blues. Nobody married and nobody dead; nobody broken an arm or an head; nobody comes in to talk of the 'crap,' no one got boozy and started a scrap; no one run for taking a horn. Oh, for a racket, a riot, a fuss, some one to come in and kick up a muss; some one to stir up the peace-laden air; somebody thumped within an inch of his life, somebody run off with another man's wife, someone to come in and pay up his dues; anything, anything, just so it's news."

WATER PIPE BURST

And a Gang of Men Worked all Day Sunday.

Pedestrians on George street yesterday morning noticed water bubbling and spurting up in the street at the corner of Simcoe, and it was not long before a stream ran down the street car tracks.

The police were notified and at once knew that the water main had burst. The street inspector was sent for, and in a short time a gang of men with pick and shovel were out in the street and began excavating to the bursted pipe. The men worked nearly all day and dug a hole large enough for a respectable cellar, before the pipe was sufficiently exposed to allow the break to be repaired.

There was a scarcity of water in all the houses connected with this main, for the water was shut off pending repairs, and for several hours pipes were empty.

Early last night the break was repaired, and the excavation filled in.

A RAID ON TRAMPS.

County and Town Police Chased the Weary Willies all Night.

For some time the county authorities have been aware that a gang of tramps have had a rendevous on the eastern shore of Little Lake. The authorities have every reason to believe that it was a regularly organised gang, with spies and scouts, who were put on a constant watch for chances of making a haul, either of money, food or clothes, and recent depredations were believed to have been committed by this gang.

At 12 o'clock on Saturday night, Constable Archie Moore, Officer McGinty and Special Constable Brine, made a raid on the tramps' camp, but the latter must have been warned of the intended raid, for when the police descended upon the camp, the great unwashed had flown.

But the trail was quickly picked up and the tramps located down near the locks. They were kept hustling all night, and although the police chased them until daylight, they succeeded in eluding them.

For several days the tramps had been assembled at this rendevous and it is believed they were getting ready for a big coup.

LARRY HALL MISSING.

Has Not Been Home for a Week—The Police Notified.

The friends of Mr. Lawrence Hall, better known as "Larry" Hall, are much concerned as to his whereabouts, and his wife is almost prostrated at his mysterious disappearance.

Hall is an employee of the firm of B. F. Ackerman, harness makers. He has not reported there for duty for over three weeks, and none of his friends nor his wife have seen him for over a week. His usual haunts have been visited, and a thorough enquiry made all over the town, but no one had seen the missing man for over a week.

Hall's disappearance is very mysterious, and it is hard to account for his absence from home and the town. He had been married only a few months ago, and his friends will not believe that he has deliberately deserted his young wife, nor is there any apparent reason why he should do so. Mrs. Hall can not think of any reason why her husband should leave her, without saying where he was going.

The police have been notified of Hall's disappearance and will institute a search. It is the opinion of many that Hall has been overtaken by some misfortune that has deprived him of the power to return home or notify his friends of his whereabouts.

Hall is a member of the Fire Brigade Band and is well known by the young men of Peterborough.

NEW GOLD MINING COMPANY.

The Mineral Resources of Madoc to be Developed.

In the last Ontario Gazette we notice that a new gold mining company is about to be organized for developing the mineral resources of the Madoc section of the province. Through Mr. William Cross, the solicitor for the applicants, official notice is given that application will be made to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for the grant of a charter of incorporation of Letters Patent under the provisions of the Ontario Joint Stock Companies' Act, and amending Acts.

The name of the company is to be "The Gold Hill Mining Company of Ontario."

The object for which incorporation is sought is to carry on mining works and operations.

The operations of the company shall be carried on in the counties of Hastings and Addington, with the chief place of business at the village of Madoc.

The capital stock of the company shall be two hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into five thousand shares of fifty dollars each.

The names of the applicants are as follows:—Orlando R Sprague, of the village of Madoc, in the county of Hastings, minor. Byron Fairbanks Fellows, Joseph Selleck Ferris, real estate dealers; George Otto Stohrer, bookkeeper; Anna Matilda Stohrer, married woman; of the city of Syracuse, in the State of New York.

THE BIG R.Q.T. ROAD RACE.

FIRST PRIZE CAPTURED BY A GALT RIDER.

250 Road Pluggers Started and There Were Many Mishaps on the Road—McCarthy Captures the First Time Prize—Thousands See Race—A Dark Horse Comes in First.

There were more than 3000 people at the Woodbine track to see the start and finish of the R.Q.T.'s national road race, which proved to be the biggest cycling event Canada has ever seen.

Precisely at 4 o'clock the limit men were sent away, and for the next 15 minutes a batch started every half minute.

Two hundred and fifty started. The scratch men were Creelman, McCarthy, Radway, McLeod and Wells. The course was two miles round Woodbine track at the start and finish and eight miles up the road and return. The first man to reach the turn was John Robinson of the T.B.C., closely followed by several of the limit men. All along the route thousands of people watched the progress of the race.

A mighty howl went up from the grand stand, after several false alarms, when the men were espied, coming down Murray Hill, on their return trip. First to enter the gate was Fred Robinson of the Athenaeums, a limit man; Green of the Wanderers, followed him closely, Robinson of the Torontos, Wilson of Galt, and Beard of the Wanderers, being close after. From that out there was a steady stream of riders entering the grounds. The finish was between Robinson of the Torontos and Wilson. The former could have undoubtedly won the race had he wished to, but he seemed to be laying for the second prize, as he made no effort to pass Wilson at the finish. The riders finished in this order:

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

EXPLODED IN MID-AIR.

THE TERRIBLE FATE OF FOUR BALLOONISTS AT BERNE.

Bull Fight in France—General Wolseley's Intended Reform in the British Army—A Whole Family Poisoned.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. A London special cable says: Lord Salisbury has decided to transfer his cousin, Sir Frank Lascelles, from St. Petersburg to Berlin, as successor to Sir Edward Mallett. This is regarded as a wise choice, which will bring a diplomat of sound judgment into a position of great importance. The British Minister of Pekin, Sir Nicholas O'Connor will fill the vacancy at the Russian capital, where his knowledge of Chinese affairs will make him specially useful.

Rumors that the Marquis of Londonderry has been selected for the vacancy in Paris, which will be filled next year, are premature, nor is it true that Sir Edward Mallett has accepted the offer of a peerage, which would have the curious effect of lowering the rank of his wife, who, as the daughter of a duke now takes precedence over Countesses whereas as a wife of a peer she would not outrank them.

WOLSELEY'S REFORMS.

Harold Frederic cables from London to the Times: It was predicted by a military friend of mine that the first thing Wolseley would do when he became Commander-in-Chief would be to re organize entirely the material with which infantry soldiers are now shod. He adds that it would be a most important reform and this is easy to imagine. The recent manoeuvres in Ireland and the south of England have shown afresh that the British soldiers are cruelly handicapped in marching with bad boots. The per centage of the disabled in every march from this alone was ridiculously in excess of the Continental losses from all causes together. The Germans have long ago decided this most vital of all questions, and take such elaborate pains at the outset to fit each recruit that it becomes possible thereafter to treat sore feet as a punishable misdemeanour, and indeed, it is now practically unknown to the German army. The adoption of the same system has often been urged here, but the old Duke of Cambridge always treated such suggestions as a personal insult. Now happily, there is a new order of things, and galled heels will no longer be a necessary portion of Tommy Atkins.

ASTOR'S NEW PALACE.

William Waldorf Astor's splendid business house on the Thames embankment has been completed. When the boardings were removed it was seen that the building is surrounded by a unique wrought-iron palisade. It is the costliest fence round any private building of the same size in London. Mr. Astor intends to build a high wall around his Cliveden estate to prevent anybody from looking in.

BULL FIGHTING IN FRANCE.

Tomorrow the French federal or central authority is to try serious conclusions with the municipal officials in a lot of southern towns, where the liking for bull fights has swollen of late into an epidemic mania. Mans and Bayonne are the principal centres of this new popular craze and most of the worst social elements have so terrified mayors, councillors and jurors that they connive at open violations of the law. These crowds have now reached a point of savagery, where they demand that the arena be soaked with blood and raise riots if the bulls and horses are not both manacled and killed before their eyes. It is an ugly sort of sport to deal with, but it only grows worse by delay, and it is understood that the central power is determined to crush it out decisively, once for all.

A TERRIBLE DEATH.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 16.—A fatal balloon ascension occurred this evening at Loschenbreek near this city. An aeronaut named Toulet and three companions attempted to make an ascent and when the balloon was in midair it exploded. The four men were killed.

STABBED BY ITALIANS.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 16.—Tole Lashaw was stabbed to death and Andrew Hospander was fatally wounded at Latimer last night. The murder is one of the most cold blooded ever committed in this region. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the crime, but it is believed to have been the work of Italian desperadoes. Lashaw was stabbed in the back four times and died in half an hour being discovered by his friends. Hospander had been stabbed five times. Two Italians are now in custody, but are believed to be innocent.

VICTIM OF THE DRUG.

SARATOGA, Sept. 16.—Lewis T. Hickey, aged 46, was found dead today in his saloon. He was an habitual morphine taker and it is supposed that he died from the result of that drug.

FAMILY POISONED.

MORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 16.—Joseph H. Lawrence, his wife and 6 children were poisoned today by eating tomatoes which had been sprinkled with Paris green by a thoughtless neighbor. The parents and four of the children are not expected to live.

CHOLERA IN HAWAII.

The Natives Will Not Report the Disease to the Authorities.

Special to the Times.

TACOMA, Wash. Sept. 16.—Miss Nettie Burhaus, formerly in the Tacoma Public schools and for two years a resident of Honolulu in a letter to her sister indicates that cholera will carry off a large portion of the natives, but they will not report cholera victims to the Board of Health. The natives believe the white people want to poison them and therefore refuse to take medicine. In one instance a physician found natives burying a cholera victim alive. The cholera stricken victim was not dead, but his grave had already been dug, and he was too miserable to care to object. The physician prevented the burial until the man was dead. Honolulu is reported as being very dirty and is being cleaned as a result of the presence of cholera.

A Terrible Death.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Sept. 16.—An explosion in the [illegible] department at the powder works killed Marie Grimm and fatally burned James Howard. About 650 pounds of powder, being made for the Hotchkiss gun on the cruiser Boston, exploded. Howard's clothing was entirely burned off and nearly every portion of his body is a mass of burns. Cause of the explosion unknown.

A BOGUS DESPATCH.

The Disastrous Earthquake in Honduras Was a Fake Pure and Simple.

Special to The Times.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, via Galveston, Sept. 16.—The statement that an earthquake had occurred on last Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a loss of 300 lives and causing the destruction of a church and dwellings, is without foundation so far as is known in Tegucigalpa. No such earthquake has been heard of here, and the statements made in the supposed despatch are false in detail.

The reading public of the United States and Canada was electrified on Friday last by a detailed report in the newspapers served by the United Press of a horrible earthquake disaster which had devastated the little republic of Honduras in Central America, and, it was said, killed 300 of its inhabitants. This alarming intelligence was published under date of Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, to which city it was alleged the news had been brought by courier from the "city" of Yetipan, which, it was said, had been overwhelmed by successive shocks of earthquake, bringing ruin and desolation, while details were constantly arriving in that city of the damage in the surrounding country. All day and night Sunday, it was said, the shocks lasted. "During Monday night sheets of flame appeared at different points in the northwest." Tuesday night the shocks and flames made their re-entry in the report, and at midnight "the church tower fell, carrying with it the roofs of three houses." Amidst much "rumbling which sounded like the heaviest cannonading," and "rocks which fell in a perfect shower like a hailstorm," killing multitudes and bursting forth of flames and molten lava, the word picture went on to depict the culmination of the awful catastrophe. There was chronicled the destruction of seventy one houses at Yetapan and 153 bodies were already recovered there and many more missing. Reports from other towns in the interior represented the disaster as spreading over a wide area on a correspondingly destructive scale.

The Associated Press realized the importance of accurate information on so appalling an upheaval of nature's elements, involving such horrifying destruction of human life and property and immediately despatched an inquiry to an absolutely reliable authority on the spot. The harrowing tale had made its passage through Tegucigalpa, leaving no whisper or rum or behind. There were no perishing hundreds no be'ching flames; no showers of stones; no topling church spire. In short, no earthquake. The history of American journalism does not record another bald fabrication of details with no absolute lack of foundation in fact. Not even the name of the localities given appear in any public gazetteer of Honduras.

CLAIMS AGAINST CHILI.

Two Sailors who were Brutally Beaten by Police in Valparaiso.

Special to The Times

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept, 16.—The claims of Andrew McKinstry and the heirs of Patrick Shields against Chili are again attracting attention. The men were sailors on the American ship Kewanew in 1891, while in Valparaiso were brutally beaten by the Chilian police. Shields afterwards died from his injuries. The claim for damages against Chili by the U. S. was not allowed, it being found that the men were British subjects. Lord Rosebery championed their cause however, and another tribunal composed of German, British and Chilian subjects is now considering the claim. The demurrer of the Chillian Government states that the police records of Valpariso contain no mention of the beating of the sailors. It is alleged that the sailors had that day drank a bottle of pale beer and that possibly their minds became cloudy so they imagined they had received injuries when in reality they had not been hurt at all.

MURDERED BY BOYS.

Two Lads Tie a Companion to a Tree and Hack Him to Pieces.

Special to The Times.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 16.—Allen Baker and John Berry, aged 12 and 18 years, murdered Phillip Simmons, aged 10, in a terrible manner yesterday afternoon. The boys quarreled while playing, and Simmons struck Baker and Berry and ran. He was pursued and caught, and Baker and Berry proceeded to murder him. They tied the child to a small tree, and cut him to pieces with their pocket knives. They cut off his ears, split his nose and slashed his breast a dozen times.

The young fiends then mutilated their victim in a terrible manner and fled. The child was found tied to the tree and unconscious, but revived sufficiently to tell the story before his death. Baker and Berry were arrested. They say they were only having fun, and didn't intend to kill Phillip. In spite of their youth there are threats of lynching them.

A LOVER COWHIDED.

A Tampa Woman Forcibly Showed Her Objections to Clandestine Meetings.

Special to the Times.

TAMPA, Fla., Sept.—Mrs. Joseph Isaacs, a leader in Jewish society here, cowhided John Logan this afternoon. Logan has been attentive to Mrs. Isaacs' pretty daughter. Because Logan was a Gentile the mother objected, and warned Logan to keep away from her daughter. The girl was fond of Logan and met him clandestinely.

The mother found them together this afternoon and struck Logan across the face a dozen times with a cowhide, every stroke drawing blood and one hitting him in the eye. Mrs. Isaacs then marched her daughter home. Physicians say Logan may lose his sight from the blow in the eye.

TORONTO WATERWORKS.

An Outbreak of Disease Feared and Great Precautions Recommended.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, (Special). Sept. 16.—The accident which recently occurred to the Toronto waterworks conduit has created a great deal of consternation, and an outbreak of disease is always possible. Doctors are prescribing the various precautions to be taken, and among them it is strongly recommended that the kidneys should be kept in a perfect state of regularity by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which experience has shown to be equally efficacious in the latest as well as in the earliest stages of kidney trouble. It is also stated by the physicians that this season is one in which the kidneys are peculiarly susceptible to disorder.

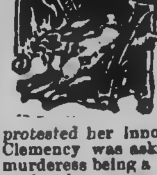
Over 3,000 French soldiers have died in Madagascar since the campaign opened.

A YOUNG WOMAN HANGED

EXECUTED ON THE GALLOWS IN NEW ZEALAND.

Her Crime Was the Murdering of Little Children Left in Her Charge by Erring Women to be Cared For.

Special to the Times.



VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 16.—Minnie Dean, who was condemned to death for the murder of infants entrusted to her care, has been executed in Invercargill, Auckland, New Zealand. She protested her innocence up to the last. Clemency was asked on account of the murderess being a woman, but the proof against her was so overwhelming that no mercy was shown. On the scaffold she was hysterical and had to be almost carried to the drop. Just before the black cap shut out the world from view, she became more resigned, but piteously exclaimed: "Oh, God, let me not suffer." The drop fell and death was instantaneous. The woman prayed incessantly toward the last and stoutly maintained that she had no murder on her soul and had no doubt that she would go to heaven.

Minnie Dean's crimes were the sensation of last year in New Zealand. In her prosperity she was patronized by well-to-do scoundrels, who paid her handsomely to become responsible for their children. A mother's love, however, induced an erring woman to seek her child, who had been delivered to the woman's care. Minnie Dean had reported it dead from natural causes, but the mother's suspicions were aroused and detectives were employed, when the remains of a number of children were found of ages ranging from a few months to several years buried in every conceivable place about the premises. The woman was arrested, and after a sensational trial was condemned to death on the evidence of the guilty fathers, who were compelled by the authorities to appear in court to assist the Crown. Minnie Dean's defence was that all the children died from natural causes.

DRUNKEN DELEGATES.

A Banquet in Cincinnati that Became a Disgraceful Orgie.

Special to the Times.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—The banquet tendered the members of the Municipal Association at the Gibson House tonight was the most disgraceful affair that ever occurred in the history of Cincinnatti.

The banquet was tendered the visiting delegates by the city of Cincinnaot. Long before the hour of the banquet the aisles and halls of the hotel were filled with delegates. Two thirds of them appeared in the banquet hall so drunk that they had to be assisted to their seats.

Wine flowed as freely as water. Within ten minutes after the dinner was begun bottles, corked and uncorked, flew in every direction. In a moment or so pandemonium reigned supreme.

Mayor Caldwell walked down the aisles between the tables and begged the delegates to behave themselves. They seemed to care nothing for his admonitions. Bottles flew thicker and faster.

Finally Mayor Caldwell said in language loud enough for every one in the dining hall to hear: "For God's sake and the sake of Cincinnati, I beg the citizens to keep quiet and preserve some order. Never in my lifetime have I witnessed such disgraceful acts. Cincinnati has been outraged by the conduct of some of her people here tonight." Then he sat down.

Instead of quiet being restored the crowd became more noisy. By eleven o'clock every man in the room was so drunk that he could scarcely speak.

The banquet broke up without any one saying anything except profanity. None of the set speeches were delivered.

Mayor Caldwell says that the disgraceful scenes have ruined Cincinnati as a convention city. Tonight the hotel lobby is filled with men unable to move.

The Toronto delegation will not be home until Wednesday evening. They expected to arrive here this evening but have stopped over at Cleveland to look into the works there.

WILL THEY FIGHT?

Pugilists Corbett and Fitzsimmons May Not Meet After All.

Special to The Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—In sporting circles here, it is said that if Bob Fitzsimmons adheres to his determination to claim a part of the proceeds of the various concessions, or refuses to go into the ring, there is a probability that the big fight between him and Corbett will not take place at all. Dan. Stuart said that the picture privilege had been sold to W. A. Brady when the articles of agreement were signed. The other privileges are his own and he would never surrender a part of them to any one, no matter what the consequences. Stuart is of the opinion that the hanging up of a purse of $41,000 is all that can be expected of him by the fighters and in this position he is generally backed up by the Chicago sporting fraternity.

A HALF-OPEN SWITCH.

Causes a Smash and Also Death—To Wreck the Train.

Special to the Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 16.—As the westbound Vandalia passenger train was passing through Collinsville, Ills., it struck a half-open switch and the locomotive and baggage car were derailed and flung to one side, letting the three passenger coaches pass on unharmed. Charles Sandifer, the fireman, was killed, and the engineer, H. A. Bauers, was seriously injured. Ed. Canada, the porter, was also slightly hurt. None of the passengers were hurt. No doubt the switch was turned by some malicious person for the purpose of wrecking the train.

MONTREAL PAPERS SORE.

Because Henry M. Stanley of African Fame Declines to be Interviewed.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—Some of the papers here comment severely upon Henry M. Stanley's refusal to be interviewed. One of them says, "We have a very vivid remembrance that a few years ago Mr. Stanley came to Canada on a lecturing tour, and at that time he was bubbling over with anxiety to be interviewed at any length at all. Mr. Stanley was a reporter himself many years ago and it may be that he is laboring under the delusion that the reporters of today are as they were in his time, in which case he is to be excused.

PETERBOROUGH, SEPTEMBER 9, 1895

The New York excursion steamers have killed the goose that laid the golden eggs.

Those who failed to visit the Toronto Industrial Circus have nothing to regret, Lakefield agricultural fair is still ahead of them.

If Premier Bowell is enjoying his holiday tour in Manitoba and the Northwest he must have a strange idea of what a good time is.

Toronto's fair is over, and the visitors from the side lines have gone home with minds full of new ideas about circus performances, and their bodies full of microbes from Toronto bay.

Deposits in the Government savings banks in Canada during August were $314,088, and withdrawals $257,882. Times are not so very hard when people can plant $56,206 in one institution during one month.

The TIMES is taking a boon just now. We mean to have ten thousand regular subscribers before the snow flies for our Saturday edition. We give 10 choice novels and the daily TIMES for three months for 75 cents.

If a complete and true history of the Valkyrie-Defender fiasco is ever written, it will probably be found that the bets put up by friends of the Yankee boat had a good deal to do with the treatment accorded to Lord Dunraven.

The Toronto Industrial Circus has not been the howling success that the city papers claim for it. With the exception of the last two or three days the crowd was far below the average of former years. As a matter of fact the exhibits were no better than those of former years? While the circus and fire works side shows were far below the average.

The benevolent Baron Hirsch has thus far sent about 4,000 Russian Hebrews to the Argentine Republic and hopes to have a Hebrew community there of 100,000 within ten years. He sends them out in companies of fifty families, each provided with a rabbi and a doctor, and he expects them to settle in villages, giving a special tract to each campany.

The Italians propose on September 20 to celebrate with great pomp the taking of Rome by Victor Emmanuel's troops. The ex-Papal Zouaves of Quebec have decided to send an address of condolence to his Holiness on the occasion. They will find it much more pleasant to stay in Canada and fire off addresses than to repeat the fiasco they once participated in and go over to oppose Italian unity by force of arms.

During the last twenty-five years ten tons of diamonds, selling for more than $300,000,000 uncut and $600,000,000 after cutting, have been added to the world's wealth—an amount more than twice as great as the value of dimonds known to exist before. This vast value is in the most concentrated, portable and ornamental form, and more convertible than anything except gold and silver. Its accumulation has built up cities like Kimberley and maintained important industries in Amsterdam and other centers. The De Beers company (limited), a single corporation, with stock having a market value quoted at over $90,000,000, controls more than nine-tenths of the entire output and regulates and maintains the price.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, But All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position in life, and enclosing your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receiv ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by th Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds pe cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own clas but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thu have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting i each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is emin ently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as th "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used i payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions t the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distribut ed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend perio and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who hav survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profit paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the large that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalle by any other Company.

WATER FOR THE THIRSTY

ALL DAY SUNDAY DID TORONTO STREET CARS RUN.

Carrying Water to the Thirsty in Huge Tanks —The City Receives an Offer From an English Engineer.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—Street cars will run on Sunday, but not in violation of the Lord's Day Act, for they will not carry passengers, but pure water to slake the thirst of Torontonians.

Besides the watering carts laden with the same article will go over their several routes just as if it was any ordinary day, for people must drink or they cannot live. Hamilton's watering carts have been added to those already in use and every portion of the city is visited by them, so that none need go thirsty.

Water coming through the mains now comes direct from Blockhouse bay and is considerably better than has been provided for the past fortnight. It is thought advisable, however, to still boil it and thus avoid all risk. Citizens should also use it sparingly as no one can tell, according to the City Engineer, when another accident will happen.

The cost of constructing the connections between the city mains and those of the Junction has been roughly estimated at $7,000. Work will likely commence as soon as the pipe can be obtained and the plans laid out.

At the woodyard of McGuire Bros., Dupont street, head of St. George street, is a large spring of pure water and Messrs. McGuire announce that their premises will be open all day tomorrow to those who want to get water.

ONLY $500 A DAY.

ENGINEER MANSERGH'T MODEST OFFER TO THE CITY OF TORONTO.

This cablegram was received from Treasurer Coady, who is in England, by Acting Mayor Shaw: "Mansergh's fees £2,500 for reporting on tunnel scheme alone or £3,000 reporting on improving present system and a comparison with gravitation scheme; time one month: has important engagements; will decide after Council accepts terms; answer quick."

The gentleman mentioned in the cable is James Mansergh, of Victoria street, London, admitted to be the best hydraulic engineer in the world. He is at present engaged in constructing a works at Birmingham. The supply of water is obtained in Wales. Some time ago Mr. Mansergh was paid £5,000 by the city of Sydney, New South Wales, for reporting on their waterworks system. He was also one of the commission which investigated the pollution of the river Thames for the city of London, Eng.

At first sight the offer nearly staggered a number of the aldermen, who don't usually make so much a month themselves, even when business is brisk, and they considered that $15,000 for 30 days' work was a little high. When they talked it over however, they concluded that considering the eminence of the man and the fact that his knowledge was based on practical experience it was not such a large sum after all.

They will thresh the matter out on Tuesday in Council, a special meeting having been called.

STEAMSHIP OVERDUE.

An American Liner Seventeen Hours Behind Her Usual Time.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The American line steamer Paris, Capt. Watkins, had not been sighted up to 11.30 this morning. The Paris sailed from Southampton on Saturday last, September 7, passing the Needles at 1.35 in the afternoon, and to have equalled her own record of 6 days, 9 hours and 37 minutes she was due at Sandy Hook Lightship at 12 minutes past six yesterday afternoon. She is therefor about 17 hours behind her record.

SIGHTED ON SUNDAY.

The Cunard line steamer Etruria, which sailed from Queenstown on Sunday last, the day after the Paris left Southampton, arrived this morning and reported that on September 11, at 2.30 a. m., in latitude 48.44, longitude 39.08, she passed an American line steamer bound west, which was supposed to be the Paris. The Etruria had a very rough passage, encountering strong southwest and northwest gales throughout the voyage, and the Paris is no doubt having the same experience which would account for the delay. No anxiety is felt regarding her safety, as she is, as is well known, a staunch vessel and Captain Watkins a cautious navigator.

Bird Foods Explained . . .

Much of the seed sold and fed to birds is positively injurious to health and song. Why is C. B. S. the most valuable packet of Bird Seed in the market and the best for Birds? Because just as a good physician knows what is best for his patients, we having made Birds and Bird Foods a study for many years, know just what is necessary to keep Birds in health, song and brilliant plumage. Each packet of C. B. S. contains 16 ounces of a proper mixture of clean, nutritious and carefully selected Seed, with no waste about it, also a 5c. cake of our Patent Bird Bread, thus giving 15c. worth good value for 10c. For other reasons read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods. Price 25c. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage, feed Cottam's Bird Seed. For sale by all the best grocers and druggists.

GREAT SAVING B PURCHASING

THE MODERN WOMAN.

Oh, she can write a poem,
And she can make a stew,
Can play on the piano,
And also bake and brew.

She reads a little Latin,
And also studies Greek,
Can rock the baby's cradle,
And nurse the sick and weak.

Can give her husband counsel,
Put trimmings on a hat,
Deliver an oration,
Or work a bordered mat.

She entertains right royally,
Reads law a little, too—
Pshaw! Tell of something, can you,
A woman cannot do?

AN APRIL FOOL.

I feel like doing something outrageous, Jack."

"Worse than usual Jill?"

"Very far above and beyond anything I've ever done."

"May the saints preserve me!" and then silence fell between them.

Jill drew the vase of jonquils over to her side of the table, and began tearing the pretty yellow blossoms to pieces.

Jack caught the fair, destructive fingers in his own.

"You are bent on mischief, Jill; I fear we shall both come to grief, as did our namesakes before us, unless you leave off your bad habits"

"When we are sober, married people, Jack, living out at Elmwood, I shall be a model of sedate propriety, but now I'm hungering and thristing for fun."

"Then somebody will suffer. I fear me you are a bloodthirsty little vixen."

"I'm afraid so, Jack. Do you know what I am thinking of now?"

"No, Jill; they say there is honor among thieves. Perhaps if I join you in carrying out your deep and dark plans I may escape the misery that I fear you are hoping to bring upon me."

"And you'll really help me? Jack, you are the joy of my life!" Jill pushed the jonquils away, and turned a bright face up to her sweetheart's. "Uncle Bert is away now," she went on, "and it's the time for our fun. Only two days before April first! Come, Jack, we must settle on something."

It was nearly sundown when Jack went home. He met little Miss Basset on her way from a school. She was a dainty little body, well into the thirties, but fair and pretty still.

"I am so surprised," she said. "I've just had a note asking me to play the wedding march at your uncle's wedding!"

"Then it is true?"

"Why, yes. The note is signed, 'Commitee of arrangements.' That is queer, but then, your uncles queer."

"Very. You will play?"

"To be sure. There! The note is gone."

A whiff of wind snatched it from her hand, and away it went across streets and gardens, to flutter down at the door of the village gossip, and to help very materially in carrying out the plans of Jack and Jill.

Little Miss Basset trudged on. She lived with her sister in the country, and taught music at the academy in thevillage. She was smiling as she passed Elmwood. It's master was no longer a young man, and his aversion to marriage was well known.

"I would as soon have thought of being asked to play at the wedding of the man in the moon!" Miss Basset said aloud.

"Did you speak to me, ma'am?"

"Mr. Grimes! Why, sir, I thought you were in the city! Oh, I beg your pardon! Can you forgive that thoughtless remark?"

"I don't see how it concerns me, ma'am, if some man is fool enough to marry."

"But you are the man, sir!" honest little Miss Basset exclaimed.

"I!" Uncle Berts' face grew redder.

"Certainly, sir. Have I not just been askd to play the wedding march at your wedding?"

"And when, pray, am I to be married?"

"On Wednesday night, sir."

"I think you are a fool, ma'am."

"I am, indeed, else why do I stop here?"

She lifted her little head and started on.

"Pray, don't take offense, where none is intended. Wait and tell me what you know about this matter."

Miss Basset turned back.

"Will you come in and help me to find out who has done this?"

Miss Basset went in. They talked until Mrs. Betsy, the very respectable housekeeper, came in to say that tea was ready. After some pressing Miss Basset went out to tea with them, and, upon its being explained to her that Mrs. Betsy had cut her finger while slicing the tongue, Miss Basset consented to pour out the tea.

Uncle Bert felt unusually happy. It had been long since any woman had taken part in his plans, and Miss Basset had been so interested in trying to help him. It was cozy and pleasant to have her sit there in Mrs. Betsy's place and chat and drink tea. He felt very lonely when she was gone. On the table he found a queer little object. It was made of morocco, and "musique" was stamped on it. He touched it with one finger; then he took it up. A faint, sweet odor arose from it and a cluster of withered violets fell out on the floor. Uncle Bert picked them all up, stooping stiffly, and then puffing like an engine when he straightened again.

It had been long since he had held a flower in his hand. The violets carried him back over a road that he was not used to traveling. He went back to his boyhood, and he thought of the mother who had died before he had learned to know her worth. He remembered that she held violets in her hand the last time he saw her.

Tears came to eyes that were strangers to them, and Uncle Bert put the flowers down to blow his nose. Mrs. Betsy heard the blast, and said to the stable boy that she believed "that pore lone man was settin' out for a right cole."

Uncle Bert had strange dreams that night; very strange dreams for an old man who had never loved a woman even in his youth, and who hated what he called the "whole capoodle" of them now; very strange dreams for a man who meant to die and leave his wealth and his home to his nephew and niece.

When he awoke the sun was shining in his face. After breakfast he saw a trim little figure coming up the walk, and his very strange old heart stirred about in a peculiar way.

"I left my music, or I lost it. Thank you; I'm so glad to get it."

Little Miss Basset almost hugged the roll in her joy.

"I'll find out all I can to-day, and tell you. I think some one has been planning a very big April fool for the whole town. Just think of the girls decorating the church, and the congregation and preacher waiting!" and, in spite of her duty to Uncle Bert, little Miss Basset's brown eyes twinkled, and her cheeks dimpled.

Uncle Bert cleared his throat. "It's a boiling joke," he said.

"Yes, and a cruel one."

WELL SATISFIED.

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain are Pleased,

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—A large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, the head quarters for distributing are never in danger of running out of the medicine for long no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

COVERED WITH BURNING OIL.

Serious Accident to a St.Thomas Boy—Others Injured.

Special to the Times.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 14.—While Richard Mill, the 13 year old son of A. M. Mill, was shifting the position of a petroleum torch on a patent medicine vendor's cart Thursday night, the light toppled over and exploded. The boy was covered by burning oil and was badly burned about the face, neck, left arm and left side. The boy will recover. T. Dake, of the Dake House, had one of his hands badly burned in extinguishing the fire. Two other boys—Ed. McCarthy and Abraham Perry—were painfully burned but not seriously.

LETTER FROM LORD DUNRAVEN.

To the American's Cup Committee—Its Contents Not Yet Made Public.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Lord Dunraven has written a letter to the America' Cup Committee, fully explaining his position in regard to the cup races.

H. Maitland Kersey said this morning that he and Lord Dunraven had worked from yesterday morning until late last night in preparing this letter, and that it was delivered at the club house at 7.40 this morning.

Mr. Kersey refused this morning to make the letter public, but said he would do so if the Cup Committee did not.

"I think it likely," he said, "that the Cup Committee will make public its letter of the 12th to Lord Dunraven, and this letter of Lord Dunraven's at the same time."

AFTER THE SMUGGLERS.

Whiteway Said to be Shirking his Duty—The Board of Revenue will Resign.

Special to The Times.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Sept. 14.—It is said that the board of revenue will resign tomorrow unless the Government gives assurances that a vigorous prosecution will be undertaken at once against the smugglers. This is nowise likely because Attorney-General Whiteway left the city for a fortnight sporting tour which is thought to be a scheme to shirk the whole affair. Government members now freely admit the complicity of a number of their superiors in the contraband practices.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

THE TRUTH.

Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst, D. D., the great reformer, writes October 24, 1894: "Mrs Parkhurst and myself have used Pond's Extract so long and so constantly that we can speak appreciatively of it and in terms of warm commendation."

Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., editor of "Songs for the Sanctuary," "Laudes Domini," and other well known hymn books, writes October 23, 1894: "Not once in many years have we been without Pond's Extract in our house. My family prize it as we do the presence of an old and true friend. It fulfills every promise it makes and is a help to every one of us."

Rev. D. Parker Morgan, D. D., Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, writes November 13, 1894: "I have been using a great deal of Pond's Extract for the past year in gargling, as I find it affords great relief in colds."

During the past month the Pond's Extract Company have received over 2,000 orders from physicians. We have on our books testimonials and orders from most of the Governors and many of the Senators of the United States; from the royalty of Europe, such as Her Majesty the Queen of Roumania, the Duchess of Cumberland, Princess of Wied, and others too numerous to mention.

When the clergy, the medical profession, statesmen and royalty all unite in praise of an article it seems unnecessary to say anything additional, but we do find it necessary to warn the public against imitations. These words of praise are all in favor of Pond's Extract—the genuine and only.

It is because of its intrinsic merit and high reputation that Pond's Extract has been imitated. If it were not of such great value and so world renowned there would be no imitations.

DURANT'S FRIEND.

A Handsome Girl Who Keeps an Eye on the Prisoner.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—The prosecution in the trial of Theodore Durant has examined twenty-three witnesses and has occupied two weeks in its work.

There are less than half the number to be examined in its direct case and the most important are yet to be placed on the stand.

It is said that the next four witnesses will take in Durant and his alleged victim to and into the church, where the girl met her death. The examination will probably take all of next week. Ever since the case in the superior Court began a girl of prepossessing appearance has haunted the court room. For a time she brought every morning a bunch of flowers, which she sent to the prisoner by a deputy sheriff. This action attracted so much attention, however, that she discontinued it. During the proceedings she sits with her eyes rivetted on Durant's face. The prisoner never gives her any attention, but they are at least acquainted. Durant is said to have written a long note in court, the missive being delivered to the unknown by the prisoner's father after the court adjourned. The young women lives in Oakland, but although detectives have been detained to locate her, she always manages to elude them. She is perfectly aware that she is watched, and seems determined to avoid identification.

The street and bridge committee met last night and made some important recommendations which will come up at the next council meeting.

Who is Bradley?

In the report of the police court proceedings yesterday, the Toronto Telegram says: George Bradley, who admitted begging on the street, and who has been in jail about a week already, was allowed to go back to his home in Peterborough.

Wanted in Lindsay.

Clarence Irvine, a young man who is wanted in Lindsay for the larceny of a quantity of grapes, and who was arrested in Toronto, was handed over to the custody of Chief of Police Bell, of that town, who will take him back to stand his trial, says the Toronto Telegram.

Their Work Appreciated.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son received a telegraph order yesterday from parties in Seaforth for a flag 21 feet long, to be made of the very best English bunting. This firm is constantly receiving outside orders from long distances, which speaks well for the work they turn out and the quality of their goods.

Partridge Season Open.

The open season for partridge shooting began yesterday, and sportsmen were out bright and early. Among those who were fortunate in bringing down the feathered game were Messrs. T. and J. Brightman, of Rochester, who in company with Mr. H. Brown, succeeded in bagging seven brace of fine, fat birds.

In Search of Homes.

At noon yesterday the party of children from Dr. Barnardo's home in England arrived at the Home here. There were 135 girls ranging from 6 to 17 years. They were in charge of Miss Loveday and Mrs. Brown. The voyage out was made with safety, although the passage was rather rough, and the children arrived here in good health. The girls with all their baggage, made up quite a formidable party, and the train ran up the Chemong line as far as Hazel Brae, where the children disembarked.

Women Assault Each Other.

Mrs. Close, a resident of North Monaghan, a few yards from the southern boundary of the town, told her troubles to County Police Magistrate Edmison yesterday morning and had an information laid against Mrs. Kennealey, a neighbor, for assault. Mrs. Close claims that the Kennealey children assaulted her children, and she told Mrs. Kennealey it would teach her children a lesson if she chastised them. This statement Mrs. Kennealey resented, and she struck Mrs. Close in the face for interfering in family affairs. The matter will come up before the County Magistrate.

Wanted to go to Jail.

Last night about midnight Constable Jarvis heard a loud crash of glass on John street and at once hurried in the direction of the noise. He found two of Mr. M. Millward's windows had been broken. He discovered a stranger in the vicinity and arrested him on suspicion. The man gave his name as Thomas Brandon and admitted that he had broken the two windows with a stone. He did this he said because he could not get work and wished to be sent to jail. The constable took him to the lock-up and he appeared yesterday morning before Magistrate Holland, who committed him for two months in jail. Mr. Millward will be at a loss of about ten dollars.—Port Hope Times.

Killed a Horse.

Yesterday morning a train in charge of Engineer G. J. Nottingham killed a horse which was lying on a public crossing about two miles south of Peterborough. The day before the same engineer had to stop his train and drive stock off the track at nearly the same place. The farmers all along the line between Peterborough and Millbrook have for a long time been very careless about allowing their stock to run at large, more especially nearer Peterborough, and the Grand Trunk people report more annoyance on this section of the way than any other on the whole of the Midland division. It will be remembered that it was near there that the terrible wreck took place on September 22nd, 1894, from the same cause (cattle on the track). The farmers should take more care, as it is not merely the loss of stock but also endangers the life of travellers.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

BATTLE WITH TRAMPS

Bullets Flew Thick and Fast Yesterday Afternoon.

MOORE'S NARROW ESCAPE

HANDCUFFED TRAMPS ARE SUPPLIED WITH REVOLVERS BY A STRANGER AND USE THEM TO EFFECT THEIR ESCAPE.

Bullets flew as thick yesterday evening as crows in a corn field, and the sharp reports of numerous revolvers awoke the peaceful stillness of Ashburnham, as shot after shot rang out. That nobody was killed is a miracle, as every shot was fired with deadly intent and every target was a human form. It was a battle between the police and tramps, and an attempt to arrest the tramps ended in a battle with revolvers, the tramps finally managing to escape, although heavily handcuffed.

At noon yesterday a telephone message was received from the C. P. R. station by the police, stating that there were some tramps there, and that one tramp had drawn a revolver on a companion. County Constable Archie Moore, accompanied by Special Constable Brine, immediately drove down to the station, but the tramps had left. Both had disappeared over the C. P. R. bridge into Ashburnham, so the two constables went over to Burnham's Point, and there they succeeded in arresting the man at whom the revolver was pointed. The man acted very ugly, and after being searched was handcuffed, placed in Constable Moore's buggy and driven to the police station. On the way over he tried to escape by leaping from the buggy. When nearly in town the man managed to get his hand in his back pocket and drew out a murderous looking knife, but before he had a chance to use it, it was taken away from him. Several more attempts did the tramp make to escape but he was prevented, and was safely lodged in the cells. On this man no fire-arms were found.

The police were anxious to capture the tramp with the revolver, so after lodging the prisoner in the cells, a party was made up to go to Ashburnham in search of him. Information had been supplied the police that four tramps had been camping for several days east of the brick yard in Ashburnham, in a "cut." Constables Moore and Brien and Fireman Montgomery, who was sworn in for the occasion, started about 4 o'clock for the spot. Constable Moore was armed with a revolver, as was Montgomery, but Brien had nothing but a police baton. They also had three pair of handcuffs, loaned by the chief of police.

Before they reached the spot where the tramps were supposed to be handcuffed, the three men separated and branched off in different directions with the intention of surrounding the spot. Brine went on the Norwood road, Montgomery took the track and Moore made a straight line to the spot.

Moore had not gone far when he espied three tramps sleeping calmly in the "cut." When Montgomery hove in sight Moore beckoned to him and he joined him. They waited a few minutes until Brine showed up in the distance and he was also beckoned to come over. Then the three men descended upon the sleeping tramps and before they were fairly awakened they were handcuffed.

The tramps were thoroughly searched, and on their persons were found several new jack knives, which led the constables to believe that they had recently robbed some hardware store. Neither of the three men had a revolver. Constable Brine took the largest tramp, and as he had been searched first, started off towards town with him. Constable Moore then turned to the other two tramps who were lying down and said:

"Now, you fellows get up. We will take you into town with us."

"Yes," said a strange voice, "you lazy loafers get up. I am glad to see the police have got you, for I have been hunting you down for some time."

Looking in the direction from whence the strange voice proceeded, the surprised constables saw a well dressed stranger standing on the track. From his words and his evident respectable appearance, the constables at once supposed he was some farmer who had been looking for the tramps, and that he would assist them in getting the prisoners to town.

The stranger carelessly sauntered over to the two tramps who were handcuffed together, and began speaking to them. Montgomery was several feet behind these men. He heard the stranger say:

"Did they get your money?"

One tramp replied, "No, but they got everything else."

Montgomery knew in an instant that the stranger was in league with the tramps, and he placed his hand on his revolver and started towards the three. In an instant the stranger handed each tramp a revolver, and then turned around towards Montgomery, levelled a revolver in his face and said:

"You — — — unlock those handcuffs, or I'll blow your brains out!"

Montgomery was astonished but not frightened. He had his hand on his revolver but knew that if he attempted to draw it, the stranger would fire, and Montgomery was looking straight down the barrel of an ugly looking six shooter. So he didn't draw his gun, but replied:

"I'm not the constable, and haven't the keys. There he is over there," pointing to Constable Moore, who all unconscious of the little drama that had been enacted behind his back, was stooping over the little pile of articles that had been taken from the tramps.

The stranger turned and started for Moore, and as he did so, Montgomery drew his revolver. Before he could fire the stranger opened fire on Archie Moore and then Montgomery opened fire on the stranger.

"Bang, bang, bang, crack, biff, crack, bang," went the two revolvers, and "whiz, zip, zip, whirr," went the bullets. Archie Moore looked up at the first shot. As he did so the stranger fired twice from two revolvers, one in each hand, and Moore's hat was struck by one of the bullets and knocked clean off his head.

The two tramps who were handcuffed together then opened fire on Montgomery, and every time they shot, Montgomery dodged, and fired in return until his pistol was empty. Moore and the stranger were standing within 20 feet of each other firing as fast as they could pull the triggers of their smoking revolvers.

In the meantime Constable Brine had proceeded some distance down the track with his man. He heard the firing and came to the conclusion that as long as Moore and Montgomery were firing at the others, his best plan would be to get along with his man, as he had no revolver and would be no use in the little artillery practise going on behind him. But the tramp was ugly and he had to jerk him along, and while engaged in this he felt the cold barrel of a revolver pushed against his face and heard the words:

"Let that man go you — — —."

It was pretty dark at this time. Brien drew his baton and struck the stranger a swipe. Then the prisoner made a mighty effort to get away, so Brine brought the baton down on his head with considerable force. The tramp still persisted and Brine twirled the baton once more, and when it came in contact with the tramp's cranium, it broke off short at the handle. The tramp staggered and fell down the embankment, a distance of 8 or 10 feet and when he reached the bottom he swore several emphatic oaths at Brine.

"I wish I had hit you harder," yelled Brine.

"You would have, if your club hadn't broke," retorted the tramp.

In the meantime Moore and Montgomery had fired away all the cartridges they had, and the two tramps, handcuffed together had succeeded in getting away in the darkness. They were helpless without ammunition, but bravely pressed on to Brines' aid, but before they could reach him, the well dressed stranger, who seemed to have plenty of cartridges, was loaded up again, and with a revolver pointed straight at Brine's head kept the latter at bay, until the tramp at the foot of the embankment had got to his feet again and made off. Then the stranger fired three shots straight at Brine and ran after his companion. The four went east as fast as they could foot it, three of them handcuffed.

The constables returned home without the tramps. They were totally uninjured and do not believe that any of the four men were hit. They consider their escape as miraculous and it certainly was as they were targets for showers of bullets. Constable Moore indeed had a narrow escape, for the first shots fired at him by the stranger, took his hat off, and the hat shows three bullet holes. Outnumbered by four to three and only having two revolvers against four and unlimited ammunition, the constables certainly made a brave fight.

Last night Constable Moore and several special constables left on the midnight for Norwood where it is thought the tramps went. They intended to search all night for them.

The exciting affair proves conclusively that the tramps who have infested this vicinity are a desperate class of men, evidently well organized, armed and acting under the directions of a leader or captain. The police will not rest until they have rid the county of them.

SHOT IN THE HAND.

Two Young Men Mistaken for Orchard Thieves Shot At.

A shooting affair which has been kept very quiet occurred several days ago.

Two young men were walking along near the fruit orchard of Mr. Waddell, in Douro, when the latters hired man fired off a gun, the contents of which struck one of the young men in the hand. Forty-nine small shot, it is said, entered the limb, and it took a doctor several hours to probe out the little leaden shot and the injured person was confined to his bed for some time.

It appears that Mr. Waddell has a small vineyard of very choice grapes, and that numerous raids have been made by midnight marauders, who not only helped themselves generously to the luscious fruit, but destroyed the vines. In consequence Mr. Waddell was very much annoyed, and Walter Woods, an employee, was instructed to be on the watch for the thieves.

On the night in question Woods was watching for marauders, and with a gun loaded and primed, stationed himself where he could observe anyone who came to steal. He had not been on the watch very long when young Brundrette and Simmons, of town, passed along the road. Woods thought they were after the grapes and raising his gun blazed away with the result above stated.

Since the shooting the affair has been amicably settled. The two young men have satisfied Mr. Waddell that they were simply passing along the road and had no intention of helping themselves to his fruit, and Mr. Woods has made ample apology for the mistake he made.

INS AND OUTS.

Were the tramps cross-eyed?

⁂

What kind of guns did those tramps have anyway?

⁂

Who supplied the county police with Dowe's bullet proof coats?

⁂

LOST—Two pair of handcuffs. Finder will be liberally thanked by returning same to the authorities.

⁂

Truth is stranger than fiction. If you don't believe it read the account of the battle with tramps.

⁂

Two wagons will start for the scene of yesterday's battle to bring in the bullets which are reported to cover the ground as thick as acorns under an oak tree.

⁂

The battle with tramps yesterday was something like a recent engagement in the Cuban rebellion. Two armies of 5,000 men fought for 16 hours, face to face, and only one man was killed.

⁂

DEAR COUNCIL.—If there is any money left in the treasury after paying for the sewer and the law costs, would it not be a gracious act to set aside a sum for the purchase of three beautiful leather medals for the county constables?

⁂

The military department at Ottawa is much interested in a new invention, an overcoat that can be transformed into a tent. Some citizens of Peterborough are wondering just now how a soiled pair of russet shoes and a battered straw hat can be transformed into an overcoat.

The tramp is king.

Miss Ganthony's Marriage.

The marriage of Mr. John Clark, of Toronto, to Miss Ada Ganthony, the actress, took place at the City Hall marriage bureau in New York on Friday in the presence of Alderman Shelling. The groom is Mr. John Clark, barrister, of Toronto. His father, who is a man of means, lives in St. Mary's, from which place Mr. John Clark removed about a year ago to settle and practise his profession. The bride is Miss Nellie Ganthony, the English elocutionist who appeared in the opera house here last winter. She is 30 years of age, while her husband is 31. Her name on the stage is Ada Davey, and she is the daughter of Robert Davey of Surrey, England. The story goes that she became acquainted with her husband through his being retained to prosecute a suit against her while she was in Ontario.

An Old Saying...

Has it that a first impression is a lasting impression.
If there is any truth in the adage, we certainly should feel flattered at our first introduction to the good people of Peterborough—the large crowds that thronged our store from morning until night.
The

Hundreds Of Compliments

that were passed upon our stock and the many kind greetings and tokens of good fellowship that come to us personally compell us to admit that our establishment in Peterborough is already a decided success. We feel highly flattered at our reception, we believe that already the people are convinced that the coming of Oak Hall means and we can assure them their confidence will not be misplaced.

Good Clothing and Cheap
